Absent Nixon Claimed Key Watergate Actor

Trial Of Top Aides Opens After Delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The prosecution in the trial of five of Richard M. Nixon's associates said today it intends to prove the Watergate cover-up conspiracy was hatched at the highest levels of government and "even involved the President of the United States himself."

Thus, without mentioning Nixon's name, Assistant Special Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste indicated in his opening argument that the former president will be the absent central figure in the lengthy trial.

Nixon, who was named as an unindicted co-conspirator before his resignation from office last Aug. 9, cannot be tried in the case because of a pardon granted him by President Ford. Nixon's attorneys also have asked that he be excused from testifying on grounds of ill health.

Ben-Veniste used an abbreviated morning session in court to describe the atmosphere among top Nixon aides immediately following the discovery of agents of the President's reelection campaign in the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee June 17, 1972.

"We will prove to you in the course of this trial," Ben-Veniste told the jury in his opening statement, "that attempts of law enforcement agencies to ascertain who was responsible ... were met by an effort to cover up the facts and obstruct the investigations by the most powerful men in the government of the United States in a conspiracy that even involved the President of the United States himself."

He then outlined five elements of the alleged conspiracy:

An immediate decision among Nixon's aides to "push the line" that the Watergate burglars were "a bunch of nuts" who were "off on a lark of their own."

Concealment of documents linking higher-ups to the burglary.

The aides' use of "their positions of trust and power at the very summit of government" to manipulate the FBI and the CIA.

The payment of hush money, which he described as "a massive, covert secret operation."

Secret assurances to burglars and others — "even (former attorney general and defendant) John Mitchell" — of executive intervention.

Ben-Veniste also said the jury would be listening to actual tape recorded conversations between Nixon and his aides and advised the jurors to ignore the "vulgar and coarse" language. He said such language is "sometimes used by men, even in high office, in their private conversations."

JOHN D. EHRLICHMAN
Arrives for trial

The opening of the trial was delayed for two hours while lawyers for both sides met in chambers with U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica. The reason for the meeting was not disclosed, but when Sirica came into court he denied a defense motion for a mistrial and excused one of the jurors chosen just last Friday.

No reason was given for excusing Lucille F. Plunkett, 59, a coffeemaker. Helen D. Pratt, 63, a retired maid and the first of six alternates, took her place on the jury.

All of the defendants, former top White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman; former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and Nixon campaign officials Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, appeared tense and were unsmiling as their trial began.

All but Mitchell, separated from his wife Martha, had family members in court. Haldeman's 23-year-old daughter Susan, a second-year law student, is assisting in his defense.

The prosecution team will be without Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who resigned Saturday with a letter saying that his work on the case was largely done.

Jaworski, a 69-year old Texas lawyer who stepped in to fill the post left vacant when former President Nixon fired Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox Oct. 20, 1973, formally submitted his resignation to Attorney General William B. Saxbe, effective Oct. 25.

The White House said a new special prosecutor would be named before then, but Jaworski's departure was not expected to affect the trial.

The trial is the same courtroom where 20 months ago five employes of Richard Nixon's re-election campaign were convicted of what then was simply a bugging of Democratic party headquarters.

The issue now is the cover-up of that bizarre incident — and whether five former White House and Nixon campaign aides plotted to obstruct justice and defraud the United States.

The jury will be sequestered at a downtown Washington hotel until sometime after Christmas, cut off from the outside world except for mail, phone calls and newspapers, which will be censored.

Fourteen former White House, administration and Nixon campaign aides already have been convicted or pleaded guilty to Watergate crimes.

Several of them have previously admitted guilt in the cover-up and are to be prosecution witnesses.

Nixon has been subpoenaed both as a prosecution and as a defense witness, but his lawyers contend this would pose a "serious risk" to his health and have asked for him to be excused.

Sirica has yet to decide whether to compel Nixon's appearance.

Kissinger Reports Mideast Tense

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has found enormous tension in the Middle East but does not believe an outbreak of hostilities is imminent, a high American officials said today.

The official spoke to newsmen on the flight from Cairo to Damascus, where Kissinger arrived at 1:00 p.m. (4 a.m. PDT) for a final round of talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

In a busy weekend of talks Kissinger:

Won agreement from Saudi Arabia to help him push for a drop in the world's record oil prices.

Worked out with Israel the details of an accord on the direction of the next round of Middle East peace talks and transmitted the Israeli ideas today to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Cairo. Israeli sources said this meant no further Israeli pullback from captured Arab territories without something in return.

Said in Cairo he had seen "positive indications" of possible progress toward peace in the Middle East and announced he would return to the area the first week in November.

Today's talks complete Kissinger's current Middle East tour. He was expected to leave Damascus at 5:00 p.m. (8 a.m. PDT) for Algiers and later will visit Morocco before returning to Washington late tomorrow.

Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam met Kissinger at Damascus airport and escorted him to the Rawdah government guest house for a brief rest. Later Khaddam accompanied Kissinger and his aides to the presidential palace.

The high-ranking official aboard Kissinger's plane said that despite apparent progress during his latest Middle East tour, the negotiations had proved tougher than the Secretary expected.

But the official said that though Kissinger found enormous tension, he did not believe an outbreak of hostilities was imminent.

With Egyptian President Sadat standing at his side Kissinger told newsmen in Cairo:

"I reported to the president my impressions of the area and about the conversations that I have had with various leaders of the countries I have visited.

"I told him my conclusion that there are positive indications which may be progress toward making just peace in the area possible," he said.

He said Sadat would discuss the progress in the peace negotiations with other Arab leaders at the summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, Oct. 26.

"I therefore plan to return to the area during the first week of November and we will then assess progress made towards peace in the Middle East on a thorough and complete basis," Kissinger said.

Sadat, who stood next to Kissinger on the steps of his palatial home, said the problem of

Two Fires Hit Novato Grassy Sites

Two fires burned 35 acres of grassland in Novato over the weekend, occupying firefighters from two departments in battling the blaze.

Fire blackened 20 acres of grass and brush Saturday behind 70 Rudnick Avenue on Cherry Hill beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Sunday, 15 acres of grass were burned beginning at about 5 p.m. on North Marin County Water District property near the Indian Valley golf course.

More than 40 firemen from Novato and Marin County fire departments were sent to each fire. Cause of the fires was not known.

According to a spokesmen for the Novato department, firemen remained on the scene at Cherry Hill more than 26 hours after the fire broke out, extinguishing smoldering patches and watching for flareups.

Novato Tightens Football Grip

Novato High School posted its seventh straight Marin County Athletic League football shutout Saturday and remained atop the MCAL standings with a 13-0 victory over Tamalpais in Novato.

In other prep games over the weekend, San Marin defeated Redwood, 20-0, San Rafael edged Terra Linda, 7-6 and Marin Catholic beat Drake, 7-2.

College of Marin defeated Ohlone, 27-10. For details, see sports.

Ford Vetoes Turkish Aid Cutoff; Congress Plans Override Try

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today vetoed legislation forcing an immediate cutoff of military aid to Turkey — thereby setting up his first confrontation with Congress since taking office.

The House, which last week refused to accept a compromise on the Turkey issue, scheduled a vote for tomorrow on overriding the veto. The vote delayed Congress' pre-election recess which was scheduled to have started last Friday.

Ford has vetoed five previous measures but tomorrow's vote will be Congress' first attempt at overriding his veto. The congressional leadership predicted it would be sustained.

Ford, in a message to the House announcing his action, said, "I take this step with great reluctance, but in the belief that I have no other choice."

He said that an arms cutoff to Turkey would help neither Greece nor the Greek Cypriot people "who have suffered so tragically" in recent months.

He said in vetoing the bill, "I do so because, should this measure become law, it would be impossible for the United States to continue to play any meaningful role in assisting the parties to resolve the Cyprus dispute.

"We would inevitably be forced to withdraw from the negotiations because the Congress would have taken the tools we need to affect the outcome."

The amendment calling for the Turkish arms ban is attached to a resolution providing funds for departments and agencies that have not yet received their regular appropriations for fiscal 1975.

Without the resolution, programs and payrolls would stop at the Departments of Health, Education and Welfare, Labor and Agriculture.

If Congress fails to override the veto, it will have to remain in session to pass the appropriations.

Mill Valley Consultant, Citizens Draft Richardson Bay Area Plan

By REBECCA LARSEN

A citizens committee has approved the outline of a general plan for East Mill Valley's marshlands, calling for areas of multiple housing, open space, parks, shops and restaurants.

The plan, agreed on Thursday in discussions with the city's general plan consultants, Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco, was prepared separately from a general plan for the rest of Mill Valley.

The area in the East Mill Valley plan includes lands bordered by East Blithedale Avenue, Highway 101, Miller Avenue and Camino Alto. The already developed areas of Shelter Ridge, Enchanted Knolls and Shelter Bay are covered by the plan as well as 144 open, marshy acres along Richardson Bay. About 35 per cent of the vacant land already is owned by the city of the Mill Valley School District.

The consultants and citizens divided the area into 11 sections each given different recommendations, according to Planning Director Tom W. Newton.

According to the committee:

1. An area of 55 acres of marshland at the city's southern end including some marsh in Tamalpais Valley and Almonte should be acquired and preserved as a natural wildlife habitat. Existing dikes should be removed to restore the mudflats to marshland. A limited part of the marsh behind Tam junction can be opened to commercial development.

2. A 5.7-acre, privately owned site on Miller Avenue opposite a Tamalpais High School playing field should be used for multiple residential building with some low and moderate income

Wrong Information Leads To Ticketing Of Autos

As a result of erroneous information furnished by the San Rafael Police Department Friday afternoon and published by the Independent-Journal Saturday, many persons in San Rafael were annoyed today to discover that their parked cars were being ticketed where meters indicated time had run out.

The I-J telephoned the department Friday to determine if a meter holiday would be observed today, Columbus Day. An unidentified officer who answered left the phone to find out, and returned to report a meter holiday would be observed.

The officer, however, was incorrect.

Police Chief Lawrence R. Kelly told the I-J today that he had instructed the force to issue tickets as usual despite the mixup. The I-J report would be "taken into consideration" by meter maids, he said.

Chief Kelly said that any one of 10 officers on duty Friday afternoon could have supplied the misinformation, and he did not expect to learn who had.

Ed Sullivan Dies At 73 Of Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ed Sullivan, host of a long-time CBS-TV Sunday night show running the gamut of entertainment from opera stars to animal acts, died last night at the age of 73.

A family spokesman said Sullivan died of cancer of the esophagus at Lenox Hill Hospital. He had been hospitalized more than five weeks ago.

Sullivan, often the butt of comedians who imitated his wooden delivery, invariably introduced celebrities sitting in the studio audience.

It was Sullivan who gave American television audiences their first look at Elvis Presley in the 1950s and the Beatles in the 1960s.

Comic impersonators got laughs by mocking Sullivan himself, especially his "really big shew" line, which he used in introducing his show.

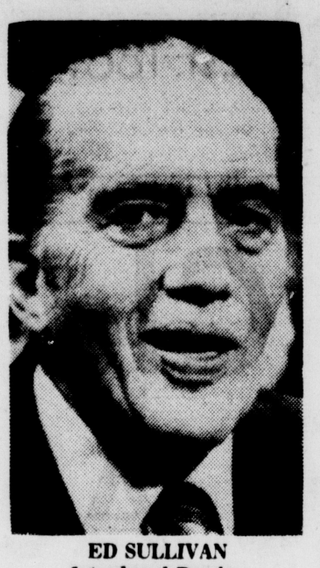
Sullivan got into show business as a newspaper reporter covering celebrities. He wrote a newspaper column for the New York Daily News until his death.

After a series of short-lived radio shows, he was spotted by CBS while hosting the New York Daily News' annual Harvest Moon Ball.

In 1947, CBS gave Sullivan a one-hour variety series, originally called "The Toast of the Town," which ran for 24 years until 1971.

A fellow journalist, Jim Bishop, once said "By all the rules of the theater, he's a cipher. He cannot act. He cannot sing. He cannot dance. He cannot tell a joke."

Although his role was seen as that of the person who changed the signs between vaudeville acts, Sullivan was not entirely uncontroversial. In 1961, he had a feud with Jack Paar, then star of NBC-TV's late night show, over performers' fees.



ED SULLIVAN
Introduced Presley

Sullivan started the dispute by saying he would not pay performers as much as $7,500 for appearances on his prime time show if they appeared on Paar's show for only $320.

A debate was arranged, with Sullivan scheduled to appear on Paar's show. Sullivan never showed, however. "Paar simply has welshed," he said, calling Paar's demand for a free discussion period unacceptable.

Paar said Sullivan "broke the date" and, in a 45-minute monologue during the period the debate was to be held, called Sullivan a "liar" and dared him to sue for libel.

Sullivan was born Edward Vincent Sullivan in Manhattan. His first job after high school was as a reporter for the Port Chester (N.Y.) Item.

After several jobs as reporter or sportswriter for newspapers, he landed a job as Broadway columnist for the New York Graphic in 1929. He moved his column to the New York Daily News in 1932.

Sullivan's wife, Sylvia, died last year.

Tokyo Office Wrecked By Trash Bomb

TOKYO (UPI) — A bomb wrecked the downtown office building of a major Japanese import-export company today, but a telephone warning gave the firm time to evacuate most of its 2,700 employees and avert a major catastrophe.

Police said the blast injured 16 persons, two of them seriously, at the headquarters of Mitsui and Co. Two of the victims were police officers rushed to the building to search for the explosive.

It was the second bomb attack on a major Japanese corporation in six weeks.

Authorities said the bomb was apparently wrapped in brown paper and hidden in a waste basket near the entrance to Mitsui's third-floor communications room.

Company officials said Mitsui's computerized worldwide communications network remained intact although windows in the room were shattered.

"I heard an awful bang and a wave of wind hit my face," said Kimiaki Ueno, 24, an employe in the communications room. "Then there was smoke hanging all over the room and I knew it was a bomb."

Two calls to the company's telephone switchboard warned "a bomb has been planted" in the building. The explosion came 27 minutes after the first call.

The callers identified themselves as members of the "Asian Continental Development Organization," a group unknown to police investigators.

About 2,000 police were dispatched to the area around the Mitsui building after the explosion. Workers in the building were evacuated to nearby Hibiya Park.

Soon after the blast, an anonymous caller telephoned a machinery firm connected with C. Itoh Co., another of Japan's big international trading houses. "After Mitsui, the next is you," the caller said.

On Aug. 30, a bomb made of 50 sticks of dynamite exploded in front of the headquarters of Mitsubishi Heavy Industries in downtown Tokyo.

Eight persons were killed and more than 300 injured in that blast, which broke more than 3,000 windows in the area. No suspects were arrested.

EPA, Industry Argue 'Scrubbing' Devices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency says there has been a technological breakthrough with which the nation's power plants could:

Clean up the air.

Cut the country's reliance on expensive foreign oil.

Use up readily available supplies of inexpensive but "dirty" Eastern coal without harming the environment.

Make it unnecessary to tear up thousands of acres of public land in the West by strip mining to get cleaner burning coal.

Some parts of the power industry don't believe it. They say the EPA is trying to force them to spend billions of dollars on "monstrous contraptions" of questionable value which will fan inflation and be "energy paralyzing."

The breakthrough the EPA claims involves smokestack "scrubbers" — devices to remove sulfur oxides which are given off when coal or oil with high sulfur content is burned.

These oxides are dangerous to health when smokestacks spew them into the atmosphere.

Two weeks ago, the agency announced that experience with a number of scrubber installations in commercial power plants prove that they work.

It says the results that will flow from the breakthrough, if industry can be convinced, will be immense: Cheap, plentiful, high sulfur coal could be burned without polluting the air.

That would mean less reliance on high priced foreign oil, which now drives up prices, and no need to strip mine for low sulfur coal in the West.

But even one of the firms the agency cites as a model doesn't read the findings with quite the same clarity as the EPA. The government is split on the issue.

Behind the argument is a clock that is running out. The law as currently written requires that the air be made cleaner.

The EPA has already singled out power plants with a combined generating capacity of 90,000 megawatts, which it believes must be controlled with smokestack scrubbers by 1980 to meet those rules.

Those power companies which object say their basic argument is not money — although there is potentially a $5.4 billion investment involved for scrubbers — but that the spending is too risky because the equipment does not work, or at least not for sufficient periods of time with enough reliability to make the air cleaner.

The EPA's latest status report on scrubber technology singled out the Louisville (Ky.) Gas and Electric Co., which it said has been operating for five months a scrubber capable of removing 90 per cent of the sulfur oxides from high sulfur coal.

A company spokesman told UPI: "It does work. It seems to continue to operate as long as we want it to." In general the firm seemed as pleased as the EPA was.

But a second company, Boston Edison, was not as enthusiastic.

The agency said Boston Edison "seems generally satisfied with the efficiency and reliability" of the system, although it admitted the device had broken down a few times.

A company spokesman, asked for his version, said, "While it is running it is successful. During the test period it was successful in removing over 5,000 tons of commercially saleable sulfuric acid.

"The bad news is that as far as reliability is concerned it's not totally satisfactory. It has a relatively poor availability. During the test period it has only been able to operate seven days at a time, then shut down," he said.

Asked whether 5he EPA's claimed breakthrough is here, he said: "It's just not proven yet."

The EPA said Boston Edison planned to install scrubbers on other boilers but the company spokesman said those decisions were still not made.

ROME (UPI) — Michael Chinigo, a former wire service reporter who covered the U.S. Army landings in Sicily and Anzio, died Friday night of a self-inflected pistol wound, police said today.

Death at 72

Conductor Krips Dies In Geneva

GENEVA (UPI) — Conductor Joseph Krips, noted for his interpretations of Mozart, died yesterday at the Cantonal Hospital here. He was 72.

The hospital did not disclose the cause of death but his wife said he had been suffering from lung cancer. The Krips had a home in Montreux on Lake Geneva, but traveled most of the time.

Mrs. Krips said her husband's cancer was diagnosed early this year but he felt better after treatment in Vienna and conducted Mozart's opera Cosi Fan Tutte in Paris in May.

However, he gave up conducting after seven performances when he suffered a relapse.

Krips entered the Geneva hospital early in September. His widow said he will be buried in Vienna. No arrangements had yet been made.

Krips started his career at the Volksoper of his native Vienna in 1921.

From 1926 until 1933, he was leading conductor at the Karisruhe state theater in Germany. After the Nazi takeover, Krips returned to Vienna, working for the State Opera until the Nazis invaded Austria in 1938.

When the Nazis barred him from conducting, he emigrated to Belgrade. Back in Vienna after World War II, he became conductor at the State Opera and reopened the Salzburg Festival in 1946.

In the postwar years, he gained a worldwide reputation with his new style of interpreting works by Mozart.

From 1950 until 1954, Krips was conductor of the London Symphony Orchesta. Until 1963, he worked with the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra and later he also conducted the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Krips worked his last years in Vienna. He resigned as chief conductor of the Vienna Symphony Orchestra in 1973.

Ford Poised To Campaign For Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will be on the road again this week in his effort to get to get a Congress as friendly as possible to his administration elected Nov. 5.

There is little doubt that Democrats will pick up seats in the House and Senate this fall. How many is still the subject of speculation.

Republican strategists figure they will lose anywhere between "the teens" and 35 seats. Democratic politicians say "we'll be doing good if we pick up 20 seats."

There are 34 Senate seats at stake, 20 Democratic and 14 Republican. Experts in both parties say that alignment will shift to the Democrats.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., said (on NBC's "Meet the Press") yesterday, "I think we will pick up three, possibly four, additional seats" in the Senate.

Ford has already made it clear that he's going to be involved this fall. He began campaigning last week, making visits to Burlington, Vt., Philadelphia and Detroit.

He has a trip this week to the Great Plains, with speeches scheduled for Kansas City and small towns in Iowa and Nebraska.

Ford spent a quiet weekend. He curtailed his Saturday schedule, holding only a few meetings and swearing in Richard Roudebush as the new head of the Veterans Administration.

The next day, he read the Sunday papers and watched football on television. Ford spent much of the time with his wife Betty, just released from Bethesda Naval Hospital, where she had a cancer operation.

Bennett Cancels In Boston, Too

TORONTO (UPI) — Singer Tony Bennett backed costar Lena Horne Friday in her cancellation of a Boston engagement because of the anti-busing violence in that city.

Bennett and Miss Horne, currently touring together, were to perform at the Boston Symphony Hall from Oct. 23 to 26.

Mills Fling May Hamper Election Try

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "What happened to Wilbur" is one of Washington's latest gossip subjects.

"Wilbur" is the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., one of the most powerful men in Congress. Some colleagues agree that something did happen to Wilbur in the past two or three years, about the time he decided to run for President.

The change, if there was one, became headlines last week. There were jokes about Mills' relationship with a former nightclub dancer. For example: "She was only a stripper from the Silver Slipper, but she had her Ways and Means."

For most of his career in Congress, Mills was intellectual, staid and mostly serious. He was said to refuse White House invitations so he could stay at home with his wife Polly. His bedside reading was articles on tax law.

Most people thought all Mills had to worry about was how big his re-election margin would be —but that was before a week ago today.

The events are by now well known. About 2 a.m., Oct. 14, police stopped a speeding car with no headlights.

A woman ran into a tidal basin of the Potomac River and was pulled out by police, screaming. One passenger was an intoxicated, scratched and bleeding man who identified himself as Wilbur Mills.

First, Mills' office denied he was present. Two days later, with the congressman still absent, his office issued a written statement saying that it was all a misunderstanding, simply a party of friends.

The woman, Annabel Battistella, 38, whom Mills called a neighbor in his apartment complex, once worked as a nightclub stripper, billed as "Fanne Foxe, the Argentine Fire Cracker."

Mills now has to face the voters back in Arkansas who have regularly returned him to Congress for the past 35 years. For the first time, a Republican, 31-year-old Judy Petty, is giving him a serious challenge.

"I just can't understand what happened to Wilbur," said one bewildered senior member of his committee.

Many of his colleagues say whatever happened to Wilbur happened in 1972. He decided to run for President, got roughly 1 per cent of the vote in the primaries, and dropped out before the convention.

Mills had largely shunned publicity before that and was known as one of the most effective legislators — and sober, retiring personages —in several decades.

What's more, the Senate Watergate Committee uncovered charges that for his presidential campaign, Mills accepted $75,000 in illegal contributions and services from Associated Milk Producers, Inc., and Gulf Oil Corp. had illegally contributed $15,000.

After that, Mills was hit with back problems. He was laid up for eight months in Arkansas for treatment which included disc surgery and recuperation. When he returned, both Mills and his committee had changed.

Balloon Travel Ends In Death

HARVARD, Ill. (UPI) — One woman was killed and four persons were injured during the weekend when eight hot air balloons went out of control in brisk air currents and sailed from Wisconsin to Illinois.

The dead woman was identified as Edith Coppage, 36, Wood Dale, Ill.

State police said she was a passenger in one of eight balloons called the "hot air brigade," which took off from a resort in Fontana, Wis., and were blown into northern Illinois.

A police spokesman said the woman was in a balloon which crashed into a tree about two miles south of Harvard.

Murder In Chapel At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The body of a young woman who went to pray in a church on the Stanford University campus in the middle of the night was found half-nude and spread-eagled near the altar yesterday morning.

An autopsy showed she was stabbed in the back of the head.

There were no suspects in the slaying of Arlis Perry, 19, whose killer apparently carried out a torture ritual on the young woman's body, using a pair of three-foot-long candles.

Police would only say that "some objects" were found in the Romanesque-style Memorial Church, but the chapel's dean, Robert Hammerton-Kelly, said two large white candles were with the body.

Mrs. Perry, a 5-6, 110-pound blonde who worked for a Palo Alto law office, left her apartment about midnight to pray at the church, according to her husband, Bruce Perry, 20.

Asked if Mrs. Perry was possibly the victim of a Black Mass satanist torture-killing, Santa Clara County sheriff's Lt. Robert Bartoo replied:

"We're exploring all the possibilities, including this." There were "some objects lying around," he said, "but I'm not sure just what."

Six detectives were assigned to the case. The major clue was said to be a report that two men entered the century-old church with a woman just before the midnight lockup.

The security officer who found the body said the west door leading to a seating and prayer area of the church was unlocked.

The victim's husband said his wife often walked to the church alone when she had a problem. She left their apartment just before midnight, he said, and when she hadn't returned by 3 a.m., he notified authorities.

The Perry couple was from Bismarck, N.D., and had married last August, university officials said. Perry is a sophomore at Stanford. His wife recently went to work as a receptionist in Palo Alto.

3 Appointed To Medical Unit

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Rehabilitation Director Alan C. Nelson Friday reappointed Drs. Rafael Canton of Ventura, William Fowler of Davis and Harris Meisel of Santa Barbara to three-year terms on the Medical Advisory Committee.

Physicians on the nine-member committee, which advises Nelson on vocational rehabilitation of handicapped persons, receive expenses while on official business.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Italians Try For New Cabinet

ROME (UPI) — President Giovanni Leone today named Christian Democratic party leader Amintore Fanfani as premier-designate to try to form a new center-left government to lift Italy out of its political and economic morass.

Fanfani

Fanfani, who was the main architect of the center-left alignment of Christian Democrats, and Social Democrats in 1962, accepted "with reservation."

Politicians said even if Fanfani succeeds in patching up the feud between the Socialists and Social Democrats, another center-left would be only a stopgap maneuver to give all the parties time to prepare for national elections within a few months.

Moscow Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, here for discussions on a controversial U.S. grain deal with the Soviet Union and other economic matters, started talks with Soviet trade officials today, Moscow Radio said.

The radio said Simon met with Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichev.

Simon flew to Moscow yesterday to promote U.S.-Soviet trade, but he told newsmen he would spend much of the trip discussing President Ford's decision to block a $500 million wheat sale to the Soviet Union.

Reds Attack

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist gunners slammed 10 Chinese-built rockets into the eastern fringes of Ochentong international airport southwest of the Cambodian capital early today.

Police said seven civilians living in the area were wounded but no airport facilities were affected.

It was the first time since the spring that the rebels hit southwestern Phnom Penh. Several Chinese 107mm rockets have been fired at the southeast part of the city. Four of the missiles wounded two civilians four days ago.

Mexican Oil

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexican President Luis Echeverria says Mexico will closely guard its new-found oil reserves, reputed to be as rich as those of the Persian Gulf.

Echeverria said there are "very good prospects" but gave no details of the size of the find in the southeastern states of Chiapas and Tabasco — "that is something our technicians will have to determine."

The Washington Post Saturday quoted an American oil company geologist as saying that the oil deposits could be another Persian Gulf of petroleum and had awakened U.S. interests.

Demo Hopeful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., says he isn't well enough known around the country to run for president, although he agrees with those who want him to do it that he could appeal to the political center.

Bentsen, 53, said yesterday some party leaders have told him he should run for the Democratic nomination in 1976.

"And every time they say it, I enjoy it," Bentsen said.

Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Democratic campaign committee, said he felt many Democratic voters were looking for a new face, "a voice of moderation" for the party.

Parley Spurned

SAIGON (UPI) — The offer of President Nguyen Van Thieu to negotiate peace with the Communist side has been turned down by the Viet Cong and North Vietnam, supporters of the government said today.

The Communists, apparently taking Thieu's offer for new peace talks as a show of weakness, instead have stepped up their own demands for peace and called for the overthrow of Thieu, pro-government politicians said.

On Sept. 8 Thieu sent two top aides to Indonesia in an effort to enlist that nation's help as an intermediary between Saigon and Communist officials, but the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have showed no interest.

Tory Loser

LONDON (UPI) — Former prime minister Edward Heath, humiliated by his second election loss to Harold Wilson this year, today faced increasing public and party pressure to give up leadership of the Conservative party.

London newspapers said the only remaining question after Thursday's election, which gave Wilson's Labor party government a new mandate with a three-man majority in Parliament, was when and how the Tory leader would step down.

Sir Keith, former secretary of state for social services, and party chairman William Whitelaw, former secretary for Northern Ireland, were favorities to get the job of rebuilding the Conservative party.

Irish Parley

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland Secretary Merlyn Rees flew to Belfast today from London to discuss ways of halting a wave of assassinations that police said had given Northern Ireland its bloodiest period since 1972.

There have been four assassinations in as many days, boosting the number of political murders to 15 in less than a month.

Gerry Fitt, leader of the Roman Catholic-dominated Social Democratic and Labor party SDLP, said he has asked for a meeting with Prime Minister Harold Wilson to discuss the situation.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
BY JUNE EMBURY

JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED FOR COLDS & FLU

We're delighted and grateful when physicians send patients to us for dietary supplements. It's a sure sign, we believe, of nutritional updating within the medical profession. One special formula is frequently recommended for helping people cope with colds and flu bugs. This is a mixture of raw thymus and adrenal substance, along with vitamins, bioflavonoids, wheat germ and yeast.

There's been much talk lately about the effects of thymus substance. Scientists think it helps trigger the body's immunity reserves. Perhaps that's why this particular supplement seems to be so satisfactory. Feel free to ask us more about it.

Ed Sullivan Dies At 73 Of Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ed Sullivan, host of a long-time CBS-TV Sunday night show running the gamut of entertainment from opera stars to animal acts, died last night at the age of 73.

A family spokesman said Sullivan died of cancer of the esophagus at Lenox Hill Hospital. He had been hospitalized more than five weeks ago.

Sullivan, often the butt of comedians who imitated his wooden delivery, invariably introduced celebrities sitting in the studio audience.

It was Sullivan who gave American television audiences their first look at Elvis Presley in the 1950s and the Beatles in the 1960s.

Comic impersonators got laughs by mocking Sullivan himself, especially his "really big shew" line, which he used in introducing his show.

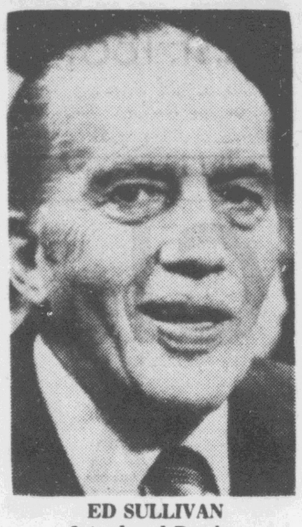
Sullivan got into show business as a newspaper reporter covering celebrities. He wrote a newspaper column for the New York Daily News until his death.

After a series of short-lived radio shows, he was spotted by CBS while hosting the New York Daily News' annual Harvest Moon Ball.

In 1947, CBS gave Sullivan a one-hour variety series, originally called "The Toast of the Town," which ran for 24 years until 1971.

A fellow journalist, Jim Bishop, once said "By all the rules of the theater, he's a cipher. He cannot act. He cannot sing. He cannot dance. He cannot tell a joke."

Although his role was seen as that of the person who changed the signs between vaudeville acts, Sullivan was not entirely uncontroversial. In 1961, he had a feud with Jack Paar, then star of NBC-TV's late night show, over performers' fees.



ED SULLIVAN
Introduced Presley

Sullivan started the dispute by saying he would not pay performers as much as $7,500 for appearances on his prime time show if they appeared on Paar's show for only $320.

A debate was arranged, with Sullivan scheduled to appear on Paar's show. Sullivan never showed, however. "Paar simply has welshed," he said, calling Paar's demand for a free discussion period unacceptable.

Paar said Sullivan "broke the date" and, in a 45-minute monologue during the period the debate was to be held, called Sullivan a "liar" and dared him to sue for libel.

Sullivan was born Edward Vincent Sullivan in Manhattan. His first job after high school was as a reporter for the Port Chester (N.Y.) Item.

After several jobs as reporter or sportswriter for newspapers, he landed a job as Broadway columnist for the New York Graphic in 1929. He moved his column to the New York Daily News in 1932.

Sullivan's wife, Sylvia, died last year.

Tokyo Office Wrecked By Trash Bomb

TOKYO (UPI) — A bomb wrecked the downtown office building of a major Japanese import-export company today, but a telephone warning gave the firm time to evacuate most of its 2,700 employees and avert a major catastrophe.

Police said the blast injured 16 persons, two of them seriously, at the headquarters of Mitsui and Co. Two of the victims were police officers rushed to the building to search for the explosive.

It was the second bomb attack on a major Japanese corporation in six weeks.

Authorities said the bomb was apparently wrapped in brown paper and hidden in a waste basket near the entrance to Mitsui's third-floor communications room.

Company officials said Mitsui's computerized worldwide communications network remained intact although windows in the room were shattered.

"I heard an awful bang and a wave of wind hit my face," said Kimiaki Ueno, 24, an employe in the communications room. "Then there was smoke hanging all over the room and I knew it was a bomb."

A woman ran into a tidal basin of the Potomac River and was pulled out by police, screaming. One passenger was an intoxicated, scratched and bleeding man who identified himself as Wilbur Mills.

First, Mills' office denied he was present. Two days later, with the congressman still absent, his office issued a written statement saying that it was all a misunderstanding, simply a party of friends.

The woman, Annabel Battistella, 38, whom Mills called a neighbor in his apartment complex, once worked as a nightclub stripper, billed as "Fanne Foxe, the Argentine Fire Cracker."

Mills now has to face the voters back in Arkansas who have regularly returned him to Congress for the past 35 years. For the first time, a Republican, 31-year-old Judy Petty, is giving him a serious challenge.

"I just can't understand what happened to Wilbur," said one bewildered senior member of his committee.

Many of his colleagues say whatever happened to Wilbur happened in 1972. He decided to run for President, got roughly 1 per cent of the vote in the primaries, and dropped out before the convention.

Mills had largely shunned publicity before that and was known as one of the most effective legislators — and sober, retiring personages —in several decades.

What's more, the Senate Watergate Committee uncovered charges that for his presidential campaign, Mills accepted $75,000 in illegal contributions and services from Associated Milk Producers, Inc., and Gulf Oil Corp. had illegally contributed $15,000.

After that, Mills was hit with back problems. He was laid up for eight months in Arkansas for treatment which included disc surgery and recuperation. When he returned, both Mills and his committee had changed.

Tearful Champ

KIDDERMINSTER, England (UPI) — Teary-eyed housewife Dorothy Burton, 44, yesterday claimed a world record for peeling 62 pounds (28 kg) of onions in two hours.

Murder In Chapel At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The body of a young woman who went to pray in a church on the Stanford University campus in the middle of the night was found half-nude and spread-eagled near the altar yesterday morning.

An autopsy showed she was stabbed in the back of the head.

There were no suspects in the slaying of Arlis Perry, 19, whose killer apparently carried out a torture ritual on the young woman's body, using a pair of three-foot-long candles.

Police would only say that "some objects" were found in the Romanesque-style Memorial Church, but the chapel's dean, Robert Hammerton-Kelly, said two large white candles were with the body.

Mrs. Perry, a 5-6, 110-pound blonde who worked for a Palo Alto law office, left her apartment about midnight to pray at the church, according to her husband, Bruce Perry, 20.

Asked if Mrs. Perry was possibly the victim of a Black Mass satanist torture-killing, Santa Clara County sheriff's Lt. Robert Bartoo replied:

"We're exploring all the possibilities, including this." There were "some objects lying around," he said, "but I'm not sure just what."

Six detectives were assigned to the case. The major clue was said to be a report that two men entered the century-old church with a woman just before the midnight lockup.

The security officer who found the body said the west door leading to a seating and prayer area of the church was unlocked.

The victim's husband said his wife often walked to the church alone when she had a problem. She left their apartment just before midnight, he said, and when she hadn't returned by 3 a.m., he notified authorities.

The Perry couple was from Bismarck, N.D., and had married last August, university officials said. Perry is a sophomore at Stanford. His wife recently went to work as a receptionist in Palo Alto.

3 Appointed To Medical Unit

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Rehabilitation Director Alan C. Nelson Friday reappointed Drs. Rafael Canton of Ventura, William Fowler of Davis and Harris Meisel of Santa Barbara to three-year terms on the Medical Advisory Committee.

Physicians on the nine-member committee, which advises Nelson on vocational rehabilitation of handicapped persons, receive expenses while on official business.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Italians Try For New Cabinet

ROME (UPI) — President Giovanni Leone today named Christian Democratic party leader Amintore Fanfani as premier-designate to try to form a new center-left government to lift Italy out of its political and economic morass.

Fanfani

Fanfani, who was the main architect of the center-left alignment of Christian Democrats, and Social Democrats in 1962, accepted "with reservation."

Politicians said even if Fanfani succeeds in patching up the feud between the Socialists and Social Democrats, another center-left would be only a stopgap maneuver to give all the parties time to prepare for national elections within a few months.

Moscow Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, here for discussions on a controversial U.S. grain deal with the Soviet Union and other economic matters, started talks with Soviet trade officials today, Moscow Radio said.

The radio said Simon met with Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichev.

Simon flew to Moscow yesterday to promote U.S.-Soviet trade, but he told newsmen he would spend much of the trip discussing President Ford's decision to block a $500 million wheat sale to the Soviet Union.

Reds Attack

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist gunners slammed 10 Chinese-built rockets into the eastern fringes of Ochentong international airport southwest of the Cambodian capital early today.

Police said seven civilians living in the area were wounded but no airport facilities were affected.

It was the first time since the spring that the rebels hit southwestern Phnom Penh. Several Chinese 107mm rockets have been fired at the southeast part of the city. Four of the missiles wounded two civilians four days ago.

Mexican Oil

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexican President Luis Echeverria says Mexico will closely guard its new-found oil reserves, reputed to be as rich as those of the Persian Gulf.

Echeverria said there are "very good prospects" but gave no details of the size of the find in the southeastern states of Chiapas and Tabasco — "that is something our technicians will have to determine."

The Washington Post Saturday quoted an American oil company geologist as saying that the oil deposits could be another Persian Gulf of petroleum and had awakened U.S. interests.

Demo Hopeful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., says he isn't well enough known around the country to run for president, although he agrees with those who want him to do it that he could appeal to the political center.

Bentsen, 53, said yesterday some party leaders have told him he should run for the Democratic nomination in 1976.

"And every time they say it, I enjoy it," Bentsen said.

Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Democratic campaign committee, said he felt many Democratic voters were looking for a new face, "a voice of moderation" for the party.

Parley Spurned

SAIGON (UPI) — The offer of President Nguyen Van Thieu to negotiate peace with the Communist side has been turned down by the Viet Cong and North Vietnam, supporters of the government said today.

The Communists, apparently taking Thieu's offer for new peace talks as a show of weakness, instead have stepped up their own demands for peace and called for the overthrow of Thieu, pro-government politicians said.

On Sept. 8 Thieu sent two top aides to Indonesia in an effort to enlist that nation's help as an intermediary between Saigon and Communist officials, but the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have showed no interest.

Tory Loser

LONDON (UPI) — Former prime minister Edward Heath, humiliated by his second election loss to Harold Wilson this year, today faced increasing public and party pressure to give up leadership of the Conservative party.

London newspapers said the only remaining question after Thursday's election, which gave Wilson's Labor party government a new mandate with a three-man majority in Parliament, was when and how the Tory leader would step down.

Sir Keith, former secretary of state for social services, and party chairman William Whitelaw, former secretary for Northern Ireland, were favorities to get the job of rebuilding the Conservative party.

Irish Parley

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland Secretary Merlyn Rees flew to Belfast today from London to discuss ways of halting a wave of assassinations that police said had given Northern Ireland its bloodiest period since 1972.

There have been four assassinations in as many days, boosting the number of political murders to 15 in less than a month.

Gerry Fitt, leader of the Roman Catholic-dominated Social Democratic and Labor party SDLP, said he has asked for a meeting with Prime Minister Harold Wilson to discuss the situation.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
BY JUNE EMBURY

JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED FOR COLDS & FLU

We're delighted and grateful when physicians send patients to us for dietary supplements. It's a sure sign, we believe, of nutritional updating within the medical profession. One special formula is frequently recommended for helping people cope with colds and flu bugs. This is a mixture of raw thymus and adrenal substance, along with vitamins, bioflavonoids, wheat germ and yeast.

There's been much talk lately about the effects of thymus substance. Scientists think it helps trigger the body's immunity reserves. Perhaps that's why this particular supplement seems to be so satisfactory. Feel free to ask us more about it.

Farmer's Almanac: Expect Cold

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's going to be a cold winter. That's the prediction from the 183rd Old Farmer's Almanac, which has just been published with its pithy homilies, recipes, yarns and advice.

"Make sure you insulate your home, stuff up the cracks and get out the bundling board," advises the 192-page 1975 Almanac.

Bundling boards, obsolete in this permissive age, were used before central heating to allow unmarried couples to get to know each other, but not too well.

The occupants would slip under the covers of a bed to keep warm and the board was placed on edge down the middle of the bed between them.

The Almanac predicts mild weather through Christmas in the northern part of the country east of the Rockies, with a cold spell in the southern half of the county and west of the Rockies.

Snowfall is predicted before Christmas for the Pacific Northwest, upper Great Lakes and plains states and mid-Atlantic states.

January through April will swing from abnormal cold to abnormal warmth in the north, the Almanac says. Very heavy snows are predicted in the Northwest, north Great Lakes and Northeast in January and March.

The Old Farmer's Almanac, founded in 1792 by Robert B. Thomas and published in Dublin, N.H., still has its familiar yellow cover and a hole punched in the upper left hand corner for hanging in a convenient spot.

The 1975 edition concentrates on advice for coping with the energy crisis and inflation, and everything from growing your own food — "run your rows north and south with the tallest crops at the north end of the plot" — to "the forgotten art of building a long-lasting fire."

There are tables for figuring when the fish will bite, when the moon will come up and when the tide will go out.

There are recipes keyed to every month of the year: November, hot pototo salad; January: corn chowder; April: maple syrup pie.

There are anecdotes about turtles that forecast the weather and starfish that commmunicate with mental telepathy.

And home hints: "Put a strip of masking tape on plywood along where you plan to make a cut. Your saw won't splinter the wood."

There is an eyewitness account of the Battle of Lexington of April 19, 1775, a yarn about "The Most Dazzling Fraud of the Age," and "The Strangest Story Every Told (or Darn Close to It)."

Then there is the sobering information that cows burp 50 million tons of hydrocarbons into the atmosphere annually, and that 10 cows burp enough of the gas annually to provide heat, hot water, and cooking gas requirements for a small home.

And throughout the book are those lines only cold northeast winters could produce: "God has given us two ends With the one we sit With the other we think Success in life depends Which we choose Heads you win Tails you lose."

Women Superior In Longer Runs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Women's higher fat content gives them a natural superiority over men in long-distance running, says marathon trotter Dr. Joan Ullyot.

The 34-year-old Pacific Medical Center researcher says her study of the physiology of running shows that a "curious thing happens to most men at about the 20-mile mark."

"Suddenly, their strength and power goes," a dip that doesn't happen to women, says Dr. Ullyot, who began jogging four years ago and recently finished sixth in the 26-mile International Women's Marathon in Germany.

She says her debut into jogging at age 30 was to help fight middle-age spread and she has now turned nearly all her professional attention to the physiology of exercise.

Weaving Exhibit In Corte Madera

Weaving by Janice Weingrod of Corte Madera is on exhibit through Oct. 31 at the Corte Madera Library. Exhibit hours are9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

Bound volumes handbound by Leland O. Green of Woodacre are also on display.

PARK DEDICATION CONDUCTED

Three San Anselmo youngsters mimic the strict formality of the Sixth Army Band during dedication ceremonies at the city's new Creek Park. The downtown recreational area, part park and part parking lot, was the scene Saturday of speeches by city officials, music, and patriotic songs by schoolchildren. About 150 residents attended the event, most of them children who romped through the $200,000 park during the ceremonies.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Early School Years Are Period Of Steady Growth

The early school years are a period of steady growth that begins at age 6 and ends in the pre-adolescent growth spurt. In girls, this occurs by the age of 10; in boys, by about 12. During these years, the average weight gain is about 7 pounds a year. Height increases by about 2½ inches.

Vigorous physical activities during a youngster's early years correct minor defects, including straightening the spine, unless, of course, the child's body is supple and he slouches.

Mild degrees of knock-knees or flatfeet are self-limiting, and usually improve as the leg muscles get stronger. There is nothing better than running and jumping to acquire and refine specific motor and muscular skills.

LITTLE THOUGHT

Most people give little thought to the facial changes that occur when the frontal sinuses enlarge during the seventh or eighth years of life. The eruption of the permanent teeth also alters the contour of the mouth.

Children in this age group have as many as seven colds a year. I discussed this with a grade school principal, who said that educators made allowances for absenteeism due to colds.

At this time of a child's life, lymphatic tissues (tonsils and adenoids) are at the peak of their development. They are supposed to be large, so never consider size alone a reason for having them removed (tonsilectomy).

The tendency of grade schoolers to frequently shift interest often creates anxiety in the parents. To a certain extent, the child's life switches from the home to the school. It is normal for him to become more independent, and parents need not worry about outside influences upon the child.

Parents and teachers should stress the benefits of duty, responsibility and accomplishment. It is natural for parents to be frustrated when their child's achievements do not measure up to what they think he is capable of, particularly if they have been achievers. Try not to make an issue of this, because many children become antisocial if they are made to feel like failures.

EYES: ONE BLUE, ONE BROWN

A reader writes: You have written on the personality of blue-eyed and brown-eyed people. What about people who have one brown eye and one blue eye? Is this a case of split personality?

REPLY

I think you are putting me on.

KELOID FORMERS

Mrs. T. H. writes: My son has had a keloid on his leg for about seven years. Can you tell me something about this?

REPLY

Skin repairs itself with a scar when it is cut or lacerated. After the repair is made, the scar stops growing. But in some people, scar tissue piles up until it protrudes beyond the level of the skin (keloids). Surgical removal is possible, but the person runs the risk of developing another keloid.

FRONTANEL CLOSURE

L. F. writes: If a baby's skull closed at 6-months-old, will she need an operation to open it and to prevent closing again until she is older?

REPLY

The frontanels usually close by the ninth month, but normal variations occur. An operation is needed only when the growth of the head is affected.

Kleberg, King Ranch Chief, Dies

HOUSTON (UPI) — Robert Justus Kleberg Jr., president and chief executive officer of the sprawling King Ranch and an avid thoroughbred horse racing breeder, died yesterday in a hospital. He was 78.

Kleberg, the grandson of steamboat Capt. Richard King who founded the ranch in 1853, directed ranching operations in Texas, Florida, Kentucky and Pennsylvania in the United States and branch operations in Brazil, Argentina, Spain, Morocco and Australia.

Kleberg, whose father was ranch foreman before marrying Richard King's youngest daughter, was born March 29, 1896. He attended the University of Wisconsin and studied agriculture.

He became known in the field of agriculture with his development of grazing grasses and the development of the United State's first breed of beef cattle, the Santa Gertrudis.

Under Kleberg's direction, the King Ranch also developed a history of producing thoroughbred racetrack winners, averaging $825,000 a year in purse money. The best known winner was Assault, the Triple Crown winner in 1946, and Middleground which missed the Triple Crown by placing only second in the 1952 Preakness.

Kleberg was a trustee of the Jockey Club and the New York Racing Association.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Early School Years Are Period Of Steady Growth

The early school years are a period of steady growth that begins at age 6 and ends in the pre-adolescent growth spurt. In girls, this occurs by the age of 10; in boys, by about 12. During these years, the average weight gain is about 7 pounds a year. Height increases by about 2½ inches.

Vigorous physical activities during a youngster's early years correct minor defects, including straightening the spine, unless, of course, the child's body is supple and he slouches.

Mild degrees of knock-knees or flatfeet are self-limiting, and usually improve as the leg muscles get stronger. There is nothing better than running and jumping to acquire and refine specific motor and muscular skills.

LITTLE THOUGHT

Most people give little thought to the facial changes that occur when the frontal sinuses enlarge during the seventh or eighth years of life. The eruption of the permanent teeth also alters the contour of the mouth.

Children in this age group have as many as seven colds a year. I discussed this with a grade school principal, who said that educators made allowances for absenteeism due to colds.

At this time of a child's life, lymphatic tissues (tonsils and adenoids) are at the peak of their development. They are supposed to be large, so never consider size alone a reason for having them removed (tonsilectomy).

The tendency of grade schoolers to frequently shift interest often creates anxiety in the parents. To a certain extent, the child's life switches from the home to the school. It is normal for him to become more independent, and parents need not worry about outside influences upon the child.

Parents and teachers should stress the benefits of duty, responsibility and accomplishment. It is natural for parents to be frustrated when their child's achievements do not measure up to what they think he is capable of, particularly if they have been achievers. Try not to make an issue of this, because many children become antisocial if they are made to feel like failures.

EYES: ONE BLUE, ONE BROWN

A reader writes: You have written on the personality of blue-eyed and brown-eyed people. What about people who have one brown eye and one blue eye? Is this a case of split personality?

REPLY

I think you are putting me on.

KELOID FORMERS

Mrs. T. H. writes: My son has had a keloid on his leg for about seven years. Can you tell me something about this?

REPLY

Skin repairs itself with a scar when it is cut or lacerated. After the repair is made, the scar stops growing. But in some people, scar tissue piles up until it protrudes beyond the level of the skin (keloids). Surgical removal is possible, but the person runs the risk of developing another keloid.

FRONTANEL CLOSURE

L. F. writes: If a baby's skull closed at 6-months-old, will she need an operation to open it and to prevent closing again until she is older?

REPLY

The frontanels usually close by the ninth month, but normal variations occur. An operation is needed only when the growth of the head is affected.

Kleberg, King Ranch Chief, Dies

HOUSTON (UPI) — Robert Justus Kleberg Jr., president and chief executive officer of the sprawling King Ranch and an avid thoroughbred horse racing breeder, died yesterday in a hospital. He was 78.

Kleberg, the grandson of steamboat Capt. Richard King who founded the ranch in 1853, directed ranching operations in Texas, Florida, Kentucky and Pennsylvania in the United States and branch operations in Brazil, Argentina, Spain, Morocco and Australia.

Kleberg, whose father was ranch foreman before marrying Richard King's youngest daughter, was born March 29, 1896. He attended the University of Wisconsin and studied agriculture.

He became known in the field of agriculture with his development of grazing grasses and the development of the United State's first breed of beef cattle, the Santa Gertrudis.

Under Kleberg's direction, the King Ranch also developed a history of producing thoroughbred racetrack winners, averaging $825,000 a year in purse money. The best known winner was Assault, the Triple Crown winner in 1946, and Middleground which missed the Triple Crown by placing only second in the 1952 Preakness.

Kleberg was a trustee of the Jockey Club and the New York Racing Association.

Man Is Booked In Heroin Sale

A 25-year-old San Rafael man was arrested in San Rafael Saturday on suspicion of sale of heroin as a result of an investigation and a warrant obtained by a San Francisco Police Department narcotics agent.

Frank Martin Hickey, of 355 Canal Street, Apt. 10, was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

San Rafael police said they arrested Hickey based on a warrant obtained by a San Francisco drug agent who said Hickey had sold him a "sample" of heroin for $20 and an ounce of heroin for $750.

Commission To Work On Plan Conflicts

The Corte Madera Planning Commission will attempt to iron out conflicts in the town's general plan maps when it meets tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Town Hall.

The meeting was changed from tonight due to the Columbus Day holiday.

Israel Censors Press Service's Dispatches

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli military censorship has ordered United Press International to submit all news copy originating in the country to prior screening by the censor's office, whether or not the dispatches deal with security matters.

The censorship office imposed the penalty yesterday and would not specify how long the sanction on the agency would remain in effect. Through an agreement between the agency and the censorship office, dispatches dealing with U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's current visit to Israel were exempted from the sanction. In the past, dispatches dealing with Kissinger's travels in Israel have ordinarily been exempted from censorship.

The sanction grew out of a dispatch transmitted by UPI Saturday about a suspected Arab guerrilla incursion into Israel from Lebanon. The dispatch quoted military sources and a spokesman in the military command as saying that footprints indicating a possible guerrilla infiltration had been found on the Israeli side of the Lebanese frontier and that a search was underway.

The facts contained in the dispatch were exact and later reconfirmed by military sources and representatives of the command. The censorship office said transmission of the dispatch without prior screening was a violation of censorship rules and possibly military security.

The agency learned later that the search operations involved patrols and roadblocks on highways in the northern tier of the country.

After UPI put out the dispatch, other agencies transmitted similar stories.

who should represent the Palestinians — especially those on the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River — still had to be settled.

"Many of us as Arabs... will always ask that the Palestinians be representeted at the Geneva talks because Palestine is at the core of the whole problem," Sadat said.

Asked his position on Palestine, Kissinger said, "We believe that the negotiations on the West Bank could be most efficiently carried out between Jordan and Israel."

Before departure, the Secretary said Sadat would visit the United States "very early in the new year." The two friends then shook hands, exchanged hugs and kisses and said goodby for a few weeks.

Kissinger's morning meeting with Sadat came after Saudi Arabia promised the secretary of state to push for a drop in the world's record oil prices.

Kissinger went into talks with Sadat at the president's Giza residence to outline a weekend accord with Israeli leaders on the "principles and procedures" for the next phase of peace negotiations.

The secretary of state flew to Cairo last night for the second time in his current peace mission and held immediate talks with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi.

Kissinger, who has traveled to Egypt, Syria, Jordan, Israel and Saudi Arabia so far on his six-day-old mission, returned to Damascus before winding up his trip with a visit to Algeria.

The secretary of state said yesterday in Tel Aviv he reached an agreement with Israeli leaders on the direction of the next round of peace talks.

"We agreed on principles and prodecures which might be followed and the general tone was harmonious," he said after talks with Premier Yitzhak Rabin.

He met King Faisal later in the day in Riyadh and said the monarch adopted a "constructive and enlightened" attitude toward "the price of oil and the impact this can have on the whole structure of the world economy."

Methadone Use, Sex Drive Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recently released research indicates that a high rate of methadone use, like heroin addiction, may affect sex drive in men.

With federal financing, narcotics addicts in Boston, Mass., and London, England, were studied. The results indicated that lower than normal levels of the sex hormone testosterone were found in the blood of heroin users and addicts taking a lot of methadone, a synthetic narcotic.

Patients on low dosage methadone maintenance had testosterone levels which were not significantly different from normal adult males, the researchers said.

The study was conducted by Jack H. Mendelson, psychiatry professor at Harvard, and two colleagues.

Few Decided On Dam Controversy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Poll says only about 26 per cent of the voters have decided how they will cast their ballots on Proposition 17, the initiative measure designed to block construction of the new Melones dam on the Stanislaus River.

However, the measure is favored almost three to one by those who have made up their minds.

The poll said today the survey was completed between Sept. 28 and Oct. 1.

PLAN

housing included. Land fill already has taken place in this area, say the consultants. The property is unsightly and would be improved by development.

3. A 12.4-acre piece of city-owned marsh lying between the Redwood retirement residence and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way should remain in its present natural state.

4. The 7.5-acre site where the city sewage treatment plant and corporation yard now stand should be marked as a potential low-income and moderate-income housing site. The hope is that the plant can be closed down once a regional sewage treatment plant is built for Southern Marin.

5. An area of 12 acres on the west side of a finger of Richardson Bay should be developed as a public park. This city-owned area already is mostly filled. Recreational uses should emphasize the openness of the site and include large turf areas for volleyball, softball, football. Parking would be limited in order to encourage foot and bike traffic.

6. A 12-acre site on the east side of Richardson Bay also is suggested for park and recreation uses including tennis and basketball courts. Most of this site is owned either by the city or the school district.

7. A 10.5-acre property at the top of the inlet of Richardson Bay into Mill Valley should be retained in its natural state. This area is owned by Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

8. About 15 acres in the Shelter Bay area should be opened to high density residential development but with a low-building profile. Most of this privately owned site is land fill or areas which have been roughly graded. The committee also suggests that if building is done, there be a side setback along the bay and a greenbelt surrounding the development.

9. Areas at the base of Shelter Ridge should be developed as a continuation of the present housing pattern there with some low and moderate income housing included.

10. Six acres of filled land protruding into Richardson Bay behind Sabella's restaurant building should be turned to recreation oriented commercial use including motels, restaurants and small shops. Nothing built should be taller than two stories.

11. Seven and a half acres of marshland behind the Hi-Ho Motel on Redwood Highway should be retained as open space.

Ralph Bender Takes Gavel Of Stamp Collectors

Ralph J. Bender of San Anselmo is the new president of the Tamalpais Stamp Club.

Bender, who formerly served as president in 1971-72, was elected to a two-year term Friday night to succeed Marcus Took of San Rafael.

Elected to serve with him were: Robert S. Caughie of San Anselmo, vice president; Jay R. Losselyong of Santa Venetia, secretary, and William J. Butcher of Fairfax, treasurer. Ragnar Thaning of San Rafael was elected to a two-year term on the board of directors.

Took and Bryce W. Anderson of San Rafael were appointed delegates to the Northern California Council of Philatelic Societies.

The club meets the second and fourth Friday of each month at 8 p.m. in the community room of Bank of Marin, Larkspur.

Hepatitis Hits 64 At Base

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The total of confirmed hepatitis cases at the Naval Training Center here stood at 64 Saturday, with another 43 suspected or possible cases in isolation, the worst such outbreak ever to strike the Navy facility.

The hepatitis cases began appearing nine days ago.

Navy spokesmen said the outbreak was believed brought on by a recruit working as a food handler early last month.

Wheaton To Get Graham Library

WHEATON, ILL. (UPI) — Wheaton College, where evangelist Billy Graham was educated and met his wife, will be the home of the Billy Graham library and archives, college officials announced Friday.

Graham's papers, manuscripts, documents, radio-TV tapes, films, files, scrapbooks and other memorabilia were expected to be included in the center to be established in this town 25 miles west of Chicago's Loop, a college spokesman said.

OBITUARIES

Former Hub Shop Owner Mary C. Simmie Dies

Mary C. Simmie, 86-year-old former San Anselmo shop owner who spent much of her life in the Orient, died Saturday at her home in San Anselmo after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Simmie was born in Japan, where her father, William Curtis, built the first Grand Hotel in Yokohama. Mrs. Simmie recounted in later years how her family contributed to the westernization of Japan. Her aunt, Clara Curtis, introduced the Japanese royal family to western-style clothes, and her father was responsible for importing European cows and sheep to the country. He also introduced sweet potatoes as fodder for Japanese pigs, which formerly had been fed fish, giving the meat a fishy taste.

When Mrs. Simmie was 8, she moved with her family to Shanghai, China.

During World War II she was imprisoned by the Japanese for nine months before her release was obtained and she came to the United States.

Before and after World War II, Mrs. Simmie and her husband, the late George W. Simmie, operated a summer resort in Pei Tei Ho Province in Northern China. During the prewar years, guests at the villa included a German general who was an adviser to Chiang Kai-shek and Mussolini's son and daughter-in-law.

The estate, which included 14 houses in an immense garden, was taken over by the Communists and the Simmies fled to the United States in 1946.

MARY C. SIMMIE
Life on two continents

For some time the family ran Oriental Treasures, a small shop on Red Hill Avenue, and also at one time, had a similar shop in Santa Rosa. Many of the Oriental objects in the shops came from the Chinese resort.

Simmie died in 1961 and two sons also preceded Mrs. Simmie in death.

She is survived by three children of an earlier marriage, a daughter, Julia Hughes of the family home at 310 Greenfield Avenue; two sons, John E. Ladow of San Francisco and William W. Ladow of Novato, five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael, where burial also will take place. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

The family prefers memorial gifts to charities.

Novato Adds Gnoss Estates To Space Map

The Novato City Council has added land in back of Gnoss Estates and Reservoir Hall and hillsides above Sunset Parkway to the city open space map.

A petition with 135 signatures was presented by residents of East Novato to the council Thursday at an adjourned meeting asking that the hill above Gnoss Estates and Reservoir Hill east of DeLong interchange he added as open space.

Several Forest Park area residents asked that land above Sunset Parkway be included, according to Fred Westfall, assistant city planner.

The council deleted all bay plain land from the open space map and the adopted the text and map on a 4-1 vote, Councilman Fred F. Ruegg opposed.

Map and text will go to the Novato Planning Commission for approval tonight and back to council for final approval Tuesday night, Westfall said.

Yoga Training Course Planned

A 30-day teacher training course in Kundalini yoga will be held Nov. 2 to Dec. 1 by Hargobind Sadan at the 3HO teacher training center in San Rafael.

The course will include Kundalini yoga, Sikh dharma, marriage and family life, drug counseling, anatomy and physiology as it relates to yoga, healing arts, food consciousness, health, meditation and the science of mantra.

Guilty Plea Brings One Year In Jail

Kenneth Wayne Weber, 26, of San Rafael, will spend one year in jail and two on probation as a result of his guilty plea to two commercial burglaries.

He was sentenced by Judge David R. Baty on the two misdemeanors involving burglaries at Jimbo's restaurant and A and W root beer, both in San Rafael.

Job Workshop Set At Library

A free job workshop for high school students will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 30 at the Novato Public Library by the Novato Human Needs Center.

Center employment coordinator Susan Reid will head a discussion of youth's problems in finding a job during a depressed economy.

ty corner's office, young Mooseau was found dead in their living room by his mother Saturday about 1 p.m. The coroner said there was no sign of foul play and an autopsy was to be performed.

Mooseau was born in Port Hueneme, Ventura County, but had lived in Marin the past seven years. He attended local schools, including San Rafael High School.

Mooseau joined M Company of the Marine Corps Reserve in San Rafael in 1973 and then enlisted for active duty last January. He was a member of a 13-man squad which last month was named "super squad" of all Marine Corps squads in rifle proficiency competition.

The youth is survived by his mother, Ruth Mooseau of the family home at 40 Curtis Street, and his father, Paul Mooseau of Richmond.

Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael. Burial will be 10:30 a.m. Thursday at San Francisco National Cemetery, Presidio of San Francisco.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

JOSEPH R. MONGAN

Joseph R. Mongan, former executive with the Atomic Energy Commission and bank auditor, died yesterday at a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

Mongan, 56, was a 25-year resident of Marin. He lived at 90 Bayview Drive, San Rafael.

He was a native of Maryland. During World War II he served as a master sergeant in the Army.

For the last five years he had worked for Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco. Before that, he had retired from a post as chief of the property management branch of the Atomic Energy Commission in Berkeley.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Mongan of Tiburon; a son Michael R. Mongan of San Francisco, and two sisters, Martha McLain of Baltimore, Md., and Monica Hurley of Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Russell and Gooch funeral home in Mill Valley followed by burial at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. The Rosary will be said tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the funeral home.

CHARLOTTE L. SLAUSON

Private funeral has been held for Charlotte L. Slauson, mother of Winifred Slauson of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Slauson, 74, died Friday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

She had been in Mill Valley for four years and resided with her daughter at 249 Corte Madera Avenue.

A native of New York, she lived much of her life in Darien, Conn. She was a linotype operator for 35 years and had held her last job with a firm in New Canaan, Conn.

She was the widow of Howard A. Slauson, a carpenter, who died in 1968.

Survivors include two daughters, Miss Slauson of Mill Valley and Mrs. John M. Sisco of Daytona Beach, Fla.; a son, Warren Slauson of Seattle, and two sisters, Mrs. Maurice Weaver of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Chester F. Wood of New Canaan, Conn.

LLEWELLYN E. POWELL

Llewellyn E. Powell, a 28-year resident of San Anselmo, died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 78.

A native of San Francisco, Powell moved to 1329 San Anselmo Avenue in 1946 and lived there until his death.

He worked 30 years for the Golden Gate Bridge District, retiring as a superintendent in 1966.

He is survived by his wife, Edna Powell; a daughter, Mrs. Lamar McLain of San Anselmo; a granddaughter, a great-grandson, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends are invited to memorial services Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. The family prefers gifts to the Marin County Heart Association.

RICHARD P. LYNCH

Mass of Christian Burial for Richard P. Lynch of Mill Valley, president of a San Francisco trucking firm, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Mill Valley.

Lynch, 51, of 85 Bay Vista Drive, died Saturday while sitting in his car parked in San Francisco. According to family members, he had been under doctor's care for heart disease.

A native of Michigan, Lynch, president of Imperial Drayage Co., was a resident of Mill Valley two years. He was a Navy veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Marjorie; four sons, James and Thomas Lynch of Mill Valley, Richard Lynch of Los Altos and Michael Lynch of San Jose, and two daughters, Paula Conlon of Redwood City and Peggy Lynch of Mountain View.

Rosary will be at 8 o'clock tonight at Russell and Gooch mortuary in Mill Valley. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. The family requests memorial contributions to Our Lady of Mount Carmel School Fund.

Informational Session Slated On Space Issue

A citizens committee supporting next March's planned open space bond issue in Corte Madera will hold an informational and organizational meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at Town Hall.

The various parcels being considered for purchase will be discussed, and slides will be shown, according to Brenda Brown, committee spokesman. The organizational segment will follow. The public is invited.

The Town Council plans to place an open space bond issue on the ballot in March, and must decide on the specific wording by early January.

Man Is Booked In Heroin Sale

A 25-year-old San Rafael man was arrested in San Rafael Saturday on suspicion of sale of heroin as a result of an investigation and a warrant obtained by a San Francisco Police Department narcotics agent.

Frank Martin Hickey, of 355 Canal Street, Apt. 10, was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

San Rafael police said they arrested Hickey based on a warrant obtained by a San Francisco drug agent who said Hickey had sold him a "sample" of heroin for $20 and an ounce of heroin for $750.

Commission To Work On Plan Conflicts

The Corte Madera Planning Commission will attempt to iron out conflicts in the town's general plan maps when it meets tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Town Hall.

The meeting was changed from tonight due to the Columbus Day holiday.

Israel Censors Press Service's Dispatches

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli military censorship has ordered United Press International to submit all news copy originating in the country to prior screening by the censor's office, whether or not the dispatches deal with security matters.

The censorship office imposed the penalty yesterday and would not specify how long the sanction on the agency would remain in effect. Through an agreement between the agency and the censorship office, dispatches dealing with U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's current visit to Israel were exempted from the sanction. In the past, dispatches dealing with Kissinger's travels in Israel have ordinarily been exempted from censorship.

The sanction grew out of a dispatch transmitted by UPI Saturday about a suspected Arab guerrilla incursion into Israel from Lebanon. The dispatch quoted military sources and a spokesman in the military command as saying that footprints indicating a possible guerrilla infiltration had been found on the Israeli side of the Lebanese frontier and that a search was underway.

The facts contained in the dispatch were exact and later reconfirmed by military sources and representatives of the command. The censorship office said transmission of the dispatch without prior screening was a violation of censorship rules and possibly military security.

The agency learned later that the search operations involved patrols and roadblocks on highways in the northern tier of the country.

After UPI put out the dispatch, other agencies transmitted similar stories.

who should represent the Palestinians — especially those on the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River — still had to be settled.

"Many of us as Arabs... will always ask that the Palestinians be representeted at the Geneva talks because Palestine is at the core of the whole problem," Sadat said.

Asked his position on Palestine, Kissinger said, "We believe that the negotiations on the West Bank could be most efficiently carried out between Jordan and Israel."

Before departure, the Secretary said Sadat would visit the United States "very early in the new year." The two friends then shook hands, exchanged hugs and kisses and said goodby for a few weeks.

Kissinger's morning meeting with Sadat came after Saudi Arabia promised the secretary of state to push for a drop in the world's record oil prices.

Kissinger went into talks with Sadat at the president's Giza residence to outline a weekend accord with Israeli leaders on the "principles and procedures" for the next phase of peace negotiations.

The secretary of state flew to Cairo last night for the second time in his current peace mission and held immediate talks with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi.

Kissinger, who has traveled to Egypt, Syria, Jordan, Israel and Saudi Arabia so far on his six-day-old mission, returned to Damascus before winding up his trip with a visit to Algeria.

The secretary of state said yesterday in Tel Aviv he reached an agreement with Israeli leaders on the direction of the next round of peace talks.

"We agreed on principles and prodecures which might be followed and the general tone was harmonious," he said after talks with Premier Yitzhak Rabin.

He met King Faisal later in the day in Riyadh and said the monarch adopted a "constructive and enlightened" attitude toward "the price of oil and the impact this can have on the whole structure of the world economy."

Methadone Use, Sex Drive Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recently released research indicates that a high rate of methadone use, like heroin addiction, may affect sex drive in men.

With federal financing, narcotics addicts in Boston, Mass., and London, England, were studied. The results indicated that lower than normal levels of the sex hormone testosterone were found in the blood of heroin users and addicts taking a lot of methadone, a synthetic narcotic.

Patients on low dosage methadone maintenance had testosterone levels which were not significantly different from normal adult males, the researchers said.

The study was conducted by Jack H. Mendelson, psychiatry professor at Harvard, and two colleagues.

Few Decided On Dam Controversy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Poll says only about 26 per cent of the voters have decided how they will cast their ballots on Proposition 17, the initiative measure designed to block construction of the new Melones dam on the Stanislaus River.

However, the measure is favored almost three to one by those who have made up their minds.

The poll said today the survey was completed between Sept. 28 and Oct. 1.

PLAN

housing included. Land fill already has taken place in this area, say the consultants. The property is unsightly and would be improved by development.

3. A 12.4-acre piece of city-owned marsh lying between the Redwood retirement residence and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way should remain in its present natural state.

4. The 7.5-acre site where the city sewage treatment plant and corporation yard now stand should be marked as a potential low-income and moderate-income housing site. The hope is that the plant can be closed down once a regional sewage treatment plant is built for Southern Marin.

5. An area of 12 acres on the west side of a finger of Richardson Bay should be developed as a public park. This city-owned area already is mostly filled. Recreational uses should emphasize the openness of the site and include large turf areas for volleyball, softball, football. Parking would be limited in order to encourage foot and bike traffic.

6. A 12-acre site on the east side of Richardson Bay also is suggested for park and recreation uses including tennis and basketball courts. Most of this site is owned either by the city or the school district.

7. A 10.5-acre property at the top of the inlet of Richardson Bay into Mill Valley should be retained in its natural state. This area is owned by Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

8. About 15 acres in the Shelter Bay area should be opened to high density residential development but with a low-building profile. Most of this privately owned site is land fill or areas which have been roughly graded. The committee also suggests that if building is done, there be a side setback along the bay and a greenbelt surrounding the development.

9. Areas at the base of Shelter Ridge should be developed as a continuation of the present housing pattern there with some low and moderate income housing included.

10. Six acres of filled land protruding into Richardson Bay behind Sabella's restaurant building should be turned to recreation oriented commercial use including motels, restaurants and small shops. Nothing built should be taller than two stories.

11. Seven and a half acres of marshland behind the Hi-Ho Motel on Redwood Highway should be retained as open space.

Ralph Bender Takes Gavel Of Stamp Collectors

Ralph J. Bender of San Anselmo is the new president of the Tamalpais Stamp Club.

Bender, who formerly served as president in 1971-72, was elected to a two-year term Friday night to succeed Marcus Took of San Rafael.

Elected to serve with him were: Robert S. Caughie of San Anselmo, vice president; Jay R. Losselyong of Santa Venetia, secretary, and William J. Butcher of Fairfax, treasurer. Ragnar Thaning of San Rafael was elected to a two-year term on the board of directors.

Took and Bryce W. Anderson of San Rafael were appointed delegates to the Northern California Council of Philatelic Societies.

The club meets the second and fourth Friday of each month at 8 p.m. in the community room of Bank of Marin, Larkspur.

Hepatitis Hits 64 At Base

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The total of confirmed hepatitis cases at the Naval Training Center here stood at 64 Saturday, with another 43 suspected or possible cases in isolation, the worst such outbreak ever to strike the Navy facility.

The hepatitis cases began appearing nine days ago.

Navy spokesmen said the outbreak was believed brought on by a recruit working as a food handler early last month.

Wheaton To Get Graham Library

WHEATON, ILL. (UPI) — Wheaton College, where evangelist Billy Graham was educated and met his wife, will be the home of the Billy Graham library and archives, college officials announced Friday.

Graham's papers, manuscripts, documents, radio-TV tapes, films, files, scrapbooks and other memorabilia were expected to be included in the center to be established in this town 25 miles west of Chicago's Loop, a college spokesman said.

OBITUARIES

Former Hub Shop Owner Mary C. Simmie Dies

MARY C. SIMMIE
Life on two continents

Mary C. Simmie, 86-year-old former San Anselmo shop owner who spent much of her life in the Orient, died Saturday at her home in San Anselmo after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Simmie was born in Japan, where her father, William Curtis, built the first Grand Hotel in Yokohama. Mrs. Simmie recounted in later years how her family contributed to the westernization of Japan. Her aunt, Clara Curtis, introduced the Japanese royal family to western-style clothes, and her father was responsible for importing European cows and sheep to the country. He also introduced sweet potatoes as fodder for Japanese pigs, which formerly had been fed fish, giving the meat a fishy taste.

When Mrs. Simmie was 8, she moved with her family to Shanghai, China.

During World War II she was imprisoned by the Japanese for nine months before her release was obtained and she came to the United States.

Before and after World War II, Mrs. Simmie and her husband, the late George W. Simmie, operated a summer resort in Pei Tei Ho Province in Northern China. During the prewar years, guests at the villa included a German general who was an adviser to Chiang Kai-shek and Mussolini's son and daughter-in-law.

The estate, which included 14 houses in an immense garden, was taken over by the Communists and the Simmies fled to the United States in 1946.

For some time the family ran Oriental Treasures, a small shop on Red Hill Avenue, and also at one time, had a similar shop in Santa Rosa. Many of the Oriental objects in the shops came from the Chinese resort.

Simmie died in 1961 and two sons also preceded Mrs. Simmie in death.

She is survived by three children of an earlier marriage, a daughter, Julia Hughes of the family home at 310 Greenfield Avenue; two sons, John E. Ladow of San Francisco and William W. Ladow of Novato, five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael, where burial also will take place. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

The family prefers memorial gifts to charities.

Novato Adds Gnoss Estates To Space Map

The Novato City Council has added land in back of Gnoss Estates and Reservoir Hall and hillsides above Sunset Parkway to the city open space map.

A petition with 135 signatures was presented by residents of East Novato to the council Thursday at an adjourned meeting asking that the hill above Gnoss Estates and Reservoir Hill east of DeLong interchange he added as open space.

Several Forest Park area residents asked that land above Sunset Parkway be included, according to Fred Westfall, assistant city planner.

The council deleted all bay plain land from the open space map and the adopted the text and map on a 4-1 vote, Councilman Fred F. Ruegg opposed.

Map and text will go to the Novato Planning Commission for approval tonight and back to council for final approval Tuesday night, Westfall said.

Yoga Training Course Planned

A 30-day teacher training course in Kundalini yoga will be held Nov. 2 to Dec. 1 by Hargobind Sadan at the 3HO teacher training center in San Rafael.

The course will include Kundalini yoga, Sikh dharma, marriage and family life, drug counseling, anatomy and physiology as it relates to yoga, healing arts, food consciousness, health, meditation and the science of mantra.

Guilty Plea Brings One Year In Jail

Kenneth Wayne Weber, 26, of San Rafael, will spend one year in jail and two on probation as a result of his guilty plea to two commercial burglaries.

He was sentenced by Judge David R. Baty on the two misdemeanors involving burglaries at Jimbo's restaurant and A and W root beer, both in San Rafael.

Job Workshop Set At Library

A free job workshop for high school students will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 30 at the Novato Public Library by the Novato Human Needs Center.

Center employment coordinator Susan Reid will head a discussion of youth's problems in finding a job during a depressed economy.

RICHARD P. LYNCH

Mass of Christian Burial for Richard P. Lynch of Mill Valley, president of a San Francisco trucking firm, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Mill Valley.

Lynch, 51, of 85 Bay Vista Drive, died Saturday while sitting in his car parked in San Francisco. According to family members, he had been under doctor's care for heart disease.

A native of Michigan, Lynch, president of Imperial Drayage Co., was a resident of Mill Valley two years. He was a Navy veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Marjorie; four sons, James and Thomas Lynch of Mill Valley, Richard Lynch of Los Altos and Michael Lynch of San Jose, and two daughters, Paula Conlon of Redwood City and Peggy Lynch of Mountain View.

Rosary will be at 8 o'clock tonight at Russell and Gooch mortuary in Mill Valley. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. The family requests memorial contributions to Our Lady of Mount Carmel School Fund.

TIMOTHY P. MOOSEAU

Lance Cpl. Timothy P. Mooseau, 19, of San Rafael, died unexpectedly Saturday while home on leave from Camp Pendleton.

According to the Marin County corner's office, young Mooseau was found dead in their living room by his mother Saturday about 1 p.m. The coroner said there was no sign of foul play and an autopsy was to be performed.

Mooseau was born in Port Hueneme, Ventura County, but had lived in Marin the past seven years. He attended local schools, including San Rafael High School.

Mooseau joined M Company of the Marine Corps Reserve in San Rafael in 1973 and then enlisted for active duty last January. He was a member of a 13-man squad which last month was named "super squad" of all Marine Corps squads in rifle proficiency competition.

The youth is survived by his mother, Ruth Mooseau of the family home at 40 Curtis Street, and his father, Paul Mooseau of Richmond.

Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael. Burial will be 10:30 a.m. Thursday at San Francisco National Cemetery, Presidio of San Francisco.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Informational Session Slated On Space Issue

A citizens committee supporting next March's planned open space bond issue in Corte Madera will hold an informational and organizational meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at Town Hall.

The various parcels being considered for purchase will be discussed, and slides will be shown, according to Brenda Brown, committee spokesman. The organizational segment will follow. The public is invited.

The Town Council plans to place an open space bond issue on the ballot in March, and must decide on the specific wording by early January.

JOSEPH R. MONGAN

Joseph R. Mongan, former executive with the Atomic Energy Commission and bank auditor, died yesterday at a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

Mongan, 56, was a 25-year resident of Marin. He lived at 90 Bayview Drive, San Rafael.

He was a native of Maryland. During World War II he served as a master sergeant in the Army.

For the last five years he had worked for Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco. Before that, he had retired from a post as chief of the property management branch of the Atomic Energy Commission in Berkeley.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Mongan of Tiburon; a son Michael R. Mongan of San Francisco, and two sisters, Martha McLain of Baltimore, Md., and Monica Hurley of Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Russell and Gooch funeral home in Mill Valley followed by burial at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. The Rosary will be said tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the funeral home.

CHARLOTTE L. SLAUSON

Private funeral has been held for Charlotte L. Slauson, mother of Winifred Slauson of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Slauson, 74, died Friday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

She had been in Mill Valley for four years and resided with her daughter at 249 Corte Madera Avenue.

A native of New York, she lived much of her life in Darien, Conn. She was a linotype operator for 35 years and had held her last job with a firm in New Canaan, Conn.

She was the widow of Howard A. Slauson, a carpenter, who died in 1968.

Survivors include two daughters, Miss Slauson of Mill Valley and Mrs. John M. Sisco of Daytona Beach, Fla.; a son, Warren Slauson of Seattle, and two sisters, Mrs. Maurice Weaver of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Chester F. Wood of New Canaan, Conn.

LLEWELLYN E. POWELL

Llewellyn E. Powell, a 28-year resident of San Anselmo, died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 78.

A native of San Francisco, Powell moved to 1329 San Anselmo Avenue in 1946 and lived there until his death.

He worked 30 years for the Golden Gate Bridge District, retiring as a superintendent in 1966.

He is survived by his wife, Edna Powell; a daughter, Mrs. Lamar McLain of San Anselmo; a granddaughter, a great-grandson, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends are invited to memorial services Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. The family prefers gifts to the Marin County Heart Association.

MEETING PLACE — The Rexall Drugstore lunch counter at the corner of Bridgeway and El Portal in Sausalito was a favorite meeting place for locals in the 1940s and 50s, recalls George Hoffman, a former city councilman. The drugstore, pictured in this vintage photo, has been replaced by a clothing store that caters primarily to tourists.

SAUSALITO YESTERDAY — Even in the early 1950s, when this photo was taken, Sausalito's Bridgeway had its share of cars. But most of them were driven by residents of the town, not tourists, points out George Hoffman, a former Sausalito city councilman who now lives in Mill Valley. Hoffman fears the same takeover by tourist attractions that changed the hometown flavor of Sausalito could change Mill Valley as well.

CHANGING TIMES — George Hoffman smiles modestly as he recalls the good times of pre-tourist Sausalito. Hoffman, now a resident of Alto, will speak at 7:30 p.m. today at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club on a topic that many Mill Valleyans are directing increasing attention — the emergence of the community as a tourist town.

THE VANISHED HOBBY HORSE

Mill Valley Becoming Like Sausalito?

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Every morning, George Hoffman remembers, Henry Malcheski would carry a hobbyhorse outside his Toyon Hobby Mart on Bridgeway and place it on the sidewalk for children to ride.

This was Sausalito in the 40's and early 50's. There were dry goods stores, a butcher shop, Art Boates garage, a hardware, neighborhood markets and a Rexall drugstore at the corner of Bridgeway and El Portal with a lunch counter where the locals would meet over coffee and rolls.

Nobody could imagine doing without the lumber yard. And Ray, the Shoemaker, "was considered a saviour of sorts," Hoffman says, "although he only dealt in half soles."

Then a curious thing happened. Newcomers began elbowing out the old storekeepers by offering building owners twice as much for rent.

Ray's shoe repair became Afro-Asian Artifacts, the hardware turned into Saga of Finland, the drugstore lunch counter into a men's clothier and the lumber yard was replaced by a singles bar and restaurant with broiled hamburgers and turtle races.

The crush of seasonal visitors, lured by the fancy new shops and Sausalito's reputation as a quaint fishing village, chased Henry Malcheski's hobbyhorse off the sidewalk. Several years later, George Hoffman and his wife, Mary, left.

Hoffman, who came to Sausalito in 1947, had been a planning commissioner and city councilman before moving in 1968 to Alto, a small residential area near Mill Valley.

He sees many of the same things that changed Sausalito from a hometown to a tourist town beginning to occur in Mill Valley and wants residents there to have the opportunity to "go to school on Sausalito's experience."

He will speak at 7:30 p.m. today at the outdoor art club, One West Blithedale Avenue, in a program sponsored by the Save Mill Valley Association.

Modest and soft-spoken, Hoffman, 57, is a former builder who now runs a home inspection service for prospective buyers. He has written a book on the subject, "Don't Go Buy Appearances," published by Ballantine, and sometimes appears on TV's "A.M." show with household repair tips.

He believes that Sausalito really went tourist in 1958, when the city approved a use permit for the village fair, a four-story Bridgeway complex containing 40 shops.

Mill Valley, he said, made its biggest mistake when it approved the conversion of Brown's furniture store on Miller Avenue to Old Brown's Store, housing fewer but the same kinds of gift and specialty shops as the village fair.

Mill Valley, Hoffman points out, has averaged 100 new business licenses for each of the last three years. "This clearly shows the direction the town is going. These are primarily licenses for shops. There aren't any big resident-serving stores going in."

Then there is live amplified music, an issue the city currently is wrestling with and something Hoffman is reluctant to attack since he is the rare middle-aged man who likes rock and roll.

"But it's not the music," he says. "The question is, will it change Mill Valley? There's no question that the residents don't want it. They weren't attracted here by loud music played in bars. They knew Mill Valley didn't have that when they came."

The only bright side of tourism for residents, according to him, is the possibility that increased revenues from parking and sales taxes will result in lower property taxes.

But that isn't guaranteed, he says, and even if it was, it is doubtful that Mill Valley citizens would consciously exchange their peaceful home setting and forest air for crowds, the smell of takeout fish and chips mixed with gasoline fumes and slightly lower taxes.

"Many Sausalito residents responded to the changes in their city by moving away," Hoffman recalls. "They felt guilty. They had served on boards and commissions and had an investment there in talent and devotion. But they took their kids out of school and left. They knew it wasn't the town they moved to or the town they wanted to live in. The spirit had gone. It was no longer a town for a hobbyhorse."

Saxbe Declares Fight On False IDs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe announced last night he is creating a new advisory committee to tackle the problem of false identifications increasingly used by criminals to escape detection.

Saxbe said the Advisory Committee on False Identification — first of its kind — will bring federal, state and local resources together to defeat the growing use of phony backgrounds by swindlers, narcotics dealers and terrorists.

Saxbe announced in a Columbus Day speech prepared for an annual American-Italian Golf Association dinner that the committee will hold its first meeting, open to the public, on Nov. 14.

Someone can obtain a dead person's birth certificate with comparative ease, sometimes even by mail, Saxbe said. "And with it he can then acquire a false social security number, driver's license, credit cards and other papers.

"One individual I know of is alleged to have followed the scheme ... and obtained an expensive sports car, and then a house, and then, yes, an airplane of his very own," Saxbe said.

The false proofs of identity are used in narcotics peddling, bank swindles, welfare frauds, car thefts, credit card frauds, check forging, and concealment of illegal aliens in this country.

The committee is already considering possible ways to make it more difficult to obtain a dead person's birth certificate for fraudulent use, Saxbe said.

If vital statistics bureaus cross-filed death certificates with birth certificates officials would be immediately alerted to something being wrong.

"Another possible area of exploration will be new methods of interstate cooperation — and there have been suggestions of computerizing resources of all vital statistics bureaus," Saxbe said.

Wornum Hits Warm Springs View

Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, Democratic nominee in the Ninth Assembly District, has attacked his Republican opponent, A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, for favoring the Warm Springs Dam in Sonoma County.

Wornum, an opponent of the controversial dam, said Hill supported the dam project in several joint appearances by the two candidates in Sonoma. Wornum, however, added that Hill "has not come out for the dam in Marin County." The Assembly district includes Marin and Southern Sonoam.

Wornum said he supports the position of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, which he chairs, calling for a halt to work on the dam pending an Army Corps of Engineers study of the Russian River basin.

Aside from the question of the dam's safety in event of an earthquake, Wornum said, "I am alarmed by the large amount of water which will become available with construction of the dam and the inducement that water provides for excessive growth." The new aqueduct being built to use water available from Coyote Dam will take care of growth needs to 1993, Wornum said.

Wornum has been endorsed by: California Medical Association's political action committee; California Organization of Police and Sheriffs; California State Legislative Board of Brotherhood of Railway, Airline Clerks; Northern California Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action; United Auto Workers, Region 6, Community Action Program Council; California State Legislative Board, United Transportation Union, and California State Council of Service Employees.

A champagne reception for Wornum will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesday at the No Name Bar, Sausalito. Admission is $5.

HILL — A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, Republican nominee for in the Ninth Assembly District, has accused his Democratic rival, Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, of "placing political expediency ahead of the good of the people." Hill's attack was aimed at Wornum's plan, if elected, to take office in January instead of December so a new governor could appoint his successor on the board of supervisors.

Hill said such a delay "will do great damage to the district in that the people here would not be represented in the selection of a new Assembly speaker and would result in delay in introduction of needed district legislation." The new Legislature will open Dec. 2 for organizational purposes only, then recess until Jan. 6.

A no-host cocktail party for Hill will be held by the Novato Federated Republican Women at 5:30 p.m. Oct. 23 at Nave Lanes, Ignacio.

Hill has been endorsed by the Peace Officers Research Association of California.

BOYLAN — A gathering for Richard J. Boylan of Woodacre, Division 1 candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's board, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the San Rafael home of Louise A. Gulick, 810 Idylberry Road. A fund-raising party for Boylan will be held at 8 p.m. Fridy at the Dollar mansion, 1408 Mission Street, San Rafael. Admission is $5.

BURTON — Rep. John L. Burton of San Francisco, Democratic nominee in the Fifth Congressional District, will speak before the San Rafael Jaycees at 8 p.m. Oct. 23 at the Dollar mansion, 1408 Mission Street. The event is open to the public.

CAYLOR — Thomas O. Caylor of San Francisco, Republican nominee in the Fifth Congressional District, has proposed a new federal corporation to insure bank loans to churches to build housing for senior citizens. Banks often refuse to finance such church-built housing because the churches are not wealthy, Caylor said.

BANKER — A reception for Ernest F. Banker of Ukiah, Democratic nominee in the Second Senatorial District, and Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood, will be held from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Kent Woodlands home of Ruth L. Lederman, 16 Tree Top Way. Reservations are being handled by Mrs. Lederman. The event is sponsored by the Democratic Women of Marin.

TERRA LINDA — The Terra Linda Senior Citizens will hold a forum for congressional, Assembly and county clerk candidates tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Terra Linda Recreation Center, 670 Del Ganado Road. The event is limited to senior citizens.

'ELECTION EXTRAS' — The League of Women Voters has issued pamphlets on statewide candidates and state propositions on the Nov. 5 general election ballot. The free publications are available at all county and city libraries and branches, high schools, College of Marin library, Indian Valley Colleges student center, Whistlestop in San Rafael, Tamalpais Residence, Marin Jewish Community Center, hospital waiting rooms and jury room at the Hall of Justice. Copies also are available by telephoning the league in central or Southern Marin.

IRATE — The Irate Taxpayers of Marin have endorsed: Sen. H. L. Richardson of Arcadia, Republican nominee for U. S. Senate; State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, GOP nominee for governor; Lt. Gov. John L. Harmer, GOP nominee for lieutenant governor; Brian Van Camp, GOP nominee for secretary of state; Kenneth Cory of Garden Grove, Democratic nominee for state controller; John Kehoe, GOP nominee for state treasurer; Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, GOP nominee for reelection; Thomas O. Caylor, GOP nominee in the Fifth Congressional Dsitrict; Ernest F. Banker, Democratic nominee in the Second Senatorial District; A. Alan Hill, GOP nominee in the Ninth Assembly District; Tally Mastrangelo, GOP nominee for the state Board of Equalization's Third District; John F. Musser Jr. for Marin County clerk, and Betty Forry for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat.

SPEAKS — Rev. Robert C. Lamar, moderator of the 186th general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, will speak on ecumenicalism at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Alexander Hall at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Albany, New York.

Mrs. Hearst Says Patty Is Innocent

CHICAGO (UPI) — The mother of kidnaped newspaper heiress Patty Hearst says her daughter is innocent of any criminal activity because she was coerced into cooperating with her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers, according to the Chicago Tribune.

The Tribune said in its editions yesterday that Mrs. Catherine Hearst belives threatened legal action against her daughter has kept Miss Hearst fearful of surrendering to authorities.

"Nobody in his right mind could accept the belief that a young woman of her intelligence and attitudes could instantly be converted voluntarily to such a contradiction of personality," Mrs. Hearst said.

Patty Hearst was kidnaped from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4 and last seen May 17 in Los Angeles, where several members of the SLA were killed in a shootout with police.

Mrs. Hearst said she fears that Patricia "will not be allowed to tell her story," but still believes her daughter was the victim of the SLA.

"What Patty has heard on the radio and read in the newspapers is that she is a wanted and dangerous fugitive with more than $1 million bail hanging over her head," Mrs. Hearst said.

"I am sure she visualizes and believes that if she is found, she will either be killed by police or, if captured, will spend the rest of her life in prison.

"What I want her to know is that the opinions expressed by a few law enforcement representatives are not the facts."

She said she felt that those who have made the charges against Miss Hearst owe Miss Hearst a clarification of her legal position and that the charges of kidnaping, armed robbery and other offenses against Miss Hearst are based on the belief that she could have avoided involvement in the alleged crimes.

Today is Monday, Oct. 14, the 287th day of 1974 with 78 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, and Jupiter.

The 34th president of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, was born Oct. 14, 1890.

On this date in history:

In 1912, former President Theodore Roosevelt was shot in Milwaukee, but refused to have the wound treated until he had finished his third-term campaign speech.

In 1933, Germany announced it would withdraw from the League of Nations as war clouds darkened over Europe.

In 1944, British and Greek troops liberated Athens, ending three years of occupation by German troops.

In 1949, an East German puppet state was set up in Berlin by Soviet occupation authorities.

A thought for the day: Allied Supreme Commander Dwight D. Eisenhower said after victory in World War II, "Humility must always be the portion of any man who receives acclaim earned in the blood of his followers and the sacrifices of his friends."

Bridge Critic Judges Other Players By What They Don't Do

If you judge people by what they say, you may be a good drama critic. If you judge them by what they do, you may be a wise man. To be a good bridge player, however, you must often judge people by what they don't do.

WEST OPENS

West opened the nine of clubs, and dummy's king held. South drew two rounds of trumps and led a club to force out the ace. East returned a diamond to force out dummy's ace, and when declarer then resumed the clubs, West ruffed with the queen of spades.

West promptly led the four of hearts through dummy's king, and South had to guess whether to play high or low from the dummy. Was West leading from the ace or the queen?

IMPORTANT CLUE

The important clue was that West had not opened a heart. His actual lead of a doubleton in a suit bid and raised by the opponents could not have looked very enticing to him. The chances were that he led clubs chiefly because he didn't enjoy leading from either of the red suits.

West would have been happy to lead away from the queen of hearts, but not from the ace.

In short, West's failure to lead hearts originally indicated that he held the ace rather than the queen of hearts. For this reason South put up the king of hearts from dummy, making his contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 9 8
♥ - Q 9 5
♦ - Q 10 6 4 2
♣ - A 6 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 2 no-trump. This shows about 8 or 9 points and asks partner to bid game if he has more than a bare minimum.

Landmark Ordinance Sought In Larkspur

Development of an historical landmark ordinance for Larkspur will be the subject of a Planning and Recreation Commission workshop at 8 p.m. Nov. 14 at Larkspur city hall.

The ordinance will be developed jointly by the commission and the Larkspur Heritage Committee, according to Sheldon Zatkin, parks and recreation director.

Old Uncle Gaylord's Sees Mid-November Opening

Old Uncle Gaylord's, featuring old-fashioned ice cream, hopes to open its San Rafael outlet by mid-November in a remodeled service station building at 1700 Fourth Street, corner of G Street.

Old Uncle Gaylord's major emphasis will be on landscaping the premises to create a park-like atmosphere, with benches and a bicycle rack, with car parking to the rear.

The company specializes in the old fashioned, hand-cranked type of ice cream made with milk, cream, fresh and frozen fruits, cane sugar and natural extracts. The interior of the shop will be remodeled for serving ice cream, sundaes, milkshakes and cones for eating on premises and for take-out.

The new ice cream shop will be open seven days a week from 12 noon to midnight.

Managing the new San Rafael store will be David Rand and Shirley Meersen, who also manage Old Uncle Gaylord's at 1 El Paseo in Mill Valley.

Old Uncle Gaylord's was founded in 1971 in San Francisco by Gaylord W. Willis.

Brodnansky Kane

STEPHEN BRODNANSKY has been promoted to Pacific Gas & Electric Company's Marin district marketing supervisor, Marin District Manager Don L. Johnson announced today. Brodnansky's previous assignment was commercial representative in the company's Santa Rosa district.

A native of Sonoma County, Brodnansky joined PG&E in 1962 and rose through the ranks. An active conservationist, he has served as vice president and a director of the Izaak Walton League's Santa Rosa chapter.

KATHY KANE of Kentfield has been appointed a field director in San Rafael by General Business Services Inc., headquartered in Washington, D.C. She works in cooperation with James F. Olive, San Rafael area director for GBS.

General Business Services is a national counseling firm specializing in business and financial management systems and tax services for small businesses. Prior to her new appointment, Ms. Kane was managing a wholesale tennis court equipment distributing company.

LIVINGSTON'S at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda will hold its annual fashion show at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Manager Enge Rosenthall said the show will feature the just-arrived fall collection of ensembles, afternoon dresses, long dresses, party pajamas, pant suits and separates in custom sizes 12½ to 22½.

CLOTHES FREAK, the women's clothing store launched three years ago in Ignacio by Norman Kramer of Terra Linda, will expand to four outlets by Nov. 1.

A new Clothes Freak opened last Saturday at Union City, and another will open in Montclair in the East Bay on Nov. 1.

Clothes Freak is headquartered at 19 Hamilton Drive in Hamilton Industrial Park, just beyond the Marin County Humane Society building on the road to Bel Marin Keys. Its second shop was opened last year in Berkeley.

Managing the shops is Lauren Lund of Novato, who operates out of the Ignacio store, which is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The Clothes Freak specializes in women's clothing with the young look — long dresses, sweaters, skirts, pants and tops, some handbags and hats. "We are retail stores and also sell wholesale to many boutiques," said Mrs. Lund.

MARIN PAINT STORE at 639 San Anselmo Avenue in San Anselmo is still under the old ownership of Bertram A. Bowes, who has operated the shop for 16 years.

Bowes, a specialist in matching colors, offers Morwear paint, a variety of wallpapers and decorating supplies seven days a week. He himself is back managing the store since the first of this month because his manager, Lou Bouteiller, became ill.

"Despite rumors to the contrary, I'm still the owner and manager of Marin Paint Store," Bowes announced. He said some of his customers thought the store had changed hands because he negotiated for its sale last February, but that deal never went through.

ROBERT L. GRIMES, president of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors, announced two staff promotions:

Donald L. Bambauer, who has been with Allen Co. since 1971 and managed the firm's Novato office for the past year, was named general manager, a newly created position in the 64-year-old real estate firm.

Gary Gustafson, with Allen Co. since September of 1972, succeeds Bambauer as manager of the Novato office.

BELLA VISTA INTERIORS at 812 Francisco Boulevard West in San Rafael announced the association of Theodore A. Gietzen, a graduate of the Kendall School of Design in Grand Rapids, Mich. He has had several years of experience in the housing industry as craftsman and in sales for a national housing manufacturer.

Joyce B. Hayes, president of Bella Vista Interiors, announced that the addition of Gietzen means the interior design firm can give better service to its commercial design clients.

THE FILM COMPANY and the PARTY PALACE are two new stores that have opened in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley.

The Film Company, owned by John and Sally Coye of Tiburon, took over space formerly occupied by Marin Tennis Shop, which moved to larger quarters on Reed Boulevard.

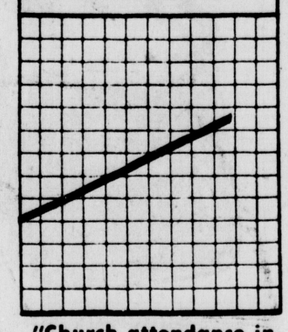
The Film Company offers photographic equipment including dark room supplies, cameras and accessories, films and processing. Managed by Tom Borello of Fairfax, it is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Fridays until 9 p.m. It is located to the rear of the Ancient Mariner restaurant.

The Party Palace, operated by Joanne Thomason of Woodacre, moved from Fairfax where it had operated for the past two years. A mother of six, Mrs. Thomason is the wife of Earl Thomason, teacher in the Dixie School District.

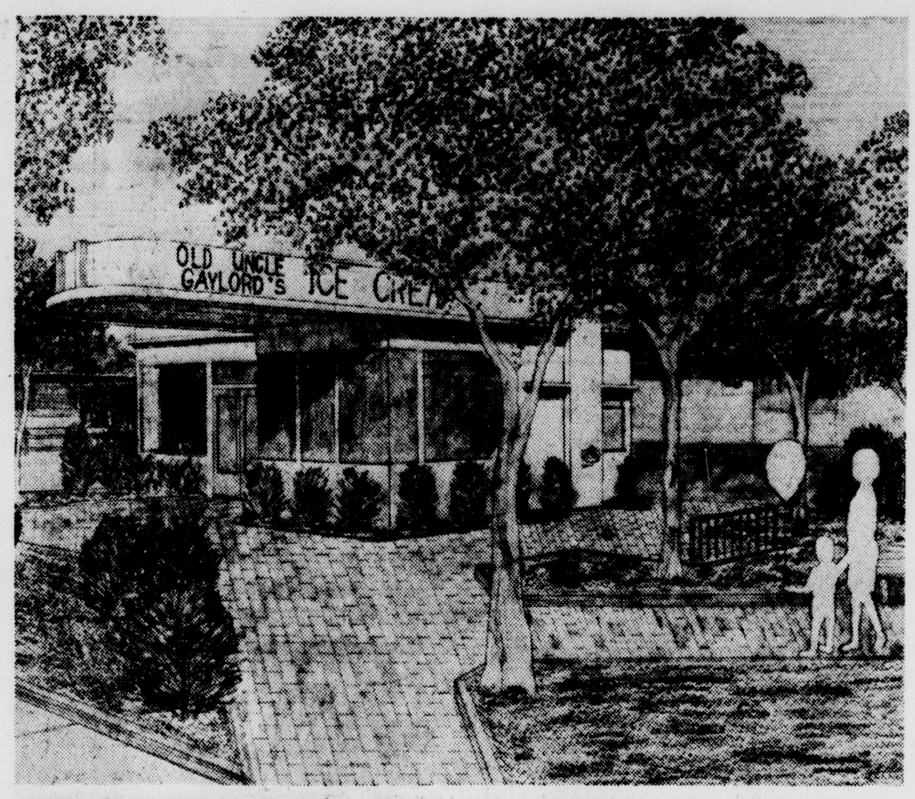
The Party Palace is a home arts store carrying such items as cards, party goods, cake decorating supplies, helium-filled balloons, and pinatas. It is open Monday through Saturday and Fridays until 9 p.m. The Party Palace took over the former site of Rojeans Card and Party Shop, whose owner retired.

SMART CHART

by Stansbury



"Church attendance in the financial district is up."



NEW ICE CREAM SHOP — This is how Old Uncle Gaylord's ice cream shop will look like when it opens in mid-November in San Rafael at 1700 Fourth Street, corner of G Street. An existing service station building will be repainted and remodeled, with exterior landscaping and benches to create a mini-park where customers can eat their ice cream choices at leisure.

Braniff Discloses A Traffic Increase

DALLAS (BW) — Braniff International has reported that passenger traffic for the first nine months of the year was up 13.1 per cent over the like period in 1973.

The airline said the record traffic for the year to date included a 14.3 per cent gain on Braniff's domestic routes and a 9.4 per cent increase internationally.

Wall Street Continues Its Uptrend

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, continuing a sparkling rally begun last week, closed sharply and broadly higher today in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Advances led declines by a ratio of about 11-to-3 among the 1,823 issues crossing the tape, demonstrating the strength of the gain.

Prices also were higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

The momentum the market generated last week carried into this session, assisted by indications more and more banks throughout the country were lowering their prime lending rate to top-rated corporate customers a quarter point to 11 ½ per cent. There was speculation the rate — a depressant to Wall Street for months — would decline to 11 per cent in the near future.

The speculation was generated by reports the Federal Reserve Board's open market committee, which meets tomorrow would foster a loosening of credit policy.

Airlines continued higher. Some brokers said they would recommend some of the stocks at this time. Gainers included Delta, UAL, American and TWA. The Senate has cleared legislation that would benefit TWA.

Wickes Sales Down For 5-Week Stretch

SAN DIEGO (BW) — The Wickes Corp. has reported preliminary sales of $112,348,000 for the five-week period ended Sept. 28.

This represents a decrease of approximately 5 per cent from the $118,510,000 of the like period a year ago.

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is no Handy and Harman silver quotation because of Columbus Holiday. Engelhard quoted silver bullion at $4.57 down 17 cents and fabricated silver at $4.684 down 17.5 cents.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Northeast Utilities Should Be Sold Off

By ROGER E. SPEAR
and DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. What is your opinion of Northeast Utilities (NYSE) as an investment? I have 300 shares at $10 each. It looks as if the dividend is in jeopardy. — W.D.

A. Net income for the 12 months through July 31 was down sharply to 87 cents per share from $1.49 in the corresponding year-earlier period. As a result of the "serious decline in earnings" the company will postpone for a year two nuclear power generating units scheduled for completion in 1981 and 1983. Further construction postponements also are possible. Prior to this announcement, Northeast had anticipated deriving more than half its energy needs from nuclear plants by the early 1980s compared with 24 per cent presently. A five million common share offering scheduled for sale in September was deferred but now appears likely to be marketed soon.

Although the company's subsidiaries have received some rate relief, heavy doses are needed to boost earnings to former levels. While the deterioration in earnings may be partially counterbalanced over the remainder of the year, dividend coverage will be narrow at best. Whether the current rate of $1.02 a share is maintained is highly problematical, as the 17 per cent yield indicates. Sell.

Q. I am interested in investing in Dart Industries (NYSE) and Fort Howard Paper (NYSE). I would like to know how much would I need to start. What are all the fees I would have to pay? How do I find a broker? — D.H.

A. Most of the major retail brokerage firms have offices in the city where you work. Choose an office which is convenient for you to get to. I would start with a minimum of $500 and suggest purchasing only one of the issues if that is the maximum you wish to invest. A larger investment would allow you to buy a round lot — 100 shares — and thus avoid paying the odd lot differential of $0.125 (1/8 point) per share. Assuming you were to buy 40 shares of Dart Industries, as a starter, you would pay a $5 odd lot fee and commissions and other fees of under $20.

SPEAKS — Rev. Robert C. Lamar, moderator of the 186th general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, will speak on ecumenicalism at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Alexander Hall at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Albany, New York.

Mrs. Hearst Says Patty Is Innocent

CHICAGO (UPI) — The mother of kidnaped newspaper heiress Patty Hearst says her daughter is innocent of any criminal activity because she was coerced into cooperating with her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers, according to the Chicago Tribune.

The Tribune said in its editions yesterday that Mrs. Catherine Hearst belives threatened legal action against her daughter has kept Miss Hearst fearful of surrendering to authorities.

"Nobody in his right mind could accept the belief that a young woman of her intelligence and attitudes could instantly be converted voluntarily to such a contradiction of personality," Mrs. Hearst said.

Patty Hearst was kidnaped from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4 and last seen May 17 in Los Angeles, where several members of the SLA were killed in a shootout with police.

Mrs. Hearst said she fears that Patricia "will not be allowed to tell her story," but still believes her daughter was the victim of the SLA.

"What Patty has heard on the radio and read in the newspapers is that she is a wanted and dangerous fugitive with more than $1 million bail hanging over her head," Mrs. Hearst said.

"I am sure she visualizes and believes that if she is found, she will either be killed by police or, if captured, will spend the rest of her life in prison.

"What I want her to know is that the opinions expressed by a few law enforcement representatives are not the facts."

She said she felt that those who have made the charges against Miss Hearst owe Miss Hearst a clarification of her legal position and that the charges of kidnaping, armed robbery and other offenses against Miss Hearst are based on the belief that she could have avoided involvement in the alleged crimes.

Today is Monday, Oct. 14, the 287th day of 1974 with 78 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, and Jupiter.

The 34th president of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, was born Oct. 14, 1890.

On this date in history:

In 1912, former President Theodore Roosevelt was shot in Milwaukee, but refused to have the wound treated until he had finished his third-term campaign speech.

In 1933, Germany announced it would withdraw from the League of Nations as war clouds darkened over Europe.

In 1944, British and Greek troops liberated Athens, ending three years of occupation by German troops.

In 1949, an East German puppet state was set up in Berlin by Soviet occupation authorities.

A thought for the day: Allied Supreme Commander Dwight D. Eisenhower said after victory in World War II, "Humility must always be the portion of any man who receives acclaim earned in the blood of his followers and the sacrifices of his friends."

Bridge Critic Judges Other Players By What They Don't Do

If you judge people by what they say, you may be a good drama critic. If you judge them by what they do, you may be a wise man. To be a good bridge player, however, you must often judge people by what they don't do.

WEST OPENS

West opened the nine of clubs, and dummy's king held. South drew two rounds of trumps and led a club to force out the ace. East returned a diamond to force out dummy's ace, and when declarer then resumed the clubs, West ruffed with the queen of spades.

West promptly led the four of hearts through dummy's king, and South had to guess whether to play high or low from the dummy. Was West leading from the ace or the queen?

IMPORTANT CLUE

The important clue was that West had not opened a heart. His actual lead of a doubleton in a suit bid and raised by the opponents could not have looked very enticing to him. The chances were that he led clubs chiefly because he didn't enjoy leading from either of the red suits.

West would have been happy to lead away from the queen of hearts, but not from the ace.

In short, West's failure to lead hearts originally indicated that he held the ace rather than the queen of hearts. For this reason South put up the king of hearts from dummy, making his contract.

Book, Gifts May Hamper Rockefeller Confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller's gift-giving and accepting responsibility for a derogatory campaign book have damaged his chances for smooth confirmation as vice president, according to congressmen who are investigating him.

"There's no doubt it's a deteriorating situation," said Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., a member of the Judiciary Committee, which is holding Rockefeller's confirmation hearings in the House.

Opinions varied on how far Rockefeller's confirmation has been set back. Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said there was "clear conflict of interest and President Ford should withdraw the nomination."

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., another member of the judiciary committee, said yesterday in Brookline, Mass., "There is a serious deepening question about the likelihood of confirmation."

Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, said yesterday the new developments might delay a vote on the nomination until late December.

Edwards said the House might vote on confirmation by the first week in December.

But Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, said there is a possibility the confirmation process would be slowed so much by new hearings that no action could be taken until after a new Congress is in session next year.

"I might tell you if it goes over to the next Congress, I don't think that improves his chances," Hays said.

Cannon told UPI in a telephone interview that his committee "in all probability" would recall Rockefeller to testify about the book and about his gifts, worth more than $2 million to 21 political associates, aides and friends between 1957 and 1974.

"I would say there certainly is more concern on the part of a lot of people as a result of these developments," Cannon said. But so far, he added, there has been no evidence of legal or moral wrongdoing on Rockefeller's part.

The book for which Rockefeller accepted "full responsibility" was a derogatory biography of former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg published in 1970, when Goldberg was opposing Rockefeller for the New York governorship.

It was written by author Victor Lasky and published with a $60,000 investment by Rockefeller's brother Laurance.

The gifts included $50,000 to Henry A. Kissinger in 1969, before Kissinger joined the Nixon administration; $625,000 between 1958 and 1974 to Dr. William J. Ronan, head of the New York port authority; and $100,000 in 1960 to New York GOP chairman L. Judson Morhouse, who later was imprisoned on a bribery conviction. His sentence was commuted by Rockefeller in 1970.

A few years ago such matters might have posed few difficulties, but in the post-Watergate era of concern over political ethics and the exercise of power they raise questions Congress wants answered.

"I think this is exactly the kind of thing we've gone through the last few months in the Watergate affair and we don't want to see repeated," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a televised interview (ABC-TV Issues and Answers).

"I think this puts the Rockefeller nomination in jeopardy."

But Rep. John J. Rhodes, D-Ariz., said in the same interview: "I think it's not in any permanent jeopardy."

While Rockefeller's nomination originally could have gone through with few problems, Hays said (on NBC-TV's Meet the Press), "now it seems to be in serious trouble."

Quintuplets All Still Doing Well

BALTIMORE (UPI) — With a critical initial period now past, the 6-day-old Rohrer quintuplets are being kept under constant watch by hospital workers who want to make sure the babies avoid any threat of possible infection.

Dr. Ronald Gutberiet, director of the nursery at University Hospital, said yesterday the four girls and one boy all were doing very well, and their 28-year-old mother may be allowed to go home this week.

The infants, born premature by caesarean section, will remain in the hospital for another month.

He said two of the girls — Sandra and Belinda — had begun taking their formula by nipple. Michelle and Jennifer and their brother, Russell, continued to receive increasing amounts of formula by oral tube.

Old Uncle Gaylord's Sees Mid-November Opening

Old Uncle Gaylord's, featuring old-fashioned ice cream, hopes to open its San Rafael outlet by mid-November in a remodeled service station building at 1700 Fourth Street, corner of G Street.

Old Uncle Gaylord's major emphasis will be on landscaping the premises to create a park-like atmosphere, with benches and a bicycle rack, with car parking to the rear.

The company specializes in the old fashioned, hand-cranked type of ice cream made with milk, cream, fresh and frozen fruits, cane sugar and natural extracts. The interior of the shop will be remodeled for serving ice cream, sundaes, milkshakes and cones for eating on premises and for take-out.

The new ice cream shop will be open seven days a week from 12 noon to midnight.

Managing the new San Rafael store will be David Rand and Shirley Meerson, who also manage Old Uncle Gaylord's at 1 El Paseo in Mill Valley.

Old Uncle Gaylord's was founded in 1971 in San Francisco by Gaylord W. Willis.

STEPHEN BRODNANSKY has been promoted to Pacific Gas & Electric Company's Marin district marketing supervisor, Marin District Manager Don L. Johnson announced today. Brodnansky's previous assignment was commercial representative in the company's Santa Rosa district.

A native of Sonoma County, Brodnansky joined PG&E in 1962 and rose through the ranks. An active conservationist, he has served as vice president and a director of the Izaak Walton League's Santa Rosa chapter.

KATHY KANE of Kentfield has been appointed a field director in San Rafael by General Business Services Inc., headquartered in Washington, D.C.

Brodnansky Kane

She works in cooperation with James F. Olive, San Rafael area director for GBS.

General Business Services is a national counseling firm specializing in business and financial management systems and tax services for small businesses. Prior to her new appointment, Ms. Kane was managing a wholesale tennis court equipment distributing company.

LIVINGSTON'S at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda will hold its annual fashion show at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Manager Enge Rosenthall said the show will feature the just-arrived fall collection of ensembles, afternoon dresses, long dresses, party pajamas, pant suits and separates in custom sizes 12½ to 22½.

CLOTHES FREAK, the women's clothing store launched three years ago in Ignacio by Norman Kramer of Terra Linda, will expand to four outlets by Nov. 1.

A new Clothes Freak opened last Saturday at Union City, and another will open in Montclair in the East Bay on Nov. 1.

Clothes Freak is headquartered at 19 Hamilton Drive in Hamilton Industrial Park, just beyond the Marin County Humane Society building on the road to Bel Marin Keys. Its second shop was opened last year in Berkeley.

Managing the shops is Lauren Lund of Novato, who operates out of the Ignacio store, which is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The Clothes Freak specializes in women's clothing with the young look — long dresses, sweaters, skirts, pants and tops, some handbags and hats. "We are retail stores and also sell wholesale to many boutiques," said Mrs. Lund.

MARIN PAINT STORE at 639 San Anselmo Avenue in San Anselmo is still under the old ownership of Bertram A. Bowes, who has operated the shop for 16 years.

Bowes, a specialist in matching colors, offers Morwear paint, a variety of wallpapers and decorating supplies seven days a week. He himself is back managing the store since the first of this month because his manager, Lou Bouteiller, became ill.

"Despite rumors to the contrary, I'm still the owner and manager of Marin Paint Store," Bowes announced. He said some of his customers thought the store had changed hands because he negotiated for its sale last February, but that deal never went through.

ROBERT L. GRIMES, president of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors, announced two staff promotions:

Donald L. Bambauer, who has been with Allen Co. since 1971 and managed the firm's Novato office for the past year, was named general manager, a newly created position in the 64-year-old real estate firm.

Gary Gustafson, with Allen Co. since September of 1972, succeeds Bambauer as manager of the Novato office.

BELLA VISTA INTERIORS at 812 Francisco Boulevard West in San Rafael announced the association of Theodore A. Gietzen, a graduate of the Kendall School of Design in Grand Rapids, Mich. He has had several years of experience in the housing industry as craftsman and in sales for a national housing manufacturer.

Joyce B. Hayes, president of Bella Vista Interiors, announced that the addition of Gietzen means the interior design firm can give better service to its commercial design clients.

THE FILM COMPANY and the PARTY PALACE are two new stores that have opened in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley.

The Film Company, owned by John and Sally Coye of Tiburon, took over space formerly occupied by Marin Tennis Shop, which moved to larger quarters on Reed Boulevard.

The Film Company offers photographic equipment including dark room supplies, cameras and accessories, films and processing. Managed by Tom Borello of Fairfax, it is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Fridays until 9 p.m. It is located to the rear of the Ancient Mariner restaurant.

The Party Palace, operated by Joanne Thomason of Woodacre, moved from Fairfax where it had operated for the past two years. A mother of six, Mrs. Thomason is the wife of Earl Thomason, teacher in the Dixie School District.

The Party Palace is a home arts store carrying such items as cards, party goods, cake decorating supplies, helium-filled balloons, and pinatas. It is open Monday through Saturday and Fridays until 9 p.m. The Party Palace took over the former site of Rojeans Card and Party Shop, whose owner retired.

NEW ICE CREAM SHOP — This is how Old Uncle Gaylord's ice cream shop will look like when it opens in mid-November in San Rafael at 1700 Fourth Street, corner of G Street. An existing service station building will be repainted and remodeled, with exterior landscaping and benches to create a mini-park where customers can eat their ice cream choices at leisure.

Wall Street Continues Its Uptrend

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, continuing a sparkling rally begun last week, closed sharply and broadly higher today in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Advances led declines by a ratio of about 11-to-3 among the 1,823 issues crossing the tape, demonstrating the strength of the gain.

Prices also were higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

The momentum the market generated last week carried into this session, assisted by indications more and more banks throughout the country were lowering their prime lending rate to top-rated corporate customers a quarter point to 11 ½ per cent. There was speculation the rate — a depressant to Wall Street for months — would decline to 11 per cent in the near future.

The speculation was generated by reports the Federal Reserve Board's open market committee, which meets tomorrow would foster a loosening of credit policy.

Airlines continued higher. Some brokers said they would recommend some of the stocks at this time. Gainers included Delta, UAL, American and TWA. The Senate has cleared legislation that would benefit TWA.

Silver Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is no Handy and Harman silver quotation because of Columbus Holiday. Engelhard quoted silver bullion at $4.57 down 17 cents and fabricated silver at $4.684 down 17.5 cents.

Wickes Sales Down For 5-Week Stretch

SAN DIEGO (BW) — The Wickes Corp. has reported preliminary sales of $112,348,000 for the five-week period ended Sept. 28.

This represents a decrease of approximately 5 per cent from the $118,510,000 of the like period a year ago.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Northeast Utilities Should Be Sold Off

By ROGER E. SPEAR
and DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. What is your opinion of Northeast Utilities (NYSE) as an investment? I have 300 shares at $10 each. It looks as if the dividend is in jeopardy. — W.D.

A. Net income for the 12 months through July 31 was down sharply to 87 cents per share from $1.49 in the corresponding year-earlier period. As a result of the "serious decline in earnings" the company will postpone for a year two nuclear power generating units scheduled for completion in 1981 and 1983. Further construction postponements also are possible. Prior to this announcement, Northeast had anticipated deriving more than half its energy needs from nuclear plants by the early 1980s compared with 24 per cent presently. A five million common share offering scheduled for sale in September was deferred but now appears likely to be marketed soon.

Although the company's subsidiaries have received some rate relief, heavy doses are needed to boost earnings to former levels. While the deterioration in earnings may be partially counterbalanced over the remainder of the year, dividend coverage will be narrow at best. Whether the current rate of $1.02 a share is maintained is highly problematical, as the 17 per cent yield indicates. Sell.

Q. I am interested in investing in Dart Industries (NYSE) and Fort Howard Paper (NYSE). I would like to know how much would I need to start. What are all the fees I would have to pay? How do I find a broker? — D.H.

A. Most of the major retail brokerage firms have offices in the city where you work. Choose an office which is convenient for you to get to. I would start with a minimum of $500 and suggest purchasing only one of the issues if that is the maximum you wish to invest. A larger investment would allow you to buy a round lot — 100 shares — and thus avoid paying the odd lot differential of $0.125 (1/8 point) per share. Assuming you were to buy 40 shares of Dart Industries, as a starter, you would pay a $5 odd lot fee and commissions and other fees of under $20.

THE WAY TO GO

Shirtless and shoeless is the only way to go these Indian summer days, as 5-year-old Darren McMahon of Tiburon demonstrated Saturday in San Rafael's Albert Park. The past few days of warm, sunny weather made for a perfect weekend in the Bay Area for just about everyone's favorite pastime, except, perhaps raising mushrooms. Fair weather, with temperatures perhaps again touching the 80s, is forecast for tomorrow, but expect a return of some morning and evening fog. (Photo by Jim Kean)

Ford Economy Stance Splits Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican Leader John Rhodes says Democrats are not giving President Ford's new economic proposals a chance, but Sen. William Proxmire calls Ford's plans "marshmallow type;" not tough enough.

"You know, I've never understood why Democrats think it's good policy to poormouth the economy," Rhodes told Proxmire yesterday in a television interview.

"One of the things which we have to fight in this country is a lack of confidence. I just don't like to see people trying to talk us into a depression."

Proxmire responded that 'I'm not poor-mouthing the economy at all. I'm poormouthing the leadership, the very weak leadership on the economy, the fact that this was a marshmallow-type program.

"We needed a tough, hardhitting program that would really cope with the issue of prices being pushed up by corporate concentration."

Rhodes said, "Don't you think it would be more fair, Bill, if you would give the President's program a chance?... It seems to me that the Democratic party has a responsibility here as the majority party in the Congress at the moment."

The two appeared on ABC's Issues and Answers show.

The only good economic omen of the weekend came in the area of oil. Energy chief John C. Sawhill said that barring another Arab oil embargo, there will be enough home heating oil this winter.

"Our forecasts indicate relatively ample supplies of all the major petroleum products," Sawhill said in an interview with U.S. News and World Report.

"This is based on normal winter weather, but we've also made some projections for a colder than normal winter and still feel supplies would be fairly adequate, thanks in large measure to continuing conservation by the American people."

U.S. government sources said Saturday that new oil sources in Mexico —the Washington Post had a figure of as much as 20 billion barrels —could further offset the Arab price demands.

"If it's true," one official said, "that changes the world oil situation completely."

Oil costs are hurting the budget. In Hot Springs Va., Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent predicted that the U.S. trade deficit would reach $5 billion by the end of this year, partly because of soaring oil costs.

Agreeing, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said yesterday in Springfield, Ill. that "high oil prices are the cause of our inflation, and the President refuses to deal with the problem."

Other news was less optimistic. Using a phrase Proxmire picked up yesterday, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon acknowledged the criticism "that instead of biting the bullet, we are only nibbling at it, or that we are biting the marshmallow."

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, emerged from seclusion —he has been embarrased since a run-in with police —to say "the country needs to recognize that we are in a serious recession."

Ford's policies were even criticized by a computer. The Wharton School of Finance at the University of Pennsylvania predicted a 9.7 inflation rate with 6.4 per cent unemployment for 1975 under the Ford program and 9.59 per cent inflation and 6.2 per cent unemployment without it.

The computer assumed Congress would pass a $4 billion public service employment program —larger than the one Ford seeks. "The Ford program is almost all offsets," said Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., who made the data public.

Book, Gifts May Hamper Rockefeller Confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller's gift-giving and accepting responsibility for a derogatory campaign book have damaged his chances for smooth confirmation as vice president, according to congressmen who are investigating him.

"There's no doubt it's a deteriorating situation," said Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., a member of the Judiciary Committee, which is holding Rockefeller's confirmation hearings in the House.

Opinions varied on how far Rockefeller's confirmation has been set back. Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said there was "clear conflict of interest and President Ford should withdraw the nomination."

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., another member of the judiciary committee, said yesterday in Brookline, Mass., "There is a serious deepening question about the likelihood of confirmation."

Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, said yesterday the new developments might delay a vote on the nomination until late December.

Edwards said the House might vote on confirmation by the first week in December.

But Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, said there is a possibility the confirmation process would be slowed so much by new hearings that no action could be taken until after a new Congress is in session next year.

"I might tell you if it goes over to the next Congress, I don't think that improves his chances," Hays said.

Cannon told UPI in a telephone interview that his committee "in all probability" would recall Rockefeller to testify about the book and about his gifts, worth more than $2 million to 21 political associates, aides and friends between 1957 and 1974.

"I would say there certainly is more concern on the part of a lot of people as a result of these developments," Cannon said. But so far, he added, there has been no evidence of legal or moral wrongdoing on Rockefeller's part.

The book for which Rockefeller accepted "full responsibility" was a derogatory biography of former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg published in 1970, when Goldberg was opposing Rockefeller for the New York governorship.

It was written by author Victor Lasky and published with a $60,000 investment by Rockefeller's brother Laurance.

The gifts included $50,000 to Henry A. Kissinger in 1969, before Kissinger joined the Nixon administration; $625,000 between 1958 and 1974 to Dr. William J. Ronan, head of the New York port authority; and $100,000 in 1960 to New York GOP chairman L. Judson Morhouse, who later was imprisoned on a bribery conviction. His sentence was commuted by Rockefeller in 1970.

A few years ago such matters might have posed few difficulties, but in the post-Watergate era of concern over political ethics and the exercise of power they raise questions Congress wants answered.

"I think this is exactly the kind of thing we've gone through the last few months in the Watergate affair and we don't want to see repeated," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a televised interview (ABC-TV Issues and Answers).

"I think this puts the Rockefeller nomination in jeopardy."

But Rep. John J. Rhodes, D-Ariz., said in the same interview: "I think it's not in any permanent jeopardy."

While Rockefeller's nomination originally could have gone through with few problems, Hays said (on NBC-TV's Meet the Press), "now it seems to be in serious trouble."

Quintuplets All Still Doing Well

BALTIMORE (UPI) — With a critical initial period now past, the 6-day-old Rohrer quintuplets are being kept under constant watch by hospital workers who want to make sure the babies avoid any threat of possible infection.

Dr. Ronald Gutberiet, director of the nursery at University Hospital, said yesterday the four girls and one boy all were doing very well, and their 28-year-old mother may be allowed to go home this week.

The infants, born premature by caesarean section, will remain in the hospital for another month.

He said two of the girls — Sandra and Belinda — had begun taking their formula by nipple. Michelle and Jennifer and their brother, Russell, continued to receive increasing amounts of formula by oral tube.

What Do Many Doctors Use When They Suffer Pain And Itch Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues?

Exclusive formula gives prompt, temporary relief from such pain and itch in many cases. Helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues due to inflammation.

In a survey, doctors were asked what they use to relieve such painful symptoms. Many of the doctors reporting said they either use Preparation H themselves or in their office practice.

Preparation H gives prompt, temporary relief for hours in many cases from pain, itching in hemorrhoidal tissues. And it actually helps shrink painful swelling of such tissues when infected and inflamed. Try doctor-tested Preparation H. There's no other formula like it. At drug counters everywhere. Two Meaningless Propositions On Ballot

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
12 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1974 EDITORIAL PAGE

In almost every election, it seems, we must have at least one ballot proposition that is meaningless and merely clutters up the ballot and adds to election costs.

Usually, it is put there by the legislature.

In the Nov. 5 election we have two such measures.

THE FIRST is Proposition 11, which would change some language in the state constitution to eliminate gender. References to "assemblymen," for instance, would be changed to "members of the Assembly."

The ballot argument against Proposition 11 was submitted by Timothy D. Weinland, a student at University of Pacific's McGeorge School of Law. It states the case so well and sensibly that we cannot hope to improve on it. As Weinland points out:

". . . This is an attempt to artifically change word usage in the English language in order to satisfy persons who believe that use of masculine terms in a general sense discriminates against women. Such an allegation is absurd. Use of masculine terms in the law came from the fact that such terms are part of the normal usage of the English language in our society and are in no way discriminatory.

"For example, the 'American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language' includes among its definitions of the word 'man' the following: 'Any human being, regardless of sex or age; a member of the human race; a person.' Thus, the law has only made use of the normal terms in the English language and there is no reason to change such language.

". . . If there is discrimination against women, then the solution is to change attitudes and substantive laws . . . Don't make artificial changes in the English language. Don't ignore the real problem involved. Vote No."

Amen!

ANOTHER meaningless ballot proposal is Proposition 6. This would increase the minimum "property tax exemption" authorized by the constitution from $750 to $1,750 of assessed valuation.

It already is $1,750 by legislative action. And whatever the figure, it is largely meaningless. Experience has proved that a "property tax exampption" simply results in an increased in assessed valuation to wipe out the saving.

We see no need for the change proposed by Proposition 6.

ALSO CLUTTERING up the ballot is Proposition 13, which aims to solve a purely local problem in San Diego.

The state constitution prohibits splitting a city between two municipal court districts. San Diego embraces a huge area from Mexico to Escondido. It is contended this is too big for a single district. So Proposition 13 would permit San Diego to have two court districts.

If San Diego needs two court districts, we have no objection — although we might point out that Marin County, with greater area, is in a single district. But San Diego voters should decide.

Our suggestion (which we're sure won't be followed) is that everyone outside San Diego refrain from voting on Proposition 13.

"Frankly, Arnold, yours is not in the best American tradition of great responses to challenging times."

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Perhaps Vegetarians Are Group Whose Time Has Arrived

WASHINGTON — The girl who walked into the office on Francis of Assisi's feast day did not precisely fit my preconception of the wave of the near future. She was pale and gentle-looking, as if she would not hurt a flea. Or a steer, or even an oyster, for that matter.

She was here on behalf of the American Vegetarians, and only after she left her news releases did it occur that this may be an organization whose time has arrived. By its title, obviously it is for eating more vegetables and no meat, and, while most high-cholesterol American he-men have laughed at that idea in the past, any grocery shopper can tell you that now it seems more sensible every day.

Beyond its basic ascetic-ethical-nutritional objectives, the movement has been espousing its economic case for decades. Only lately have the energy, environmental and population situations inspired other heavy thinkers to lay out the same suggestions, without crediting St. Francis or his modern disciples.

OUR VISITOR did not offer the economic case, which goes back a step beyond the high price of hamburger at the supermarket. It is that raising cattle or other animals for meat yields far less food per acre than planting soybeans or squash on the same acreage — and at much higher cost.

Neither did she attempt the early religious argument that eating less flesh will make us less prone to delicious sins of the flesh. Her brief was more Assisian.

St. Francis "reverenced the life, the spark of creative soul in all life," she recalled. He refused meat because "it comes from the killing of innocent cows, sheep and pigs . . . Nor did he harm insect life of any kind."

So on his feast day, the American Vegetarians pleaded that their countrymen remember "the unspeakable suffering which continues in slaughterhouses, animal research laboratories, zoos, traps, pounds, etc." It asked, "May we not buy the perfumes that require the killing . . . May we not eat the meat of another animal, unjustly raised just to be butchered . . ."

And finally the group made its nononsense request of Mr. Ford: establishment of a cabinet-level Department of Abolition of Animal Suffering. It proposed a departmental slogan, "They Cannot Speak, Only Suffer."

YOU WILL DETECT my uncertainty about how to handle these earnest crusaders, whether to take them seriously or to make fun of them. I suspect there's the same uncertainty among most of my countrymen, although the scoffers surely dominate.

But that ambivalence seems forgivable, since the vegetarians themselves are making a simultaneous effort to broaden their activities — whether out of lack of faith in the future of pure vegetarianism or a tactical desire to attach it to some livelier crusade, I cannot certify.

Anyhow, along with their flier against flesh-eating, they are polling the public for its preferences in other improvement programs. "Military spending?" they ask. "Amnesty? South Vietnam's political prisoners? . . . Peace and social concerns in religious education? Draft repeal? Health services? Civil rights? Civil liberties? Tax equity? Women's rights? (Please number in order of preference or, if too difficult to select, just check.)"

REMEMBERING NOW the face of the visiting proselytizer, I cannot believe she was insincere about St. Francis and the innocent animals. Rather, she must be so sincere that she wants to form a Popular Front with potential advocates of any and every other honorable cause.

Not long ago, the boards of regents of such crusades could be reached at Berkeley or Columbia, or somewhere underground. Further evidence that this one is different is in its address, the least likely revolutionary headquarters I have ever heard: 475 West Market St., Akron, Ohio. Pick your crusade in order of preference, or just check one, mail it in and welcome to the new revolution.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND:

Watergate Trial Should Provide Answers

WASHINGTON — There is much more at stake than the guilt or innocence of John Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman in the Watergate coverup trial now before U.S. Dist. Judge John Sirica in Washington.

Verdicts will come later, and it is improper to speculate on them in advance.

But the evolving testimony, which will now be brought out forcefully by both the prosecution and the defense, will provide the public much it needs to know to assess the motives and purposes which caused people high in the Nixon administration to do what they did.

IT NOW SEEMS PROBABLE that by following fairly closely what will be said at the trial we can penetrate the clouds which have made the Watergate scandals seem so outside rational explanation.

There is so much about the whole range of Watergate offenses which just hasn't made sense at all but which could come into some rational focus under the lens of the adversary proceedings in court.

Here is what I mean:

In the days just after the break-in at the Democratic national headquarters in 1971, administration apologists dismissed it as "a foolish caper" — as if it were something kids thought up for the fun of it. But G. Gordon Liddy, E. Howard Hunt et al were not kids. So what was behind it? We still need to know.

Later, several spokesmen for the White House described the Watergate crime as "stupid, asinine and silly" — as if there could be no sensible explanation. That's not good enough.

THE REASON it isn't good enough is that the attorney general of the United States, the chief of staff and chief domestic affairs adviser to the president all had some involvement in the decisions which brought about the actions for which they now stand indicted.

Well, since Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman are not stupid people, the purposes behind Watergate could not have been perceived by them to be silly or trivial or asinine. None of them was normally engaged in minor matters; therefore, the objectives behind the Watergate activities must have been deemed significant and overriding or they wouldn't have been undertaken.

The forthcoming testimony — both prosecution and defense — should provide some illumination.

OTHER QUESTIONS on which testimony should shed light are these:

If former Attorney General Mitchell disapproved of Liddy's plans to break into Watergate — as he said he did — was he really without the resources to prevent them? The explanation should be revealing.

If the White House "plumbers" exceeded their instructions in penetrating the private offices of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, why weren't they fired forthwith? The explanation will be intriguing.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Friedman's Holdings Held In Family Trust

Erik Ingram's Monday (Oct. 7) column on income disclosures of county officials didn't quite tell the whole story with respect to my disclosures. What Erik failed to report and what I noted on my forms was that all holdings I reported were in a trust created by my family, over which I have no control until age 40 (I am now 34). I am not responsible for its contents, the income does not come directly to me, and quite frankly, I am not happy with some of the stocks he mentions as those companies do not always reflect my values.

Perhaps when Erik is old and gray, and I am 40 and have the ability to change the holdings, he can decide whether or not his moral applies equally to me.

Hill Did No Talking As BCDC Member

A recent political advertisement in the I-J cited Assembly candidate A. Hill's membership on the Bay Conservation and Development Commission as evidence of his "proven record" on conservation.

However, mere membership on a commission hardly means the interests of conservation were necessarily well served. In Mr. Hill's case, his membership on the BCDC was undeniably mediocre. In the dozens of meetings I have attended, Mr. Hill never spoke except to vote.

Surprised Hayakawa Is Endorsing Caylor

I was rather surprised to learn that Dr. Hayakawa has endorsed Tom Caylor for Congress because of the latter's "integrity . . . freshness of spirit and intellect."

Such virtues would hardly seem to apply to a man whose entire campaign was based on the dubious art of ad hominem.

On the other hand, Congressman Burton quite properly addressed himself solely to the issues and, as a result, we now have a Representative in Washington who knows what he's doing, and so do we (thanks, in part, to your frequent "report cards"). He is also most exceptionally responsive to his constituents' requests. . .

Judges Find Speech Tournament Enjoyable

Oct. 7 you printed an article by Ernest Murphy titled: "High School Debating Still Popular." All of us connected with the Golden Gate Speech Association want to thank Mr. Murphy and the Independent Journal for the wonderful and informative article.

I wish to thank all of the people who came from Marin and Sonoma County to serve as judges for the GGSA held Oct. 5 at Casa Grande High School in Petaluma. without your help the tournament could not have been held. Many people arrived with a fear of judging. Once they judged a round, their fears were replaced with admiration for the skills and talent exhibited by the debaters. The most popular question of the day soon became, "When will you hold another tournament? This was fun!"

Almost every year Terra Linda High School hosts a tournament for the GGSA. I am sure the speech and debate coach, Mrs. Lenn Bragg, would enjoy hearing from those interested in being judges or making a donation to the Terra Linda team. I would be interested in those who are interested in helping the Casa Grande High School speech and debate team either as judges for future contests or as donors.

Roumiguiere In Pitch For Measures A And B

Measures A and B will appear on the November ballot. They are of vital importance to the people living in the unincorporated areas surrounding San Rafael.

Measure A will pose the question of whether or not to form a county service area that will include the unincorporated areas. Measure B will ask the question of whether or not a maximum tax rate of 71 cents shall be imposed to finance the purchase of land and construction of a new fire station on Puerto Suello Hill, equipping it with two structural fire trucks, and staffing it with three firemen at all times.

The net cost to the taxpayer will be 24 cents per $100 assessed valuation. This equals $14 per year on a $30,000 home, $20 per year on a $40,000 home, and $56 per year on a $100,000 home.

In the past and until the middle of November, fire protection in these areas consists of a single county fire truck with one fireman stationed in Santa Venetia, coupled with mutual aid from the City of San Rafael.

If Measures A and B pass, fire protection will be improved by the addition of a new fire station, an additional structural truck, and two more full-time firemen. If Measures A and B pass, the City of San Rafael has agreed to provide second-response mutual aid back-up.

If Measures A and B fail, real catastrophes can occur. San Rafael will withdraw from mutual aid. Residents will then have to rely on the one-truck station in Santa Venetia manned by one fireman. The county will, of course, send back-up help but it will have to come from Woodacre or Marin City . . .

County and City staff working together reaserched every possible alternative and developed costs for each alternative method of improved fire protection. A citizens committee, including but not limited to the presidents of all seven of the homeowners associations in the proposed county service area, analyzed each of the alternatives and their costs. They unanimously recommended the alternative now known as Measures A and B on the November ballot.

Supervisor's 'Duty' To Debate Kayfetz

Supervisor Vella of Sonoma County is shirking his duty in refusing to discuss the facts of the Warm Springs Dam swindle by hiding behind a barrage of wisecracks.

He either knows very little about this project he has been promoting, or is afraid to reveal the facts. Therefore, he has ducked out of a public debate with me that could clarify a lot of issues. (I am representing in court more than 300 Sonoma County residents who feel that the facts about this potentially disastrous project should be out in the open). . .

For more than $150 million of your taxes the Sonoma taxpayer is paying for a reservoir which will drain like a bathtub during the recreation season, leaving several square miles of mudflat around an ever-shrinking pool of water.

The water being drained from the reservoir will turn Sonoma County into wall-to-wall subdivisions with an 18-lane freeway passing through it.

For this you would vote to spend $150 million?

Let Cheerleaders Win Economic Game

That "WIN" button will do it!

Who can deny it's the best idea Ford and his "economists" have come up with yet? Or was it his Madison Avenue seers?

Yea, team! Win! Win! Win! It's the cheerleaders, not the quarterback, will carry the day. Whata "game plan!" Zis! Boom! Bah!

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Repeal Of Bonus Ripoff Victory For The People

By EARL G. WATERS

It was a last roundup. Having done little to distinguish itself, except to effect a long-overdue change in the speakership, the 1974 Legislature recessed in August. It left behind monumental stacks of unenacted proposals testifying to its failure to come to realistic grips with the problems of the state. But its greatest failure, as it turned out, was in not recognizing the mood of the voters' reaction to the disclosures of excessive benefits it had bestowed upon its members.

Newsmen had reported, spasmodically during the long two-year session and even before, on various abuses of taxpayer dollars by the lawmakers, such as the $30 a day, seven days a week, expense payments.

But AP reporter Evans Witt and the Sacramento Union's investigative reporter K. W. Lee turned the full spotlight on the excess fringe benefits.

FRESHMAN ASSEMBLYMAN Bob McLennan, R-Paramount, reacted, authoring a bill to repeal the early "pensions", and incurred the wrath of his colleagues. He became as popular as a skunk at a picnic. His bill was buried and when the legislature soon afterward adjourned, those who stood to receive the early retirement pay felt secure.

Realizing that once the pay started it would be "vested" and could not be curtailed, this columnist suggested Governor Reagan call the legislature into special session to repeal the unjustified payments. The idea was picked up editorially by the Sacramento Union and other newspapers. It provoked a deluge of mail. The heat from the aroused citizenry became too great.

Reagan summoned the lawmakers. They returned to Sacramento and amended their pension law to cut off the early benefits. Those leaving office must now wait until the normal retirement age before their pensions commence.

IT WAS IRONIC that former Speaker Bob Moretti saw fit to excoriate, in the foulest of language, AP reporter Witt for his part in bringing to light the early pensions. The irony was that Moretti had campaigned for governor on a platform of "restoring power to the people". His attack on Witt evidenced the phoniness of his campaign slogan. He really didn't want the people to have power. He didn't like it one little bit when they exercised that power.

Why do we keep electing members of Congress on their looks, personalities and experience when the main qualification is how long they can stay on their feet in a filibuster?

THE WAY TO GO

Shirtless and shoeless is the only way to go these Indian summer days, as 5-year-old Darren McMahon of Tiburon demonstrated Saturday in San Rafael's Albert Park. The past few days of warm, sunny weather made for a perfect weekend in the Bay Area for just about everyone's favorite pastime, except, perhaps raising mushrooms. Fair weather, with temperatures perhaps again touching the 80s, is forecast for tomorrow, but expect a return of some morning and evening fog. (Photo by Jim Kean)

Ford Economy Stance Splits Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican Leader John Rhodes says Democrats are not giving President Ford's new economic proposals a chance, but Sen. William Proxmire calls Ford's plans "marshmallow type;" not tough enough.

"You know, I've never understood why Democrats think it's good policy to poormouth the economy," Rhodes told Proxmire yesterday in a television interview.

"One of the things which we have to fight in this country is a lack of confidence. I just don't like to see people trying to talk us into a depression."

Proxmire responded that 'I'm not poor-mouthing the economy at all. I'm poor-mouthing the leadership, the very weak leadership on the economy, the fact that this was a marshmallow-type program.

"We needed a tough, hardhitting program that would really cope with the issue of prices being pushed up by corporate concentration."

Rhodes said, "Don't you think it would be more fair, Bill, if you would give the President's program a chance?... It seems to me that the Democratic party has a responsibility here as the majority party in the Congress at the moment."

The two appeared on ABC's Issues and Answers show.

The only good economic omen of the weekend came in the area of oil. Energy chief John C. Sawhill said that barring another Arab oil embargo, there will be enough home heating oil this winter.

"Our forecasts indicate relatively ample supplies of all the major petroleum products," Sawhill said in an interview with U.S. News and World Report.

"This is based on normal winter weather, but we've also made some projections for a colder than normal winter and still feel supplies would be fairly adequate, thanks in large measure to continuing conservation by the American people."

U.S. government sources said Saturday that new oil sources in Mexico —the Washington Post had a figure of as much as 20 billion barrels —could further offset the Arab price demands.

"If it's true," one official said, "that changes the world oil situation completely."

Oil costs are hurting the budget. In Hot Springs Va., Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent predicted that the U.S. trade deficit would reach $5 billion by the end of this year, partly because of soaring oil costs.

Agreeing, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said yesterday in Springfield, Ill. that "high oil prices are the cause of our inflation, and the President refuses to deal with the problem."

Other news was less optimistic. Using a phrase Proxmire picked up yesterday, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon acknowledged the criticism "that instead of biting the bullet, we are only nibbling at it, or that we are biting the marshmallow."

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, emerged from seclusion —he has been embarrased since a run-in with police —to say "the country needs to recognize that we are in a serious recession."

Ford's policies were even criticized by a computer. The Wharton School of Finance at the University of Pennsylvania predicted a 9.7 inflation rate with 6.4 per cent unemployment for 1975 under the Ford program and 9.59 per cent inflation and 6.2 per cent unemployment without it.

The computer assumed Congress would pass a $4 billion public service employment program —larger than the one Ford seeks. "The Ford program is almost all offsets," said Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., who made the data public.

Brown Leads Flournoy In Race For Campaign Cash

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrat Edmund Brown Jr. has amassed a campaign warchest of more than $1.1 million to outdistance Republican gubernatorial opponent Houston I. Flournoy, who lists Nelson A. Rockefeller as one of his supporters.

Campaign reports made available Saturday show that Flournoy has raised approximately $900,000 to fight Brown as hundreds of "financial angels" have shelled out more than $2 million for the general election contest.

Financial benefactors from agribusiness—farmers, packing companies and ranchers— gave Flournoy at least $77,000, including a $23,500 contribution from the Western Growers Association.

Labor union officials swelled Brown's coffers by at least $132,000 with the biggest chunks —$35,000 apiece—coming from Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union and the United Auto Workers Union.

Rockefeller, the vice presidential nominee who has been questioned about large gifts to aides, chipped in $5,000 to Flournoy's campaign. Flournoy personally visited Rockefeller aides last month during a trip to the East Coast.

Brown picked up $16,000 from Richard Oneill and Lou Cella, Orange County friends of Democratic Nominee for Controller Ken Cory. The two "financial angels," as political aides call them, have dumped several hundred thousand dollars into Cory's campaign.

Not included in the statements were contributions made to the two candidates during the primary election when Brown's campaign collected $1.6 million and Flournoy's raised $1.2 million.

Many contributors, including recluse billionaire Howard Hughes, covered bets by giving to both campaigns.

Hughes contributed $5,000 to Flournoy and $1,600 to Brown. Twentieth Century Fox gave Flournoy $2,500, while Brown was given $2,200.

Both men received $10,000 each from the California Real Estate Association, while the California Dental Association shelled out $22,500 to the Republican effort and $12,500 to the Democratic campaign.

Flournoy also received more than $10,000 from backers of Gov. Ronald Reagan and $15,000 from James Garibaldi, a lobbyist for the liquor and racetrack industries.

Brown picked up a $50,000 loan from Joan Palevsky, the former wife of Xerox millionaire Max Palevsky. He also received $60,000 in loans and gifts from Auburn Manor Holding Co., owned by Southern California builder Martin Harmon.

Flournoy received $10,000 from Southern Pacific Railroad, $2,000 from Getty Oil, $11,500 from Tenneco and the use of a plane belonging to the Fat City Cattle Co., of Monterey, worth $100.

Brown took in $7,500 from World Airways of Oakland, $1,000 from the California Retail Liquor Dealers Association, and $1,000 from the Chinese Herb and Acupuncture Co. and $1,000 from Peter O'Malley, president of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Both candidates have agreed to limit media advertising expenditures to $900,000 while general expenses have not been limited. Both raised far more than they spent during the initial campaign reporting period for the Nov. 5 election.

The next campaign reports will be due just before and then after the election.

Yorty Loses His Broadcast Job

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former Mayor Sam Yorty is out of another job.

Yorty, who has hosted a morning call-in talk show on radio station KGBS, went off the air during the weekend because the station wanted to change its programming format to general country music.

Yorty, who was mayor for 12 years, was ousted by Tom Bradley, the first black to hold the city's highest elected office, in 1973.

The former mayor was said to be scheduled to return to the air on another station.

Relief Supplies Claimed Sold On Black Market

MIAMI (UPI) — A team of American medical missionaries just returned from Honduras has charged that American relief supplies airlifted to the hurricane-ravaged Central American nation are being confiscated by government officials and later sold in the black market, the Miami Herald reported today.

The newspaper said the charges were made by a Cocoa, Fla., surgeon, his wife, a registered nurse, and two other medical missionaries who arrived in Miami this weekend after spending two weeks in Honduras.

Honduran officials have denied the allegations.

"The higher-ups are taking supplies for themselves to sell," said Dr. Edward Austin. "Our interpreters told us the officials would hold the food and when the bad times hit sell it back to the people at the price of gold, was the way they put it."

Mrs. Austin said she also saw a visiting Nicaraguan Red Cross team stealing relief clothes for their own use and also to lure girls.

The Herald said other accounts of irregularities in coordinating the relief supply efforts were reported by Richard Wise, a former army hospital administrator, and Judy Biery, a Cape Canaveral, Fla., surgical nurse, who accompanied the Austins on the medical mission sponsored by the congregation of St. Marks Episcopal Church in Cocoa.

NOTICE ANNUAL FALL DEBRIS PICKUP SERVICE TOWN OF FAIRFAX

The Fairfax Garbage Disposal Company will have a free pickup of debris in Fairfax on their regular routes during the period October 28, 1974 through November 1, 1974. This service will be provided to paid up customers only on their regular pickup day.

There will be a limit of one (1) cubic yard per customer, which is the equivalent of 7 normal refuse cans.

Clippings should be cut no longer than 5 feet in length and tied in bundles or boxed.

IMPORTANT: All debris must be in containers or tied in bundles and placed at the curb. If no curb exists, debris may be placed by the side of the road. Furniture, remodeling materials or similar items will not be collected.

Debris boxes for other types of trash will be located in the area below the ballfield on Saturday, November 2, 1974. An attendant will be on duty and proof of Fairfax residency will be required.

For further information, please call the office of the Fairfax Garbage Disposal Company, 453-8355, between 10:00 A.M. and 3:00 P.M.

1924-1974

For half a century we've grown with you.

We've helped meet the demand for aggregate and concrete products for important buildings and projects in Central and Northern California...

...buildings for religion, education and commerce, for government and institutions

...materials for bridges and roads, improvements of river banks, harbors and military facilities.

But more than that, we've listened when people voiced concern for our environment. We invested large sums in control equipment for our plants, we've redecorated, we've landscaped, and we're land recycling. We're firmly committed to a better quality of life for those who work for us and those around us.

Two Meaningless Propositions On Ballot

In almost every election, it seems, we must have at least one ballot proposition that is meaningless and merely clutters up the ballot and adds to election costs.

Usually, it is put there by the legislature.

In the Nov. 5 election we have two such measures.

THE FIRST is Proposition 11, which would change some language in the state constitution to eliminate gender. References to "assemblymen," for instance, would be changed to "members of the Assembly."

The ballot argument against Proposition 11 was submitted by Timothy D. Weinland, a student at University of Pacific's McGeorge School of Law. It states the case so well and sensibly that we cannot hope to improve on it. As Weinland points out:

". . . This is an attempt to artifically change word usage in the English language in order to satisfy persons who believe that use of masculine terms in a general sense discriminates against women. Such an allegation is absurd. Use of masculine terms in the law came from the fact that such terms are part of the normal usage of the English language in our society and are in no way discriminatory.

"For example, the 'American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language' includes among its definitions of the word 'man' the following: 'Any human being, regardless of sex or age; a member of the human race; a person.' Thus, the law has only made use of the normal terms in the English language and there is no reason to change such language.

". . . If there is discrimination against women, then the solution is to change attitudes and substantive laws . . . Don't make artificial changes in the English language. Don't ignore the real problem involved. Vote No."

Amen!

ANOTHER meaningless ballot proposal is Proposition 6. This would increase the minimum "property tax exemption" authorized by the constitution from $750 to $1,750 of assessed valuation.

It already is $1,750 by legislative action. And whatever the figure, it is largely meaningless. Experience has proved that a "property tax exampption" simply results in an increased in assessed valuation to wipe out the saving.

We see no need for the change proposed by Proposition 6.

ALSO CLUTTERING up the ballot is Proposition 13, which aims to solve a purely local problem in San Diego.

The state constitution prohibits splitting a city between two municipal court districts. San Diego embraces a huge area from Mexico to Escondido. It is contended this is too big for a single district. So Proposition 13 would permit San Diego to have two court districts.

If San Diego needs two court districts, we have no objection — although we might point out that Marin County, with greater area, is in a single district. But San Diego voters should decide.

Our suggestion (which we're sure won't be followed) is that everyone outside San Diego refrain from voting on Proposition 13.

"Frankly, Arnold, yours is not in the best American tradition of great responses to challenging times."

Perhaps Vegetarians Are Group Whose Time Has Arrived

WASHINGTON — The girl who walked into the office on Francis of Assisi's feast day did not precisely fit my preconception of the wave of the near future. She was pale and gentle-looking, as if she would not hurt a flea. Or a steer, or even an oyster, for that matter.

She was here on behalf of the American Vegetarians, and only after she left her news releases did it occur that this may be an organization whose time has arrived. By its title, obviously it is for eating more vegetables and no meat, and, while most high-cholesterol American he-men have laughed at that idea in the past, any grocery shopper can tell you that now it seems more sensible every day.

Beyond its basic ascetic-ethical-nutritional objectives, the movement has been espousing its economic case for decades. Only lately have the energy, environmental and population situations inspired other heavy thinkers to lay out the same suggestions, without crediting St. Francis or his modern disciples.

OUR VISITOR did not offer the economic case, which goes back a step beyond the high price of hamburger at the supermarket. It is that raising cattle or other animals for meat yields far less food per acre than planting soybeans or squash on the same acreage — and at much higher cost.

Neither did she attempt the early religious argument that eating less flesh will make us less prone to delicious sins of the flesh. Her brief was more Assisian.

St. Francis "reverenced the life, the spark of creative soul in all life," she recalled. He refused meat because "it comes from the killing of innocent cows, sheep and pigs . . . Nor did he harm insect life of any kind."

So on his feast day, the American Vegetarians pleaded that their countrymen remember "the unspeakable suffering which continues in slaughterhouses, animal research laboratories, zoos, traps, pounds, etc." It asked, "May we not buy the perfumes that require the killing . . . May we not eat the meat of another animal, unjustly raised just to be butchered . . ."

And finally the group made its nononsense request of Mr. Ford: establishment of a cabinet-level Department of Abolition of Animal Suffering. It proposed a departmental slogan, "They Cannot Speak, Only Suffer."

YOU WILL DETECT my uncertainty about how to handle these earnest crusaders, whether to take them seriously or to make fun of them. I suspect there's the same uncertainty among most of my countrymen, although the scoffers surely dominate.

But that ambivalence seems forgivable, since the vegetarians themselves are making a simultaneous effort to broaden their activities — whether out of lack of faith in the future of pure vegetarianism or a tactical desire to attach it to some livelier crusade, I cannot certify.

Anyhow, along with their flier against flesh-eating, they are polling the public for its preferences in other improvement programs. "Military spending?" they ask. "Amnesty? South Vietnam's political prisoners? . . . Peace and social concerns in religious education? Draft repeal? Health services? Civil rights? Civil liberties? Tax equity? Women's rights? (Please number in order of preference or, if too difficult to select, just check.)"

REMEMBERING NOW the face of the visiting proselytizer, I cannot believe she was insincere about St. Francis and the innocent animals. Rather, she must be so sincere that she wants to form a Popular Front with potential advocates of any and every other honorable cause.

Not long ago, the boards of regents of such crusades could be reached at Berkeley or Columbia, or somewhere underground. Further evidence that this one is different is in its address, the least likely revolutionary headquarters I have ever heard: 475 West Market St., Akron, Ohio. Pick your crusade in order of preference, or just check one, mail it in and welcome to the new revolution.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND:

Watergate Trial Should Provide Answers

WASHINGTON — There is much more at stake than the guilt or innocence of John Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman in the Watergate coverup trial now before U.S. Dist. Judge John Sirica in Washington.

Verdicts will come later, and it is improper to speculate on them in advance.

But the evolving testimony, which will now be brought out forcefully by both the prosecution and the defense, will provide the public much it needs to know to assess the motives and purposes which caused people high in the Nixon administration to do what they did.

IT NOW SEEMS PROBABLE that by following fairly closely what will be said at the trial we can penetrate the clouds which have made the Watergate scandals seem so outside rational explanation.

There is so much about the whole range of Watergate offenses which just hasn't made sense at all but which could come into some rational focus under the lens of the adversary proceedings in court.

Here is what I mean:

In the days just after the break-in at the Democratic national headquarters in 1971, administration apologists dismissed it as "a foolish caper" — as if it were something kids thought up for the fun of it. But G. Gordon Liddy, E. Howard Hunt et al were not kids. So what was behind it? We still need to know.

Later, several spokesmen for the White House described the Watergate crime as "stupid, asinine and silly" — as if there could be no sensible explanation. That's not good enough.

THE REASON it isn't good enough is that the attorney general of the United States, the chief of staff and chief domestic affairs adviser to the president all had some involvement in the decisions which brought about the actions for which they now stand indicted.

Well, since Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman are not stupid people, the purposes behind Watergate could not have been perceived by them to be silly or trivial or asinine. None of them was normally engaged in minor matters; therefore, the objectives behind the Watergate activities must have been deemed significant and overriding or they wouldn't have been undertaken.

The forthcoming testimony — both prosecution and defense — should provide some illumination.

OTHER QUESTIONS on which testimony should shed light are these:

If former Attorney General Mitchell disapproved of Liddy's plans to break into Watergate — as he said he did — was he really without the resources to prevent them? The explanation should be revealing.

If the White House "plumbers" exceeded their instructions in penetrating the private offices of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, why weren't they fired forthwith? The explanation will be intriguing.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Friedman's Holdings Held In Family Trust

Erik Ingram's Monday (Oct. 7) column on income disclosures of county officials didn't quite tell the whole story with respect to my disclosures. What Erik failed to report and what I noted on my forms was that all holdings I reported were in a trust created by my family, over which I have no control until age 40 (I am now 34). I am not responsible for its contents, the income does not come directly to me, and quite frankly, I am not happy with some of the stocks he mentions as those companies do not always reflect my values.

Perhaps when Erik is old and gray, and I am 40 and have the ability to change the holdings, he can decide whether or not his moral applies equally to me.

Hill Did No Talking As BCDC Member

A recent political advertisement in the I-J cited Assembly candidate A. Hill's membership on the Bay Conservation and Development Commission as evidence of his "proven record" on conservation.

However, mere membership on a commission hardly means the interests of conservation were necessarily well served. In Mr. Hill's case, his membership on the BCDC was undeniably mediocre. In the dozens of meetings I have attended, Mr. Hill never spoke except to vote.

Surprised Hayakawa Is Endorsing Caylor

I was rather surprised to learn that Dr. Hayakawa has endorsed Tom Caylor for Congress because of the latter's "integrity . . . freshness of spirit and intellect."

Such virtues would hardly seem to apply to a man whose entire campaign was based on the dubious art of ad hominem.

On the other hand, Congressman Burton quite properly addressed himself solely to the issues and, as a result, we now have a Representative in Washington who knows what he's doing, and so do we (thanks, in part, to your frequent "report cards"). He is also most exceptionally responsive to his constituents' requests. . .

Judges Find Speech Tournament Enjoyable

Oct. 7 you printed an article by Ernest Murphy titled: "High School Debating Still Popular." All of us connected with the Golden Gate Speech Association want to thank Mr. Murphy and the Independent Journal for the wonderful and informative article.

I wish to thank all of the people who came from Marin and Sonoma County to serve as judges for the GGSA held Oct. 5 at Casa Grande High School in Petaluma. without your help the tournament could not have been held. Many people arrived with a fear of judging. Once they judged a round, their fears were replaced with admiration for the skills and talent exhibited by the debaters. The most popular question of the day soon became, "When will you hold another tournament? This was fun!"

Almost every year Terra Linda High School hosts a tournament for the GGSA. I am sure the speech and debate coach, Mrs. Lenn Bragg, would enjoy hearing from those interested in being judges or making a donation to the Terra Linda team. I would be interested in those who are interested in helping the Casa Grande High School speech and debate team either as judges for future contests or as donors.

Roumiguiere In Pitch For Measures A And B

Measures A and B will appear on the November ballot. They are of vital importance to the people living in the unincorporated areas surrounding San Rafael.

Measure A will pose the question of whether or not to form a county service area that will include the unincorporated areas. Measure B will ask the question of whether or not a maximum tax rate of 71 cents shall be imposed to finance the purchase of land and construction of a new fire station on Puerto Suello Hill, equipping it with two structural fire trucks, and staffing it with three firemen at all times.

The net cost to the taxpayer will be 24 cents per $100 assessed valuation. This equals $14 per year on a $30,000 home, $20 per year on a $40,000 home, and $56 per year on a $100,000 home.

In the past and until the middle of November, fire protection in these areas consists of a single county fire truck with one fireman stationed in Santa Venetia, coupled with mutual aid from the City of San Rafael.

If Measures A and B pass, fire protection will be improved by the addition of a new fire station, an additional structural truck, and two more full-time firemen. If Measures A and B pass, the City of San Rafael has agreed to provide second-response mutual aid back-up.

If Measures A and B fail, real catastrophes can occur. San Rafael will withdraw from mutual aid. Residents will then have to rely on the one-truck station in Santa Venetia manned by one fireman. The county will, of course, send back-up help but it will have to come from Woodacre or Marin City . . .

County and City staff working together reaserched every possible alternative and developed costs for each alternative method of improved fire protection. A citizens committee, including but not limited to the presidents of all seven of the homeowners associations in the proposed county service area, analyzed each of the alternatives and their costs. They unanimously recommended the alternative now known as Measures A and B on the November ballot.

Supervisor's 'Duty' To Debate Kayfetz

Supervisor Vella of Sonoma County is shirking his duty in refusing to discuss the facts of the Warm Springs Dam swindle by hiding behind a barrage of wisecracks.

He either knows very little about this project he has been promoting, or is afraid to reveal the facts. Therefore, he has ducked out of a public debate with me that could clarify a lot of issues. (I am representing in court more than 300 Sonoma County residents who feel that the facts about this potentially disastrous project should be out in the open). . .

For more than $150 million of your taxes the Sonoma taxpayer is paying for a reservoir which will drain like a bathtub during the recreation season, leaving several square miles of mudflat around an ever-shrinking pool of water.

The water being drained from the reservoir will turn Sonoma County into wall-to-wall subdivisions with an 18-lane freeway passing through it.

For this you would vote to spend $150 million?

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Repeal Of Bonus Ripoff Victory For The People

By EARL G. WATERS

It was a last roundup. Having done little to distinguish itself, except to effect a long-overdue change in the speakership, the 1974 Legislature recessed in August. It left behind monumental stacks of unenacted proposals testifying to its failure to come to realistic grips with the problems of the state. But its greatest failure, as it turned out, was in not recognizing the mood of the voters' reaction to the disclosures of excessive benefits it had bestowed upon its members.

Newsmen had reported, spasmodically during the long two-year session and even before, on various abuses of taxpayer dollars by the lawmakers, such as the $30 a day, seven days a week, expense payments.

But AP reporter Evans Witt and the Sacramento Union's investigative reporter K. W. Lee turned the full spotlight on the excess fringe benefits.

FRESHMAN ASSEMBLYMAN Bob McLennan, R-Paramount, reacted, authoring a bill to repeal the early "pensions", and incurred the wrath of his colleagues. He became as popular as a skunk at a picnic. His bill was buried and when the legislature soon afterward adjourned, those who stood to receive the early retirement pay felt secure.

Realizing that once the pay started it would be "vested" and could not be curtailed, this columnist suggested Governor Reagan call the legislature into special session to repeal the unjustified payments. The idea was picked up editorially by the Sacramento Union and other newspapers. It provoked a deluge of mail. The heat from the aroused citizenry became too great.

Reagan summoned the lawmakers. They returned to Sacramento and amended their pension law to cut off the early benefits. Those leaving office must now wait until the normal retirement age before their pensions commence.

IT WAS IRONIC that former Speaker Bob Moretti saw fit to excoriate, in the foulest of language, AP reporter Witt for his part in bringing to light the early pensions. The irony was that Moretti had campaigned for governor on a platform of "restoring power to the people". His attack on Witt evidenced the phoniness of his campaign slogan. He really didn't want the people to have power. He didn't like it one little bit when they exercised that power.

Boston's Busing: Peaceful March

BOSTON (UPI) — About 1,000 blacks marched peaceably through Boston yesterday in the first pro-busing demonstration since the city's racially troubled schools opened under federal court orders to integrate.

It followed a weekend message from President Ford to the city's residents pleading for law and order.

Thomas I. Atkins, the executive director of the Boston NAACP, told the rally, "We hope the President understands that racism is as unacceptable in Boston as it is in Birmingham."

Schools are closed today for the Columbus Day holiday, and federal investigators begin probing possible civil rights violations tomorrow.

The yesterday demonstrators sang Negro spirituals and carried signs such as "Stop Racist Attacks" and "Freedom Now."

The demonstration began in the predominantly black Roxbury section, and the blacks marched three miles to Boston Common, where they were joined by several hundred whites in a rally supporting desegregation of the city's schools, as ordered by a federal court.

The marchers, many of them with young children in tow, sang and listened to speeches from black legislative and community leaders for about an hour before breaking up. Police reported no incidents or arrests.

Ford drew heavy criticism from Mayor Kevin H. White last week for disagreeing with U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity's order requiring the busing of many school children. He taped a radio message to Bostonians Saturday.

"It is up to you, every one of you, to reject hatred and the shrill voices of a violent few," said Ford, without specifically mentioning busing or White's criticism.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent termed the message "positive."

State Rep. Royal Bolling of Boston told the demonstrators that "there's nothing we can gain through retaliation" to white violence.

Specialists will begin on-the-spot investigations tomorrow of civil rights violations stemming from anti-busing activities.

A spokesman for the team, in a news conference Friday, said incidents such as the throwing of rocks at school buses could legally be interpreted as an attempt to interfere with federally protected activities.

He said the investigators already had files on 42 alleged violations and expected to develop more.

"The clearest example of such civil rights violations is rock-throwing," said federal attorney John Conroy.

"The stoning of buses in an attempt to intimidate the occupants into not going to school under the desegregation order is a violation of the Civil Rights Law, and, if an injury results, it's a felony."

Rails Firm Office Goes To Petaluma

The San Francisco district sales office of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad will open tomorrow at 200 Lakeville Street in Petaluma, site of the line's southern Sonoma freight terminal.

Northwestern Pacific, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific Railroad has as its main business lumber hauling, according to a company spokesman. Its tracks extend south from Eureka, joining the Southern Pacific's main line at Shellville.

Flournoy Claims Gain In Polls

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Houston I. Flournoy, Republican candidate for governor, said yesterday public opinion polls show he is catching up with his opponent, Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Flournoy and his daughter, Jean, 12, rode in the Columbus Day parade and attended a holiday Mass at SS. Peter and Paul Church in North Beach.

The California Poll last week showed that Flournoy was 11 percentage points behind Brown.

"Jerry was 14 points ahead in the poll before and he spent all that money on TV and didn't pick up a damn thing — he lost three points," Flournoy said.

"Brown's peaked," he said. "We haven't really started our TV spots, and they're going to help."

Operating Room Staffs Feared Exposed To Cancer, Birth Risks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is an increase in cancer and other disease rates among hospital operating room personnel and a report today said regular exposure to anesthetic gases appears to be the most likely cause.

A survey of 49,585 operating room personnel indicated that female anesthetists and nurses are the most vulnerable, particularly if they are pregnant.

"The results of the survey strongly suggest that working in the operating room (and, presumably, exposure to trace concentrations of anesthetic agents) entails a variety of health hazards for operating personnel and their offspring," Dr. Ellis N. Cohen, professor of anesthesia at the Stanford University Medical School, told a meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists.

The study found that women regularly exposed to anesthetic gases during the first three months of pregnancy and the year before suffer miscarriages at a rate 1.3 to 2 times the rate of unexposed women in a comparison group.

There also was evidence that female physician anesthetists have a two-fold increase in producing children with birth defects compared to female pediatricians not exposed to anesthetic cases. Operating room nurses had 60 per cent more children with birth defects, and there was a 25 per cent increase in birth defects in children of male anesthetists.

The study conducted by a seven-man committee of doctors found that women exposed to the operating room environment on a regular basis have a risk of developing some type of cancer 1.3 to 2 times greater than those in an unexposed group. However, no greater increase in cancer was discovered in males exposed to anesthetics.

Liver disease was found to be more frequent in operating room men and women and higher rates of kidney disease were reported in the women surveyed, but not the men.

Cohen emphasized that there is no firm proof that anesthetic gases that leak into the operating room are responsible for the higher disease rates.

"However, based on all the information gathered, the committee concludes that an increase in disease rates in operating room personnel is present, and that exposure to waste anesthetic gases in the operating room provides the most reasonable explanation," Cohen said.

The committee found that such gases are widely distributed throughout the operating room. The panel called for an increased effort to reduce gas leakage and remove anesthetic gases.

Lobbying Is Revealed For Nobel Peace Medal

OSLO (UPI) — The institute that awards the Nobel Peace Prize concedes a group of Japanese industrialists campaigned to get the award for former Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, but insists he would have won it anyway.

Tim Greve, director of the Norwegian Nobel Institute, said yesterday the 14-month public relations campaign had nothing to do with the eventual choice of Sato for the prestigious prize.

"It was quite a high activity, but not abnormally high," Greve said, commenting on the Japanese campaign for Sato. He added it was normal for national groups to support candidates for the peace prize.

Sato, 74, cited for his efforts to promote nonproliferation of nuclear weapons, was picked last Tuesday as co-winner of the 1974 award with former Irish Foreign Minister Sean MacBride.

The choice of MacBride was generally applauded, but reports of former U.N. ambassador Toshikazu Kase lobbying for Sato touched off a controversy over the former Japanese leader's selection.

Greve said Kase flew to Oslo earlier this year to lobby for Sato, but he denied that the institute had been influenced by the promotion efforts.

The Washington Post said Saturday 500 copies of Sato's collected speeches were translated into English and printed in book form because the Nobel Committee likes a candidate to write at least one book.

The newspaper said Kase served as ghostwriter for the book.

Sato defended his own selection in an interview yesterday with the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken.

"I missed no opportunity to speak for the cause of peace while I was prime minister," Sato said. "Now I only lack the Lenin Prize."

It was the second consecutive year in which the Peace Prize has run into controversy.

Last year, two of the five committee members resigned to protest the choice of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese peace negotiator Le Duc Tho.

Kissinger accepted the award, but Tho refused.

Brown Leads Flournoy In Race For Campaign Cash

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrat Edmund Brown Jr. has amassed a campaign warchest of more than $1.1 million to outdistance Republican gubernatorial opponent Houston I. Flournoy, who lists Nelson A. Rockefeller as one of his supporters.

Campaign reports made available Saturday show that Flournoy has raised approximately $900,000 to fight Brown as hundreds of "financial angels" have shelled out more than $2 million for the general election contest.

Financial benefactors from agribusiness—farmers, packing companies and ranchers— gave Flournoy at least $77,000, including a $23,500 contribution from the Western Growers Association.

Labor union officials swelled Brown's coffers by at least $132,000 with the biggest chunks —$35,000 apiece—coming from Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union and the United Auto Workers Union.

Rockefeller, the vice presidential nominee who has been questioned about large gifts to aides, chipped in $5,000 to Flournoy's campaign. Flournoy personally visited Rockefeller aides last month during a trip to the East Coast.

Brown picked up $16,000 from Richard Oneill and Lou Cella, Orange County friends of Democratic Nominee for Controller Ken Cory. The two "financial angels," as political aides call them, have dumped several hundred thousand dollars into Cory's campaign.

Not included in the statements were contributions made to the two candidates during the primary election when Brown's campaign collected $1.6 million and Flournoy's raised $1.2 million.

Many contributors, including recluse billionaire Howard Hughes, covered bets by giving to both campaigns.

Hughes contributed $5,000 to Flournoy and $1,600 to Brown. Twentieth Century Fox gave Flournoy $2,500, while Brown was given $2,200.

Both men received $10,000 each from the California Real Estate Association, while the California Dental Association shelled out $22,500 to the Republican effort and $12,500 to the Democratic campaign.

Flournoy also received more than $10,000 from backers of Gov. Ronald Reagan and $15,000 from James Garibaldi, a lobbyist for the liquor and racetrack industries.

Brown picked up a $50,000 loan from Joan Palevsky, the former wife of Xerox millionaire Max Palevsky. He also received $60,000 in loans and gifts from Auburn Manor Holding Co., owned by Southern California builder Martin Harmon.

Flournoy received $10,000 from Southern Pacific Railroad, $2,000 from Getty Oil, $11,500 from Tenneco and the use of a plane belonging to the Fat City Cattle Co., of Monterey, worth $100.

Brown took in $7,500 from World Airways of Oakland, $1,000 from the California Retail Liquor Dealers Association, and $1,000 from the Chinese Herb and Acupuncture Co. and $1,000 from Peter O'Malley, president of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Both candidates have agreed to limit media advertising expenditures to $900,000 while general expenses have not been limited. Both raised far more than they spent during the initial campaign reporting period for the Nov. 5 election.

The next campaign reports will be due just before and then after the election.

Yorty Loses His Broadcast Job

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former Mayor Sam Yorty is out of another job.

Yorty, who has hosted a morning call-in talk show on radio station KGBS, went off the air during the weekend because the station wanted to change its programming format to general country music.

Yorty, who was mayor for 12 years, was ousted by Tom Bradley, the first black to hold the city's highest elected office, in 1973.

The former mayor was said to be scheduled to return to the air on another station.

Relief Supplies Claimed Sold On Black Market

MIAMI (UPI) — A team of American medical missionaries just returned from Honduras has charged that American relief supplies airlifted to the hurricane-ravaged Central American nation are being confiscated by government officials and later sold in the black market, the Miami Herald reported today.

The newspaper said the charges were made by a Cocoa, Fla., surgeon, his wife, a registered nurse, and two other medical missionaries who arrived in Miami this weekend after spending two weeks in Honduras.

Honduran officials have denied the allegations.

"The higher-ups are taking supplies for themselves to sell," said Dr. Edward Austin. "Our interpreters told us the officials would hold the food and when the bad times hit sell it back to the people at the price of gold, was the way they put it."

Mrs. Austin said she also saw a visiting Nicaraguan Red Cross team stealing relief clothes for their own use and also to lure girls.

The Herald said other accounts of irregularities in coordinating the relief supply efforts were reported by Richard Wise, a former army hospital administrator, and Judy Biery, a Cape Canaveral, Fla., surgical nurse, who accompanied the Austins on the medical mission sponsored by the congregation of St. Marks Episcopal Church in Cocoa.

NOTICE ANNUAL FALL DEBRIS PICKUP SERVICE TOWN OF FAIRFAX

The Fairfax Garbage Disposal Company will have a free pickup of debris in Fairfax on their regular routes during the period October 28, 1974 through November 1, 1974. This service will be provided to paid up customers only on their regular pickup day.

Tiburon Girls Play Soccer —And Well—Against Boys

By PAT BALMES

Surprised that so many girls signed up for soccer this season, Tiburon Peninsula Soccer League coaches are learning that pre-teen girls can play as rough as boys of the same age.

The new parent-run 16-team league has four girls' teams this season; 240 children complete in weekly matches.

The European sport is exploding all over the United States, and the girls want to play too.

Girls' coordination develops earlier and they put on more meat than boys do at from 9 to 13, according to Seals (girls) coach Howard Lee Hunt, a Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary student who was a college soccer player.

Last Saturday it was the girls against the boys when the Trojans (girls) met the Cougars (boys) in the weekly soccer matches at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

In shin guards and outsized uniforms, the little girls looked determined and aggressive. Their attitude seemed to say, "We can so play soccer as well as the boys."

Well, almost as well. The Cougars triumphed, 3-0. But wait until next Saturday.

"In Europe, soccer is far ahead. Here, it is just beginning. It's a lot of work, but it goes," said Trojan coach Charlotte Rutter with satisfaction. The Swiss national, who is staying with the William Hambrecht family in Belvedere for a year, played on Swiss soccer teams for eight years.

Cougar coach Patricia Farley of Tiburon played in a women's soccer league in Southern California. With her husband Leen, she coached in the American Youth Soccer Organization, a statewide league.

"Soccer stresses sportsmanship. There is no best player; they win as a unit," said Mrs. Farley, the mother of four children. There are no benchwarmers in the league; the rules require every team member to play.

Interviewed on the sidelines at Saturday's soccer matches, head referee John Maillard of Tiburon, chairman of the league's organization committee, told how the girls' interest in soccer evolved.

Last year a girl and boy convinced the Tiburon Parks and Recreation commissioners to give them $250 to start a soccer league, which Maillard organized on a limited basis, he said.

Maillard was a semi-professional soccer player in both Swiss junior and major leagues. As a youth he sometimes played soccer in one European country in the mornings before flying to another to play that afternoon, he mentioned.

"The first year some girls joined the boys' teams out of defiance. The boys did not want to play with girls, but it was a requirement," Maillard said. "It developed that the girls were mostly the best players."

At a crucial game late in the first season, the goalie had not arrived by five minutes to game time. Her teammates were frantic.

"Where is she? What happened to her?" the boys asked Maillard.

"What do you care?" the coach replied. "You did not want her to play."

"But she is good," the boys cried.

This year the girls did not want to play on the boys' teams, but wanted their own. They were convinced they could compete directly with the boys without changing the rules. They convinced the coaches too.

"The insurance man was surprised. Girls playing against boys might create a different type of challenge — more risky," Maillard said. The coach was able to convince the agent that, with proper coaching, there was no reason to be alarmed about girls competing against boys.

"I think the girls are going to be tough on the boys," Maillard remarked. "At 13 they are physically superior, bigger and more aggressive."

Pemberton's Advice Available To Public

By BETH ASHLEY

Richard Nixon, who "could have used it," didn't accept help when offered from Dr. William Pemberton of Mill Valley, a psychologist who believes he has a workable system for bettering human relationships.

Look what happened to Richard Nixon.

Pemberton is now offering help to married couples who want to stop damaging their relationships by over-reaction and learn how to achieve a home life of caring and respect.

He is donating his services in a series of talks on three Thursdays this month, Oct. 17, 24, and 31, at the College of Marin Theater as a fund-raiser sponsored by the Founders Auxiliary of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers.

He calls the human effort to maintain equilibrium "homeotasis," the attempt to protect one's self by attacking another. He compares it to the action taken by body mechanisms to protect themselves.

What is fatal to human bodies is over-reaction. When the body receives a burn, for example, fluids rush to the burned area to heal and protect it. When too many fluids are produced, the body dies.

Pemberton tries to prevent this kind of over-reaction in human relationships, and offers a number of formulae to combat it.

A burn is an assault on an individual's physical homeostasis. A word attack by another person is an assault on the homeostasis of a person's emotional being.

How does a person react?

The "lowest form" of reaction is to "clam up," says Dr. Pemberton. A higher order of response is counterattack. Still more sophisticated is to laugh, or avoid the attack by some other evasion.

But none of these responses is satisfactory, says Dr. Pemberton.

Better, he says, to acknowledge the attack ("You seem to think I've been a stinker"), to state your own feelings about it ("I don't really think I have been") and then to decide what to do about it (either "But if you feel that way, I'll try to stop," or, "I'm going to continue behaving this way because it's important to me.")

Conflicts are inevitable, says Dr. Pemberton, but with skill, one can keep them from escalating.

"We try to get people aware

Breast Cancer Tape Message

A tape-recorded message on breast cancer and how to recognize it is being offered by telephone by the Sonoma County Medical Association in cooperation with the American Cancer Society of Sonoma County.

The message on breast cancer is one of four which callers may request. The other three deal with cancer of the colon and rectum, cancer's seven warning signals, and "Cancer — The Curable Disease."

Callers in the Petaluma area may dial 795-9091 to hear the messages. The service is a free service of the medical association and cancer society of Sonoma County.

ON THE AGENDA

Modern Art To Be Discussed In Tiburon By Ada Garfinkel

Independent-Journal art critic Ada Garfinkel will speak at a luncheon meeting at 11:30 a.m. of the St. Hilary's Women's Club at Lydon Hall of St. Hilary's Catholic Church in Tiburon on Friday.

The luncheon will benefit the church's fund to build a parish library.

Art by members of the National League of Pen Women will be on sale at the luncheon. Among works to be sold inexpensively, said luncheon chairman Anna Allsman, are five by seven inch oil paintings on easels which will constitute table decorations.

Mrs. Allsman is also president of the Golden Gate Branch of the pen women's organization. She said the group gives a scholarship each year to a young woman in the music, art or writing fields. Proceeds of the art sale will go to the scholarship fund.

Mrs. Garfinkel's talk will be on modern art — what it is, and what makes it art.

MARIN COUNTY Retired Officers' Wives' Club will have a luncheon Wednesday at noon at the Old Viking restaurant in Lagunitas.

Hostesses will be Marjorie Lupton of Olema and Vera Lawler of San Rafael. Jean Cerwin of Mill Valley and Helen Sheehy of San Rafael are reservations chairman.

MARIN CHAPTER, National Organization for Women, will have a party Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Marin Women's Center at the Young Women's Christian Association in San Rafael.

The party will be for chapter members and members of national NOW, who are not affiliated with a chapter.

Slides depicting sexism in cartoons, which have appeared in newspapers and magazines, will be shown.

JERRY EDINGER, host of the "Nightwatch" program on radio station KEAR, will speak to members of the Santa Rosa Christian Women's Club Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Los Robles Lodge in Santa Rosa.

Chairman is Del Hagman of

LASTING TRIBUTE TO LEAGUE FOUNDERS

A fragile young broadleaf maple tree and the shovel with which it was planted sit, alone, following planting ceremonies at the "Founders Grove" of Angel Island State Park. Four such trees were planted Saturday in honor of the founders of the Marin Conservation League at the 40th anniversary celebration at the island. More than 100 league members gathered for a picnic honoring the organization's founders, Sepha Evers and the late Caroline S. Livermore, Helen Van Pelt and Portia Forbes.

Boston's Busing: Peaceful March

BOSTON (UPI) — About 1,000 blacks marched peaceably through Boston yesterday in the first pro-busing demonstration since the city's racially troubled schools opened under federal court orders to integrate.

It followed a weekend message from President Ford to the city's residents pleading for law and order.

Thomas I. Atkins, the executive director of the Boston NAACP, told the rally, "We hope the President understands that racism is as unacceptable in Boston as it is in Birmingham."

Schools are closed today for the Columbus Day holiday, and federal investigators begin probing possible civil rights violations tomorrow.

The yesterday demonstrators sang Negro spirituals and carried signs such as "Stop Racist Attacks" and "Freedom Now."

The demonstration began in the predominantly black Roxbury section, and the blacks marched three miles to Boston Common, where they were joined by several hundred whites in a rally supporting desegregation of the city's schools, as ordered by a federal court.

The marchers, many of them with young children in tow, sang and listened to speeches from black legislative and community leaders for about an hour before breaking up. Police reported no incidents or arrests.

Ford drew heavy criticism from Mayor Kevin H. White last week for disagreeing with U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity's order requiring the busing of many school children. He taped a radio message to Bostonians Saturday.

"It is up to you, every one of you, to reject hatred and the shrill voices of a violent few," said Ford, without specifically mentioning busing or White's criticism.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent termed the message "positive."

State Rep. Royal Bolling of Boston told the demonstrators that "there's nothing we can gain through retaliation" to white violence.

Specialists will begin on-the-spot investigations tomorrow of civil rights violations stemming from anti-busing activities.

A spokesman for the team, in a news conference Friday, said incidents such as the throwing of rocks at school buses could legally be interpreted as an attempt to interfere with federally protected activities.

He said the investigators already had files on 42 alleged violations and expected to develop more.

"The clearest example of such civil rights violations is rock-throwing," said federal attorney John Conroy.

"The stoning of buses in an attempt to intimidate the occupants into not going to school under the desegregation order is a violation of the Civil Rights Law, and, if an injury results, it's a felony."

Rails Firm Office Goes To Petaluma

The San Francisco district sales office of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad will open tomorrow at 200 Lakeville Street in Petaluma, site of the line's southern Sonoma freight terminal.

The office, which had been located at Northwestern Pacific's San Francisco headquarters at 1 Market Street, is being moved to provide better service to customers, according to general traffic representative George Furosich. It will be manned by district traffic representative Wayne Luck of Novato.

Northwestern Pacific, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific Railroad has as its main business lumber hauling, according to a company spokesman. Its tracks extend south from Eureka, joining the Southern Pacific's main line at Shellville.

Flournoy Claims Gain In Polls

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Houston I. Flournoy, Republican candidate for governor, said yesterday public opinion polls show he is catching up with his opponent, Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Flournoy and his daughter, Jean, 12, rode in the Columbus Day parade and attended a holiday Mass at SS. Peter and Paul Church in North Beach.

The California Poll last week showed that Flournoy was 11 percentage points behind Brown.

"Jerry was 14 points ahead in the poll before and he spent all that money on TV and didn't pick up a damn thing — he lost three points," Flournoy said.

"Brown's peaked," he said. "We haven't really started our TV spots, and they're going to help."

Operating Room Staffs Feared Exposed To Cancer, Birth Risks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is an increase in cancer and other disease rates among hospital operating room personnel and a report today said regular exposure to anesthetic gases appears to be the most likely cause.

A survey of 49,585 operating room personnel indicated that female anesthetists and nurses are the most vulnerable, particularly if they are pregnant.

"The results of the survey strongly suggest that working in the operating room (and, presumably, exposure to trace concentrations of anesthetic agents) entails a variety of health hazards for operating personnel and their offspring," Dr. Ellis N. Cohen, professor of anesthesia at the Stanford University Medical School, told a meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists.

The study found that women regularly exposed to anesthetic gases during the first three months of pregnancy and the year before suffer miscarriages at a rate 1.3 to 2 times the rate of unexposed women in a comparison group.

There also was evidence that female physician anesthetists have a two-fold increase in producing children with birth defects compared to female pediatricians not exposed to anesthetic cases. Operating room nurses had 60 per cent more children with birth defects, and there was a 25 per cent increase in birth defects in children of male anesthetists.

The study conducted by a seven-man committee of doctors found that women exposed to the operating room environment on a regular basis have a risk of developing some type of cancer 1.3 to 2 times greater than those in an unexposed group. However, no greater increase in cancer was discovered in males exposed to anesthetics.

Liver disease was found to be more frequent in operating room men and women and higher rates of kidney disease were reported in the women surveyed, but not the men.

Cohen emphasized that there is no firm proof that anesthetic gases that leak into the operating room are responsible for the higher disease rates.

"However, based on all the information gathered, the committee concludes that an increase in disease rates in operating room personnel is present, and that exposure to waste anesthetic gases in the operating room provides the most reasonable explanation," Cohen said.

The committee found that such gases are widely distributed throughout the operating room. The panel called for an increased effort to reduce gas leakage and remove anesthetic gases.

Lobbying Is Revealed For Nobel Peace Medal

OSLO (UPI) — The institute that awards the Nobel Peace Prize concedes a group of Japanese industrialists campaigned to get the award for former Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, but insists he would have won it anyway.

Tim Greve, director of the Norwegian Nobel Institute, said yesterday the 14-month public relations campaign had nothing to do with the eventual choice of Sato for the prestigious prize.

"It was quite a high activity, but not abnormally high," Greve said, commenting on the Japanese campaign for Sato. He added it was normal for national groups to support candidates for the peace prize.

Sato, 74, cited for his efforts to promote nonproliferation of nuclear weapons, was picked last Tuesday as co-winner of the 1974 award with former Irish Foreign Minister Sean MacBride.

The choice of MacBride was generally applauded, but reports of former U.N. ambassador Toshikazu Kase lobbying for Sato touched off a controversy over the former Japanese leader's selection.

Greve said Kase flew to Oslo earlier this year to lobby for Sato, but he denied that the institute had been influenced by the promotion efforts.

The Washington Post said Saturday 500 copies of Sato's collected speeches were translated into English and printed in book form because the Nobel Committee likes a candidate to write at least one book.

The newspaper said Kase served as ghostwriter for the book.

Sato defended his own selection in an interview yesterday with the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken.

"I missed no opportunity to speak for the cause of peace while I was prime minister," Sato said. "Now I only lack the Lenin Prize."

It was the second consecutive year in which the Peace Prize has run into controversy.

Last year, two of the five committee members resigned to protest the choice of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese peace negotiator Le Duc Tho.

Kissinger accepted the award, but Tho refused.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Broken Marriage Better Than Broken Life For This Woman

DEAR HELEN:

My husband gets his kicks from belittling me. The minute anyone walks through our door, he starts in on his "stupid wife" — how badly I cook, look, eat, talk, etc. It's his way of making an impression.

He's like that about all women, calling them floozies or fools behind their backs. But he sure butters them up to their faces. He "undresses" them with his stares. I've heard women call him weird.

He shows no affection for me, his idea being that "dames" are only good for bed. A kiss or a hug is wasted effort.

He's completely selfish, throws temper fits that frighten me, never compliments, expects me to jump to his commands, and never, but never must I bother him with small talk. At the dinner table, he's deep in his newspaper, and then he flops on the davenport and watches TV all evening, even if we have company (his friends).

When we were married four years ago, my friends wondered if I was crazy. I'm beginning to see they were right. I'm outgoing and considered attractive, but I'm fast losing my confidence. Love has turned to hate.

You'll suggest a marriage counselor, but he screams and swears he doesn't need any nut examining him, and all psychologists are nuts. To be honest, he's probably as unhappy as I am.

I don't believe in divorce (though my religion doens't forbid it). So what shall I do? — END OF MY ROPE

DEAR END:

I think you'd better revise your ideas about divorce! There are many fates worse than a broken marriage —for example, a broken life.

Apparently you bring out the worst in each other, and you'd both be happier apart. Why prolong the suffering? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

It's my unbelievable luck to find the perfect woman — and find that she loves me too.

That's the good news. The bad news is that she was formerly married to an All-American who became a professional football star and is now a wealthy businessman. They divorced five years ago, when she was in her 30s. She seldom mentions him, but I'm still competing.

Does a college professor have a chance against a brawny, brainy ghost? — T.J.M.

P.S. I'm not in the habit of writing to columnists for advice, but you come across more as a colleague and friend who could offer encouragement. Thanks!

DEAR T.J.M.

You're looking at this brawny All-American with man's eyes. A woman who has lived with him knows the flaws behind the macho. In her eyes, it's apparent you are the real man. Believe her when she tells you this and you'll soon outgrow your fears of ghosts. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My friend is one of those guys who brags, "At home, I'm married. On the road, I'm not." After one of his swinging weeks in San Francisco, he came back to a wife who announced she was going to Baja California with "a friend" during his next out-of-town trip. Since she doesn't question him, he can't come right out and ask her who the friend is. It's driving him nuts. Should he just let her go, or put his foot down? — FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:

This couple needs a showdown! When a meandering gander meets his match in a (finally) saucy goose, something's got to give — and it just might be his swingin' weeks away from home! — H.

P.S. It's half-past communication time —so why don't you talk to your wife, "Friend"?

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

MR. AND MRS. TOM DAY
Wedding trip to Mexico
(Photo by Jack Fulton)

Newlyweds On Trip To Puerto Vallarta

Newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Tom Day are on a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, following their marriage Saturday at Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

The bride is the former Susan Newberry, daughter of Hazel B. Newberry of Larkspur and the late John B. Newberry.

Diane Fulton of San Rafael was her sister's matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Dorothy Gregorowicz of Fairfax and Stephanie Fulton of San Rafael.

Michael Gomez of Mill Valley was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brothers, Dick and Jack Newberry of Larkspur.

A reception in the church social hall followed the ceremony.

Susan was graduated from Redwood High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed by Southern Pacific Railroad.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benton A. Day of Mill Valley. A graduate of Tamalpais High School he is employed by the Golden Gate Bridge District. Deanna Jones of San Rafael is his sister, and he is the grandson of Maude Miller of Goleta and Benton A. Day of Priest River, Idaho.

Lee Battat Wins Second Term As P-TA President

Lee Battat of San Rafael has been elected to a second term as president of the Santa Venetia Middle School Parent-Teacher Association.

The P-TA sponsored a family-teacher picnic at McNear's Park on Sept. 23 and on Oct. 19 will have a flea market at the school. Plans for the spring include a parent-son night, and throughout the school year the P-TA sponsors hot dog days, ice cream days and dances for seventh and eighth grade students.

Other officers are Lorry Lazarini, vice president; Herb Witt, second vice president; Barbara Skubic, corresponding secretary; Faye Blatt, recording secretary; Margaret Wolters, treasurer; Betty Albertini, historian; and Ellie Zengler, parliamentarian.

Help Sought By Symphony

Volunteers are being sought by the Marin Symphony Association to help with various projects during the coming season.

Help is needed in the association's office typing and filing; to sell business and personal memberships serve on committees for special events, distribute posters and brochures, do art work, and take photographs.

Those wishing to volunteer should contact Thelma Schultz at the Marin Symphony Association, Box 127 in San Rafael.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale to benefit San Rafael Assembly 195 of the Rainbow Girls is planned Friday and Saturday at the First Methodist Church on Miracle Mile in San Rafael.

Hours will be Friday from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Chairman of the event is Judy Brichetto.

A. M. Series Opens Friday

Lori March and Alexander Scourby will be open the 1974-75 A. M. series Friday with a program, "It Started with Adam and Eve." The program, at 10:30 a.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, will be preceded by a coffee hour.

They will draw from the prose and poetry of Mark Twain, Lord Byron, Anton Chekhov, Dorothy Parker, Robert Frost and others, also using medieval ballads, to build a program about love.

Tickets for the five part series are abailable at the Marin Box Office.

Stephanie Johnstad Is Married

Stephanie Elizabeth Johnstad of Fairfax and Mark A. Barone of San Anselmo were wed Saturday at Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish in Corte Madera. A reception followed the ceremony at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Stephanie, the daughter of Jack Johnstad of Fairfax, chose her sister, Roberta Johnstad of Fairfax, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids at the wedding were Michelle Pretes, of San Anselmo the bridegroom's sister; Debbie Nawrath of San Rafael; and Janet Stickney of San Anselmo.

Aaron Friesen of Fairfax was best man, and ushering guests to their seats were Jason Marden of Lagunitas, Kari Peek of San Rafael and Remson Benedict of Mill Valley.

The newlyweds plan to live in San Anselmo after a trip touring California ghost towns.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the College of Marin. She is the granddaughter of Melina Brooks and the great granddaughter of Stefanja Seroczynska, both of Alameda.

Mark, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pretes of San Anselmo, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended the College of Marin. He is employed with Romulus Restaurant in San Rafael.

Mark is the grandson of Doris Wattie of El Sobrante and Addie Drowne of Vermont.

He is also the brother of Reina Barone of San Francisco and Kelly Pretes of San Anselmo.

Speech Set On Violence, Children, TV

Sally Williams will speak on "Violence: Children and Television" tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Her talk is the second in the four part series, "SOS—Stress in Our Society," sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health.

The speaker is the executive director of the Committee on Children's Television. She will discuss studies regarding the effects of program content on children and offer positive recommendations for parents.

A 15-minute film, "But First This Message," will precede the talk.

San Mateo Coastline Tour Set Oct. 27

The Young Women's Christian Association will sponsor a tour along the San Mateo County coastline Oct. 27.

Reservations can be made with the Marin YWCA, 1618 Mission Avenue in San Rafael.

Those going on the tour from Marin will be picked up at the Marin YWCA at 8:15 a.m.

Included on the tour will be stops at beaches and state parks, Pillar Point, Princeton Harbor, Half Moon Bay and a new crafts center, Spanishtown.

Jennifer Johnsen Heads P-TA

Jennifer Johnsen of Fort Baker in Sausalito is the new president of Bayside-King Parent-Teacher Association.

The wife of Dennis O. Johnsen, a veterinarian in the U.S. Army, and mother of Gregory, 10, Stanley, 8, and Cynthia, 7, Mrs. Johnsen believes the P-TA should "bring the home and school closer together so that parents and teachers can cooperate intelligently in the education of children."

Objectives of her presidency are to enlarge the volunteer program in the classroom, continue landscaping of Martin Luther King School, continue and broaden the P-TA subsidized cultural arts field trip program, she said.

Mrs. Johnsen is a member of the Presidio Yacht Club and Letterman Wives Club. Her hobbies are sailing, music, reading, arts and crafts.

She was born in Oakland, attended Smith College, was graduated from the University of California at Davis and did graduate work at Ohio State University.

Catholic Daughters Day Set Sunday

At the request of Court St. Raphael 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, Mayor C. Paul Bettini has designated next Sunday as National Catholic Daughters of America Day in San Rafael.

For the occasion members of the court will attend mass at 10:30 a.m. at St. Raphael's Church. A breakfast at Le Chalet Basque restaurant will follow.

Scottish Dancers Schedule Party

Mill Valley's Scottish Country Dancers, the largest such group in the Bay Area, will don kilts and tartan sashes Saturday night for their fourth annual dinner dance at the Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Hilda Gotcher of Mill Valley is coordinator of the event.

Most of the group's 60 members are expected to attend, according to Bill (Scotty) MacAulay of San Rafael, one of its founders.

The group began in 1968, meeting first in Hammond Hall at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley. Still attending among the 27 charter members are MacAulay and his wife Peg, Elsie Robertson of Burlingame, Patrick Jordan of San Francisco, Warren and Norah Lee of Corte Madera and Dick and Hilda Gotcher, residents of Mill Valley.

Meetings — which are devoted to instruction and dancing — are now held every Friday evening at Almonte Hall.

The group is a branch of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Unlike the folk dances of many European countries, Scotland's national dances were never confined to any one class of society and therefore are not properly called folk dances.

They are performed in groups of eight.

"Because we wear soft slippers for the dancing," MacAulay said, "we must have a wooden floor" such as is found at Corinthian.

Tiburon Girls Play Soccer —And Well—Against Boys

By PAT BALMES

Surprised that so many girls signed up for soccer this season, Tiburon Peninsula Soccer League coaches are learning that pre-teen girls can play as rough as boys of the same age.

The new parent-run 16-team league has four girls' teams this season; 240 children complete in weekly matches.

The European sport is exploding all over the United States, and the girls want to play too.

Girls' coordination develops earlier and they put on more meat than boys do at from 9 to 13, according to Seals (girls) coach Howard Lee Hunt, a Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary student who was a college soccer player.

Last Saturday it was the girls against the boys when the Trojans (girls) met the Cougars (boys) in the weekly soccer matches at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

In shin guards and outsized uniforms, the little girls looked determined and aggressive. Their attitude seemed to say, "We can so play soccer as well as the boys."

Well, almost as well. The Cougars triumphed, 3-0. But wait until next Saturday.

"In Europe, soccer is far ahead. Here, it is just beginning. It's a lot of work, but it goes," said Trojan coach Charlotte Rutter with satisfaction. The Swiss national, who is staying with the William Hambrecht family in Belvedere for a year, played on Swiss soccer teams for eight years.

Cougar coach Patricia Farley of Tiburon played in a women's soccer league in Southern California. With her husband Leen, she coached in the American Youth Soccer Organization, a statewide league.

"Soccer stresses sportsmanship. There is no best player; they win as a unit," said Mrs. Farley, the mother of four children. There are no benchwarmers in the league; the rules require every team member to play.

Interviewed on the sidelines at Saturday's soccer matches, head referee John Maillard of Tiburon, chairman of the league's organization committee, told how the girls' interest in soccer evolved.

Last year a girl and boy convinced the Tiburon Parks and Recreation commissioners to give them $250 to start a soccer league, which Maillard organized on a limited basis, he said.

Maillard was a semi-professional soccer player in both Swiss junior and major leagues. As a youth he sometimes played soccer in one European country in the mornings before flying to another to play that afternoon, he mentioned.

"The first year some girls joined the boys' teams out of defiance. The boys did not want to play with girls, but it was a requirement," Maillard said. "It developed that the girls were mostly the best players."

At a crucial game late in the first season, the goalie had not arrived by five minutes to game time. Her teammates were frantic.

"Where is she? What happened to her?" the boys asked Maillard.

"What do you care?" the coach replied. "You did not want her to play."

"But she is good," the boys cried.

This year the girls did not want to play on the boys' teams, but wanted their own. They were convinced they could compete directly with the boys without changing the rules. They convinced the coaches too.

"The insurance man was surprised. Girls playing against boys might create a different type of challenge — more risky," Maillard said. The coach was able to convince the agent that, with proper coaching, there was no reason to be alarmed about girls competing against boys.

"I think the girls are going to be tough on the boys," Maillard remarked. "At 13 they are physically superior, bigger and more aggressive."

Pemberton's Advice Available To Public

By BETH ASHLEY

Richard Nixon, who "could have used it," didn't accept help when offered from Dr. William Pemberton of Mill Valley, a psychologist who believes he has a workable system for bettering human relationships.

Look what happened to Richard Nixon.

Pemberton is now offering help to married couples who want to stop damaging their relationships by over-reaction and learn how to achieve a home life of caring and respect.

He is donating his services in a series of talks on three Thursdays this month, Oct. 17, 24, and 31, at the College of Marin Theater as a fund-raiser sponsored by the Founders Auxiliary of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers.

He calls the human effort to maintain equilibrium "homeotasis," the attempt to protect one's self by attacking another. He compares it to the action taken by body mechanisms to protect themselves.

What is fatal to human bodies is over-reaction. When the body receives a burn, for example, fluids rush to the burned area to heal and protect it. When too many fluids are produced, the body dies.

Pemberton tries to prevent this kind of over-reaction in human relationships, and offers a number of formulae to combat it.

A burn is an assault on an individual's physical homeostasis. A word attack by another person is an assault on the homeostasis of a person's emotional being.

How does a person react?

The "lowest form" of reaction is to "clam up," says Dr. Pemberton. A higher order of response is counterattack. Still more sophisticated is to laugh, or avoid the attack by some other evasion.

But none of these responses is satisfactory, says Dr. Pemberton.

Better, he says, to acknowledge the attack ("You seem to think I've been a stinker"), to state your own feelings about it ("I don't really think I have been") and then to decide what to do about it (either "But if you feel that way, I'll try to stop," or, "I'm going to continue behaving this way because it's important to me.")

Conflicts are inevitable, says Dr. Pemberton, but with skill, one can keep them from escalating.

"We try to get people aware

Breast Cancer Tape Message

A tape-recorded message on breast cancer and how to recognize it is being offered by telephone by the Sonoma County Medical Association in cooperation with the American Cancer Society of Sonoma County.

The message on breast cancer is one of four which callers may request. The other three deal with cancer of the colon and rectum, cancer's seven warning signals, and "Cancer — The Curable Disease."

Callers in the Petaluma area may dial 795-9091 to hear the messages. The service is a free service of the medical association and cancer society of Sonoma County.

ON THE AGENDA

Modern Art To Be Discussed In Tiburon By Ada Garfinkel

Independent-Journal art critic Ada Garfinkel will speak at a luncheon meeting at 11:30 a.m. of the St. Hilary's Women's Club at Lydon Hall of St. Hilary's Catholic Church in Tiburon on Friday.

The luncheon will benefit the church's fund to build a parish library.

Art by members of the National League of Pen Women will be on sale at the luncheon. Among works to be sold inexpensively, said luncheon chairman Anna Allsman, are five by seven inch oil paintings on easels which will constitute table decorations.

Mrs. Allsman is also president of the Golden Gate Branch of the pen women's organization. She said the group gives a scholarship each year to a young woman in the music, art or writing fields. Proceeds of the art sale will go to the scholarship fund.

Mrs. Garfinkel's talk will be on modern art — what it is, and what makes it art.

MARIN COUNTY Retired Officers' Wives' Club will have a luncheon Wednesday at noon at the Old Viking restaurant in Lagunitas.

Hostesses will be Marjorie Lupton of Olema and Vera Lawler of San Rafael. Jean Cerwin of Mill Valley and Helen Sheehy of San Rafael are reservations chairman.

MARIN CHAPTER, National Organization for Women, will have a party Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Marin Women's Center at the Young Women's Christian Association in San Rafael.

The party will be for chapter members and members of national NOW, who are not affiliated with a chapter.

Slides depicting sexism in cartoons, which have appeared in newspapers and magazines, will be shown.

JERRY EDINGER, host of the "Nightwatch" program on radio station KEAR, will speak to members of the Santa Rosa Christian Women's Club Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Los Robles Lodge in Santa Rosa.

Chairman is Del Hagman of

of their own involvement in an attack, to acknowledge that there's something they have done that has prompted the attack, no matter how blameless they feel. We must see that we are the partial authors of every insult."

(The husband comes home in high spirits from a triumphant day at the office. The wife is dog-tired and depressed after a hard day of malfunctioning household appliances and misbehaving kids. The husband starts to say something cheerful — and he has "insulted" his wife. His very cheerfulness is insulting to her. He is "partial author of the insult.")

"The chief antidote to human anger is information," says Pemberton. "If we reach out to try to get information, we can't stay angry."

If cheerful husband and tired wife try to inform themselves about the other's mood, acknowledge it, express their own feelings about it, and consider whether or not to postpone expression of their own cheerfulness or tiredness, they have the tools to avoid conflict.

It was Richard Nixon's refusla to acknowledge his feelings and to share them with others that made his relationship with the public so abysmal, Pemberton said.

He cited the time when a newsman said during a televised press conference, "Mr. Nixon, you look angry," and the former president's response was something like, "I'm not angry, I only get angry at people I respect."

"Perfect example of the counter-attack," says Dr. Pemberton. "He should have said, 'You're darn right I'm angry, I'm really pissed at all of you,' and 200,000 people would have relaxed."

Information, he said, is "the highest priority of the American people." Nixon outraged the people by refusing to acknowledge it, resorting instead to claims of executive privilege.

"When I was in Washington, I sent him a note offering my help," Pemberton reports. "I never heard from him."

His help is available to the public (enrollment limited to 200 persons) at the Thursday series; tickets may be obtained at the College of Marin Theater box office or through the Volunteer Office at Marin General Hospital.

Dr. Pemberton received his bachelor of arts at the University of Washington, did graduate work in sociology at the University of Bucharest in Rumania and in psychology at Columbia University before receiving his PHD in psychology and education from University of California in Berkeley. He was a member of the faculty of the College of Marin for 20 years until 1970.

He conducts management training programs for federal, state and private agencies and for business and industry in addition to his lectures on semantics, communication and human relations.

Third Of Blacks Said To Be Hypertensive

An estimated one-third of the black population in the U.S. is "either hypertensive or potentially hypertensive," Dr. Michael Williams of New York City's Harlem Hospital Medical Center has reported. Hypertension is the medical term for high blood pressure.

The severity of high blood pressure in blacks cannot be overemphasized, added Dr. Richard A. Williams, assistant medical director, Martin Luther King Jr. General Hospital, Los Angeles, at a program for physicians last November.

"Strokes occur in black hypertensives at an earlier age and are more often fatal on the first occurrence," he said. "Likewise, congestive heart failure, secondary to hypertension, is much more severe in the black patient as compared to the white patient."

What They Wear On Campus Today

Glamour magazine polled 1,000 college women on campuses across the country to find out what they wear to class on a typical day.

Wearing rings, an average of three, was the most universal trend with 81.2 per cent. HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Broken Marriage Better Than Broken Life For This Woman

DEAR HELEN:

My husband gets his kicks from belittling me. The minute anyone walks through our door, he starts in on his "stupid wife" — how badly I cook, look, eat, talk, etc. It's his way of making an impression.

He's like that about all women, calling them floozies or fools behind their backs. But he sure butters them up to their faces. He "undresses" them with his stares. I've heard women call him weird.

He shows no affection for me, his idea being that "dames" are only good for bed. A kiss or a hug is wasted effort.

He's completely selfish, throws temper fits that frighten me, never compliments, expects me to jump to his commands, and never, but never must I bother him with small talk. At the dinner table, he's deep in his newspaper, and then he flops on the davenport and watches TV all evening, even if we have company (his friends).

When we were married four years ago, my friends wondered if I was crazy. I'm beginning to see they were right. I'm outgoing and considered attractive, but I'm fast losing my confidence. Love has turned to hate.

You'll suggest a marriage counselor, but he screams and swears he doesn't need any nut examining him, and all psychologists are nuts. To be honest, he's probably as unhappy as I am.

I don't believe in divorce (though my religion doens't forbid it). So what shall I do? — END OF MY ROPE

DEAR END:

I think you'd better revise your ideas about divorce! There are many fates worse than a broken marriage —for example, a broken life.

Apparently you bring out the worst in each other, and you'd both be happier apart. Why prolong the suffering? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

It's my unbelievable luck to find the perfect woman — and find that she loves me too.

That's the good news. The bad news is that she was formerly married to an All-American who became a professional football star and is now a wealthy businessman. They divorced five years ago, when she was in her 30s. She seldom mentions him, but I'm still competing.

Does a college professor have a chance against a brawny, brainy ghost? — T.J.M.

P.S. I'm not in the habit of writing to columnists for advice, but you come across more as a colleague and friend who could offer encouragement. Thanks!

DEAR T.J.M.

You're looking at this brawny All-American with man's eyes. A woman who has lived with him knows the flaws behind the macho. In her eyes, it's apparent you are the real man. Believe her when she tells you this and you'll soon outgrow your fears of ghosts. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My friend is one of those guys who brags, "At home, I'm married. On the road, I'm not." After one of his swinging weeks in San Francisco, he came back to a wife who announced she was going to Baja California with "a friend" during his next out-of-town trip. Since she doesn't question him, he can't come right out and ask her who the friend is. It's driving him nuts. Should he just let her go, or put his foot down? — FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:

This couple needs a showdown! When a meandering gander meets his match in a (finally) saucy goose, something's got to give — and it just might be his swingin' weeks away from home! — H.

P.S. It's half-past communication time —so why don't you talk to your wife, "Friend"?

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

A. M. Series Opens Friday

Lori March and Alexander Scourby will be open the 1974-75 A. M. series Friday with a program, "It Started with Adam and Eve." The program, at 10:30 a.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, will be preceded by a coffee hour.

They will draw from the prose and poetry of Mark Twain, Lord Byron, Anton Chekhov, Dorothy Parker, Robert Frost and others, also using medieval ballads, to build a program about love.

Tickets for the five part series are abailable at the Marin Box Office.

MR. AND MRS. TOM DAY
Wedding trip to Mexico

Newlyweds On Trip To Puerto Vallarta

Newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Tom Day are on a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, following their marriage Saturday at Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

The bride is the former Susan Newberry, daughter of Hazel B. Newberry of Larkspur and the late John B. Newberry.

Diane Fulton of San Rafael was her sister's matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Dorothy Gregorowicz of Fairfax and Stephanie Fulton of San Rafael.

Michael Gomez of Mill Valley was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brothers, Dick and Jack Newberry of Larkspur.

A reception in the church social hall followed the ceremony.

Susan was graduated from Redwood High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed by Southern Pacific Railroad.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benton A. Day of Mill Valley. A graduate of Tamalpais High School he is employed by the Golden Gate Bridge District. Deanna Jones of San Rafael is his sister, and he is the grandson of Maude Miller of Goleta and Benton A. Day of Priest River, Idaho.

Lee Battat Wins Second Term As P-TA President

Lee Battat of San Rafael has been elected to a second term as president of the Santa Venetia Middle School Parent-Teacher Association.

The P-TA sponsored a family-teacher picnic at McNear's Park on Sept. 23 and on Oct. 19 will have a flea market at the school. Plans for the spring include a parent-son night, and throughout the school year the P-TA sponsors hot dog days, ice cream days and dances for seventh and eighth grade students.

Other officers are Lorry Lazarini, vice president; Herb Witt, second vice president; Barbara Skubic, corresponding secretary; Faye Blatt, recording secretary; Margaret Wolters, treasurer; Betty Albertini, historian; and Ellie Zengler, parliamentarian.

Help Sought By Symphony

Volunteers are being sought by the Marin Symphony Association to help with various projects during the coming season.

Help is needed in the association's office typing and filing; to sell business and personal memberships serve on committees for special events, distribute posters and brochures, do art work, and take photographs.

Those wishing to volunteer should contact Thelma Schultz at the Marin Symphony Association, Box 127 in San Rafael.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale to benefit San Rafael Assembly 195 of the Rainbow Girls is planned Friday and Saturday at the First Methodist Church on Miracle Mile in San Rafael.

Hours will be Friday from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Chairman of the event is Judy Brichetto.

Stephanie Johnstad Is Married

Stephanie Elizabeth Johnstad of Fairfax and Mark A. Barone of San Anselmo were wed Saturday at Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish in Corte Madera. A reception followed the ceremony at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Stephanie, the daughter of Jack Johnstad of Fairfax, chose her sister, Roberta Johnstad of Fairfax, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids at the wedding were Michelle Pretes, of San Anselmo the bridegroom's sister; Debbie Nawrath of San Rafael; and Janet Stickney of San Anselmo.

Aaron Friesen of Fairfax was best man, and ushering guests to their seats were Jason Marden of Lagunitas, Karl Peek of San Rafael and Remson Benedict of Mill Valley.

The newlyweds plan to live in San Anselmo after a trip touring California ghost towns.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the College of Marin. She is the granddaughter of Melina Brooks and the great granddaughter of Stefanja Seroczynska, both of Alameda.

Mark, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pretes of San Anselmo, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended the College of Marin. He is employed with Romulus Restaurant in San Rafael.

Mark is the grandson of Doris Wattie of El Sobrante and Addie Drowne of Vermont.

He is also the brother of Reina Barone of San Francisco and Kelly Pretes of San Anselmo.

Speech Set On Violence, Children, TV

Sally Williams will speak on "Violence: Children and Television" tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Her talk is the second in the four part series, "SOS—Stress in Our Society," sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health.

The speaker is the executive director of the Committee on Children's Television. She will discuss studies regarding the effects of program content on children and offer positive recommendations for parents.

A 15-minute film, "But First This Message," will precede the talk.

San Mateo Coastline Tour Set Oct. 27

The Young Women's Christian Association will sponsor a tour along the San Mateo County coastline Oct. 27.

Reservations can be made with the Marin YWCA, 1618 Mission Avenue in San Rafael.

Those going on the tour from Marin will be picked up at the Marin YWCA at 8:15 a.m.

Included on the tour will be stops at beaches and state parks, Pillar Point, Princeton Harbor, Half Moon Bay and a new crafts center, Spanishtown.

Jennifer Johnsen Heads P-TA

Jennifer Johnsen of Fort Baker in Sausalito is the new president of Bayside-King Parent-Teacher Association.

The wife of Dennis O. Johnsen, a veterinarian in the U.S. Army, and mother of Gregory, 10, Stanley, 8, and Cynthia, 7, Mrs. Johnsen believes the P-TA should "bring the home and school closer together so that parents and teachers can cooperate intelligently in the education of children."

Objectives of her presidency are to enlarge the volunteer program in the classroom, continue landscaping of Martin Luther King School, continue and broaden the P-TA subsidized cultural arts field trip program, she said.

Mrs. Johnsen is a member of the Presidio Yacht Club and Letterman Wives Club. Her hobbies are sailing, music, reading, arts and crafts.

She was born in Oakland, attended Smith College, was graduated from the University of California at Davis and did graduate work at Ohio State University.

Catholic Daughters Day Set Sunday

At the request of Court St. Raphael 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, Mayor C. Paul Bettini has designated next Sunday as National Catholic Daughters of America Day in San Rafael.

For the occasion members of the court will attend mass at 10:30 a.m. at St. Raphael's Church. A breakfast at Le Chalet Basque restaurant will follow.

Scottish Dancers Schedule Party

Mill Valley's Scottish Country Dancers, the largest such group in the Bay Area, will don kilts and tartan sashes Saturday night for their fourth annual dinner dance at the Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Hilda Gotcher of Mill Valley is coordinator of the event.

Most of the group's 60 members are expected to attend, according to Bill (Scotty) MacAulay of San Rafael, one of its founders.

The group began in 1968, meeting first in Hammond Hall at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley. Still attending among the 27 charter members are MacAulay and his wife Peg, Elsie Robertson of Burlingame, Patrick Jordan of San Francisco, Warren and Norah Lee of Corte Madera and Dick and Hilda Gotcher, residents of Mill Valley.

Meetings — which are devoted to instruction and dancing — are now held every Friday evening at Almonte Hall.

The group is a branch of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Unlike the folk dances of many European countries, Scotland's national dances were never confined to any one class of society and therefore are not properly called folk dances.

They are performed in groups of eight.

"Because we wear soft slippers for the dancing," MacAulay said, "we must have a wooden floor" such as is found at Corinthian.

MIGRATING MAMMAL — This opaque, leaded-glass sculpture of a full-scale sperm-whale calf was created by Oakland artist Larry Foster. It is included in his show of graphite drawings, sculptures, and reliefs of whales and other mammals at the Marin Museum of Science in San Rafael.

ART REVIEW

Artist's Deep Understanding Of Whales Gives Visual Delight

By ADA GARFINKEL

A newspaper photo or first-hand observation of a beached whale is not a pretty sight. What one sees is a massive, flaccid, inert mountain of dull flesh; quite different from the graceful, gliding forms in the sensitively rendered graphite drawings and sculptures of Oakland artist, Larry Foster, at the Marin Museum of Scince in San Rafael.

Whales and other migrating creatures have always fascinated mankind as a harbinger of seasons, for their intuitive intelligence, and in the case of whales, for their evolved, functional streamlining of form.

Foster, who majored in art at the University of California and at the College of Arts and Crafts, found his interest in zoology a stimulating factor in his decision to concentrate on cetaceans — whales, dolphins, and porpoises, recording many of them in their natural movement and winter migrations along the Southern California coastline, and others from working photographs.

Working to scale — one gets an idea of their enormous size by comparing a single vertebra of a deer with that of a whale — Foster leaves much to the imagination, focusing on the dynamic interplay of the voluminous, contoured form levitating against a dominant portion of white, open space surrounding it, and emphasizing its span with a horizontal format almost exclusively.

Foster's largest body of works are the drawings which document various species by their individual and intricate markings, stressing also the natural design qualities found in their anatomical structures — the pleats, for example, found on the underside of all whales. Or the sieve-like mesh construction of the feeding arrangement which grows downward from the upper jaws of baleen whales in lieu of teeth.

The delicate gradations of shading, the control of volumes, the iridescent sheen, the dynamic activity of porpoises and dolphins flying through space, or the 45-degree turn — the breaching phenomenon — as the whale thrusts upward, sometimes supported by a slender water-line and a burst of frothy bubbles — add up to a visual delight.

Foster's clean, uncluttered look takes an innovative turn in a full-scale leaded opaque glass sculpture of a sperm-whale calf, and in two wall-hanging reliefs. The latter in naugahyde, closely resembling the skin of the whale, in monotonal gray and slightly scumbled mat-green, are abstracted versions of the "vent" — the whale's breathing device — centered to divide the understated green format, and in the other the "pleats" rhythmically articulate the vertical formal in channeled segments.

This exhibit which inaugurates the museum's program of art exhibits will continue through Oct. 26. Viewing hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The Marin Museum of Science is located at 76 Albert Park Lane.

Novato Women To Hear Candidate

Tally Masterangelo, republican candidate for the third district seat on the state board of equalization, will address a public meeting of the Novato Republican Women's Club Federated at noon tomorrow at Nero's Restaurant in Novato.

Masterangelo is a resident of Sausalito. He is former vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee and at present time is a member of the Republican State Committee.

Photography Workshop Set

Photographers Ruth-Marion Baruch and Pirkle Jones will conduct a three-day photography workshop at their home in Mill Valley Nov. 1 to 3.

The husband and wife photographers will concentrate on the photographic essay for the workshop sponsored by Lamkin Camerawork Gallery of Fairfax. Limited enrollment will be available until Oct. 29.

Motorists Dislike Car Belt Locks

DETROIT (UPI) — At least 29 per cent of drivers of 1974-model cars consider the soon-to-disappear ignition interlock system one of the least liked features of their cars, according to a survey by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

A Senate-House conference committee has already agreed to legislation which will allow automakers to stop installing the ignition interlock which made its debut on 1974 models. It also will allow dealers, distributors and repair shops to disconnnect already installed systems.

Although most of the interviewed drivers of 1974 model cars gave high ratings to the value and effectiveness of safety belts, more than 40 per cent of the drivers observed on the road were not using the belts in their interlock-equipped cars.

Dr. Leon Robertson, senior behavioral scientist for the Washington-based safety group, interviewed almost 400 drivers in the interlock study. Dissatisfaction with the interlock was reflected by "at least 29 per cent of the drivers who mentioned it as one of the three things they liked least about their new cars," Robertson said.

"Belt use was significantly related to type and frequency of use of the car, but in an opposite way to what might be expected," he said.

Of employed drivers, those who used a car on the job were more often observed using belts than those who did not use a car on the job. Among all drivers interviewed, those who said they were in and out of a car frequently during the day were seen using belts more often than those who said they were not, the study said.

National Free Seed Plan Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., says more Americans should have gardens and the government should give them free seeds.

Since he started trying to help home gardeners, Burke has found that 80 fellow members of Congress have green thumbs.

"I've been getting free bags of vegetables from members of Congress over the past several weeks," Burke said. "They've been coming in regularly showing me the fruits of their labors."

Burke is sponsoring a bill to give individuals three free packets of seeds a year. The House Agriculture Committee approved the bill 15-9 last week.

Burke estimates the free seed program would cost the government $6 million a year over the next three years, but it would generate the production of between $380 and $400 million worth of vegetables a year.

Venezuelan Sees End To World Oil Crisis

CARACAS (UPI) — Venezuelan Mines Minister Valentin Hernandez said today the world energy crisis has been overcome because of reductions in world consumption of oil.

Venezuela is the world's third largest oil exporter after Saudi Arabia and Iran, shipping about half of its 3 million barrels per day to U.S. markets.

"There is no doubt that the peak period of the so-called energy crisis, typified by a serious shortage of oil in the main centers of consumption, has been overcome," Hernandez said. "The restrictive measures undertaken by the main consumer nations caused a considerable drop in world oil demand.

"Specifically in the months of July and August this year, there was an excess of supply of over 3 million barrels per day," the minister said.

Hernandez also said the world's main oil-producing nations have not sought a confrontation with consuming countries.

"The member countries of OPEC (the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countires) have not sought nor do they consider inevitable a confrontation with consuming countries," he said in an interview with the Caracas daily El Universal.

The 13-member OPEC, which controls 85 per cent of all world oil exports, is "conscious of its position in a world marked by interdependence and would be the last to try to lead to a collapse of the economy of the large industrialized societies and much less the countries of the third world."

Hernandez defended OPEC member states that have reduced their output to dry up excess supply on world markets. Venezuela has cut back its production by over 10 per cent so far this year and has announced it will reduce by another 10 per cent in 1975.

"In an unjustified manner, the conservation measures adopted by some producing countries, among them Venezuela, have been called by high officials of some industrialized countries, unfriendly acts and blackmail of consumer and taken with the deliberate aim of creating an artificial oil shortage," he said.

"However, facts have shown that the drop in supply has not put in danger the normal level of supply of oil for consumers."

The Venezuela spokesman also rejected charges that the high prices for oil set by producing nations are a major factor in world inflation growth.

Dominican Plans Music Classes For Children

Dominican College has announced that it is accepting children and teen-agers for music classes.

A piano class will be offered for 7 and 8-year-old boys and girls by Anne DeCook. Folk guitar will be taught by Susan Black on a class and private basis, and Paul Smith will teach piano accompaniment for vocalists and instrumentalists.

A violin class for 4 to 6-yearolds will be given by Ann Nelson. Other violin classes will be taught by Elizabeth Gibson of the Oakland Symphony and Mark Jordan of the Santa Rosa Symphony. Richard Anastasio will teach cello, and Gay Clark will instruct viola students.

Enrollment information is available from Jean Murphy, pre-college division coordinator.

Pemberton's Advice Available To Public

of their own involvement in an attack, to acknowledge that there's something they have done that has prompted the attack, no matter how blameless they feel. We must see that we are the partial authors of every insult."

(The husband comes home in high spirits from a triumphant day at the office. The wife is dog-tired and depressed after a hard day of malfunctioning household appliances and misbehaving kids. The husband starts to say something cheerful — and he has "insulted" his wife. His very cheerfulness is insulting to her. He is "partial author of the insult.")

"The chief antidote to human anger is information," says Pemberton. "If we reach out to try to get information, we can't stay angry."

If cheerful husband and tired wife try to inform themselves about the other's mood, acknowledge it, express their own feelings about it, and consider whether or not to postpone expression of their own cheerfulness or tiredness, they have the tools to avoid conflict.

It was Richard Nixon's refusla to acknowledge his feelings and to share them with others that made his relationship with the public so abysmal, Pemberton said.

He cited the time when a newsman said during a televised press conference, "Mr. Nixon, you look angry," and the former president's response was something like, "I'm not angry, I only get angry at people I respect."

"Perfect example of the counter-attack," says Dr. Pemberton. "He should have said, 'You're darn right I'm angry, I'm really pissed at all of you,' and 200,000 people would have relaxed."

Information, he said, is "the highest priority of the American people." Nixon outraged the people by refusing to acknowledge it, resorting instead to claims of executive privilege.

"When I was in Washington, I sent him a note offering my help," Pemberton reports. "I never heard from him."

His help is available to the public (enrollment limited to 200 persons) at the Thursday series; tickets may be obtained at the College of Marin Theater box office or through the Volunteer Office at Marin General Hospital.

Dr. Pemberton received his bachelor of arts at the University of Washington, did graduate work in sociology at the University of Bucharest in Rumania and in psychology at Columbia University before receiving his PHD in psychology and education from University of California in Berkeley. He was a member of the faculty of the College of Marin for 20 years until 1970.

He conducts management training programs for federal, state and private agencies and for business and industry in addition to his lectures on semantics, communication and human relations.

Third Of Blacks Said To Be Hypertensive

An estimated one-third of the black population in the U.S. is "either hypertensive or potentially hypertensive," Dr. Michael Williams of New York City's Harlem Hospital Medical Center has reported. Hypertension is the medical term for high blood pressure.

The severity of high blood pressure in blacks cannot be overemphasized, added Dr. Richard A. Williams, assistant medical director, Martin Luther King Jr. General Hospital, Los Angeles, at a program for physicians last November.

"Strokes occur in black hypertensives at an earlier age and are more often fatal on the first occurrence," he said. "Likewise, congestive heart failure, secondary to hypertension, is much more severe in the black patient as compared to the white patient."

Santa Rosa, and reservations chairmen are Florence Slyker of Santa Rosa and Evelyn Louden of Petaluma.

Fall fashions will be shown by Nell Bride, and Viki Kincaid will provide the music.

Child care will be available.

THE THURSDAY Musical Club will start its fall season with a concert Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Florence Lesoine in Ross.

Guest artists will be lyric soprano Margot Power and pianist Barbara Baum.

Mrs. Power is a graduate of Syracuse University with post graduate opera training at Peabody Conservatory. She has appeared as a soloist with the Oakland, Marin, San Leandro, Vallejo and Baltimore Symphonies, the Salisbury, England, Orchestral Society, Salisbury String Orchestra, Buffalo Philharmonic and Buffalo Civic Orchestrq and the Carmel Bach Festival, where she has appeared since 1967.

Mrs. Baum, who began her musical career in New York, gave her first full length recital at age 11 in Carnegie Chamber Music Hall. She has performed extensively throughout the United States and is on the applied music faculty at Dominican College.

A tea will follow the program.

ST. RITA'S Women's Guild will have an arts and crafts fiesta luncheon Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. at the parish hall of the church in Fairfax.

Mexican food will be served, and arts and crafts items will be displayed.

Reservations chairman is Lynn Boggeri of Fairfax.

DESPAIR — A Tamalpais High School player sat, head in hands, after watching his team's quarterback, Dan Lucia, suffer a broken arm in Saturday's game against Novato. Novato ran its Marin County Athletic League shutout string to seven with a 13-0 victory.

QUARTERBACKS SIDELINED

Novato's Shutout Win Over Tam Very Costly

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Novato High School got its seventh straight Marin County Athletic League football shutout Saturday, 13-0 over Tamalpais. But what a price was paid, both to get it and to try and prevent it!

On the very first series of plays, Tam lost its fine junior quarterback Dan Lucia for the season when he suffered a broken left arm just above the wrist. He had gained 15 yards on a run when he went down near the Novato bench.

The league-leading Hornets (2-0), also lost their quarterback, albeit only for the game. On the third play of the second quarter, Mike Moroski threw an interception. Quarterbacks as a rule make lousy defensive plays, and Moroski, a brilliant quarterback, proved no exception. He helped tackle Tam's Roger Nelson, and sustained a broken nose in the process.

The loss of Lucia could have crumpled Tam; immediately after he went out, Moroski led Novato on a precise touchdown drive that included 12 and 11-yard passes to Steve Hoog.

But the Indians came to play, and after Moroski's departure they did just that. in the last seconds of the first half, they came as close as anyone has to closing the shutout string.

With a fourth down on the Novato 36-yard line, Tam's Kevin Murphy threw from punt formation, and tight end Mike Lamb made a leaping catch in traffic at the eight.

Unfortunately for the Indians,

A's, Dodgers Are Evenly Matched

Hunter, Downing On Mound In Third Game

By GARY HUGHES

LOS ANGELES — The first two games of this year's World Series are over and one thing has been definitely settled. The 1974 editions of the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Oakland Athletics are as evenly matched as any two teams can be.

Game one saw Oakland take a page from an old Dodger play-book. Outhit by a large (11 to five margin, the A's nonetheless were able to put one more run on the board than their neighbors to the south, 3-2. The runs came in ways that the Dodgers invented years ago. After Reggie Jackson hit a home run, a run scored on a squeeze bunt. The eventual winning run came in on an error. The A's made the most out of their opportunities. They left only four men on base. The Dodgers stranded 12.

Yesterday's second game found both teams matching hit totals (six). The key hit was a two-run home run by Joe Ferguson. The big defensive play was turned in by Dodger first baseman, Steve Garvey. He made a great catch of a poor throw by shortstop, Bill Russell to complete an inning-ending double play in the eighth. At the time, Oakland had the bases loaded with one out and their big guns coming up. Had the throw gone through Garvey, two runs would have scored, and we might have seen Oakland win.

Baseball's Octoberfest now moves into Oakland for the third straight year. Off the first two games, it is impossible to pick an eventual winner. Tomorrow night at 5:30, the edge should be with the A's. In Catfish Hunter, they are sending their number one against Al Downing who, at best, ranks as the Dodgers third pitcher. The problem with this type of reasoning is that it neglects to take into consideration that the game has to be played on the field. The edge on paper is just that —an edge on paper.

A key factor in the games in Oakland is the starting time. The worst possible time to play baseball is at dusk. I hope that a game isn't decided on a misplay caused by the conditions in light or lack of it. It would not be right.

SOUTHLAND NOTES: Dodger Stadium has to be seen to be believed. Gene Tenace told me that he'd love to play there all the time. The place is beautifully landscaped and colorfully laid out. The two largest crowds in Dodger Stadium history were in attendnace (55,989 yesterday and 55,974 Saturday).

The L.A. media is making out this series to be the good guys against the bad guys; you can guess who the bad guys are. . .

Alvin Dark did a great managing job in the first two games. Baseball is a much different game when you eliminate the designated hitter and Dark handled the situation very well. . .

You can get a 16-ounce soft drink for only 30 cents, and along with at least one trip to Hawaii, you have to taste a Dodger Dog before you pass to your final reward. . .

The Giants were very busy talking to various teams over the weekend. Bobby Bonds to Cincinnati is a possibility, and a Pirate may be on the way to San Francisco — possibly Al Oliver. . .

Billy North summed up the A's: "We just seem to do whatever's necessary to win. We have been very complacent and someday it's going to catch up to us. I just hope it's not this year." So do I, Bill, so do I.

GOT HIM — Oakland A's pinch runner Herb Washington was picked off first base in the ninth inning of yesterday's second World Series game in Los Angeles. Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey made the tag.

Dodgers' Ferguson Likes To Swing Bat

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Joe Ferguson claims he doesn't care if he catches or plays the outfield. All he wants to do is swing his big brown bat.

Thanks to that bat, the Los Angeles Dodgers are even up with the Oakland A's in the World Series — at 1-1 — today withthe Series switching to Oakland tomorrow night. (Game time is 5:30 p.m. and it will be televised on channel 4.)

"This was an important win for us," said Ferguson, "because it means we're not in a must win situation on Tuesday."

Ferguson, who lost his Dodger catching job to Steve Yeager this season, knocked a Vida Blue fastball over the centerfield fence with one out in the sixth inning to give Don Sutton a 3-0 lead.

"As long as I get to swing the bat four times," said the moustachioed Dodger rightfielder, "I'm happy anywhere."

Ferguson wasn't the only Dodger star in Los Angeles' 3-2 victory, though:

Sutton won his 12th game in a row with five-hit pitching through eight plus innings. He now has won 16 of his last 17 decisions since July 25 and is 3-0 in postseason starts against the Pittsburgh Pirates and A's.

Steve Garvey backhanded a Bill Russell bouncer in the dirt to complete an inning-ending, bases-loaded double play in the eighth.

Mike Marshall, the screwball specialist noted for his durability, picked former indoor sprint king Herb Washington off first base when he represented the tying run with one out in the ninth.

Tomorrow night, the A's will send 25-game winner Jim (Catfish) Hunter, a righthander, against veteran southpaw Al Downing, who pitched in the 1963 and 1964 World Series for the New York Yankees.

In the first two games of the Series, Dodger pitching has checked the A's on a dozen hits.

Andy Messersmith, a 20-game winner this year and the first-game Los Angeles starter, will go Wednesday night against lefthander Ken Holtzman. The A's won the Series inaugural 3-2 although the Dodgers outhit them 11-6.

"We're not hitting but we're playing baseball," said an unsmiling Charles O. Finley, the A's owner who vehemently denied before the game that he was moving his franchise.

"We win one, they win one," shrugged Reggie Jackson, the A's slugger who had one-third of his team's offense — double and a single — yesterday.

"We go home to play three. I hope we'll win a couple there and then let's see."

"I think we'll start to hit the way we can," predicted Sal Bando, who is hitless in seven trips in the Series.

Perhaps, unnoticed, was the Dodgers' first run. Ron Cey, who aboard on a walk, went to third on Bill Russell's fly ball that dropped in front of Jackson in rightfield.

The ball appeared likely to be caught. Cey scored on Steve Yeager's single that Bert Campaneris barely missed getting to.

"I had looked at Tommy LaSorda (the Dodger third base coach) and he told me to keep coming," said Cey. "It was a steal play. If the ball had been caught, I would have been a dead duck."

In the Dodgers' 3-2 loss Saturday, Ferguson made the play of the game when he gunned down Bando at the plate in the eighth inning after cutting in front of centerfielder Jimmy Wynn to catch a Jackson fly ball.

"The throw didn't win the game," yesterday's hero told reporters. "The home run turned out to win the game. I didn't feel very good yesterday even though I made that throw."

Dodger manager Walter Alston removed Sutton with A's at second and third and none out

'Born' To Be Wristwrestler

By DIANE FISHER

Jim Dolcini of Petaluma was "born" to be a wristwrestler.

Dolcini won his third heavyweight title Saturday night at the 13th World Wristwrestling championship in Petaluma.

The 235-pound favorite pinned Virgil Arciero in the final match amidst the shouts of a capacity crowd exceeding 1,200 in Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building. Calling this year's competition the "roughest I've ever had," Jim said the semi-final match against John Woolsey took a lot out of him.

Woolsey, the 1973 middleweight champion, wrestled in the heavyweight division for the first time this year giving Dolcini his strongest challenge of the evening. Dolcini said he felt very dizzy after that match and was still feeling the effects when he went into the final round. The match with Arciero of El Cerrito lasted two and one-half minutes.

A commercial fertilizer spreader, Dolcini does not train for the wristwrestling tournament or even practice. According to Dolcini, the last time he wristwrestled was in May.

"I think it's just something that runs in the family. We're born with strong leverage in our wrists."

Dolcini entered the Wristwrestling Hall of Fame Saturday night, with his win tying the record set by Duane Benedix in 1969.

The women's title was taken by Donna Meyers of Placentia, Orange County, who won the women's national championship earlier this year. The 117-pounder, in contrast to Dolcini, trains every day with her husband Chris who is also a wrist wrestler.

"He's stronger than any woman, so how can I lose?"

Chris Meyer almost made it a two-title marriage as he went all the way to the lightweight final match before falling to Ted Pollock. It was Pollock's third consecutive lightweight victory.

Pollock says that technique, speed, and mental attitude are the keys to the championship.

"I constantly picture my opponent's arm going down in defeat," said Pollock.

The darling of the audience, however, was the master of ceremony and former Mr. America, Jimmy Payne. Payne, 48, was winner in the featherweight division.

Relinquishing his announcer's microphone, he would shrug off his red coat and saunter to the table to meet his opponents. He beat them all including the 1973 featherweight champion George Boucher. The crowd gave Jimmy a standing ovation as he was handed the trophy.

Bob Howell of Reno, Nev., won the middleweight title.

THE STRUGGLE — Jim Dolcini (center) grimaced while pinning burly Virgil Arciero to win the heavyweight title Saturday night in the World Wristwrestling Championship at Petaluma. Stripe-shirted referees watched intently.

Calistoga's Homecoming Successful

CALISTOGA — It was a happy homecoming for Calistoga High School Friday night when the Wildcats whipped Tomales in their North Central League II football opener, 20-0.

Calistoga's first touchdown came on a three-yard run by Jeff Bounsall with Dennis Fechter kicking the extra point. A few minutes later, Wildcat Frank Giammona ran 69 yards for a touchdown to put Calistoga ahead in the first quarter, 13-0.

Tomales (2-2-1) could not generate the needed offense, as the tenacious Wildcats held the Braves to 151 yards rushing compared to Calistoga's 231.

MIGRATING MAMMAL — This opaque, leaded-glass sculpture of a full-scale sperm-whale calf was created by Oakland artist Larry Foster. It is included in his show of graphite drawings, sculptures, and reliefs of whales and other mammals at the Marin Museum of Science in San Rafael.

ART REVIEW

Artist's Deep Understanding Of Whales Gives Visual Delight

By ADA GARFINKEL

A newspaper photo or first-hand observation of a beached whale is not a pretty sight. What one sees is a massive, flaccid, inert mountain of dull flesh; quite different from the graceful, gliding forms in the sensitively rendered graphite drawings and sculptures of Oakland artist, Larry Foster, at the Marin Museum of Scince in San Rafael.

Whales and other migrating creatures have always fascinated mankind as a harbinger of seasons, for their intuitive intelligence, and in the case of whales, for their evolved, functional streamlining of form.

Foster, who majored in art at the University of California and at the College of Arts and Crafts, found his interest in zoology a stimulating factor in his decision to concentrate on cetaceans — whales, dolphins, and porpoises, recording many of them in their natural movement and winter migrations along the Southern California coastline, and others from working photographs.

Working to scale — one gets an idea of their enormous size by comparing a single vertebra of a deer with that of a whale — Foster leaves much to the imagination, focusing on the dynamic interplay of the voluminous, contoured form levitating against a dominant portion of white, open space surrounding it, and emphasizing its span with a horizontal format almost exclusively.

Foster's largest body of works are the drawings which document various species by their individual and intricate markings, stressing also the natural design qualities found in their anatomical structures — the pleats, for example, found on the underside of all whales. Or the sieve-like mesh construction of the feeding arrangement which grows downward from the upper jaws of baleen whales in lieu of teeth.

The delicate gradations of shading, the control of volumes, the iridescent sheen, the dynamic activity of porpoises and dolphins flying through space, or the 45-degree turn — the breaching phenomenon — as the whale thrusts upward, sometimes supported by a slender water-line and a burst of frothy bubbles — add up to a visual delight.

Foster's clean, uncluttered look takes an innovative turn in a full-scale leaded opaque glass sculpture of a sperm-whale calf, and in two wall-hanging reliefs. The latter in naugahyde, closely resembling the skin of the whale, in monotonal gray and slightly scumbled mat-green, are abstracted versions of the "vent" — the whale's breathing device — centered to divide the understated green format, and in the other the "pleats" rhythmically articulate the vertical formal in channeled segments.

This exhibit which inaugurates the museum's program of art exhibits will continue through Oct. 26. Viewing hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The Marin Museum of Science is located at 76 Albert Park Lane.

Novato Women To Hear Candidate

Tally Masterangelo, republican candidate for the third district seat on the state board of equalization, will address a public meeting of the Novato Republican Women's Club Federated at noon tomorrow at Nero's Restaurant in Novato.

Masterangelo is a resident of Sausalito. He is former vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee and at present time is a member of the Republican State Committee.

Photography Workshop Set

Photographers Ruth-Marion Baruch and Pirkle Jones will conduct a three-day photography workshop at their home in Mill Valley Nov. 1 to 3.

The husband and wife photographers will concentrate on the photographic essay for the workshop sponsored by Lamkin Camerawork Gallery of Fairfax. Limited enrollment will be available until Oct. 29.

Motorists Dislike Car Belt Locks

DETROIT (UPI) — At least 29 per cent of drivers of 1974-model cars consider the soon-to-disappear ignition interlock system one of the least liked features of their cars, according to a survey by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

A Senate-House conference committee has already agreed to legislation which will allow automakers to stop installing the ignition interlock which made its debut on 1974 models. It also will allow dealers, distributors and repair shops to disconnnect already installed systems.

Although most of the interviewed drivers of 1974 model cars gave high ratings to the value and effectiveness of safety belts, more than 40 per cent of the drivers observed on the road were not using the belts in their interlock-equipped cars.

Dr. Leon Robertson, senior behavioral scientist for the Washington-based safety group, interviewed almost 400 drivers in the interlock study. Dissatisfaction with the interlock was reflected by "at least 29 per cent of the drivers who mentioned it as one of the three things they liked least about their new cars," Robertson said.

"Belt use was significantly related to type and frequency of use of the car, but in an opposite way to what might be expected," he said.

Of employed drivers, those who used a car on the job were more often observed using belts than those who did not use a car on the job. Among all drivers interviewed, those who said they were in and out of a car frequently during the day were seen using belts more often than those who said they were not, the study said.

National Free Seed Plan Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., says more Americans should have gardens and the government should give them free seeds.

Since he started trying to help home gardeners, Burke has found that 80 fellow members of Congress have green thumbs.

"I've been getting free bags of vegetables from members of Congress over the past several weeks," Burke said. "They've been coming in regularly showing me the fruits of their labors."

Burke is sponsoring a bill to give individuals three free packets of seeds a year. The House Agriculture Committee approved the bill 15-9 last week.

Burke estimates the free seed program would cost the government $6 million a year over the next three years, but it would generate the production of between $380 and $400 million worth of vegetables a year.

Venezuelan Sees End To World Oil Crisis

CARACAS (UPI) — Venezuelan Mines Minister Valentin Hernandez said today the world energy crisis has been overcome because of reductions in world consumption of oil.

Venezuela is the world's third largest oil exporter after Saudi Arabia and Iran, shipping about half of its 3 million barrels per day to U.S. markets.

"There is no doubt that the peak period of the so-called energy crisis, typified by a serious shortage of oil in the main centers of consumption, has been overcome," Hernandez said. "The restrictive measures undertaken by the main consumer nations caused a considerable drop in world oil demand.

"Specifically in the months of July and August this year, there was an excess of supply of over 3 million barrels per day," the minister said.

Hernandez also said the world's main oil-producing nations have not sought a confrontation with consuming countries.

"The member countries of OPEC (the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countires) have not sought nor do they consider inevitable a confrontation with consuming countries," he said in an interview with the Caracas daily El Universal.

The 13-member OPEC, which controls 85 per cent of all world oil exports, is "conscious of its position in a world marked by interdependence and would be the last to try to lead to a collapse of the economy of the large industrialized societies and much less the countries of the third world."

Hernandez defended OPEC member states that have reduced their output to dry up excess supply on world markets. Venezuela has cut back its production by over 10 per cent so far this year and has announced it will reduce by another 10 per cent in 1975.

"In an unjustified manner, the conservation measures adopted by some producing countries, among them Venezuela, have been called by high officials of some industrialized countries, unfriendly acts and blackmail of consumer and taken with the deliberate aim of creating an artificial oil shortage," he said.

"However, facts have shown that the drop in supply has not put in danger the normal level of supply of oil for consumers."

The Venezuela spokesman also rejected charges that the high prices for oil set by producing nations are a major factor in world inflation growth.

Dominican Plans Music Classes For Children

Dominican College has announced that it is accepting children and teen-agers for music classes.

A piano class will be offered for 7 and 8-year-old boys and girls by Anne DeCook. Folk guitar will be taught by Susan Black on a class and private basis, and Paul Smith will teach piano accompaniment for vocalists and instrumentalists.

A violin class for 4 to 6-year-olds will be given by Ann Nelson. Other violin classes will be taught by Elizabeth Gibson of the Oakland Symphony and Mark Jordan of the Santa Rosa Symphony. Richard Anastasio will teach cello, and Gay Clark will instruct viola students.

Enrollment information is available from Jean Murphy, pre-college division coordinator.

FOR SAN MARIN

Defense Keys Grid Victory

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Ignited by one big defensive play, the San Marin High School Mustangs exploded in the second half to defeat Redwood, 20-0, in Marin County Athletic League football Saturday at Novato High School.

On the third play of the second half, defensive back John Weston snatched a fumble in mid-air and went 69 yards with it untouched to break a scoreless tie. The aroused Mustangs thereafter dominated with their crushing ground game, while holding the disheartened Giants to a single first down after the intermission.

Just six plays after Weston's romp, junior fullback Bob Bennett added insurance with a 71-yard touchdown dash in which he showed remarkable speed for a 210-pounder. On the strength of that run, Bennett led all rushers with 99 yards.

Wayne Roche, the 1973 all-leaguer, had a miserable first half and a fine second half for 57 yards on the day. On San Marin's final drive, he carried seven times for 36 yards, including a final yard for the touchdown.

For Redwood, the afternoon was another exercise in frustration. Week after week this season the young Giants have played strong early and collapsed late, and Saturday's shutout was the fourth against them in five games.

Redwood came close to scoring once in the first quarter and again in the second. But San Marin stopped a fourth down run by Diebel at the seven yard line, and blocked a field goal attempt by Mark Chapman at the 16.

Wildcats Tip Drake In Football

By DAVID DEL GRANDE

It was Drake High School's week off from the Marin County Athletic League football competition last week, but somebody forgot to tell the resurgent Marin Catholic Wildcats.

The Wildcats, capitalizing on a Pirate fumble late in the first half, scored and went on to upset Drake for the second straight year, 7-2, before 600 sun drenched fans at the College of Marin Saturday.

The game was completely dominated by the Wildcats. Thirteen Marin Catholic penalties netting 105 yards kept the score close. An example of this was when the 'Cats (2-3) had driven 59 yards to the Pirate six in the third quarter, then, four consecutive penalties moved them back 40 yards and killed any scoring threat.

The Pirates' points came on a safety when Wildcat punter Jeff Knotts alertly dove on a fumbled low snap in his own end zone. Turnovers and lack of consistency hurt Drake. Two Drake passes were intercepted and Drake fumbled the football away three times, twice inside the Wildcat five-yard line.

In contrast to the two Pirate fumbles that prevented scores, Drake's other fumble resulted in the game's only touchdown. After recovering a Terry Fahey fumble at the Pirate 40 with 33 seconds left in the half, the Wildcats passed three times.

Following two incompletions, 'Cat quarterback Bob Yetter pin-pointed a bomb between two Drake defenders to senior end Rich Speidel who coasted in for the score. Chris Morrison added the extra point.

Drake has one win in five games this year.

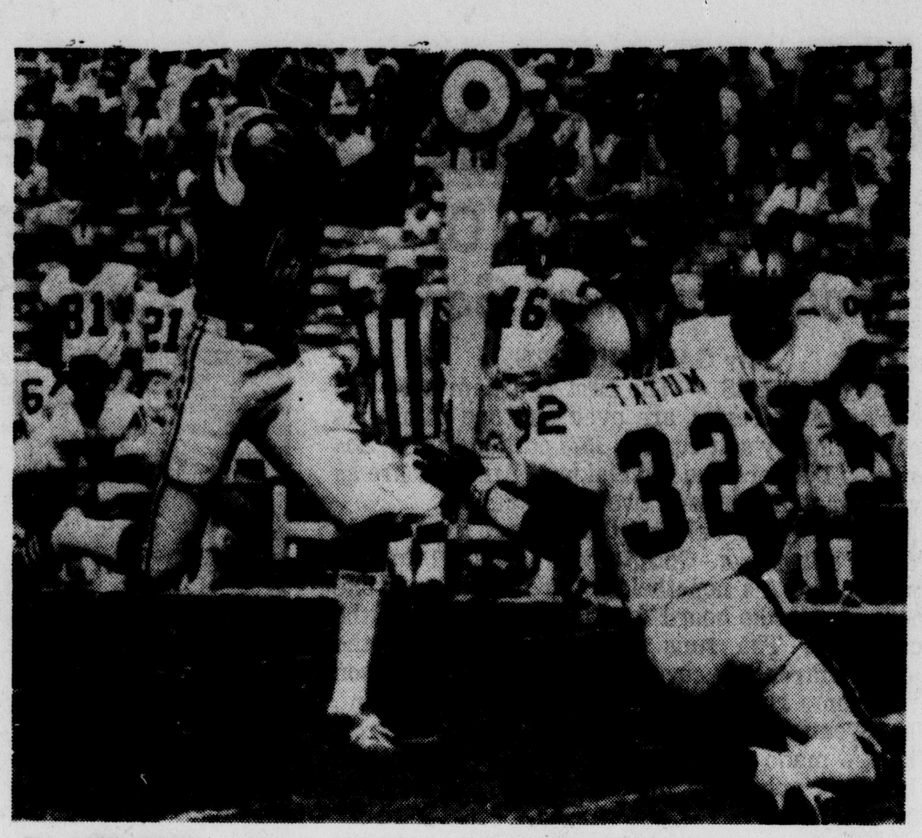
Powerful Marin Tar Booters Win

SANTA ROSA — College of Marin's high-powered soccer team scored 10 goals for the second straight day and walloped Santa Rosa Junior College, 10-0 Saturday in a non-league game.

Tars' center halfback, All-American Misak Pirinjian, and center forward Mike Linder contained their personal scoring duel with two goals apiece, and Mark Schlobohm also had two.

Pirinjian had six goals on Friday in a 10-1 victory over Los Medanos in Pittsburgh. He has 13 goals for the season to 12 for Linder. The Tars have won six games, lost four and tied one.



IN AND OUT — Harrison Davis of the Chargers had a pass sail through his arms in the first quarter of yesterday's National Football League game against the Oakland Raiders in San Diego. Jack Tatum (32) and George Atkinson came up to make the stop had the pass been complete.

Raiders' Coach Madden Glad To Leave With Win

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — "I'm damn glad to get it over and get outa town," was coach John Madden's comment after his Oakland Raiders squeaked past the San Diego Chargers 14-10 yesterday.

"We said all week that San Diego was improved and they showed it."

The Raiders entered the game 15-point favorites but had to stop two fourth-quarter drives to score their fourth straight win. San Diego suffered its fourth loss of the season, all by seven points or less.

The combination of Kenny Stabler to Cliff Branch made the difference. They connected on a 46-yard scoring pass play in the second quarter for a 7-3 Oakland lead.

Then they combined on crucial 15 and 22 yard passes to set up the winning four-yard scoring aerial to Bob Moore in the fourth period.

San Diego did not play dead. They moved from their 13 to Oakland's 24 with 2:24 left only to fail when Dan Fouts overthrew a wide open Harrison Davis in the end zone.

Then, after Ray Guy punted out of bounds on San Diego's one, the Chargers drove to Oakland's 39 only to have Jack Tantum make the Raiders' first interception of the day with 10 seconds left.

"Cliff has been playing well the last few weeks and coming up with big plays and touchdowns each game," Madden said of Branch, who snared seven passes for 124 yards.

Marv Hubbard and Clarence Davis gave Oakland balance running for 94 and 83 yards, respectively.

Stabler was almost the goat of the game. He marched his club 75 yards to San Diego's one in the first quarter but on a fourth down play he chose to pass on a rollout instead of waltz in for what appeared a cinch score.

San Diego's Sam Williams jarred the pass from Dave Casper's grasp and the Chargers got the ball on the 20. Madden declined comment saying, "When a play is over, what good is it to second guess?"

Cardinals Top Casa Grande In Football

Cardinal Newman High School answered the football question, 'who's number one?' Saturday night on Durst Field when it defeated Casa Grande, 14-10, in a Sonoma County League game.

The Cardinald scored all 14 points in the first quarter. First touchdown was when Skip Withers dashed nine yards. Following a successful onside kick, Cardinal Newman scored again when after a drive Joe Domenichelli plunged from the one. Tony Cuculich kicked both conversions.

Casa Grande bounced back in the second quarter when John Lutz ran for the touchdown (28 yards) and the extra points. The score at halftime was 14-8.

In the fourth quarter, Gaucho Dale Holmes nailed Steve Foy in the Cardinal end zone for a safety.

they had used all their time outs, and the clock simply ran out after three more plays. They ended on the one-yard line.

The difference in the game was depth. Tam brought just 24 players, none able to replace Lucia. Novato, on the other hand, trotted out Scott DeRecat and it was as if Moroski was still in there with a new number.

DeRecat hit on six of 10 passes for 62 yards, and the Hornets rallied around him. He marched 54 yards to score following the second half kickoff, with Hoog again providing the big gainers, a 24-yard end around and a 17-yard pass reception.

Redwood finished second in the round robin tourney, followed by Drake, San Rafael and Marin Catholic. Bob Gower of Terra Linda led all scorers with 33 points.

OVER LOWLY OHLONE

New Backfield Helpful In First Tars' Victory

By BRIAN SOBEL

FREMONT — A new-look backfield sparked College of Marin to its first 1974 football victory. The Tars (1-3) downed Ohlone, 27-10, Saturday night in a non-league game before 150 fans.

Ohlone grabbed a 3-0 first-quarter lead on a 34-yard field goal by Rick DeRoque. But from the second quarter on, the Tars dominated. Tim Nowell, starting at quarterback for Hoza Wright, passed to speedy end Jackie Robinson for two second-quarter touchdowns.

Joining Nowell in the backfield were Mark Magers and Gino Pomilia who were replacing Jim Filippi and Steve D'Ambra. Magers produced 101 yards on 15 rushes, Pomilia 71 on 10. Meanwhile, Nowell completed eight out of 11 passes for 169 yards.

The first Marin touchdown was set up after the Tars had driven some 74 yards in 13 plays only to be stopped on the two-yard line. Ohlone gained possession and were forced to punt by a fired-up Marin defense. The Tars then took over on the Renegades' 39 yard line and drove to the 17 where Nowell passed to Robinson in the end zone for the score.

Ohlone found a brief offensive spark when Larry Voster, a 6-foot, freshman quarterback marched his team for a score, Eric Deibert ran it in from three yards out. Deibert finished with 137 yards on 33 carries.

With just under four minutes remaining in the half, Nowell passed 27 yards to Robinson for a first down. Seconds later, Nowell connected with Ron Dick for an 11-yard gain and then threw a perfect 26-yard touchdown pass to Robinson. At half, the Tars led 13-10.

The Tars defensive line blocked a 27-yard field goal attempt and Curt Campbell alertly picked up the ball and raced 83 yards for the score early in the third quarter.

The Tars added one more touchdown when Nowell scored on a seven-yard keeper in the final period. Lowly Ohlone suffered its 24th straight defeat.

Marin Runners Dominate

DANVILLE — Runners from San Rafael, Tamalpais and Redwood high schools did a fair share of dominating the annual San Ramon Invitational cross country meet Saturday.

Some 947 runners, representing 53 schools from northern California, took part.

In the medium school class, San Rafael won the varsity event, and finished second in the junior varsity and frosh-soph races. Ray Green finished third to lead the Bulldog varsity victory of 73 points to 86 for second-place San Ramon, the defending North Coast champions.

Tam, also running in the medium class, got course-record performances from Linda Broderick in girls' varsity and Aran Collier in frosh-soph to win those events plus the girls' junior varsity. Steve Locey and Kim Baez finished fourth and sixth for the Indians in the boys' varsity race.

Redwood, the Marin County Athlecti League's best team so far this season, competed in the large school division and took third in the varsity, and second in the frosh-soph. Redwood's Rod Berry set a course record for freshmen, and Hal Schulz finished fifth to lead the Giant varsity.

He then picked off Washington and struck out Angel Manguel to end the game.

DESPAIR — A Tamalpais High School player sat, head in hands, after watching his team's quarterback, Dan Lucia, suffer a broken arm in Saturday's game against Novato. Novato ran its Marin County Athletic League shutout string to seven with a 13-0 victory.

QUARTERBACKS SIDELINED

Novato's Shutout Win Over Tam Very Costly

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Novato High School got its seventh straight Marin County Athletic League football shutout Saturday, 13-0 over Tamalpais. But what a price was paid, both to get it and to try and prevent it!

On the very first series of plays, Tam lost its fine junior quarterback Dan Lucia for the season when he suffered a broken left arm just above the wrist. He had gained 15 yards on a run when he went down near the Novato bench.

The league-leading Hornets (2-0), also lost their quarterback, albeit only for the game. On the third play of the second quarter, Mike Moroski threw an interception. Quarterbacks as a rule make lousy defensive plays, and Moroski, a brilliant quarterback, proved no exception. He helped tackle Tam's Roger Nelson, and sustained a broken nose in the process.

The loss of Lucia could have crumpled Tam; immediately after he went out, Moroski led Novato on a precise touchdown drive that included 12 and 11-yard passes to Steve Hoog.

But the Indians came to play, and after Moroski's departure they did just that. in the last seconds of the first half, they came as close as anyone has to closing the shutout string.

With a fourth down on the Novato 36-yard line, Tam's Kevin Murphy threw from punt formation, and tight end Mike Lamb made a leaping catch in traffic at the eight.

Unfortunately for the Indians,

A's, Dodgers Are Evenly Matched

Hunter, Downing On Mound In Third Game

By GARY HUGHES

LOS ANGELES — The first two games of this year's World Series are over and one thing has been definitely settled. The 1974 editions of the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Oakland Athletics are as evenly matched as any two teams can be.

Game one saw Oakland take a page from an old Dodger play-book. Outhit by a large (11 to five margin, the A's nonetheless were able to put one more run on the board than their neighbors to the south, 3-2. The runs came in ways that the Dodgers invented years ago. After Reggie Jackson hit a home run, a run scored on a squeeze bunt. The eventual winning run came in on an error. The A's made the most out of their opportunities. They left only four men on base. The Dodgers stranded 12.

Yesterday's second game found both teams matching hit totals (six). The key hit was a two-run home run by Joe Ferguson. The big defensive play was turned in by Dodger first baseman, Steve Garvey. He made a great catch of a poor throw by shortstop, Bill Russell to complete an inning-ending double play in the eighth. At the time, Oakland had the bases loaded with one out and their big guns coming up. Had the throw gone through Garvey, two runs would have scored, and we might have seen Oakland win.

Baseball's Octoberfest now moves into Oakland for the third straight year. Off the first two games, it is impossible to pick an eventual winner. Tomorrow night at 5:30, the edge should be with the A's. In Catfish Hunter, they are sending their number one against Al Downing who, at best, ranks as the Dodgers third pitcher. The problem with this type of reasoning is that it neglects to take into consideration that the game has to be played on the field. The edge on paper is just that —an edge on paper.

A key factor in the games in Oakland is the starting time. The worst possible time to play baseball is at dusk. I hope that a game isn't decided on a misplay caused by the conditions in light or lack of it. It would not be right.

SOUTHLAND NOTES: Dodger Stadium has to be seen to be believed. Gene Tenace told me that he'd love to play there all the time. The place is beautifully landscaped and colorfully laid out. The two largest crowds in Dodger Stadium history were in attendnace (55,989 yesterday and 55,974 Saturday).

The L.A. media is making out this series to be the good guys against the bad guys; you can guess who the bad guys are. . .

Alvin Dark did a great managing job in the first two games. Baseball is a much different game when you eliminate the designated hitter and Dark handled the situation very well. . .

You can get a 16-ounce soft drink for only 30 cents, and along with at least one trip to Hawaii, you have to taste a Dodger Dog before you pass to your final reward. . .

The Giants were very busy talking to various teams over the weekend. Bobby Bonds to Cincinnati is a possibility, and a Pirate may be on the way to San Francisco — possibly Al Oliver. . .

Billy North summed up the A's: "We just seem to do whatever's necessary to win. We have been very complacent and someday it's going to catch up to us. I just hope it's not this year." So do I, Bill, so do I.

GOT HIM — Oakland A's pinch runner Herb Washington was picked off first base in the ninth inning of yesterday's second World Series game in Los Angeles. Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey made the tag.

Dodgers' Ferguson Likes To Swing Bat

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Joe Ferguson claims he doesn't care if he catches or plays the outfield. All he wants to do is swing his big brown bat.

Thanks to that bat, the Los Angeles Dodgers are even up with the Oakland A's in the World Series — at 1-1 — today withthe Series switching to Oakland tomorrow night. (Game time is 5:30 p.m. and it will be televised on channel 4.)

"This was an important win for us," said Ferguson, "because it means we're not in a must win situation on Tuesday."

Ferguson, who lost his Dodger catching job to Steve Yeager this season, knocked a Vida Blue fastball over the centerfield fence with one out in the sixth inning to give Don Sutton a 3-0 lead.

"As long as I get to swing the bat four times," said the moustachioed Dodger rightfielder, "I'm happy anywhere."

Ferguson wasn't the only Dodger star in Los Angeles' 3-2 victory, though:

Sutton won his 12th game in a row with five-hit pitching through eight plus innings. He now has won 16 of his last 17 decisions since July 25 and is 3-0 in postseason starts against the Pittsburgh Pirates and A's.

Steve Garvey backhanded a Bill Russell bouncer in the dirt to complete an inning-ending, bases-loaded double play in the eighth.

Mike Marshall, the screwball specialist noted for his durability, picked former indoor sprint king Herb Washington off first base when he represented the tying run with one out in the ninth.

Tomorrow night, the A's will send 25-game winner Jim (Catfish) Hunter, a righthander, against veteran southpaw Al Downing, who pitched in the 1963 and 1964 World Series for the New York Yankees.

In the first two games of the Series, Dodger pitching has checked the A's on a dozen hits.

Andy Messersmith, a 20-game winner this year and the first-game Los Angeles starter, will go Wednesday night against lefthander Ken Holtzman. The A's won the Series inaugural 3-2 although the Dodgers outhit them 11-6.

"We're not hitting but we're playing baseball," said an unsmiling Charles O. Finley, the A's owner who vehemently denied before the game that he was moving his franchise.

"We win one, they win one," shrugged Reggie Jackson, the A's slugger who had one-third of his team's offense — double and a single — yesterday.

"We go home to play three. I hope we'll win a couple there and then let's see."

"I think we'll start to hit the way we can," predicted Sal Bando, who is hitless in seven trips in the Series.

Perhaps, unnoticed, was the Dodgers' first run. Ron Cey, who aboard on a walk, went to third on Bill Russell's fly ball that dropped in front of Jackson in rightfield.

The ball appeared likely to be caught. Cey scored on Steve Yeager's single that Bert Campaneris barely missed getting to.

"I had looked at Tommy LaSorda (the Dodger third base coach) and he told me to keep coming," said Cey. "It was a steal play. If the ball had been caught, I would have been a dead duck."

In the Dodgers' 3-2 loss Saturday, Ferguson made the play of the game when he gunned down Bando at the plate in the eighth inning after cutting in front of centerfielder Jimmy Wynn to catch a Jackson fly ball.

"The throw didn't win the game," yesterday's hero told reporters. "The home run turned out to win the game. I didn't feel very good yesterday even though I made that throw."

Dodger manager Walter Alston removed Sutton with A's at second and third and none out

'Born' To Be Wristwrestler

By DIANE FISHER

Jim Dolcini of Petaluma was "born" to be a wristwrestler.

Dolcini won his third heavyweight title Saturday night at the 13th World Wristwrestling championship in Petaluma.

The 235-pound favorite pinned Virgil Arciero in the final match amidst the shouts of a capacity crowd exceeding 1,200 in Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building. Calling this year's competition the "roughest I've ever had," Jim said the semi-final match against John Woolsey took a lot out of him.

Woolsey, the 1973 middleweight champion, wrestled in the heavyweight division for the first time this year giving Dolcini his strongest challenge of the evening. Dolcini said he felt very dizzy after that match and was still feeling the effects when he went into the final round. The match with Arciero of El Cerrito lasted two and one-half minutes.

A commercial fertilizer spreader, Dolcini does not train for the wristwrestling tournament or even practice. According to Dolcini, the last time he wristwrestled was in May.

"I think it's just something that runs in the family. We're born with strong leverage in our wrists."

Dolcini entered the Wristwrestling Hall of Fame Saturday night, with his win tying the record set by Duane Benedix in 1969.

The women's title was taken by Donna Meyers of Placentia, Orange County, who won the women's national championship earlier this year. The 117-pounder, in contrast to Dolcini, trains every day with her husband Chris who is also a wrist wrestler.

"He's stronger than any woman, so how can I lose?"

Chris Meyer almost made it a two-title marriage as he went all the way to the lightweight final match before falling to Ted Pollock. It was Pollock's third consecutive lightweight victory.

Pollock says that technique, speed, and mental attitude are the keys to the championship.

"I constantly picture my opponent's arm going down in defeat," said Pollock.

The darling of the audience, however, was the master of ceremony and former Mr. America, Jimmy Payne. Payne, 48, was winner in the featherweight division.

Relinquishing his announcer's microphone, he would shrug off his red coat and saunter to the table to meet his opponents. He beat them all including the 1973 featherweight champion George Boucher. The crowd gave Jimmy a standing ovation as he was handed the trophy.

Bob Howell of Reno, Nev., won the middleweight title.

THE STRUGGLE — Jim Dolcini (center) grimaced while pinning burly Virgil Arciero to win the heavyweight title Saturday night in the World Wristwrestling Championship at Petaluma. Stripe-shirted referees watched intently.

Calistoga's Homecoming Successful

CALISTOGA — It was a happy homecoming for Calistoga High School Friday night when the Wildcats whipped Tomales in their North Central League II football opener, 20-0.

Calistoga's first touchdown came on a three-yard run by Jeff Bounsall with Dennis Fechter kicking the extra point. A few minutes later, Wildcat Frank Giammona ran 69 yards for a touchdown to put Calistoga ahead in the first quarter, 13-0.

Tomales (2-2-1) could not generate the needed offense, as the tenacious Wildcats held the Braves to 151 yards rushing compared to Calistoga's 231.

Tire Problem Proves Costly

Combined AP & UPI

MONTEREY — Britain's Brian Redman won the Monterey Grand Prix for Formula 5000 cars yesterday after Mario Andretti shredded a right front tire. Andretti had to settle for third behind England's James Hunt.

"I guess I've had some of the worst breaks in this sport," Andretti said. "No matter how hard I try, something keeps happening."

Redman won the race with an average speed of 112.41 miles per hour before a crowd of 47,000, a track record.

Tennis

PEBBLE BEACH — Frank Sedgman of Australia yesterday beat Pancho Gonzales of Las Vegas, Nev., 6-3, 6-2, to win the Almaden Pebble Beach Seniors Tennis Tournament.

NASSAU, Bahamas — The United States clinched the first round of the 1975 Davis Cup tennis competition when Erik van Dillen and Charles Pasarell soundly defeated a Commonwealth Caribbean doubles team 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

MADRID — Fourth-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania yesterday upset Bjorn Borg, the No. 2 seed from Sweden, in five sets, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-4, to win the men's singles title in the Melia International Open Tennis Tournament.

PHOENIX — Virginia Wade of England yesterday scored an easy 6-1, 6-2 victory over Australian Helen Gourlay to win the $50,000 Phoenix Professional Women's Tennis Tournament.

Golf

INZAI, Japan — Gene Littler fired a two-under-par 69 yesterday and won the $300,000 Pacific Master Golf Tournament with a 279 total, five strokes ahead of runner-up Bert Yancey.

Baseball

LOS ANGELES — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced yesterday he will hold a hearing on the contract dispute between Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley and star pitcher Jim Hunter. In dispute is payment of $50,000 on Hunter's $100,000 contract.

MOVE, PLEASE — Seals' goalie Gilles Meloche shoved Guy Charron of the Red Wings aside while Mickey Redmond lined up a shot last night in Detroit. Jim Neilson (15) helped Meloche defend on the play.

Honeymoon Over For Seals

DETROIT (AP) — The honeymoon finally ended for the California Golden Seals, who lost their first game of the young National Hockey League season.

The Seals early successes were halted last night by the Detroit Red Wings, 7-3, in the opener of a five-game road trip. The Seals, now 1-1-1, will play the Rangers in New York on Wednesday.

"We're primed to be defensive," said California coach Marshall Johnston after the game. "When we fell behind 3-0, we had to open up. That just isn't our game. Then the penalties threw us out of kilter."

There were 21 penalties, including a handful which stemmed from a broken stick.

California goalie Gilles Meloche cracked his weapon during a Detroit barrage, and Johnston threw him another from the bench.

"I thought the officials weren't looking, but it turned out they were," explained Johnston.

Referee John McCauley assessed a two-minute penalty against Meloche for illegal receipt of equipment, topped it with a 10-minute misconduct when Meloche complained and called a bench minor when other Seals also voiced their displeasure.

The Wings took a 3-0 lead on goals by rookie Bill Lochead and two by Nick Libett. Lochead, who celebrated his 20th birthday Sunday, collected a second goal later and Mickey Redmond also scored twice. Wings Captain Marcel Dionne added five assists.

California closed the gap with two consecutive goals, but Detroit took charge again to pull the game out of reach.

Danny Grant scored Detroit's other goal, while rookie Larry Patey scored his first two NHL goals for the Seals. One was on a power play and the other came while California was short-handed.

Joey Johnston also tallied for the Seals, who were outshot 34-22.

New-Name Defense For Miami Dolphins: 'Idiots'

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

That "no-name defense" that helped carry the Miami Dolphins to two consecutive Super Bowl championships is coming in for some name-calling.

"We're disorganized, we're running around like a bunch of idiots," claimed the Dolphins' All-Pro safety Jake Scott after Miami failed to hold a four point lead with less than two minutes left to play yesterday and dropped a 20-17 decision to the Washington Redskins.

The defeat was the second in five games for the defending Super Bowl champions and left them in third place in the American Football Conference's East Division, two games behind the unbeaten New England Patriots who ran their record to 5-0 with a 24-0 whipping of the New York Jets.

Also, still sporting perfect records in the National Football League are St. Louis and Minnesota. The Cardinals edged the Dallas Cowboys 31-28 and the Vikings trounced the Houston Oilers 51-10.

"This has to be one of the toughest losses we've ever suffered, said Dolphins' head coach Don Shula after 40-year-old quarterback Sonny Jurgensen riddled the Miami secondary for six completions in the last two minutes, culminating in his six-yard touchdown toss to Larry Smith with 16 seconds left to give the Redskins their victory.

Jurgensen, an 18-year National Football League veteran, had all the maturity the Redskins needed, passing for 303 yards on 26 completions in 39 attempts. In addition to his TD pitch to Smith, Jurgensen also hooked up with Roy Jefferson for a 37-yard touchdown pass while Mike Moseley added field goals of 40 and 41 yards to complete the Redskins' scoring and enable Washington to remain two games behind St. Louis in the National Conference East Division.

In other games, Green Bay upset Los Angeles 17-6, Pittsburgh beat Kansas City 34-24, Philadelphia routed the New York Giants 35-7, Oakland downed San Diego 14-10, Buffalo tripped Baltimore 27-14, Cincinnati clipped Cleveland 34-24, Atlanta got by Chicago 13-10 and Denver whipped New Orleans 33-17.

New England's victory over the Jets marked the best start the Patriots have had in their 15-year history and tied a club record for consecutive victories. Sam Cunningham blasted for touchdowns of five and one yard and Bob Geddes returned an interception 29 yards for another TD. The shutout was the first at home for the Jets in their history and dropped them to 1-4.

St. Louis, thanks to Jim Bakken's 31-yard field goal with 62 seconds left to play, overcame Dallas as the Cardinals ran their record to 5-0 for the team's best start since 1966.

Fran Tarkenton's three TD passes led Minnesota over Houston as the unbeaten Vikings kept their two game lead over second place Green Bay in the NFC's Central Division. The Packers kept pace by beating two-touchdown favorite Los Angeles on the strength of Jon Staggers' 68-yard punt return for a touchdown and three interceptions by linebacker Ted Hendricks.

Safety Glen Edwards returned an intercepted pass 49-yards for a touchdown to lead Pittsburgh over Kansas City; Roman Gabriel's first two touchdown passes of the season enabled Philadelphia to improve its record to 4-1 at the expense of the Giants; and Neal Craig returned an intercepted pass 55 yards to help Buffalo hand Baltimore its fifth straight loss.

Ken Anderson threw for three touchdowns and ran for another in Cincinnati's win over Cleveland; Nick Mike-Mayer's 31-yard field goal with only six seconds left to play gave Atlanta its win over Chicago and quarterback Steve Ramsey, making his first start in two years, tossed two touchdown passes in leading Denver over New Orleans.

FOR SAN MARIN

Defense Keys Grid Victory

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Ignited by one big defensive play, the San Marin High School Mustangs exploded in the second half to defeat Redwood, 20-0, in Marin County Athletic League football Saturday at Novato High School.

On the third play of the second half, defensive back John Weston snatched a fumble in mid-air and went 69 yards with it untouched to break a scoreless tie. The aroused Mustangs thereafter dominated with their crushing ground game, while holding the disheartened Giants to a single first down after the intermission.

Just six plays after Weston's romp, junior fullback Bob Bennett added insurance with a 71-yard touchdown dash in which he showed remarkable speed for a 210-pounder. On the strength of that run, Bennett led all rushers with 99 yards.

Wayne Roche, the 1973 all-leaguer, had a miserable first half and a fine second half for 57 yards on the day. On San Marin's final drive, he carried seven times for 36 yards, including a final yard for the touchdown.

For Redwood, the afternoon was another exercise in frustration. Week after week this season the young Giants have played strong early and collapsed late, and Saturday's shutout was the fourth against them in five games.

Redwood came close to scoring once in the first quarter and again in the second. But San Marin stopped a fourth down run by Diebel at the seven yard line, and blocked a field goal attempt by Mark Chapman at the 16.

Wildcats Tip Drake In Football

By DAVID DEL GRANDE

It was Drake High School's week off from the Marin County Athletic League football competition last week, but somebody forgot to tell the resurgent Marin Catholic Wildcats.

The Wildcats, capitalizing on a Pirate fumble late in the first half, scored and went on to upset Drake for the second straight year, 7-2, before 600 sun drenched fans at the College of Marin Saturday.

The game was completely dominated by the Wildcats. Thirteen Marin Catholic penalties netting 105 yards kept the score close. An example of this was when the 'Cats (2-3) had driven 59 yards to the Pirate six in the third quarter, then, four consecutive penalties moved them back 40 yards and killed any scoring threat.

The Pirates' points came on a safety when Wildcat punter Jeff Knotts alertly dove on a fumbled low snap in his own end zone. Turnovers and lack of consistency hurt Drake. Two Drake passes were intercepted and Drake fumbled the football away three times, twice inside the Wildcat five-yard line.

In contrast to the two Pirate fumbles that prevented scores, Drake's other fumble resulted in the game's only touchdown. After recovering a Terry Fahey fumble at the Pirate 40 with 33 seconds left in the half, the Wildcats passed three times.

Following two incompletions, 'Cat quarterback Bob Yetter pin-pointed a bomb between two Drake defenders to senior end Rich Speidel who coasted in for the score. Chris Morrison added the extra point.

Drake has one win in five games this year.

Powerful Marin Tar Booters Win

SANTA ROSA — College of Marin's high-powered soccer team scored 10 goals for the second straight day and walloped Santa Rosa Junior College, 10-0 Saturday in a non-league game.

Tars' center halfback, All-American Misak Pirinjian, and center forward Mike Linder contained their personal scoring duel with two goals apiece, and Mark Schlobohm also had two.

Pirinjian had six goals on Friday in a 10-1 victory over Los Medanos in Pittsburgh. He has 13 goals for the season to 12 for Linder. The Tars have won six games, lost four and tied one.

IN AND OUT — Harrison Davis of the Chargers had a pass sail through his arms in the first quarter of yesterday's National Football League game against the Oakland Raiders in San Diego. Jack Tatum (32) and George Atkinson came up to make the stop had the pass been complete.

Raiders' Coach Madden Glad To Leave With Win

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — "I'm damn glad to get it over and get outa town," was coach John Madden's comment after his Oakland Raiders squeaked past the San Diego Chargers 14-10 yesterday.

"We said all week that San Diego was improved and they showed it."

The Raiders entered the game 15-point favorites but had to stop two fourth-quarter drives to score their fourth straight win. San Diego suffered its fourth loss of the season, all by seven points or less.

The combination of Kenny Stabler to Cliff Branch made the difference. They connected on a 46-yard scoring pass play in the second quarter for a 7-3 Oakland lead.

Then they combined on crucial 15 and 22 yard passes to set up the winning four-yard scoring aerial to Bob Moore in the fourth period.

San Diego did not play dead. They moved from their 13 to Oakland's 24 with 2:24 left only to fail when Dan Fouts overthrew a wide open Harrison Davis in the end zone.

Then, after Ray Guy punted out of bounds on San Diego's one, the Chargers drove to Oakland's 39 only to have Jack Tantum make the Raiders' first interception of the day with 10 seconds left.

"Cliff has been playing well the last few weeks and coming up with big plays and touchdowns each game," Madden said of Branch, who snared seven passes for 124 yards.

Marv Hubbard and Clarence Davis gave Oakland balance running for 94 and 83 yards, respectively.

Stabler was almost the goat of the game. He marched his club 75 yards to San Diego's one in the first quarter but on a fourth down play he chose to pass on a rollout instead of waltz in for what appeared a cinch score.

San Diego's Sam Williams jarred the pass from Dave Casper's grasp and the Chargers got the ball on the 20. Madden declined comment saying, "When a play is over, what good is it to second guess?"

Cardinals Top Casa Grande In Football

Cardinal Newman High School answered the football question, 'who's number one?' Saturday night on Durst Field when it defeated Casa Grande, 14-10, in a Sonoma County League game.

The Cardinald scored all 14 points in the first quarter. First touchdown was when Skip Withers dashed nine yards. Following a successful onside kick, Cardinal Newman scored again when after a drive Joe Domenichelli plunged from the one. Tony Cuculich kicked both conversions.

Casa Grande bounced back in the second quarter when John Lutz ran for the touchdown (28 yards) and the extra points. The score at halftime was 14-8.

In the fourth quarter, Gaucho Dale Holmes nailed Steve Foy in the Cardinal end zone for a safety.

Marin Harriers Take 7th Place

SAN MATEO — College of Marin's cross country team placed seventh in the 11-team large school division at the San Mateo Invitational meet Saturday.

Ken Scalmanini led Marin with a 17th place finish, followed by Kian McCarthy, 18th, and Mike Killeen, 27th. Scalmanini covered the four-mile course in 21:56.

San Joaquin Delta of Stockton won the meet with 40 points. Marin had 178.

Marin Hockey Team Beats Sun Valley

Chris Bonbright scored two goals to lead the Marin Amateur Hockey Club Bantams to a 5-3 victory over Sun Valley of Concord yesterday at Raydine's Ice Skating Rink in Corte Madera.

The Marin Pee Wees lost to Sun Valley, 5-2. In Sacramento yesterday, the Marin Mites lost to Sacramento, 5-4, despite four goals by Peter Schank. He now has 19 goals in three games.

St. Vincent Wins Opener

KELSEYVILLE — Tim Burnett scampered 76 yards for the game's only touchdown as St. Vincent High School won its North Central League II football opener, 7-0, over Kelseyville Saturday.

they had used all their time outs, and the clock simply ran out after three more plays. They ended on the one-yard line.

The difference in the game was depth. Tam brought just 24 players, none able to replace Lucia. Novato, on the other hand, trotted out Scott DeRecat and it was as if Moroski was still in there with a new number.

DeRecat hit on six of 10 passes for 62 yards, and the Hornets rallied around him. He marched 54 yards to score following the second half kickoff, with Hoog again providing the big gainers, a 24-yard end around and a 17-yard pass reception.

OVER LOWLY OHLONE

New Backfield Helpful In First Tars' Victory

By BRIAN SOBEL

FREMONT — A new-look backfield sparked College of Marin to its first 1974 football victory. The Tars (1-3) downed Ohlone, 27-10, Saturday night in a non-league game before 150 fans.

Ohlone grabbed a 3-0 first-quarter lead on a 34-yard field goal by Rick DeRoque. But from the second quarter on, the Tars dominated. Tim Nowell, starting at quarterback for Hoza Wright, passed to speedy end Jackie Robinson for two second-quarter touchdowns.

Joining Nowell in the backfield were Mark Magers and Gino Pomilia who were replacing Jim Filippi and Steve D'Ambra. Magers produced 101 yards on 15 rushes, Pomilia 71 on 10. Meanwhile, Nowell completed eight out of 11 passes for 169 yards.

The first Marin touchdown was set up after the Tars had driven some 74 yards in 13 plays only to be stopped on the two-yard line. Ohlone gained possession and were forced to punt by a fired-up Marin defense. The Tars then took over on the Renegades' 39 yard line and drove to the 17 where Nowell passed to Robinson in the end zone for the score.

Ohlone found a brief offensive spark when Larry Voster, a 6-foot, freshman quarterback marched his team for a score, Eric Deibert ran it in from three yards out. Deibert finished with 137 yards on 33 carries.

With just under four minutes remaining in the half, Nowell passed 27 yards to Robinson for a first down. Seconds later, Nowell connected with Ron Dick for an 11-yard gain and then threw a perfect 26-yard touchdown pass to Robinson. At half, the Tars led 13-10.

The Tars defensive line blocked a 27-yard field goal attempt and Curt Campbell alertly picked up the ball and raced 83 yards for the score early in the third quarter.

The Tars added one more touchdown when Nowell scored on a seven-yard keeper in the final period. Lowly Ohlone suffered its 24th straight defeat.

Marin Runners Dominate

DANVILLE — Runners from San Rafael, Tamalpais and Redwood high schools did a fair share of dominating the annual San Ramon Invitational cross country meet Saturday.

Some 947 runners, representing 53 schools from northern California, took part.

In the medium school class, San Rafael won the varsity event, and finished second in the junior varsity and frosh-soph races. Ray Green finished third to lead the Bulldog varsity victory of 73 points to 86 for second-place San Ramon, the defending North Coast champions.

Tam, also running in the medium class, got course-record performances from Linda Broderick in girls' varsity and Aran Collier in frosh-soph to win those events plus the girls' junior varsity. Steve Locey and Kim Baez finished fourth and sixth for the Indians in the boys' varsity race.

Redwood, the Marin County Athlecti League's best team so far this season, competed in the large school division and took third in the varsity, and second in the frosh-soph. Redwood's Rod Berry set a course record for freshmen, and Hal Schulz finished fifth to lead the Giant varsity.

SERIES

Enter Marshall, who — counting the National League playoffs and World Series — made his 110th appearance of 1974.

Marshall gave up a single to Joe Rudi to make the score 3-2. After Gene Tenace struck out, A's manager Alvin Dark put in Washington to run for Rudi.

He then picked off Washington and struck out Angel Manguel to end the game.

Tire Problem Proves Costly

Combined AP & UPI

MONTEREY — Britain's Brian Redman won the Monterey Grand Prix for Formula 5000 cars yesterday after Mario Andretti shredded a right front tire. Andretti had to settle for third behind England's James Hunt.

"I guess I've had some of the worst breaks in this sport," Andretti said. "No matter how hard I try, something keeps happening."

Redman won the race with an average speed of 112.41 miles per hour before a crowd of 47,000, a track record.

Tennis

PEBBLE BEACH — Frank Sedgman of Australia yesterday beat Pancho Gonzales of Las Vegas, Nev., 6-3, 6-2, to win the Almaden Pebble Beach Seniors Tennis Tournament.

NASSAU, Bahamas — The United States clinched the first round of the 1975 Davis Cup tennis competition when Erik van Dillen and Charles Pasarell soundly defeated a Commonwealth Caribbean doubles team 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

MADRID — Fourth-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania yesterday upset Bjorn Borg, the No. 2 seed from Sweden, in five sets, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-4, to win the men's singles title in the Melia International Open Tennis Tournament.

PHOENIX — Virginia Wade of England yesterday scored an easy 6-1, 6-2 victory over Australian Helen Gourlay to win the $50,000 Phoenix Professional Women's Tennis Tournament.

Golf

INZAI, Japan — Gene Littler fired a two-under-par 69 yesterday and won the $300,000 Pacific Master Golf Tournament with a 279 total, five strokes ahead of runner-up Bert Yancey.

Baseball

LOS ANGELES — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced yesterday he will hold a hearing on the contract dispute between Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley and star pitcher Jim Hunter. In dispute is payment of $50,000 on Hunter's $100,000 contract.

MOVE, PLEASE — Seals' goalie Gilles Meloche shoved Guy Charron of the Red Wings aside while Mickey Redmond lined up a shot last night in Detroit. Jim Neilson (15) helped Meloche defend on the play.

Honeymoon Over For Seals

DETROIT (AP) — The honeymoon finally ended for the California Golden Seals, who lost their first game of the young National Hockey League season.

The Seals early successes were halted last night by the Detroit Red Wings, 7-3, in the opener of a five-game road trip. The Seals, now 1-1-1, will play the Rangers in New York on Wednesday.

"We're primed to be defensive," said California coach Marshall Johnston after the game. "When we fell behind 3-0, we had to open up. That just isn't our game. Then the penalties threw us out of kilter."

There were 21 penalties, including a handful which stemmed from a broken stick.

California goalie Gilles Meloche cracked his weapon during a Detroit barrage, and Johnston threw him another from the bench.

"I thought the officials weren't looking, but it turned out they were," explained Johnston.

Referee John McCauley assessed a two-minute penalty against Meloche for illegal receipt of equipment, topped it with a 10-minute misconduct when Meloche complained and called a bench minor when other Seals also voiced their displeasure.

The Wings took a 3-0 lead on goals by rookie Bill Lochead and two by Nick Libett. Lochead, who celebrated his 20th birthday Sunday, collected a second goal later and Mickey Redmond also scored twice. Wings Captain Marcel Dionne added five assists.

California closed the gap with two consecutive goals, but Detroit took charge again to pull the game out of reach.

Danny Grant scored Detroit's other goal, while rookie Larry Patey scored his first two NHL goals for the Seals. One was on a power play and the other came while California was short-handed.

Joey Johnston also tallied for the Seals, who were outshot 34-22.

New-Name Defense For Miami Dolphins: 'Idiots'

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

That "no-name defense" that helped carry the Miami Dolphins to two consecutive Super Bowl championships is coming in for some name-calling.

"We're disorganized, we're running around like a bunch of idiots," claimed the Dolphins' All-Pro safety Jake Scott after Miami failed to hold a four point lead with less than two minutes left to play yesterday and dropped a 20-17 decision to the Washington Redskins.

The defeat was the second in five games for the defending Super Bowl champions and left them in third place in the American Football Conference's East Division, two games behind the unbeaten New England Patriots who ran their record to 5-0 with a 24-0 whipping of the New York Jets.

Also, still sporting perfect records in the National Football League are St. Louis and Minnesota. The Cardinals edged the Dallas Cowboys 31-28 and the Vikings trounced the Houston Oilers 51-10.

"This has to be one of the toughest losses we've ever suffered, said Dolphins' head coach Don Shula after 40-year-old quarterback Sonny Jurgensen riddled the Miami secondary for six completions in the last two minutes, culminating in his six-yard touchdown toss to Larry Smith with 16 seconds left to give the Redskins their victory.

Jurgensen, an 18-year National Football League veteran, had all the maturity the Redskins needed, passing for 303 yards on 26 completions in 39 attempts. In addition to his TD pitch to Smith, Jurgensen also hooked up with Roy Jefferson for a 37-yard touchdown pass while Mike Moseley added field goals of 40 and 41 yards to complete the Redskins' scoring and enable Washington to remain two games behind St. Louis in the National Conference East Division.

In other games, Green Bay upset Los Angeles 17-6, Pittsburgh beat Kansas City 34-24, Philadelphia routed the New York Giants 35-7, Oakland downed San Diego 14-10, Buffalo tripped Baltimore 27-14, Cincinnati clipped Cleveland 34-24, Atlanta got by Chicago 13-10 and Denver whipped New Orleans 33-17.

New England's victory over the Jets marked the best start the Patriots have had in their 15-year history and tied a club record for consecutive victories. Sam Cunningham blasted for touchdowns of five and one yard and Bob Geddes returned an interception 29 yards for another TD. The shutout was the first at home for the Jets in their history and dropped them to 1-4.

St. Louis, thanks to Jim Bakken's 31-yard field goal with 62 seconds left to play, overcame Dallas as the Cardinals ran their record to 5-0 for the team's best start since 1966.

Fran Tarkenton's three TD passes led Minnesota over Houston as the unbeaten Vikings kept their two game lead over second place Green Bay in the NFC's Central Division. The Packers kept pace by beating two-touchdown favorite Los Angeles on the strength of Jon Staggers' 68-yard punt return for a touchdown and three interceptions by linebacker Ted Hendricks.

Safety Glen Edwards returned an intercepted pass 49-yards for a touchdown to lead Pittsburgh over Kansas City; Roman Gabriel's first two touchdown passes of the season enabled Philadelphia to improve its record to 4-1 at the expense of the Giants; and Neal Craig returned an intercepted pass 55 yards to help Buffalo hand Baltimore its fifth straight loss.

Ken Anderson threw for three touchdowns and ran for another in Cincinnati's win over Cleveland; Nick Mike-Mayer's 31-yard field goal with only six seconds left to play gave Atlanta its win over Chicago and quarterback Steve Ramsey, making his first start in two years, tossed two touchdown passes in leading Denver over New Orleans.

7123 REDWOOD HIGHWAY (US 101)

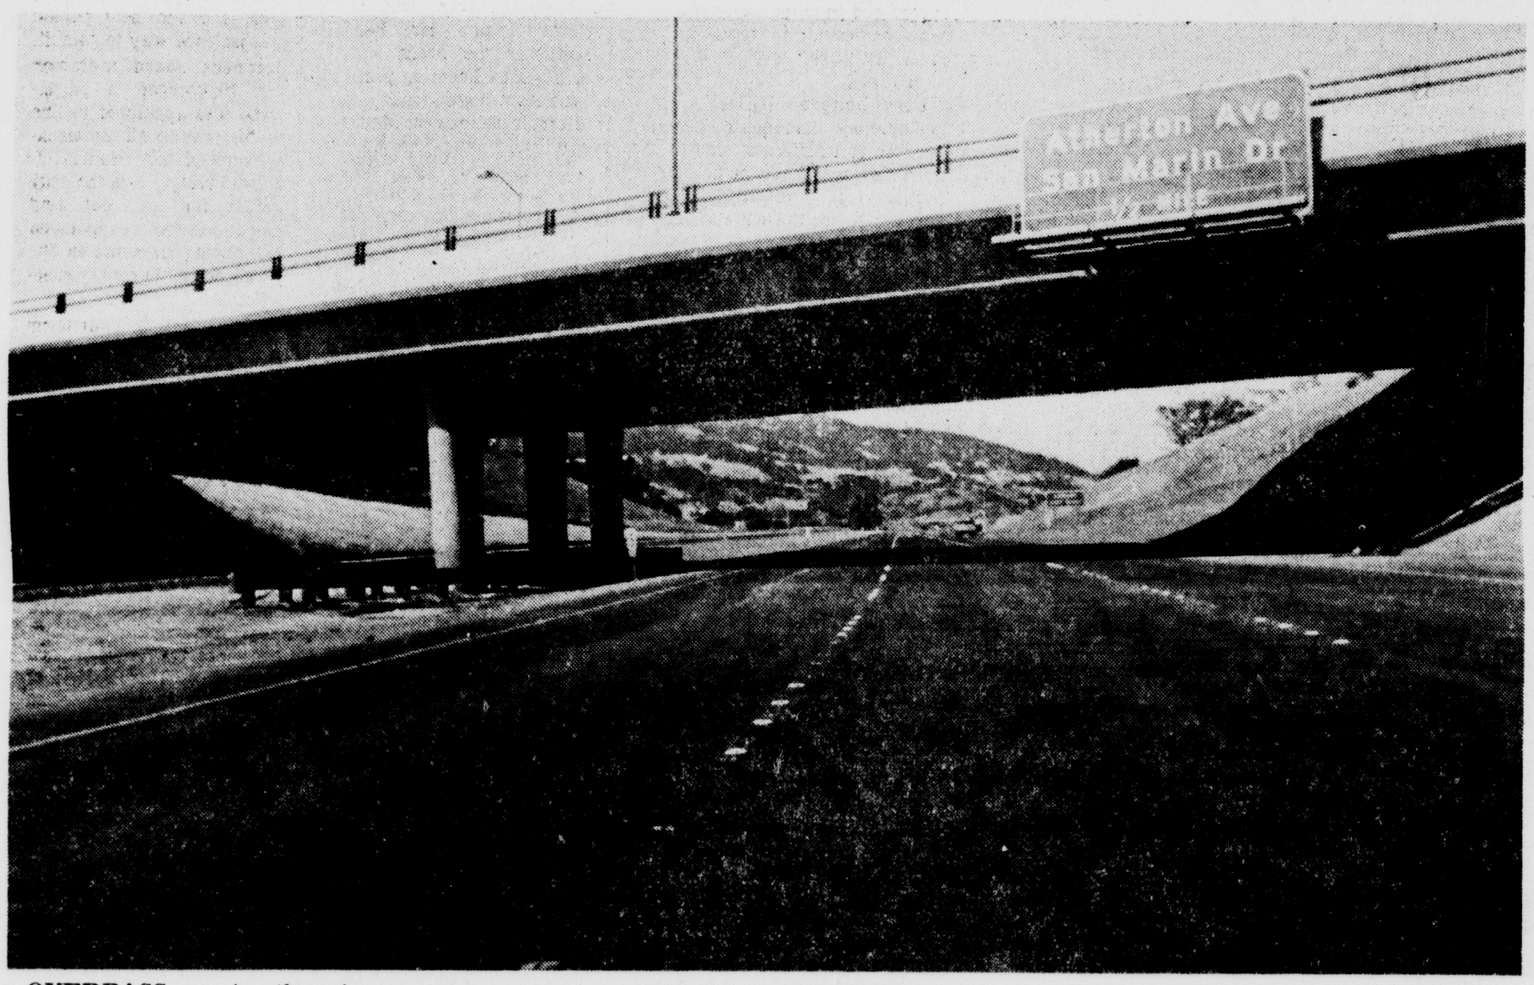
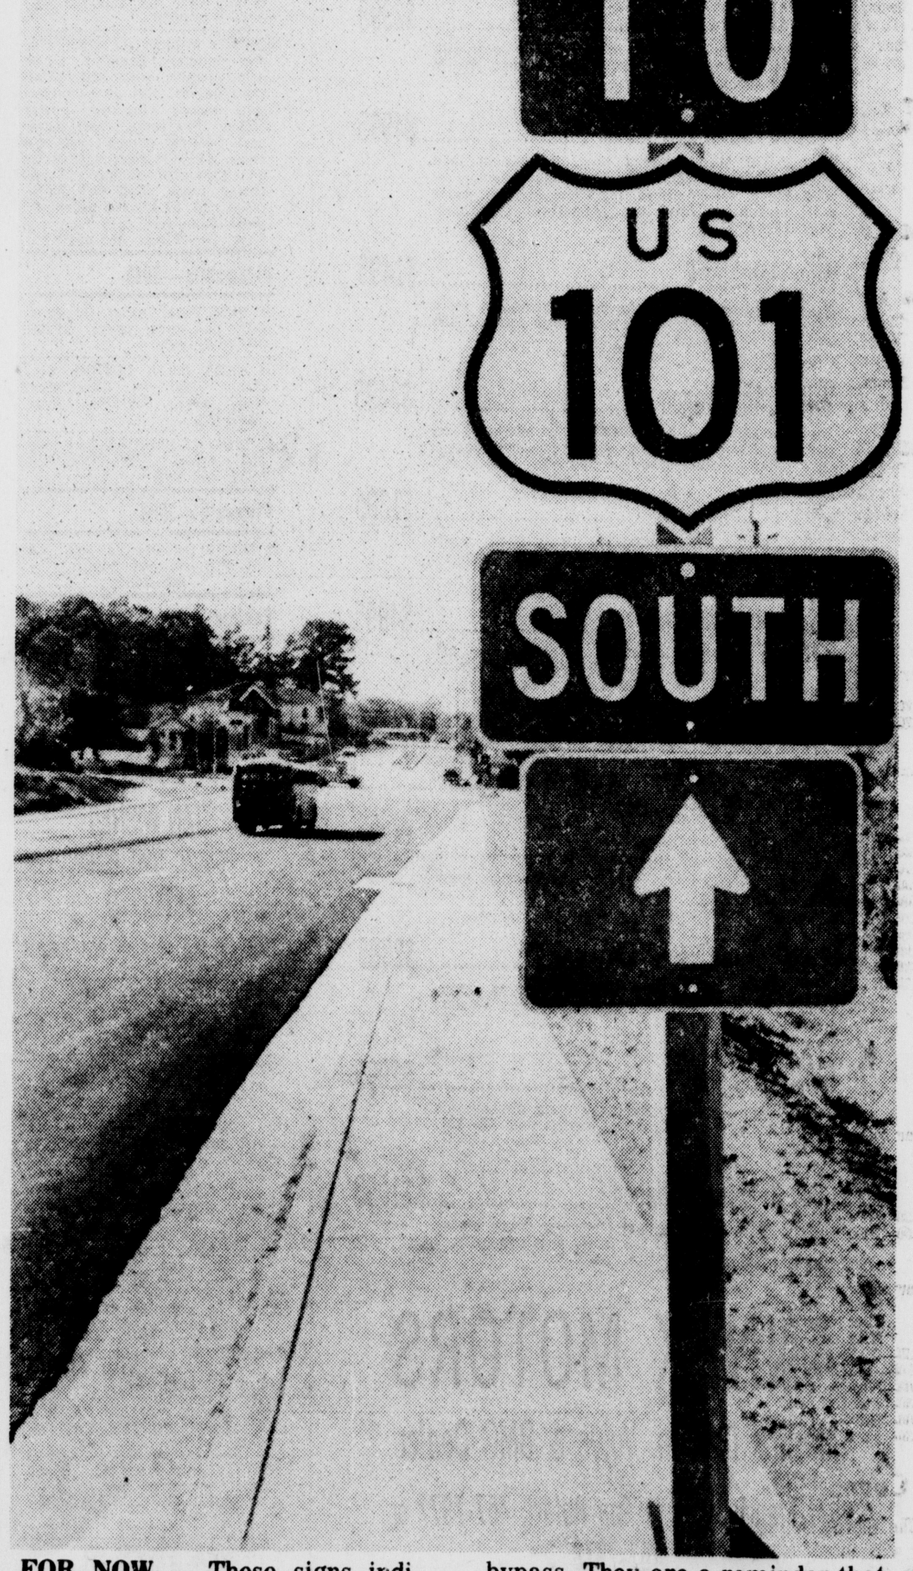
READY FOR BUSINESS — The rearview mirror in Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax's car shows as deserted a stretch of freeway behind as ahead. The occasion was a preview drive on the northbound lines Highway 101's new bypass of Novato. The northbound lanes open tomorrow, marking near-completion of the $15,000,000 project. Southbound lanes will open in about six weeks, depending on weather. Here, the car approaches the Rowland Avenue interchange with its overpass just ahead.

CONVENIENCES AHEAD — With an assist from Donald Baker, an employee of J. F. Shea Co. of Dublin, a handy guide for hungry and tired goes up on thb new Novato bypass. Before the bypass came into being, the driver on Highway 101 passed right through town within sight of what he wanted.

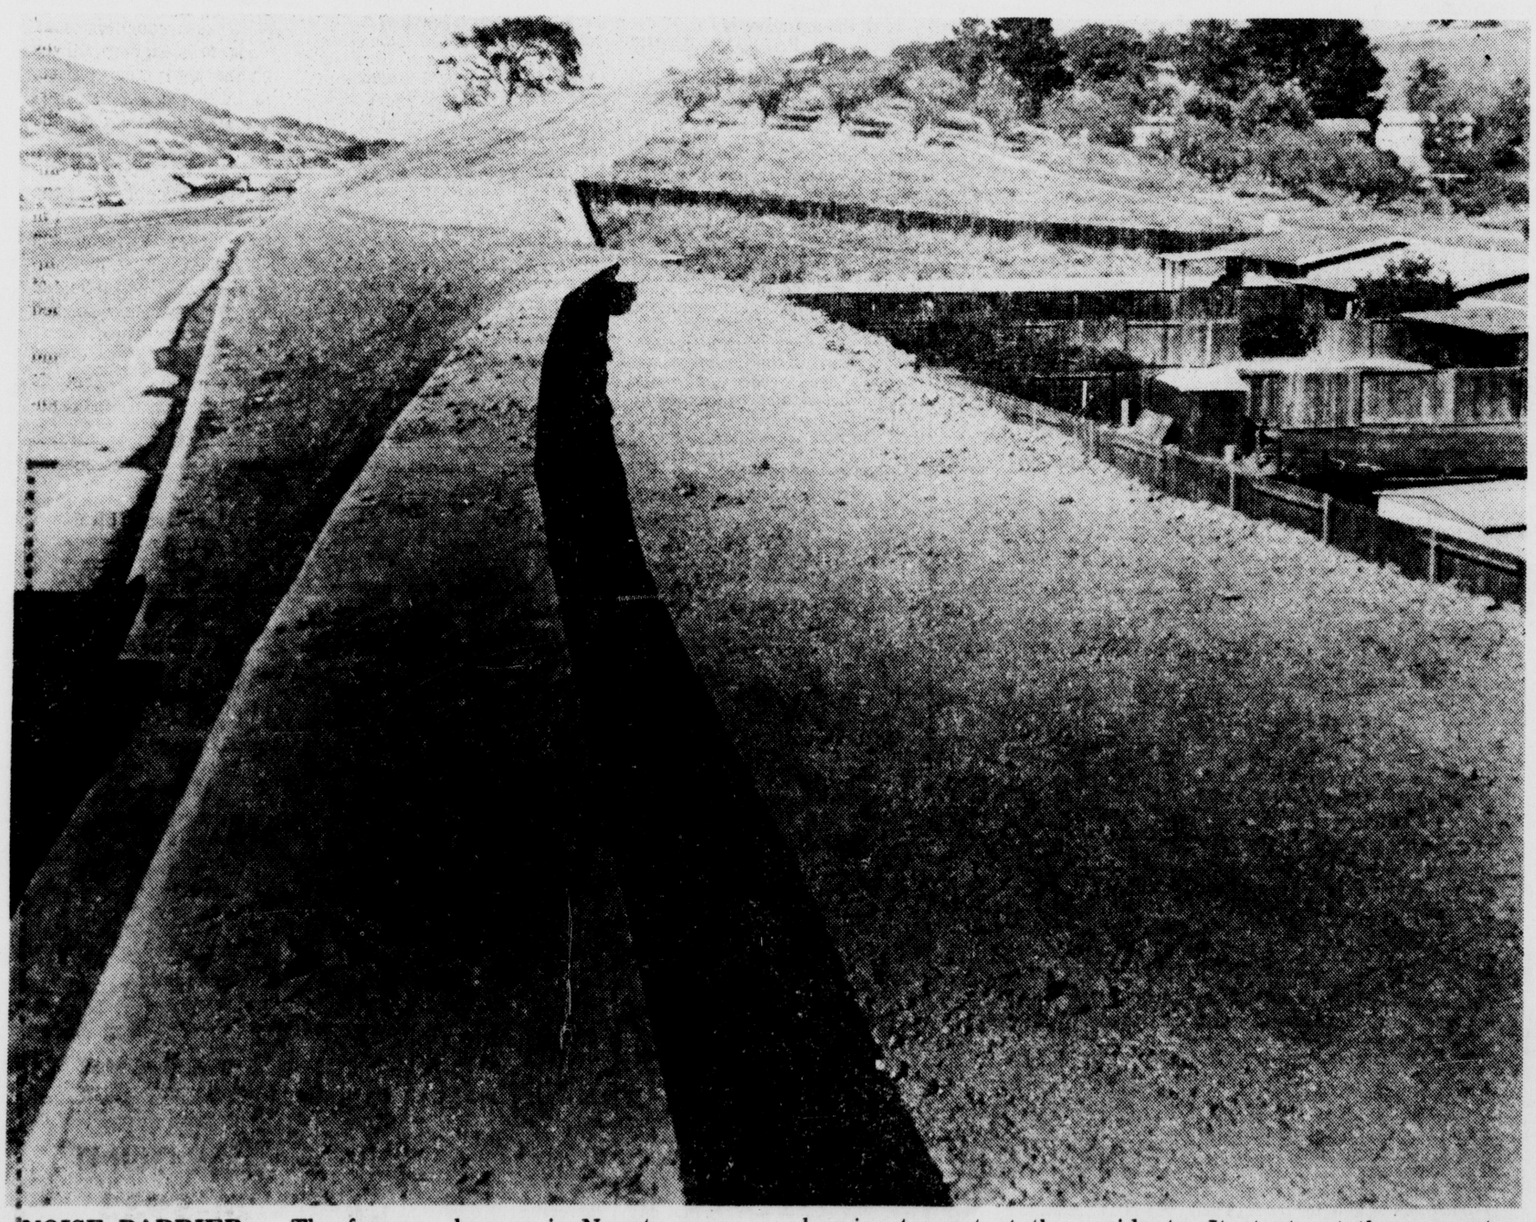


OVERPASS — As the sign on this overpass suggests, Atherton Avenue east of the freeway and San Marin Drive west of the freeway now have something in common. That something is the overpass, itself, which connects the two, a result achieved by engineers bending Atherton a bit north and San Marin a bit south.

Part Of Novato Bypass To Open



FOR NOW — These signs indicate DeLong Avenue's temporary duty as part of the new Novato bypass. They are a reminder that the southbound lanes will not be open for about six weeks.



NOISE BARRIER — The freeway bypass in Novato goes over Olive Avenue and during construction, residents complained of the noise of the construction equipment and the trucks. So the highway department devised a dirt noise barrier to protect the residents. It starts at the concrete walls of the overpass and runs four feet high until it comes to a hill which automatically protects the residents from the noise.

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)
CASE NUMBER 70090

Superior Court of California, County of Marin

In re the marriage of Petitioner: PATRICIA MARIE DE WITT
and
Respondent: JAMES KINGSLEY DE WITT

To the Respondent: The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within 30 days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorney's fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

Council To Meet

The San Anselmo City Council will meet in joint session with the city planning commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to consider a county proposal for a growth control ordinance, a city spokesman said.

TONIGHT'S TELEVISION

Unusual on television tonight:

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 9 p.m. — Henry Fonda and Lucille Ball star in "Yours, Mine and Ours," a comedy drama to be shown on the "Monday Night at the Movies." The film is loosely based on the experience of the Beardsley family of Northern California, whose story has been told in newspapers and in book form.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 9 p.m. — ABC News investigates the risks to high-school age athletes, focusing on football, the uniquely American contact sport, on the documentary special "ABC News Close-Up on Danger in Sports: Paying the Price."

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 10 p.m. — Country music star Johnny Cash, will host, for the second consecutive year, the eighth annual Country Music Association Awards presentations honoring outstanding achievement in the country music field. The special, originating from the new Grande Ole Opry House in Nashville, Tenn., will feature a host of top names in the country music world.

Tax Refund Deadline Near

Homeowners aged 62 or over have until Wednesday to file for senior citizen property tax refunds, according to the State Board of Equalization.

Forms are available from field offices of the board of equalization or the Franchise Tax Board.

Citizens 62 or older last Jan. 1 may qualify if they were state residents on or before last Jan. 1, owned and accupied a home between July 1, 1973, and last June 30, paid current property taxes assessed on the home and had a total income of less than $10,000 in 1973.

A change in the law will allow those receiving old age security, aid to families with dependent children, aid to the totally disabled and aid to the blind to qualify for tax relief if they meet the other requirements.

Refunds will be a percentage of property taxes paid for the 1973-74 fiscal year, the amount depending on income.

Fairfax Minister Will Be Speaker

Rev. Muriel H. Alstrom of Fairfax will speak on "Today's Predicament, Tomorrow's Answer" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Marin Center of Parapsychology and Metaphysics, 1029 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

The author and lecturer will discuss inflation, depression and fear and how the individual can deal with them.

New Hospital Is The Issue For Southern Sonoma

When Southern Sonoma voters on Nov. 5 elect a member of the Petaluma Hospital District Board, they will influence a decision expected soon on whether to expand Hillcrest Hospital or build an entirely new facility.

Hillcrest, a 57-bed hospital on Petaluma's hilly west side, is now the only general care institution in Southern Sonoma, and the area's rampant population growth of the last five years has strained its capacity to the limit.

Incumbent board chairman Frederick A. Groverman of Petaluma, a Cotati veterinarian, faces challenges from five Petalumans, who represent a wide range of views on what will likely be the main election issue, the south county's health care shortage.

They are Charles L. Berg of 909 Alderwood Court, an urban planner and counselor for the federal government; Constance A. Venti, 30, of 929 B Street, medical technologist; Carole S. Barlas, of 40 Sunnyhill Drive, health educator; William E. Gilardi of 444 Purrington Road, construction worker, and J. Scott Waterman, 39, of 1212 Kathleen Way, law enforcement officer.

Also appearing on the ballot as a challenger to Groverman will be J. Scott Waterman of 1212 Kathleen Way, who filed as a candidate and later withdrew after ballots were printed.

Groverman believes further expansion on the Hillcrest site would be "the most expensive method possible of gaining additional bed space."

Instead, he favors construction of a new facility "with adquate accessability from all areas." His position, he says, is that of most of the present board members.

Groverman's main criticism of the past performance of the board is "that we didn't accomplish a lot of the things I wish we could have done—I'm impatient." He said he is generally satisfied with the board's record and on most major questions he would, in retrospect, favor the same courses which were taken.

Berg believes Hillcrest is "completely inadequate" both because of insufficient size and its remoteness from the heavily populated parts of the hospital district, Rohnert Park and east Petaluma.

He favors construction of a new hospital in the Denman Flats area between Petaluma and Cotati.

"There's an interchange there already (on Highway 101) and it is served by Golden Gate Transit," Berg said. There is no public transportation to Hillcrest, he said.

The proposed location also would better serve older residents because of bus access, he said.

Berg believes the hospital board has dragged its feet in dealing with southern Sonoma's rapid population growth by not creating more hospital space.

"There's a group of people who have a lot of influence with the board and they have a vested interest in keeping the hospital where it is," Berg said. The reference was to physicians whose offices and clinics are near Hillcrest.

Berg, the most vehement of all the candidates said the board's delay in beginning work on a new hospital is costing the district "$20,000 to $25,000 a month."

Meanwhile, he argued, Rohnert Park and Cotati residents are forced to seek care in Santa Rosa even though their taxes support the Petaluma district.

"The board's favorite motion has been to defer action until the next meeting," Berg said.

Mrs. Venti though, said she favors expansion of Hillcrest, provided it is done slowly.

"Perhaps people are being too overwrought — I think we'll make it through this winter with Hillcrest. People may not be happy because they'll have to go to Santa Rosa for tonsilectomies.

"But if we get through the winter, right there will be proof that we can do without a 100-bed hospital a little longer."

Mrs. Venti believes the board is "using scare tactics" to gain popular support for a new and unneeded hospital.

She also charges board members with placing too much emphasis on what she calls "special interest medicine" and not enough on meeting the day-to-day$ health care needs of the district.

"The board has placed itself a little too far above the pulse of the community," she said. "I don't think the district as a whole has been allowed enough voice in the affairs of Hillcrest. I would try to stay in better contact with my constituents and not forget my position — which would be that of an elected member."

Mrs. Barlas said that, after examining cost estimates, "I'd have to say I'd be in favor of relocating the hospital into a more centralized areas."

The Hillcrest building, she suggested, could be used as a convalescent home or clinic.

"Hillcrest was built with only $20,000 from local citizens," Mrs. Barlas said, "and in my opinion that's been amortized. It's been an efficiently-used hospital, considering the load. Now it's incredibly crowded."

She is, on the whole, satisfied with the hospital board. "Their motivation has been in the best interest of the district, although possibly they've dragged their feet a little bit," she said.

Two or three years ago would have been the best time to begin a new hospital, Mrs. Barlas said, but the board was slowed down by licensing problems and state regulations.

If district taxpayers don't agree to build a new hospital, Mrs. Barlas said, they may have to "fall back" on a private hospital construction corporation, which might come into Southern Sonoma and not offer all the services which are needed.

Gilardi said he doesn't favor expansion of Hillcrest because it would be uneconomical and in the wrong location.

"Right now it doesn't serve all the people in the district," he said. "Cotati and Rohnert Park are getting shafted — most of them go to Santa Rosa where there are four hospitals. It's closer than Hillcrest."

Gilardi believes Denman Flats would be the best location for a new facility.

In general, he said, he believes the board is "doing a good job" although he would have preferred they continued using the old general hospital building "in some capacity" rather than abandoning it. (The board closed the hospital this year because it no longer met state liscensing regulations.)

Gilardo criticized the board for raising room rates "just so they would match other hospitals in the area — they need a better reason."

Curtis said he is "totally dedicated to improving Hillcrest on its present site."

He charged the district board with interfering with the effort of private hospital corporations to come into Southern Sonoma, and he said he would welcome the competition they would give the district. He believes that would cause imroved medical are in both facilities.

Curtis derided the current board majority for "sneering" at member Brand T. Johnson for his continued belief in the expansion of Hillcrest.

As a candidate who helped build Hillcrest, Curtis said, he knows it was designed to accomodate future growth. He said the hospital is now worth about $3 million, and that abandonment would only add cost to the estimated $11 million to $12 million cost of building a new facility.

While more space is needed, he said, a brand new public hospital isn't the way to gain it.

Incumbent board member Herbert Newberger, a physicain who was appointed to the board this year to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Hamza I. Munib who resigned, is the only candidate for his seat and therefore will be reappointed without having his name on the ballot, according to county election oficials.

He will serve a two-year term while the contested race is for a four-year term. Hospital directors serve without pay.

Odd Occurrence In Photography Store When A Dead Man Called

On Saturday, Jan. 3, 1891, something occurred in a photography store in London which has fascinated and puzzled researchers ever since.

The facts of the case are as firmly beyond dispute as facts can be. They were meticulously verified at the time by a team of investigators from the venerable Society for Psychical Research. The case stands as one of the most uncanny in the annals of the uncanny.

On the above date, James Dickinson, a London photographer, arrived at his studio about 8 a.m. Shortly after, a man called to inquire if his photograph was finished. Thompson was the name, he said.

Dickinson checked and said he was sorry but his picture wasn't ready. He asked Thompson to drop by later in the day.

"But I've been traveling all night," the man replied wearily. "And I can't call again."

With that, he turned abruptly and left the shop.

"Shall I put them in the mail?" the photographer called after him, but there was no reply. Dickinson jotted on a piece of paper: "No. 7976, Thompson. . .post."

The photographer then went upstairs to his studio and asked his assistant, a young woman, to look up the Thompson negative and he would print it right away.

She returned after a few minutes saying: "this is Thompson's negative." Looking at it with his practiced eye, the photographer remarked: "Yes, that's it. That's the chap who called this morning."

When Dickinson went to print the negative, which in the old-fashioned style was on a photographic plate, he dropped it and the plate broke. He then wrote to Thompson apologizing for the accident and asking him to come in for another photographic sitting at no charge.

Six days later a man who identified himself as Thompson appeared in Dickinson's shop. He said he had come because a letter he had received had made no sense to him. He hadn't sat for any photograph.

"But you're not the man," agreed Dickinson. "He was much younger than you."

"Yes, that must have been my son who lived at the same address. But he died suddenly."

"Died? Well, it must have been very sudden. He was only in here last Saturday.

"You are mistaken. It must have been before that."

"I certainly am not mistaken," the photographer insisted. "I told my assistant here about it at the time.

The elderly man looked at them both for a long moment. Then he said quietly: "But my son died very early Saturday morning. At the time you say he was here, he had been dead for several hours. . ."

Streetcars Run In Yakima Again

YAKIMA, Wash. (UPI) — A brightly refurbished 1904 vintage streetcar rolled over the tracks through this central Washington community Saturday, the first streetcar here since 1947.

The streetcars, brought here from Portugal, are the start of a revival of an interurban rail system as part of the nation's bi-centennial celebration.

The cars run along tracks owned by the Union Pacific railroad, which serves orchards, fruit processing plants, lumber mills and factories on the line in several suburban towns.

Farmers Plan Nationwide Rallies On Price Boosts

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Farmers angered by steeply increasing feed costs and sagging cattle, hog and dairy prices have decided to band together to try to get more money for their products.

Representatives from across the country planned to gather tonight at 160 meetings sponsored by the National Farmers Organization to plot stratety to boost prices.

"I've never seen farmers so mad," said Oren Lee Staley, president of the Des Moines, Iowa-headquatered farm cooperative.

"All you have to do is talk to bankers or auctioneers and they will tell how farmers are on the verge of having to sell out. Zou can't lose that kind of money for very long, you know," Staley said.

Staley said hog producers are losing about $25 a head on their stock while cattle feeders are losing $50 to $100 a head on their stock.

In Chicago, a meat industry spokesman said yesterday that the increased feed costs could send pork prices soaring, though beef prices may stay down during coming months.

Farmers and ranchers have mentioned a number of possibilities for raising prices for their livestock.

Some Texas ranchers had threatened to slaughter calves to publicize high meat prices, then to bury the calves' carcasses to keep the meat off the market.

That threat triggered the anger of the national Humane Society. The society, meeting in Chicago, passed a resolution yesterday condemning the killing of calves and the wasting of "protein so desperately needed in today's starving world."

The Society said it would have investigators present to start prosecution if such slaughters do occur.

Missile Tested At Vandenberg

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — An experimental reentry vehicle was launched in the western test range by the Space and Missile Test Center yesterday via an Atlas F booster rocket.

Spokesmen at the Air Force Systems Commands Space and Missile Systems Organization said the 8:46 p.m. launch was successful.

The advanced ballistic reentry system is aimed at developing more effective vehicles for the nation's missile forces.

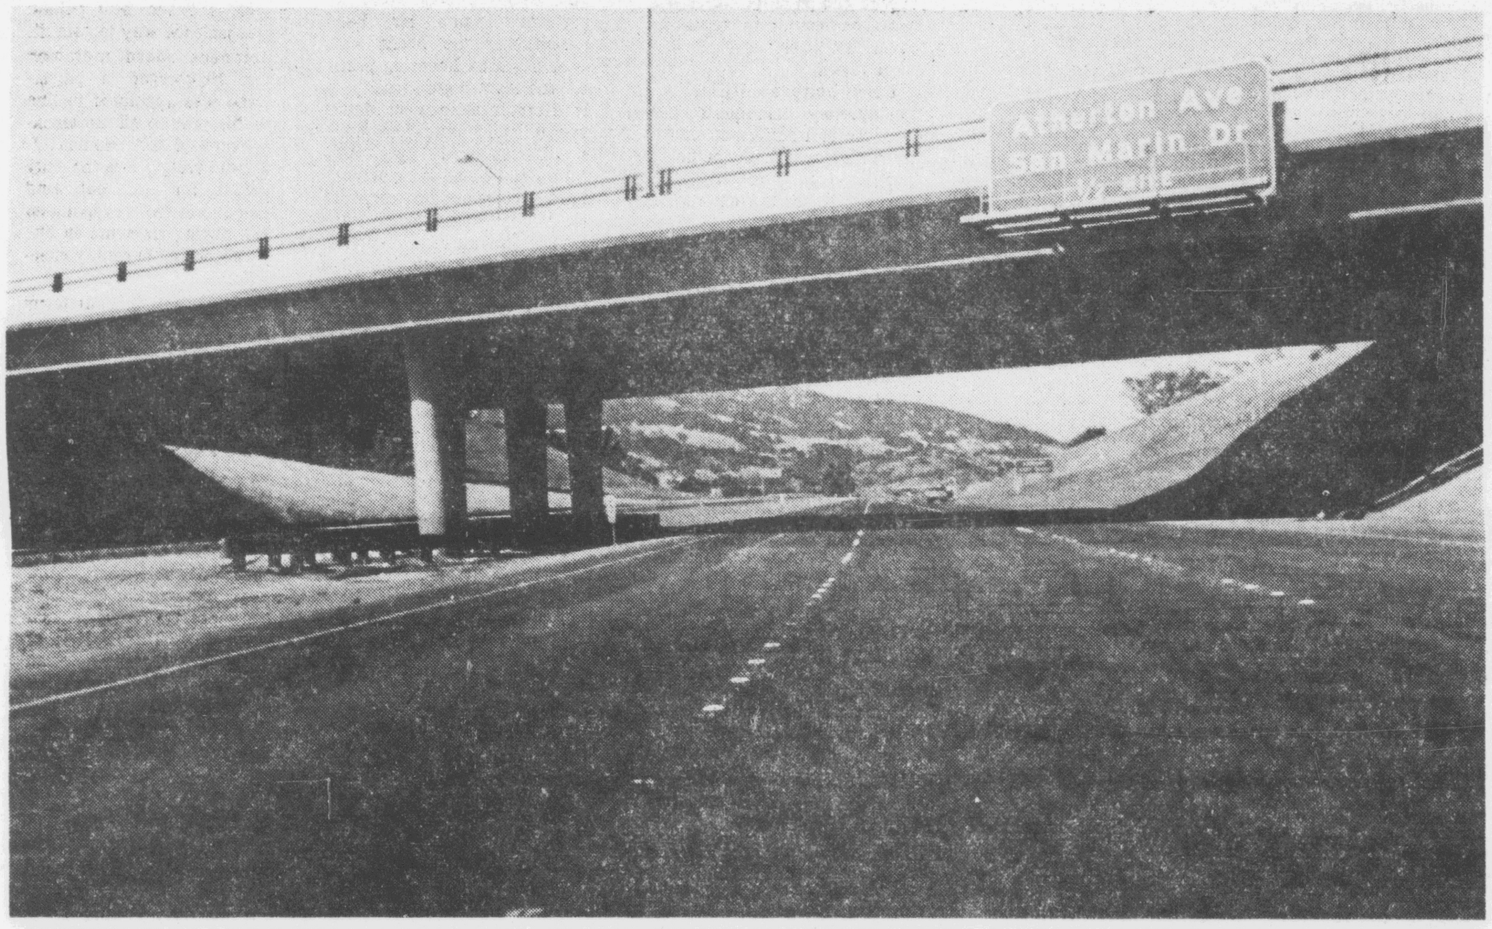
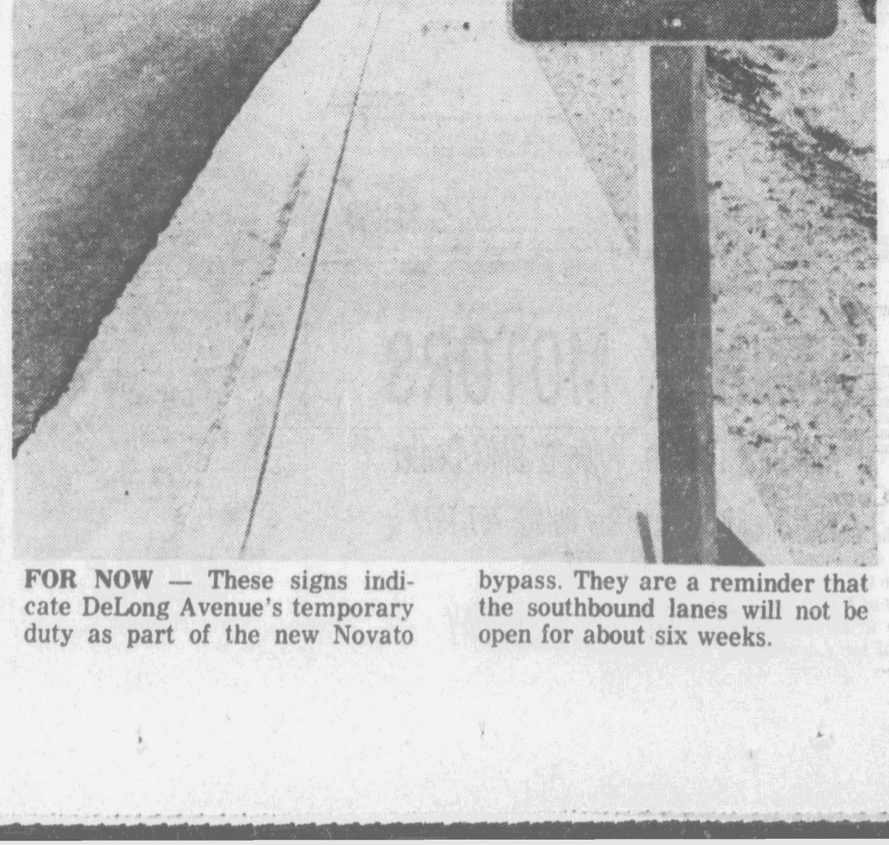
READY FOR BUSINESS — The rearview mirror in Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax's car shows as deserted a stretch of freeway behind as ahead. The occasion was a preview drive on the northbound lines Highway 101's new bypass of Novato. The northbound lanes open tomorrow, marking near-completion of the $15,000,000 project. Southbound lanes will open in about six weeks, depending on weather. Here, the car approaches the Rowland Avenue interchange with its overpass just ahead.

CONVENIENCES AHEAD — With an assist from Donald Baker, an employee of J. F. Shea Co. of Dublin, a handy guide for hungry and tired goes up on thb new Novato bypass. Before the bypass came into being, the driver on Highway 101 passed right through town within sight of what he wanted.

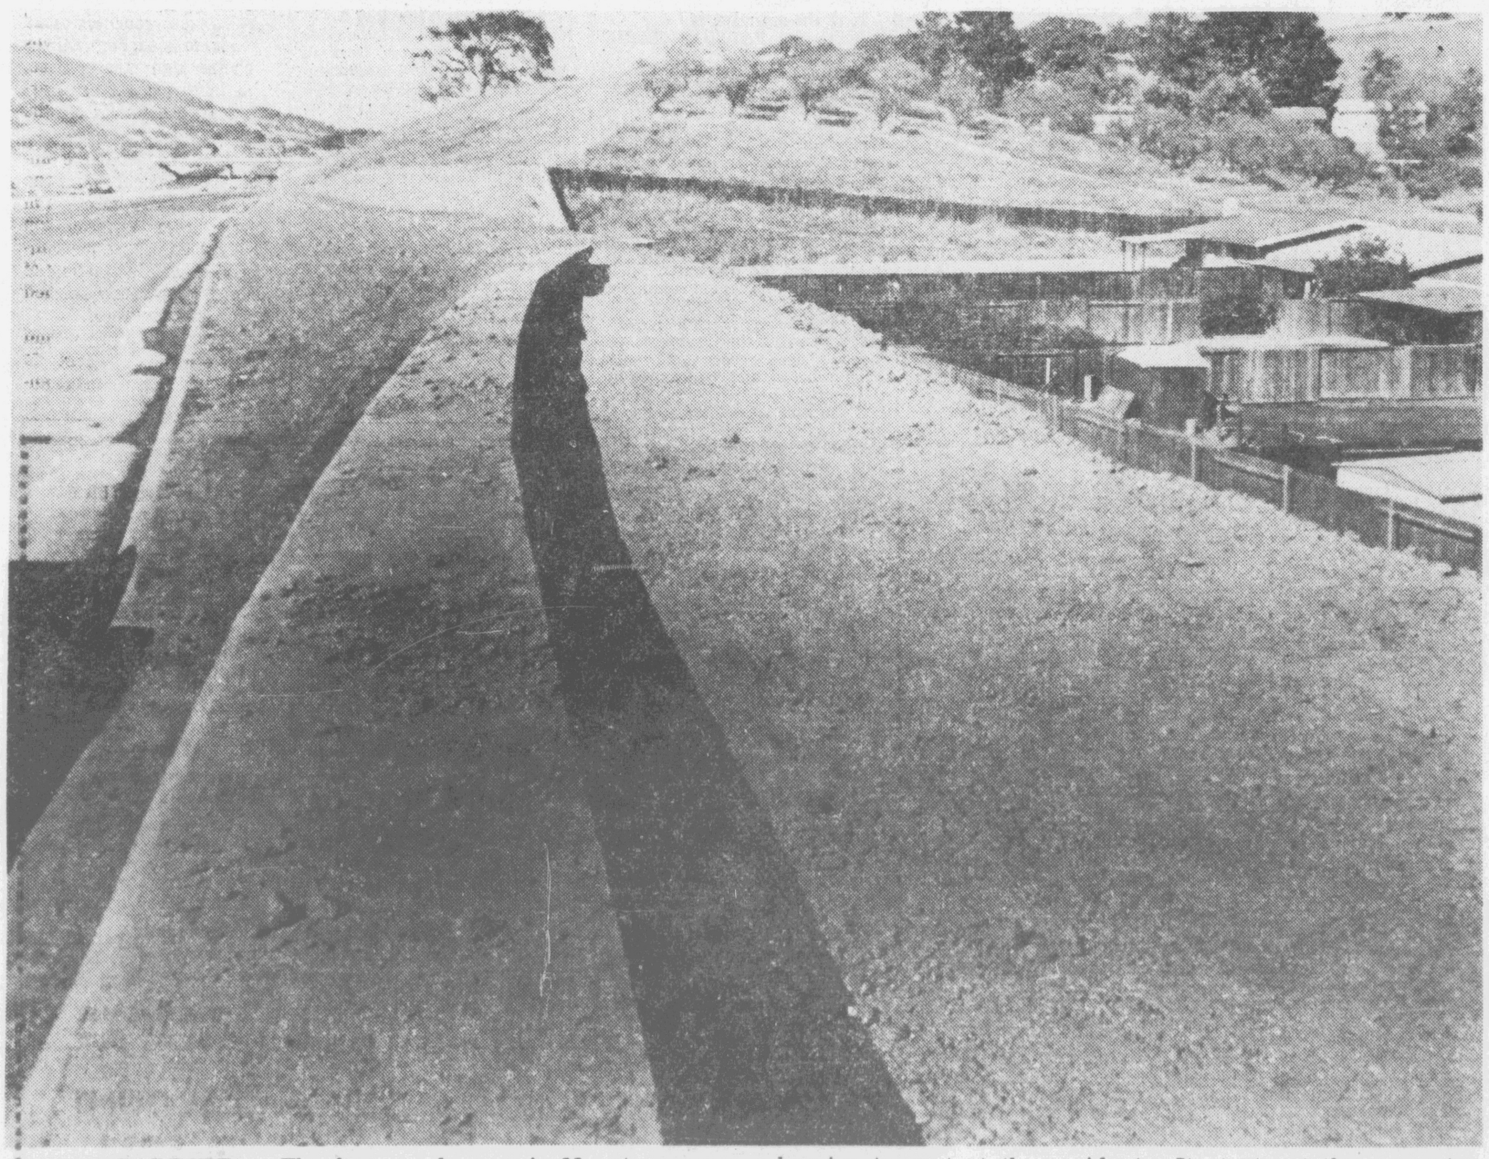


OVERPASS — As the sign on this overpass suggests, Atherton Avenue east of the freeway and San Marin Drive west of the freeway now have something in common. That something is the overpass, itself, which connects the two, a result achieved by engineers bending Atherton a bit north and San Marin a bit south.

Part Of Novato Bypass To Open

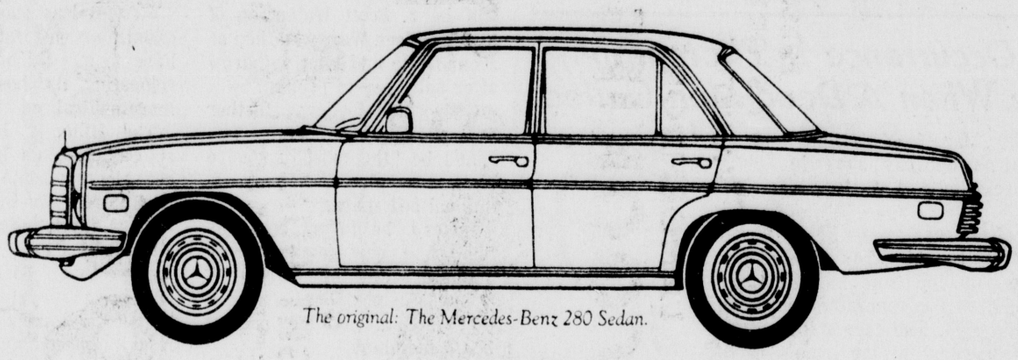


FOR NOW — These signs indicate DeLong Avenue's temporary duty as part of the new Novato bypass. They are a reminder that the southbound lanes will not be open for about six weeks.

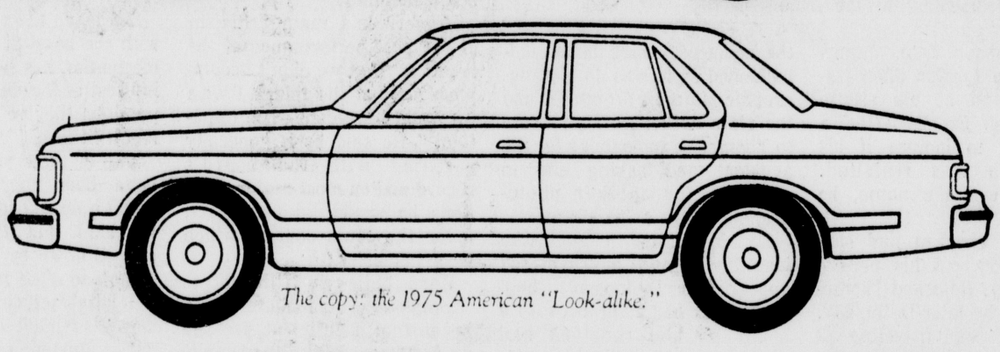


NOISE BARRIER — The freeway bypass in Novato goes over Olive Avenue and during construction, residents complained of the noise of the construction equipment and the trucks. So the highway department devised a dirt noise barrier to protect the residents. It starts at the concrete walls of the overpass and runs four feet high until it comes to a hill which automatically protects the residents from the noise.

The Mercedes-Benz 280. This year, some new American cars will look surprisingly like it. On the outside.



The original: The Mercedes-Benz 280 Sedan.



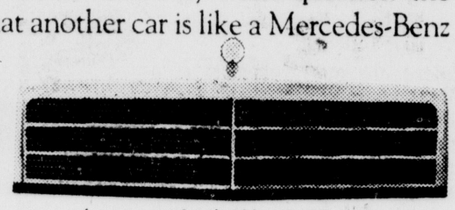
The copy: the 1975 American "Look-alike."

The "Look-alikes" are coming...sedans whose shapes and sizes are remarkably close to that of the Mercedes-Benz 280. It was bound to happen. We expected it. The silhouette may look the same, but that is where the similarity ends.

You simply can't make a car into a Mercedes-Benz by imitating its appearance. Or its interior. Or any other single element. You, the driver, can prove this to yourself. Test drive a 280 Sedan. Then put any of the newcomers through the same demanding test. The difference will be driven home. The engineering difference.

We don't fault others for trying to follow the lead of the 280. In fact, we applaud the move toward sensibly sized sedans. That's progress. But we really must question the idea that another car is like a Mercedes-Benz because it has a grille like one. Or a silhouette like one. An automobile either is a Mercedes-Benz, or it isn't.

Mercedes-Benz 280 grille.



American "Look-alike" sedan grille.

The Emperor's new clothes

Look beyond the new suits of clothes that the imitators are sporting. It's the same old story.

Take the engine. You'll find little that's new. These cars may still offer you engines designed long ago. That may be hard to believe, but it's an engineering fact.

It's a different story with Mercedes-Benz. The contemporary engine in the 280 Sedan was designed specifically for the 280 Series; designed as an integral part of the automobile.

This modern, twin overhead camshaft engine directly meets demands of today's driving. It gives you fuel economy without sacrificing performance. No "Look-alike" domestic sedan has anything like the engine in a Mercedes-Benz 280. You'll instantly feel the difference on your first test drive.

No place to compromise

Look closely at the rear suspension on any of these "all-new" domestic sedans. They still feature simple wagon axles. The axles are one-piece and suspended by groups of leaf springs. When one rear wheel hits a bump, the other is jolted too.

Now look at the Mercedes-Benz 280. Its rear suspension is completely different. Each wheel has its own independent suspension system. That way, each wheel reacts to the road surface independently. This design — fully independent suspension — is also a safety feature. It gives you the security of control because it helps the standard radial tires stay on the road, where they belong.

Although 4-wheel independent suspension is far more expensive to engineer into an automobile, it is the no-compromise way. And at Mercedes-Benz, we don't feel suspension and handling are places to cut corners.

The only way

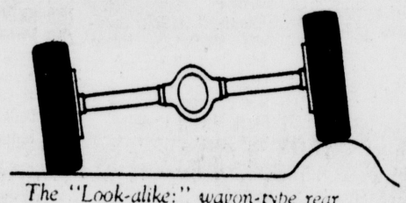
The same can be said for brakes. Certainly no area to compromise. Here is one area where American sedans have made great strides. The "Mercedes-style" new cars you will see in 1975 will probably have disc brakes. But where? On the front wheels. Why are disc brakes confined to their front wheels?

We have no answer to that question. At Mercedes-Benz, we have designed 4-wheel disc brakes into all of our automobiles for years. Every wheel on every Mercedes-Benz has a disc brake to stop it — 4-wheel disc brakes. We wouldn't engineer an automobile without them. At Mercedes-Benz, it's the only way.

You get what you pay for

To be sure, a Mercedes-Benz 280 is more expensive than the domestic newcomers that will try to challenge it. Consider the basic differences already mentioned. Add some others like safety engineering, resale value and the Mercedes-Benz commitment to quality. These are fundamentals you can't just "add on." In a Mercedes-Benz you get what you pay for.

The 280: independent rear suspension so a bump on the right can't jounce the wheel on the left.



The "Look-alike:" wagon-type rear suspension so a bump on the right must jounce the wheel on the left.

More and more you hear about cars that have this or that "just like a Mercedes-Benz." But you don't make a Mercedes-Benz by just trying to copy it. The Mercedes-Benz 280 Sedan. Test drive one. See why a Mercedes-Benz has become the standard other manufacturers measure by.

Council To Meet

The San Anselmo City Council will meet in joint session with the city planning commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to consider a county proposal for a growth control ordinance, a city spokesman said.

TONIGHT'S TELEVISION

Unusual on television tonight:

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 9 p.m. — Henry Fonda and Lucille Ball star in "Yours, Mine and Ours," a comedy drama to be shown on the "Monday Night at the Movies." The film is loosely based on the experience of the Beardsley family of Northern California, whose story has been told in newspapers and in book form.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 9 p.m. — ABC News investigates the risks to high-school age athletes, focusing on football, the uniquely American contact sport, on the documentary special "ABC News Close-Up on Danger in Sports: Paying the Price."

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 10 p.m. — Country music star Johnny Cash, will host, for the second consecutive year, the eighth annual Country Music Association Awards presentations honoring outstanding achievement in the country music field. The special, originating from the new Grande Ole Opry House in Nashville, Tenn., will feature a host of top names in the country music world.

Tax Refund Deadline Near

Homeowners aged 62 or over have until Wednesday to file for senior citizen property tax refunds, according to the State Board of Equalization.

Forms are available from field offices of the board of equalization or the Franchise Tax Board.

Citizens 62 or older last Jan. 1 may qualify if they were state residents on or before last Jan. 1, owned and accupied a home between July 1, 1973, and last June 30, paid current property taxes assessed on the home and had a total income of less than $10,000 in 1973.

A change in the law will allow those receiving old age security, aid to families with dependent children, aid to the totally disabled and aid to the blind to qualify for tax relief if they meet the other requirements.

Refunds will be a percentage of property taxes paid for the 1973-74 fiscal year, the amount depending on income.

Fairfax Minister Will Be Speaker

Rev. Muriel H. Alstrom of Fairfax will speak on "Today's Predicament, Tomorrow's Answer" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Marin Center of Parapsychology and Metaphysics, 1029 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

The author and lecturer will discuss inflation, depression and fear and how the individual can deal with them.

New Hospital Is The Issue For Southern Sonoma

When Southern Sonoma voters on Nov. 5 elect a member of the Petaluma Hospital District Board, they will influence a decision expected soon on whether to expand Hillcrest Hospital or build an entirely new facility.

Hillcrest, a 57-bed hospital on Petaluma's hilly west side, is now the only general care institution in Southern Sonoma, and the area's rampant population growth of the last five years has strained its capacity to the limit.

Incumbent board chairman Frederick A. Groverman of Petaluma, a Cotati veterinarian, faces challenges from five Petalumans, who represent a wide range of views on what will likely be the main election issue, the south county's health care shortage.

They are Charles L. Berg of 909 Alderwood Court, an urban planner and counselor for the federal government; Constance A. Venti, 30, of 929 B Street, medical technologist; Carole S. Barlas, of 40 Sunnyhill Drive, health educator; William E. Gilardi of 444 Purrington Road, construction worker, and J. Scott Waterman, 39, of 1212 Kathleen Way, law enforcement officer.

Also appearing on the ballot as a challenger to Groverman will be J. Scott Waterman of 1212 Kathleen Way, who filed as a candidate and later withdrew after ballots were printed.

Groverman believes further expansion on the Hillcrest site would be "the most expensive method possible of gaining additional bed space."

Instead, he favors construction of a new facility "with adquate accessability from all areas." His position, he says, is that of most of the present board members.

Groverman's main criticism of the past performance of the board is "that we didn't accomplish a lot of the things I wish we could have done—I'm impatient." He said he is generally satisfied with the board's record and on most major questions he would, in retrospect, favor the same courses which were taken.

Berg believes Hillcrest is "completely inadequate" both because of insufficient size and its remoteness from the heavily populated parts of the hospital district, Rohnert Park and east Petaluma.

He favors construction of a new hospital in the Denman Flats area between Petaluma and Cotati.

"There's an interchange there already (on Highway 101) and it is served by Golden Gate Transit," Berg said. There is no public transportation to Hillcrest, he said.

The proposed location also would better serve older residents because of bus access, he said.

Berg believes the hospital board has dragged its feet in dealing with southern Sonoma's rapid population growth by not creating more hospital space.

"There's a group of people who have a lot of influence with the board and they have a vested interest in keeping the hospital where it is," Berg said. The reference was to physicians whose offices and clinics are near Hillcrest.

Berg, the most vehement of all the candidates said the board's delay in beginning work on a new hospital is costing the district "$20,000 to $25,000 a month."

Meanwhile, he argued, Rohnert Park and Cotati residents are forced to seek care in Santa Rosa even though their taxes support the Petaluma district.

"The board's favorite motion has been to defer action until the next meeting," Berg said.

Mrs. Venti though, said she favors expansion of Hillcrest, provided it is done slowly.

"Perhaps people are being too overwrought — I think we'll make it through this winter with Hillcrest. People may not be happy because they'll have to go to Santa Rosa for tonsilectomies.

"But if we get through the winter, right there will be proof that we can do without a 100-bed hospital a little longer."

Mrs. Venti believes the board is "using scare tactics" to gain popular support for a new and unneeded hospital.

She also charges board members with placing too much emphasis on what she calls "special interest medicine" and not enough on meeting the day-to-day$ health care needs of the district.

"The board has placed itself a little too far above the pulse of the community," she said. "I don't think the district as a whole has been allowed enough voice in the affairs of Hillcrest. I would try to stay in better contact with my constituents and not forget my position — which would be that of an elected member."

Mrs. Barlas said that, after examining cost estimates, "I'd have to say I'd be in favor of relocating the hospital into a more centralized areas."

The Hillcrest building, she suggested, could be used as a convalescent home or clinic.

"Hillcrest was built with only $20,000 from local citizens," Mrs. Barlas said, "and in my opinion that's been amortized. It's been an efficiently-used hospital, considering the load. Now it's incredibly crowded."

She is, on the whole, satisfied with the hospital board. "Their motivation has been in the best interest of the district, although possibly they've dragged their feet a little bit," she said.

Two or three years ago would have been the best time to begin a new hospital, Mrs. Barlas said, but the board was slowed down by licensing problems and state regulations.

If district taxpayers don't agree to build a new hospital, Mrs. Barlas said, they may have to "fall back" on a private hospital construction corporation, which might come into Southern Sonoma and not offer all the services which are needed.

Gilardi said he doesn't favor expansion of Hillcrest because it would be uneconomical and in the wrong location.

"Right now it doesn't serve all the people in the district," he said. "Cotati and Rohnert Park are getting shafted — most of them go to Santa Rosa where there are four hospitals. It's closer than Hillcrest."

Gilardi believes Denman Flats would be the best location for a new facility.

In general, he said, he believes the board is "doing a good job" although he would have preferred they continued using the old general hospital building "in some capacity" rather than abandoning it. (The board closed the hospital this year because it no longer met state liscensing regulations.)

Gilardo criticized the board for raising room rates "just so they would match other hospitals in the area — they need a better reason."

Curtis said he is "totally dedicated to improving Hillcrest on its present site."

He charged the district board with interfering with the effort of private hospital corporations to come into Southern Sonoma, and he said he would welcome the competition they would give the district. He believes that would cause imroved medical are in both facilities.

Curtis derided the current board majority for "sneering" at member Brand T. Johnson for his continued belief in the expansion of Hillcrest.

As a candidate who helped build Hillcrest, Curtis said, he knows it was designed to accomodate future growth. He said the hospital is now worth about $3 million, and that abandonment would only add cost to the estimated $11 million to $12 million cost of building a new facility.

While more space is needed, he said, a brand new public hospital isn't the way to gain it.

Incumbent board member Herbert Newberger, a physicain who was appointed to the board this year to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Hamza I. Munib who resigned, is the only candidate for his seat and therefore will be reappointed without having his name on the ballot, according to county election oficials.

He will serve a two-year term while the contested race is for a four-year term. Hospital directors serve without pay.

Odd Occurrence In Photography Store When A Dead Man Called

On Saturday, Jan. 3, 1891, something occurred in a photography store in London which has fascinated and puzzled researchers ever since.

The facts of the case are as firmly beyond dispute as facts can be. They were meticulously verified at the time by a team of investigators from the venerable Society for Psychical Research. The case stands as one of the most uncanny in the annals of the uncanny.

On the above date, James Dickinson, a London photographer, arrived at his studio about 8 a.m. Shortly after, a man called to inquire if his photograph was finished. Thompson was the name, he said.

Dickinson checked and said he was sorry but his picture wasn't ready. He asked Thompson to drop by later in the day.

"But I've been traveling all night," the man replied wearily, "And I can't call again."

With that, he turned abruptly and left the shop.

"Shall I put them in the mail?" the photographer called after him, but there was no reply. Dickinson jotted on a piece of paper: "No. 7976, Thompson. . .post."

The photographer then went upstairs to his studio and asked his assistant, a young woman, to look up the Thompson negative and he would print it right away.

She returned after a few minutes saying: "this is Thompson's negative." Looking at it with his practiced eye, the photographer remarked: "Yes, that's it. That's the chap who called this morning."

When Dickinson went to print the negative, which in the old-fashioned style was on a photographic plate, he dropped it and the plate broke. He then wrote to Thompson apologizing for the accident and asking him to come in for another photographic sitting at no charge.

Six days later a man who identified himself as Thompson appeared in Dickinson's shop. He said he had come because a letter he had received had made no sense to him. He hadn't sat for any photograph.

"But you're not the man," agreed Dickinson. "He was much younger than you."

"Yes, that must have been my son who lived at the same address. But he died suddenly."

"Died? Well, it must have been very sudden. He was only in here last Saturday.

"You are mistaken. It must have been before that."

"I certainly am not mistaken," the photographer insisted. "I told my assistant here about it at the time.

The elderly man looked at them both for a long moment. Then he said quietly: "But my son died very early Saturday morning. At the time you say he was here, he had been dead for several hours. . ."

Streetcars Run In Yakima Again

YAKIMA, Wash. (UPI) — A brightly refurbished 1904 vintage streetcar rolled over the tracks through this central Washington community Saturday, the first streetcar here since 1947.

The streetcars, brought here from Portugal, are the start of a revival of an interurban rail system as part of the nation's bi-centennial celebration.

The cars run along tracks owned by the Union Pacific railroad, which serves orchards, fruit processing plants, lumber mills and factories on the line in several suburban towns.

Farmers Plan Nationwide Rallies On Price Boosts

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Farmers angered by steeply increasing feed costs and sagging cattle, hog and dairy prices have decided to band together to try to get more money for their products.

Representatives from across the country planned to gather tonight at 160 meetings sponsored by the National Farmers Organization to plot stratety to boost prices.

"I've never seen farmers so mad," said Oren Lee Staley, president of the Des Moines, Iowa-headquatered farm cooperative.

"All you have to do is talk to bankers or auctioneers and they will tell how farmers are on the verge of having to sell out. Zou can't lose that kind of money for very long, you know," Staley said.

Staley said hog producers are losing about $25 a head on their stock while cattle feeders are losing $50 to $100 a head on their stock.

In Chicago, a meat industry spokesman said yesterday that the increased feed costs could send pork prices soaring, though beef prices may stay down during coming months.

Farmers and ranchers have mentioned a number of possibilities for raising prices for their livestock.

Some Texas ranchers had threatened to slaughter calves to publicize high meat prices, then to bury the calves' carcasses to keep the meat off the market.

That threat triggered the anger of the national Humane Society. The society, meeting in Chicago, passed a resolution yesterday condemning the killing of calves and the wasting of "protein so desperately needed in today's starving world."

The Society said it would have investigators present to start prosecution if such slaughters do occur.

Missile Tested At Vandenberg

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — An experimental reentry vehicle was launched in the western test range by the Space and Missile Test Center yesterday via an Atlas F booster rocket.

Spokesmen at the Air Force Systems Commands Space and Missile Systems Organization said the 8:46 p.m. launch was successful.

The advanced ballistic reentry system is aimed at developing more effective vehicles for the nation's missile forces.

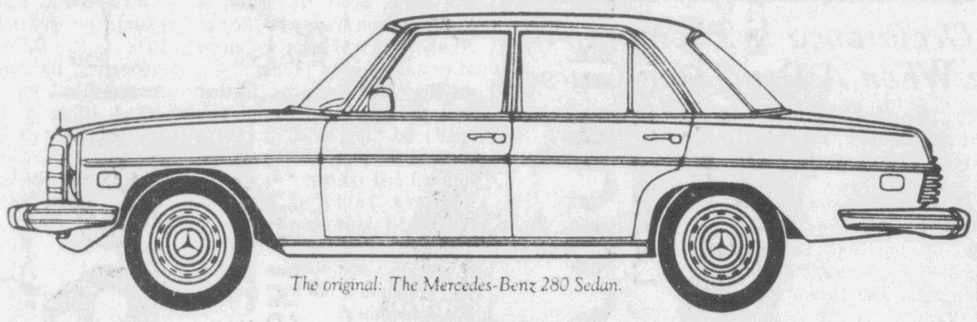
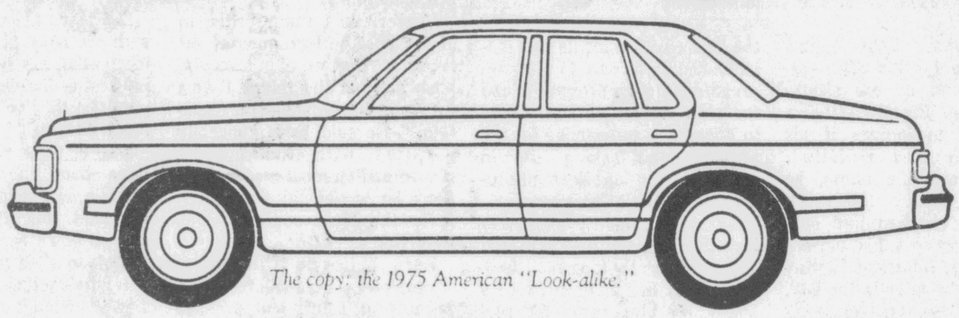
The Mercedes-Benz 280. This year, some new American cars will look surprisingly like it. On the outside.



The original: The Mercedes-Benz 280 Sedan.



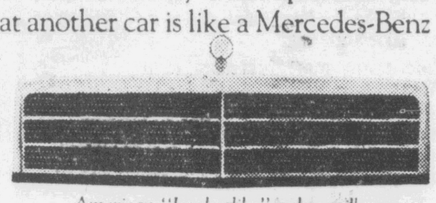
The copy: the 1975 American "Look-alike."

The "Look-alikes" are coming...sedans whose shapes and sizes are remarkably close to that of the Mercedes-Benz 280. It was bound to happen. We expected it. The silhouette may look the same, but that is where the similarity ends.

You simply can't make a car into a Mercedes-Benz by imitating its appearance. Or its interior. Or any other single element. You, the driver, can prove this to yourself. Test drive a 280 Sedan. Then put any of the newcomers through the same demanding test. The difference will be driven home. The engineering difference.

We don't fault others for trying to follow the lead of the 280. In fact, we applaud the move toward sensibly sized sedans. That's progress. But we really must question the idea that another car is like a Mercedes-Benz because it has a grille like one. Or a silhouette like one. An automobile either is a Mercedes-Benz, or it isn't.

Mercedes-Benz 280 grille.



American "Look-alike" sedan grille.

The Emperor's new clothes

Look beyond the new suits of clothes that the imitators are sporting. It's the same old story.

Take the engine. You'll find little that's new. These cars may still offer you engines designed long ago. That may be hard to believe, but it's an engineering fact.

It's a different story with Mercedes-Benz. The contemporary engine in the 280 Sedan was designed specifically for the 280 Series; designed as an integral part of the automobile.

This modern, twin overhead camshaft engine directly meets demands of today's driving. It gives you fuel economy without sacrificing performance. No "Look-alike" domestic sedan has anything like the engine in a Mercedes-Benz 280. You'll instantly feel the difference on your first test drive.

No place to compromise

Look closely at the rear suspension on any of these "all-new" domestic sedans. They still feature simple wagon axles. The axles are one-piece and suspended by groups of leaf springs. When one rear wheel hits a bump, the other is jolted too.

Now look at the Mercedes-Benz 280. Its rear suspension is completely different. Each wheel has its own independent suspension system. That way, each wheel reacts to the road surface independently. This design — fully independent suspension — is also a safety feature. It gives you the security of control because it helps the standard radial tires stay on the road, where they belong.

Although 4-wheel independent suspension is far more expensive to engineer into an automobile, it is the no-compromise way. And at Mercedes-Benz, we don't feel suspension and handling are places to cut corners.

The only way

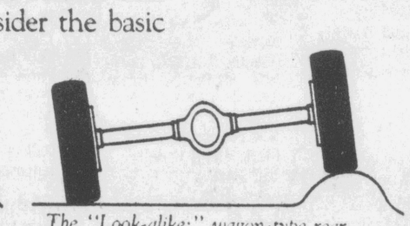
The same can be said for brakes. Certainly no area to compromise. Here is one area where American sedans have made great strides. The "Mercedes-style" new cars you will see in 1975 will probably have disc brakes. But where? On the front wheels. Why are disc brakes confined to their front wheels?

We have no answer to that question. At Mercedes-Benz, we have designed 4-wheel disc brakes into all of our automobiles for years. Every wheel on every Mercedes-Benz has a disc brake to stop it — 4-wheel disc brakes. We wouldn't engineer an automobile without them. At Mercedes-Benz, it's the only way.

You get what you pay for

To be sure, a Mercedes-Benz 280 is more expensive than the domestic newcomers that will try to challenge it. Consider the basic differences already mentioned. Add some others like safety engineering, resale value and the Mercedes-Benz commitment to quality. These are fundamentals you can't just "add on." In a Mercedes-Benz you get what you pay for.

The 280: independent rear suspension so a bump on the right can't jounce the wheel on the left.



The "Look-alike:" wagon-type rear suspension so a bump on the right must jounce the wheel on the left.

More and more you hear about cars that have this or that "just like a Mercedes-Benz." But you don't make a Mercedes-Benz by just trying to copy it. The Mercedes-Benz 280 Sedan. Test drive one. See why a Mercedes-Benz has become the standard other manufacturers measure by.

Absent Nixon Claimed Key Watergate Actor

Trial Of Top Aides Opens After Delay

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The prosecution in the trial of five of Richard M. Nixon's associates said today it intends to prove the Watergate cover-up conspiracy was hatched at the highest levels of government and "even involved the President of the United States himself."

Thus, without mentioning Nixon's name, Assistant Special Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste indicated in his opening argument that the former president will be the absent central figure in the lengthy trial.

Nixon, who was named as an unindicted co-conspirator before his resignation from office last Aug. 9, cannot be tried in the case because of a pardon granted him by President Ford. Nixon's attorneys also have asked that he be excused from testifying on grounds of ill health.

Ben-Veniste used an abbreviated morning session in court to describe the atmosphere among top Nixon aides immediately following the discovery of agents of the President's reelection campaign in the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee June 17, 1972.

"We will prove to you in the course of this trial," Ben-Veniste told the jury in his opening statement, "that attempts of law enforcement agencies to ascertain who was responsible ... were met by an effort to cover up the facts and obstruct the investigations by the most powerful men in the government of the United States in a conspiracy that even involved the President of the United States himself."

He then outlined five elements of the alleged conspiracy:

An immediate decision among Nixon's aides to "push the line" that the Watergate burglars were "a bunch of nuts" who were "off on a lark of their own."

Concealment of documents linking higher-ups to the burglary.

The aides' use of "their positions of trust and power at the very summit of government" to manipulate the FBI and the CIA.

The payment of hush money, which he described as "a massive, covert secret operation."

Secret assurances to burglars and others — "even (former attorney general and defendant) John Mitchell" — of executive intervention.

Ben-Veniste also said the jury would be listening to actual tape recorded conversations between Nixon and his aides and advised the jurors to ignore the "vulgar and coarse" language. He said such language is "sometimes used by men, even in high office, in their private conversations."

JOHN D. EHRLICHMAN
Arrives for trial

The opening of the trial was delayed for two hours while lawyers for both sides met in chambers with U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica. The reason for the meeting was not disclosed, but when Sirica came into court he denied a defense motion for a mistrial and excused one of the jurors chosen just last Friday.

No reason was given for excusing Lucille F. Plunkett, 59, a coffeemaker. Helen D. Pratt, 63, a retired maid and the first of six alternates, took her place on the jury.

All of the defendants, former top White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman; former Attorney General John N. Mitchell and Nixon campaign officials Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, appeared tense and were unsmiling as their trial began.

All but Mitchell, separated from his wife Martha, had family members in court. Haldeman's 23-year-old daughter Susan, a second-year law student, is assisting in his defense.

The prosecution team will be without Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who resigned Saturday with a letter saying that his work on the case was largely done.

Jaworski, a 69-year old Texas lawyer who stepped in to fill the post left vacant when former President Nixon fired Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox Oct. 20, 1973, formally submitted his resignation to Attorney General William B. Saxbe, effective Oct. 25.

The White House said a new special prosecutor would be named before then, but Jaworski's departure was not expected to affect the trial.

The trial is the same courtroom where 20 months ago five employes of Richard Nixon's re-election campaign were convicted of what then was simply a bugging of Democratic party headquarters.

The issue now is the cover-up of that bizarre incident — and whether five former White House and Nixon campaign aides plotted to obstruct justice and defraud the United States.

The jury will be sequestered at a downtown Washington hotel until sometime after Christmas, cut off from the outside world except for mail, phone calls and newspapers, which will be censored.

Fourteen former White House, administration and Nixon campaign aides already have been convicted or pleaded guilty to Watergate crimes.

Several of them have previously admitted guilt in the cover-up and are to be prosecution witnesses.

Nixon has been subpoenaed both as a prosecution and as a defense witness, but his lawyers contend this would pose a "serious risk" to his health and have asked for him to be excused.

Sirica has yet to decide whether to compel Nixon's appearance.

Kissinger Reports Mideast Tense

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has found enormous tension in the Middle East but does not believe an outbreak of hostilities is imminent, a high American officials said today.

The official spoke to newsmen on the flight from Cairo to Damascus, where Kissinger arrived at 1:00 p.m. (4 a.m. PDT) for a final round of talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad.

In a busy weekend of talks Kissinger:

Won agreement from Saudi Arabia to help him push for a drop in the world's record oil prices.

Worked out with Israel the details of an accord on the direction of the next round of Middle East peace talks and transmitted the Israeli ideas today to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Cairo. Israeli sources said this meant no further Israeli pullback from captured Arab territories without something in return.

Said in Cairo he had seen "positive indications" of possible progress toward peace in the Middle East and announced he would return to the area the first week in November.

Today's talks complete Kissinger's current Middle East tour. He was expected to leave Damascus at 5:00 p.m. (8 a.m. PDT) for Algiers and later will visit Morocco before returning to Washington late tomorrow.

Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel Halim Khaddam met Kissinger at Damascus airport and escorted him to the Rawdah government guest house for a brief rest. Later Khaddam accompanied Kissinger and his aides to the presidential palace.

The high-ranking official aboard Kissinger's plane said that despite apparent progress during his latest Middle East tour, the negotiations had proved tougher than the Secretary expected.

But the official said that though Kissinger found enormous tension, he did not believe an outbreak of hostilities was imminent.

With Egyptian President Sadat standing at his side Kissinger told newsmen in Cairo: "I reported to the president my impressions of the area and about the conversations that I have had with various leaders of the countries I have visited.

"I told him my conclusion that there are positive indications which may be progress toward making just peace in the area possible," he said.

He said Sadat would discuss the progress in the peace negotiations with other Arab leaders at the summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, Oct. 26.

"I therefore plan to return to the area during the first week of November and we will then assess progress made towards peace in the Middle East on a thorough and complete basis," Kissinger said.

Sadat, who stood next to Kissinger on the steps of his palatial home, said the problem of

Two Fires Hit Novato Grassy Sites

Two fires burned 35 acres of grassland in Novato over the weekend, occupying firefighters from two departments in battling the blaze.

Fire blackened 20 acres of grass and brush Saturday behind 70 Rudnick Avenue on Cherry Hill beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Sunday, 15 acres of grass were burned beginning at about 5 p.m. on North Marin County Water District property near the Indian Valley golf course.

More than 40 firemen from Novato and Marin County fire departments were sent to each fire. Cause of the fires was not known.

According to a spokesmen for the Novato department, firemen remained on the scene at Cherry Hill more than 26 hours after the fire broke out, extinguishing smoldering patches and watching for flareups.

Novato Tightens Football Grip

Novato High School posted its seventh straight Marin County Athletic League football shutout Saturday and remained atop the MCAL standings with a 13-0 victory over Tamalpais in Novato.

In other prep games over the weekend, San Marin defeated Redwood, 20-0, San Rafael edged Terra Linda, 7-6 and Marin Catholic beat Drake, 7-2.

College of Marin defeated Ohlone, 27-10. For details, see sports.

Ford Vetoes Turkish Aid Cutoff; Congress Plans Override Try

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today vetoed legislation forcing an immediate cutoff of military aid to Turkey — thereby setting up his first confrontation with Congress since taking office.

The House, which last week refused to accept a compromise on the Turkey issue, scheduled a vote for tomorrow on overriding the veto. The vote delayed Congress' pre-election recess which was scheduled to have started last Friday.

Ford has vetoed five previous measures but tomorrow's vote will be Congress' first attempt at overriding his veto. The congressional leadership predicted it would be sustained.

Ford, in a message to the House announcing his action, said, "I take this step with great reluctance, but in the belief that I have no other choice."

He said that an arms cutoff to Turkey would help neither Greece nor the Greek Cypriot people "who have suffered so tragically" in recent months.

He said in vetoing the bill, "I do so because, should this measure become law, it would be impossible for the United States to continue to play any meaningful role in assisting the parties to resolve the Cyprus dispute.

"We would inevitably be forced to withdraw from the negotiations because the Congress would have taken the tools we need to affect the outcome."

The amendment calling for the Turkish arms ban is attached to a resolution providing funds for departments and agencies that have not yet received their regular appropriations for fiscal 1975.

Without the resolution, programs and payrolls would stop at the Departments of Health, Education and Welfare, Labor and Agriculture.

If Congress fails to override the veto, it will have to remain in session to pass the appropriations.

Wrong Information Leads To Ticketing Of Autos

As a result of erroneous information furnished by the San Rafael Police Department Friday afternoon and published by the Independent-Journal Saturday, many persons in San Rafael were annoyed today to discover that their parked cars were being ticketed where meters indicated time had run out.

The I-J telephoned the department Friday to determine if a meter holiday would be observed today, Columbus Day. An unidentified officer who answered left the phone to find out, and returned to report a meter holiday would be observed.

The officer, however, was incorrect.

Police Chief Lawrence R. Kelly told the I-J today that he had instructed the force to issue tickets as usual despite the mixup. The I-J report would be "taken into consideration" by meter maids, he said.

Chief Kelly said that any one of 10 officers on duty Friday afternoon could have supplied the misinformation, and he did not expect to learn who had.

Mill Valley Consultant, Citizens Draft Richardson Bay Area Plan

By REBECCA LARSEN

A citizens committee has approved the outline of a general plan for East Mill Valley's marshlands, calling for areas of multiple housing, open space, parks, shops and restaurants.

The plan, agreed on Thursday in discussions with the city's general plan consultants, Sedway-Cooke of San Francisco, was prepared separately from a general plan for the rest of Mill Valley.

The area in the East Mill Valley plan includes lands bordered by East Blithedale Avenue, Highway 101, Miller Avenue and Camino Alto. The already developed areas of Shelter Ridge, Enchanted Knolls and Shelter Bay are covered by the plan as well as 144 open, marshy acres along Richardson Bay. About 35 per cent of the vacant land already is owned by the city of the Mill Valley School District.

The consultants and citizens divided the area into 11 sections each given different recommendations, according to Planning Director Tom W. Newton.

According to the committee:

1. An area of 55 acres of marshland at the city's southern end including some marsh in Tamalpais Valley and Almonte should be acquired and preserved as a natural wildlife habitat. Existing dikes should be removed to restore the mudflats to marshland. A limited part of the marsh behind Tam junction can be opened to commercial development.

2. A 5.7-acre, privately owned site on Miller Avenue opposite a Tamalpais High School playing field should be used for multiple residential building with some low and moderate income

Ed Sullivan Dies At 73 Of Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ed Sullivan, host of a long-time CBS-TV Sunday night show running the gamut of entertainment from opera stars to animal acts, died last night at the age of 73.

A family spokesman said Sullivan died of cancer of the esophagus at Lenox Hill Hospital. He had been hospitalized more than five weeks ago.

Sullivan, often the butt of comedians who imitated his wooden delivery, invariably introduced celebrities sitting in the studio audience.

It was Sullivan who gave American television audiences their first look at Elvis Presley in the 1950s and the Beatles in the 1960s.

Comic impersonators got laughs by mocking Sullivan himself, especially his "really big shew" line, which he used in introducing his show.

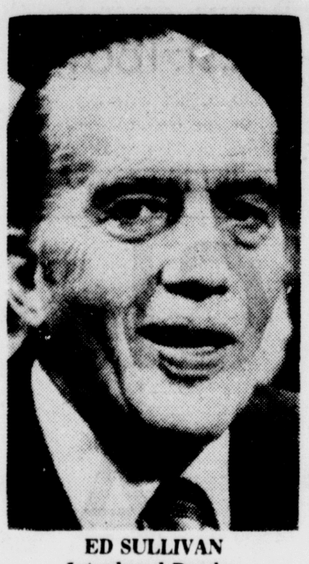
Sullivan got into show business as a newspaper reporter covering celebrities. He wrote a newspaper column for the New York Daily News until his death.

After a series of short-lived radio shows, he was spotted by CBS while hosting the New York Daily News' annual Harvest Moon Ball.

In 1947, CBS gave Sullivan a one-hour variety series, originally called "The Toast of the Town," which ran for 24 years until 1971.

A fellow journalist, Jim Bishop, once said "By all the rules of the theater, he's a cipher. He cannot act. He cannot sing. He cannot dance. He cannot tell a joke."

Although his role was seen as that of the person who changed the signs between vaudeville acts, Sullivan was not entirely uncontroversial. In 1961, he had a feud with Jack Paar, then star of NBC-TV's late night show, over performers' fees.



ED SULLIVAN
Introduced Presley

Sullivan started the dispute by saying he would not pay performers as much as $7,500 for appearances on his prime time show if they appeared on Paar's show for only $320.

A debate was arranged, with Sullivan scheduled to appear on Paar's show. Sullivan never showed, however. "Paar simply has welshed," he said, calling Paar's demand for a free discussion period unacceptable.

Paar said Sullivan "broke the date" and, in a 45-minute monologue during the period the debate was to be held, called Sullivan a "liar" and dared him to sue for libel.

Sullivan was born Edward Vincent Sullivan in Manhattan. His first job after high school was as a reporter for the Port Chester (N.Y.) Item.

After several jobs as reporter or sportswriter for newspapers, he landed a job as Broadway columnist for the New York Graphic in 1929. He moved his column to the New York Daily News in 1932.

Sullivan's wife, Sylvia, died last year.

Tokyo Office Wrecked By Trash Bomb

TOKYO (UPI) — A bomb wrecked the downtown office building of a major Japanese import-export company today, but a telephone warning gave the firm time to evacuate most of its 2,700 employees and avert a major catastrophe.

Police said the blast injured 16 persons, two of them seriously, at the headquarters of Mitsui and Co. Two of the victims were police officers rushed to the building to search for the explosive.

It was the second bomb attack on a major Japanese corporation in six weeks.

Authorities said the bomb was apparently wrapped in brown paper and hidden in a waste basket near the entrance to Mitsui's third-floor communications room.

Company officials said Mitsui's computerized worldwide communications network remained intact although windows in the room were shattered.

"I heard an awful bang and a wave of wind hit my face," said Kimiaki Ueno, 24, an employe in the communications room. "Then there was smoke hanging all over the room and I knew it was a bomb."

Two calls to the company's telephone switchboard warned "a bomb has been planted" in the building. The explosion came 27 minutes after the first call.

The callers identified themselves as members of the "Asian Continental Development Organization," a group unknown to police investigators.

About 2,000 police were dispatched to the area around the Mitsui building after the explosion. Workers in the building were evacuated to nearby Hibiya Park.

Soon after the blast, an anonymous caller telephoned a machinery firm connected with C. Itoh Co., another of Japan's big international trading houses. "After Mitsui, the next is you," the caller said.

On Aug. 30, a bomb made of 50 sticks of dynamite exploded in front of the headquarters of Mitsubishi Heavy Industries in downtown Tokyo.

Eight persons were killed and more than 300 injured in that blast, which broke more than 3,000 windows in the area. No suspects were arrested.

JOSEPH KRIPS
Death at 72

Conductor Krips Dies In Geneva

GENEVA (UPI) — Conductor Joseph Krips, noted for his interpretations of Mozart, died yesterday at the Cantonal Hospital here. He was 72.

The hospital did not disclose the cause of death but his wife said he had been suffering from lung cancer. The Krips had a home in Montreux on Lake Geneva, but traveled most of the time.

Mrs. Krips said her husband's cancer was diagnosed early this year but he felt better after treatment in Vienna and conducted Mozart's opera Cosi Fan Tutte in Paris in May.

However, he gave up conducting after seven performances when he suffered a relapse.

Krips entered the Geneva hospital early in September. His widow said he will be buried in Vienna. No arrangements had yet been made.

Krips started his career at the Volksoper of his native Vienna in 1921.

From 1926 until 1933, he was leading conductor at the Karisruhe state theater in Germany. After the Nazi takeover, Krips returned to Vienna, working for the State Opera until the Nazis invaded Austria in 1938.

When the Nazis barred him from conducting, he emigrated to Belgrade. Back in Vienna after World War II, he became conductor at the State Opera and reopened the Salzburg Festival in 1946.

In the postwar years, he gained a worldwide reputation with his new style of interpreting works by Mozart.

From 1950 until 1954, Krips was conductor of the London Symphony Orchesta. Until 1963, he worked with the Buffalo Symphony Orchestra and later he also conducted the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

Krips worked his last years in Vienna. He resigned as chief conductor of the Vienna Symphony Orchestra in 1973.

Mills Fling May Hamper Election Try

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "What happened to Wilbur" is one of Washington's latest gossip subjects.

"Wilbur" is the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., one of the most powerful men in Congress. Some colleagues agree that something did happen to Wilbur in the past two or three years, about the time he decided to run for President.

The change, if there was one, became headlines last week. There were jokes about Mills' relationship with a former nightclub dancer. For example: "She was only a stripper from the Silver Slipper, but she had her Ways and Means."

For most of his career in Congress, Mills was intellectual, staid and mostly serious. He was said to refuse White House invitations so he could stay at home with his wife Polly. His bedside reading was articles on tax law.

Most people thought all Mills had to worry about was how big his re-election margin would be —but that was before a week ago today.

The events are by now well known. About 2 a.m., Oct. 14, police stopped a speeding car with no headlights.

A woman ran into a tidal basin of the Potomac River and was pulled out by police, screaming. One passenger was an intoxicated, scratched and bleeding man who identified himself as Wilbur Mills.

First, Mills' office denied he was present. Two days later, with the congressman still absent, his office issued a written statement saying that it was all a misunderstanding, simply a party of friends.

The woman, Annabel Battistella, 38, whom Mills called a neighbor in his apartment complex, once worked as a nightclub stripper, billed as "Fanne Foxe, the Argentine Fire Cracker."

Mills now has to face the voters back in Arkansas who have regularly returned him to Congress for the past 35 years. For the first time, a Republican, 31-year-old Judy Petty, is giving him a serious challenge.

"I just can't understand what happened to Wilbur," said one bewildered senior member of his committee.

Many of his colleagues say whatever happened to Wilbur happened in 1972. He decided to run for President, got roughly 1 per cent of the vote in the primaries, and dropped out before the convention.

Mills had largely shunned publicity before that and was known as one of the most effective legislators — and sober, retiring personages —in several decades.

What's more, the Senate Watergate Committee uncovered charges that for his presidential campaign, Mills accepted $75,000 in illegal contributions and services from Associated Milk Producers, Inc., and Gulf Oil Corp. had illegally contributed $15,000.

After that, Mills was hit with back problems. He was laid up for eight months in Arkansas for treatment which included disc surgery and recuperation. When he returned, both Mills and his committee had changed.

Murder In Chapel At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The body of a young woman who went to pray in a church on the Stanford University campus in the middle of the night was found half-nude and spread-eagled near the altar yesterday morning.

An autopsy showed she was stabbed in the back of the head.

There were no suspects in the slaying of Arlis Perry, 19, whose killer apparently carried out a torture ritual on the young woman's body, using a pair of three-foot-long candles.

Police would only say that "some objects" were found in the Romanesque-style Memorial Church, but the chapel's dean, Robert Hammerton-Kelly, said two large white candles were with the body.

Mrs. Perry, a 5-6, 110-pound blonde who worked for a Palo Alto law office, left her apartment about midnight to pray at the church, according to her husband, Bruce Perry, 20.

Asked if Mrs. Perry was possibly the victim of a Black Mass satanist torture-killing, Santa Clara County sheriff's Lt. Robert Bartoo replied:

"We're exploring all the possibilities, including this." There were "some objects lying around," he said, "but I'm not sure just what."

Six detectives were assigned to the case. The major clue was said to be a report that two men entered the century-old church with a woman just before the midnight lockup.

The security officer who found the body said the west door leading to a seating and prayer area of the church was unlocked.

The victim's husband said his wife often walked to the church alone when she had a problem. She left their apartment just before midnight, he said, and when she hadn't returned by 3 a.m., he notified authorities.

The Perry couple was from Bismarck, N.D., and had married last August, university officials said. Perry is a sophomore at Stanford. His wife recently went to work as a receptionist in Palo Alto.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Italians Try For New Cabinet

ROME (UPI) — President Giovanni Leone today named Christian Democratic party leader Amintore Fanfani as premier-designate to try to form a new center-left government to lift Italy out of its political and economic morass.

Fanfani

Fanfani, who was the main architect of the center-left alignment of Christian Democrats, and Social Democrats in 1962, accepted "with reservation."

Politicians said even if Fanfani succeeds in patching up the feud between the Socialists and Social Democrats, another center-left would be only a stopgap maneuver to give all the parties time to prepare for national elections within a few months.

Moscow Talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, here for discussions on a controversial U.S. grain deal with the Soviet Union and other economic matters, started talks with Soviet trade officials today, Moscow Radio said.

The radio said Simon met with Foreign Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichev.

Simon flew to Moscow yesterday to promote U.S.-Soviet trade, but he told newsmen he would spend much of the trip discussing President Ford's decision to block a $500 million wheat sale to the Soviet Union.

Reds Attack

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist gunners slammed 10 Chinese-built rockets into the eastern fringes of Ochentong international airport southwest of the Cambodian capital early today.

Police said seven civilians living in the area were wounded but no airport facilities were affected.

It was the first time since the spring that the rebels hit southwestern Phnom Penh. Several Chinese 107mm rockets have been fired at the southeast part of the city. Four of the missiles wounded two civilians four days ago.

Mexican Oil

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexican President Luis Echeverria says Mexico will closely guard its new-found oil reserves, reputed to be as rich as those of the Persian Gulf.

Echeverria said there are "very good prospects" but gave no details of the size of the find in the southeastern states of Chiapas and Tabasco — "that is something our technicians will have to determine."

The Washington Post Saturday quoted an American oil company geologist as saying that the oil deposits could be another Persian Gulf of petroleum and had awakened U.S. interests.

Demo Hopeful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen, D-Tex., says he isn't well enough known around the country to run for president, although he agrees with those who want him to do it that he could appeal to the political center.

Bentsen, 53, said yesterday some party leaders have told him he should run for the Democratic nomination in 1976.

"And every time they say it, I enjoy it," Bentsen said.

Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Democratic campaign committee, said he felt many Democratic voters were looking for a new face, "a voice of moderation" for the party.

Parley Spurned

SAIGON (UPI) — The offer of President Nguyen Van Thieu to negotiate peace with the Communist side has been turned down by the Viet Cong and North Vietnam, supporters of the government said today.

The Communists, apparently taking Thieu's offer for new peace talks as a show of weakness, instead have stepped up their own demands for peace and called for the overthrow of Thieu, pro-government politicians said.

On Sept. 8 Thieu sent two top aides to Indonesia in an effort to enlist that nation's help as an intermediary between Saigon and Communist officials, but the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have showed no interest.

Tory Loser

LONDON (UPI) — Former prime minister Edward Heath, humiliated by his second election loss to Harold Wilson this year, today faced increasing public and party pressure to give up leadership of the Conservative party.

London newspapers said the only remaining question after Thursday's election, which gave Wilson's Labor party government a new mandate with a three-man majority in Parliament, was when and how the Tory leader would step down.

Sir Keith, former secretary of state for social services, and party chairman William Whitelaw, former secretary for Northern Ireland, were favorities to get the job of rebuilding the Conservative party.

Irish Parley

BELFAST (UPI) — Northern Ireland Secretary Merlyn Rees flew to Belfast today from London to discuss ways of halting a wave of assassinations that police said had given Northern Ireland its bloodiest period since 1972.

There have been four assassinations in as many days, boosting the number of political murders to 15 in less than a month.

Gerry Fitt, leader of the Roman Catholic-dominated Social Democratic and Labor party SDLP, said he has asked for a meeting with Prime Minister Harold Wilson to discuss the situation.

EPA, Industry Argue 'Scrubbing' Devices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency says there has been a technological breakthrough with which the nation's power plants could:

Clean up the air.

Cut the country's reliance on expensive foreign oil.

Use up readily available supplies of inexpensive but "dirty" Eastern coal without harming the environment.

Make it unnecessary to tear up thousands of acres of public land in the West by strip mining to get cleaner burning coal.

Some parts of the power industry don't believe it. They say the EPA is trying to force them to spend billions of dollars on "monstrous contraptions" of questionable value which will fan inflation and be "energy paralyzing."

The breakthrough the EPA claims involves smokestack "scrubbers" — devices to remove sulfur oxides which are given off when coal or oil with high sulfur content is burned.

These oxides are dangerous to health when smokestacks spew them into the atmosphere.

Two weeks ago, the agency announced that experience with a number of scrubber installations in commercial power plants prove that they work.

It says the results that will flow from the breakthrough, if industry can be convinced, will be immense: Cheap, plentiful, high sulfur coal could be burned without polluting the air.

That would mean less reliance on high priced foreign oil, which now drives up prices, and no need to strip mine for low sulfur coal in the West.

But even one of the firms the agency cites as a model doesn't read the findings with quite the same clarity as the EPA. The government is split on the issue.

Behind the argument is a clock that is running out. The law as currently written requires that the air be made cleaner.

The EPA has already singled out power plants with a combined generating capacity of 90,000 megawatts, which it believes must be controlled with smokestack scrubbers by 1980 to meet those rules.

Those power companies which object say their basic argument is not money — although there is potentially a $5.4 billion investment involved for scrubbers — but that the spending is too risky because the equipment does not work, or at least not for sufficient periods of time with enough reliability to make the air cleaner.

The EPA's latest status report on scrubber technology singled out the Louisville (Ky.) Gas and Electric Co., which it said has been operating for five months a scrubber capable of removing 90 per cent of the sulfur oxides from high sulfur coal.

A company spokesman told UPI: "It does work. It seems to continue to operate as long as we want it to." In general the firm seemed as pleased as the EPA was.

But a second company, Boston Edison, was not as enthusiastic.

The agency said Boston Edison "seems generally satisfied with the efficiency and reliability" of the system, although it admitted the device had broken down a few times.

A company spokesman, asked for his version, said, "While it is running it is successful. During the test period it was successful in removing over 5,000 tons of commercially saleable sulfuric acid.

"The bad news is that as far as reliability is concerned it's not totally satisfactory. It has a relatively poor availability. During the test period it has only been able to operate seven days at a time, then shut down," he said.

Asked whether 5he EPA's claimed breakthrough is here, he said: "It's just not proven yet."

The EPA said Boston Edison planned to install scrubbers on other boilers but the company spokesman said those decisions were still not made.

Newsman Dies

ROME (UPI) — Michael Chinigo, a former wire service reporter who covered the U.S. Army landings in Sicily and Anzio, died Friday night of a self-inflected pistol wound, police said today.

Ford Poised To Campaign For Party

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford will be on the road again this week in his effort to get to get a Congress as friendly as possible to his administration elected Nov. 5.

There is little doubt that Democrats will pick up seats in the House and Senate this fall. How many is still the subject of speculation.

Republican strategists figure they will lose anywhere between "the teens" and 35 seats. Democratic politicians say "we'll be doing good if we pick up 20 seats."

There are 34 Senate seats at stake, 20 Democratic and 14 Republican. Experts in both parties say that alignment will shift to the Democrats.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., said (on NBC's "Meet the Press") yesterday, "I think we will pick up three, possibly four, additional seats" in the Senate.

Ford has already made it clear that he's going to be involved this fall. He began campaigning last week, making visits to Burlington, Vt., Philadelphia and Detroit.

He has a trip this week to the Great Plains, with speeches scheduled for Kansas City and small towns in Iowa and Nebraska.

Ford spent a quiet weekend. He curtailed his Saturday schedule, holding only a few meetings and swearing in Richard Roudebush as the new head of the Veterans Administration.

The next day, he read the Sunday papers and watched football on television. Ford spent much of the time with his wife Betty, just released from Bethesda Naval Hospital, where she had a cancer operation.

Balloon Travel Ends In Death

HARVARD, Ill. (UPI) — One woman was killed and four persons were injured during the weekend when eight hot air balloons went out of control in brisk air currents and sailed from Wisconsin to Illinois.

The dead woman was identified as Edith Coppage, 36, Wood Dale, Ill.

State police said she was a passenger in one of eight balloons called the "hot air brigade," which took off from a resort in Fontana, Wis., and were blown into northern Illinois.

A police spokesman said the woman was in a balloon which crashed into a tree about two miles south of Harvard.

Bennett Cancels In Boston, Too

TORONTO (UPI) — Singer Tony Bennett backed costar Lena Horne Friday in her cancellation of a Boston engagement because of the anti-busing violence in that city.

Bennett and Miss Horne, currently touring together, were to perform at the Boston Symphony Hall from Oct. 23 to 26.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition
HERE'S HEALTH!
BY JUNE EMBURY

JUST WHAT THE DOCTOR ORDERED FOR COLDS & FLU

We're delighted and grateful when physicians send patients to us for dietary supplements. It's a sure sign, we believe, of nutritional updating within the medical profession. One special formula is frequently recommended for helping people cope with colds and flu bugs. This is a mixture of raw thymus and adrenal substance, along with vitamins, bioflavonoids, wheat germ and yeast.

There's been much talk lately about the effects of thymus substance. Scientists think it helps trigger the body's immunity reserves. Perhaps that's why this particular supplement seems to be so satisfactory. Feel free to ask us more about it.

PARK DEDICATION CONDUCTED

Three San Anselmo youngsters mimic the strict formality of the Sixth Army Band during dedication ceremonies at the city's new Creek Park. The downtown recreational area, part park and part parking lot, was the scene Saturday of speeches by city officials, music, and patriotic songs by schoolchildren. About 150 residents attended the event, most of them children who romped through the $200,000 park during the ceremonies.

Farmer's Almanac: Expect Cold

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's going to be a cold winter. That's the prediction from the 183rd Old Farmer's Almanac, which has just been published with its pithy homilies, recipes, yarns and advice.

"Make sure you insulate your home, stuff up the cracks and get out the bundling board," advises the 192-page 1975 Almanac.

Bundling boards, obsolete in this permissive age, were used before central heating to allow unmarried couples to get to know each other, but not too well.

The occupants would slip under the covers of a bed to keep warm and the board was placed on edge down the middle of the bed between them.

The Almanac predicts mild weather through Christmas in the northern part of the country east of the Rockies, with a cold spell in the southern half of the county and west of the Rockies.

Snowfall is predicted before Christmas for the Pacific Northwest, upper Great Lakes and plains states and mid-Atlantic states.

January through April will swing from abnormal cold to abnormal warmth in the north, the Almanac says. Very heavy snows are predicted in the Northwest, north Great Lakes and Northeast in January and March.

The Old Farmer's Almanac, founded in 1792 by Robert B. Thomas and published in Dublin, N.H., still has its familiar yellow cover and a hole punched in the upper left hand corner for hanging in a convenient spot.

The 1975 edition concentrates on advice for coping with the energy crisis and inflation, and everything from growing your own food — "run your rows north and south with the tallest crops at the north end of the plot" — to "the forgotten art of building a long-lasting fire."

There are tables for figuring when the fish will bite, when the moon will come up and when the tide will go out.

There are recipes keyed to every month of the year: November, hot pototo salad; January: corn chowder; April: maple syrup pie.

There are anecdotes about turtles that forecast the weather and starfish that commmunicate with mental telepathy.

And home hints: "Put a strip of masking tape on plywood along where you plan to make a cut. Your saw won't splinter the wood."

There is an eyewitness account of the Battle of Lexington of April 19, 1775, a yarn about "The Most Dazzling Fraud of the Age," and "The Strangest Story Every Told (or Darn Close to It)."

Then there is the sobering information that cows burp 50 million tons of hydrocarbons into the atmosphere annually, and that 10 cows burp enough of the gas annually to provide heat, hot water, and cooking gas requirements for a small home.

And throughout the book are those lines only cold northeast winters could produce: "God has given us two ends With the one we sit With the other we think Success in life depends Which we choose Heads you win Tails you lose."

Women Superior In Longer Runs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Women's higher fat content gives them a natural superiority over men in long-distance running, says marathon trotter Dr. Joan Ullyot.

The 34-year-old Pacific Medical Center researcher says her study of the physiology of running shows that a "curious thing happens to most men at about the 20-mile mark."

"Suddenly, their strength and power goes," a dip that doesn't happen to women, says Dr. Ullyot, who began jogging four years ago and recently finished sixth in the 26-mile International Women's Marathon in Germany.

She says her debut into jogging at age 30 was to help fight middle-age spread and she has now turned nearly all her professional attention to the physiology of exercise.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Early School Years Are Period Of Steady Growth

The early school years are a period of steady growth that begins at age 6 and ends in the pre-adolescent growth spurt. In girls, this occurs by the age of 10; in boys, by about 12. During these years, the average weight gain is about 7 pounds a year. Height increases by about 2½ inches.

Vigorous physical activities during a youngster's early years correct minor defects, including straightening the spine, unless, of course, the child's body is supple and he slouches.

Mild degrees of knock-knees or flatfeet are self-limiting, and usually improve as the leg muscles get stronger. There is nothing better than running and jumping to acquire and refine specific motor and muscular skills.

LITTLE THOUGHT

Most people give little thought to the facial changes that occur when the frontal sinuses enlarge during the seventh or eighth years of life. The eruption of the permanent teeth also alters the contour of the mouth.

Children in this age group have as many as seven colds a year. I discussed this with a grade school principal, who said that educators made allowances for absenteeism due to colds.

At this time of a child's life, lymphatic tissues (tonsils and adenoids) are at the peak of their development. They are supposed to be large, so never consider size alone a reason for having them removed (tonsilectomy).

The tendency of grade schoolers to frequently shift interest often creates anxiety in the parents. To a certain extent, the child's life switches from the home to the school. It is normal for him to become more independent, and parents need not worry about outside influences upon the child.

Parents and teachers should stress the benefits of duty, responsibility and accomplishment. It is natural for parents to be frustrated when their child's achievements do not measure up to what they think he is capable of, particularly if they have been achievers. Try not to make an issue of this, because many children become antisocial if they are made to feel like failures.

EYES: ONE BLUE, ONE BROWN

A reader writes: You have written on the personality of blue-eyed and brown-eyed people. What about people who have one brown eye and one blue eye? Is this a case of split personality?

REPLY

I think you are putting me on.

KELOID FORMERS

Mrs. T. H. writes: My son has had a keloid on his leg for about seven years. Can you tell me something about this?

REPLY

Skin repairs itself with a scar when it is cut or lacerated. After the repair is made, the scar stops growing. But in some people, scar tissue piles up until it protrudes beyond the level of the skin (keloids). Surgical removal is possible, but the person runs the risk of developing another keloid.

FRONTANEL CLOSURE

L. F. writes: If a baby's skull closed at 6-months-old, will she need an operation to open it and to prevent closing again until she is older?

REPLY

The frontanels usually close by the ninth month, but normal variations occur. An operation is needed only when the growth of the head is affected.

Kleberg, King Ranch Chief, Dies

HOUSTON (UPI) — Robert Justus Kleberg Jr., president and chief executive officer of the sprawling King Ranch and an avid thoroughbred horse racing breeder, died yesterday in a hospital. He was 78.

Kleberg, the grandson of steamboat Capt. Richard King who founded the ranch in 1853, directed ranching operations in Texas, Florida, Kentucky and Pennsylvania in the United States and branch operations in Brazil, Argentina, Spain, Morocco and Australia.

Kleberg, whose father was ranch foreman before marrying Richard King's youngest daughter, was born March 29, 1896. He attended the University of Wisconsin and studied agriculture.

He became known in the field of agriculture with his development of grazing grasses and the development of the United State's first breed of beef cattle, the Santa Gertrudis.

Under Kleberg's direction, the King Ranch also developed a history of producing thoroughbred racetrack winners, averaging $825,000 a year in purse money. The best known winner was Assault, the Triple Crown winner in 1946, and Middleground which missed the Triple Crown by placing only second in the 1952 Preakness.

Kleberg was a trustee of the Jockey Club and the New York Racing Association.

Man Is Booked In Heroin Sale

A 25-year-old San Rafael man was arrested in San Rafael Saturday on suspicion of sale of heroin as a result of an investigation and a warrant obtained by a San Francisco Police Department narcotics agent.

Frank Martin Hickey, of 355 Canal Street, Apt. 10, was booked into Marin County Jail and held in lieu of $10,000 bail to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

San Rafael police said they arrested Hickey based on a warrant obtained by a San Francisco drug agent who said Hickey had sold him a "sample" of heroin for $20 and an ounce of heroin for $750.

Commission To Work On Plan Conflicts

The Corte Madera Planning Commission will attempt to iron out conflicts in the town's general plan maps when it meets tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Town Hall.

The meeting was changed from tonight due to the Columbus Day holiday.

Israel Censors Press Service's Dispatches

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israeli military censorship has ordered United Press International to submit all news copy originating in the country to prior screening by the censor's office, whether or not the dispatches deal with security matters.

The censorship office imposed the penalty yesterday and would not specify how long the sanction on the agency would remain in effect. Through an agreement between the agency and the censorship office, dispatches dealing with U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's current visit to Israel were exempted from the sanction. In the past, dispatches dealing with Kissinger's travels in Israel have ordinarily been exempted from censorship.

The sanction grew out of a dispatch transmitted by UPI Saturday about a suspected Arab guerrilla incursion into Israel from Lebanon. The dispatch quoted military sources and a spokesman in the military command as saying that footprints indicating a possible guerrilla infiltration had been found on the Israeli side of the Lebanese frontier and that a search was underway.

The facts contained in the dispatch were exact and later reconfirmed by military sources and representatives of the command. The censorship office said transmission of the dispatch without prior screening was a violation of censorship rules and possibly military security.

The agency learned later that the search operations involved patrols and roadblocks on highways in the northern tier of the country.

After UPI put out the dispatch, other agencies transmitted similar stories.

who should represent the Palestinians — especially those on the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan River — still had to be settled.

"Many of us as Arabs... will always ask that the Palestinians be representeted at the Geneva talks because Palestine is at the core of the whole problem," Sadat said.

Asked his position on Palestine, Kissinger said, "We believe that the negotiations on the West Bank could be most efficiently carried out between Jordan and Israel."

Before departure, the Secretary said Sadat would visit the United States "very early in the new year." The two friends then shook hands, exchanged hugs and kisses and said goodby for a few weeks.

Kissinger's morning meeting with Sadat came after Saudi Arabia promised the secretary of state to push for a drop in the world's record oil prices.

Kissinger went into talks with Sadat at the president's Giza residence to outline a weekend accord with Israeli leaders on the "principles and procedures" for the next phase of peace negotiations.

The secretary of state flew to Cairo last night for the second time in his current peace mission and held immediate talks with Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi.

Kissinger, who has traveled to Egypt, Syria, Jordan, Israel and Saudi Arabia so far on his six-day-old mission, returned to Damascus before winding up his trip with a visit to Algeria.

The secretary of state said yesterday in Tel Aviv he reached an agreement with Israeli leaders on the direction of the next round of peace talks.

"We agreed on principles and prodecures which might be followed and the general tone was harmonious," he said after talks with Premier Yitzhak Rabin.

He met King Faisal later in the day in Riyadh and said the monarch adopted a "constructive and enlightened" attitude toward "the price of oil and the impact this can have on the whole structure of the world economy."

Methadone Use, Sex Drive Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Recently released research indicates that a high rate of methadone use, like heroin addiction, may affect sex drive in men.

With federal financing, narcotics addicts in Boston, Mass., and London, England, were studied. The results indicated that lower than normal levels of the sex hormone testosterone were found in the blood of heroin users and addicts taking a lot of methadone, a synthetic narcotic.

Patients on low dosage methadone maintenance had testosterone levels which were not significantly different from normal adult males, the researchers said.

The study was conducted by Jack H. Mendelson, psychiatry professor at Harvard, and two colleagues.

Few Decided On Dam Controversy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Poll says only about 26 per cent of the voters have decided how they will cast their ballots on Proposition 17, the initiative measure designed to block construction of the new Melones dam on the Stanislaus River.

However, the measure is favored almost three to one by those who have made up their minds.

The poll said today the survey was completed between Sept. 28 and Oct. 1.

PLAN

housing included. Land fill already has taken place in this area, say the consultants. The property is unsightly and would be improved by development.

3. A 12.4-acre piece of city-owned marsh lying between the Redwood retirement residence and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way should remain in its present natural state.

4. The 7.5-acre site where the city sewage treatment plant and corporation yard now stand should be marked as a potential low-income and moderate-income housing site. The hope is that the plant can be closed down once a regional sewage treatment plant is built for Southern Marin.

5. An area of 12 acres on the west side of a finger of Richardson Bay should be developed as a public park. This city-owned area already is mostly filled. Recreational uses should emphasize the openness of the site and include large turf areas for volleyball, softball, football. Parking would be limited in order to encourage foot and bike traffic.

6. A 12-acre site on the east side of Richardson Bay also is suggested for park and recreation uses including tennis and basketball courts. Most of this site is owned either by the city or the school district.

7. A 10.5-acre property at the top of the inlet of Richardson Bay into Mill Valley should be retained in its natural state. This area is owned by Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

8. About 15 acres in the Shelter Bay area should be opened to high density residential development but with a low-building profile. Most of this privately owned site is land fill or areas which have been roughly graded. The committee also suggests that if building is done, there be a side setback along the bay and a greenbelt surrounding the development.

9. Areas at the base of Shelter Ridge should be developed as a continuation of the present housing pattern there with some low and moderate income housing included.

10. Six acres of filled land protruding into Richardson Bay behind Sabella's restaurant building should be turned to recreation oriented commercial use including motels, restaurants and small shops. Nothing built should be taller than two stories.

11. Seven and a half acres of marshland behind the Hi-Ho Motel on Redwood Highway should be retained as open space.

Ralph Bender Takes Gavel Of Stamp Collectors

Ralph J. Bender of San Anselmo is the new president of the Tamalpais Stamp Club.

Bender, who formerly served as president in 1971-72, was elected to a two-year term Friday night to succeed Marcus Took of San Rafael.

Elected to serve with him were: Robert S. Caughie of San Anselmo, vice president; Jay R. Losselyong of Santa Venetia, secretary, and William J. Butcher of Fairfax, treasurer. Ragnar Thaning of San Rafael was elected to a two-year term on the board of directors.

Took and Bryce W. Anderson of San Rafael were appointed delegates to the Northern California Council of Philatelic Societies.

The club meets the second and fourth Friday of each month at 8 p.m. in the community room of Bank of Marin, Larkspur.

Hepatitis Hits 64 At Base

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — The total of confirmed hepatitis cases at the Naval Training Center here stood at 64 Saturday, with another 43 suspected or possible cases in isolation, the worst such outbreak ever to strike the Navy facility.

The hepatitis cases began appearing nine days ago.

Navy spokesmen said the outbreak was believed brought on by a recruit working as a food handler early last month.

Wheaton To Get Graham Library

WHEATON, ILL. (UPI) — Wheaton College, where evangelist Billy Graham was educated and met his wife, will be the home of the Billy Graham library and archives, college officials announced Friday.

Graham's papers, manuscripts, documents, radio-TV tapes, films, files, scrapbooks and other memorabilia were expected to be included in the center to be established in this town 25 miles west of Chicago's Loop, a college spokesman said.

OBITUARIES

Former Hub Shop Owner Mary C. Simmie Dies

MARY C. SIMMIE
Life on two continents

Mary C. Simmie, 86-year-old former San Anselmo shop owner who spent much of her life in the Orient, died Saturday at her home in San Anselmo after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Simmie was born in Japan, where her father, William Curtis, built the first Grand Hotel in Yokohama. Mrs. Simmie recounted in later years how her family contributed to the westernization of Japan. Her aunt, Clara Curtis, introduced the Japanese royal family to western-style clothes, and her father was responsible for importing European cows and sheep to the country. He also introduced sweet potatoes as fodder for Japanese pigs, which formerly had been fed fish, giving the meat a fishy taste.

When Mrs. Simmie was 8, she moved with her family to Shanghai, China.

During World War II she was imprisoned by the Japanese for nine months before her release was obtained and she came to the United States.

Before and after World War II, Mrs. Simmie and her husband, the late George W. Simmie, operated a summer resort in Pei Tei Ho Province in Northern China. During the prewar years, guests at the villa included a German general who was an adviser to Chiang Kai-shek and Mussolini's son and daughter-in-law.

The estate, which included 14 houses in an immense garden, was taken over by the Communists and the Simmies fled to the United States in 1946.

For some time the family ran Oriental Treasures, a small shop on Red Hill Avenue, and also at one time, had a similar shop in Santa Rosa. Many of the Oriental objects in the shops came from the Chinese resort.

Simmie died in 1961 and two sons also preceded Mrs. Simmie in death.

She is survived by three children of an earlier marriage, a daughter, Julia Hughes of the family home at 310 Greenfield Avenue; two sons, John E. Ladow of San Francisco and William W. Ladow of Novato, five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday at Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael, where burial also will take place. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

The family prefers memorial gifts to charities.

Novato Adds Gnoss Estates To Space Map

The Novato City Council has added land in back of Gnoss Estates and Reservoir Hall and hillsides above Sunset Parkway to the city open space map.

A petition with 135 signatures was presented by residents of East Novato to the council Thursday at an adjourned meeting asking that the hill above Gnoss Estates and Reservoir Hill east of DeLong interchange he added as open space.

Several Forest Park area residents asked that land above Sunset Parkway be included, according to Fred Westfall, assistant city planner.

The council deleted all bay plain land from the open space map and the adopted the text and map on a 4-1 vote, Councilman Fred F. Ruegg opposed.

Map and text will go to the Novato Planning Commission for approval tonight and back to council for final approval Tuesday night, Westfall said.

Yoga Training Course Planned

A 30-day teacher training course in Kundalini yoga will be held Nov. 2 to Dec. 1 by Hargobind Sadan at the 3HO teacher training center in San Rafael.

The course will include Kundalini yoga, Sikh dharma, marriage and family life, drug counseling, anatomy and physiology as it relates to yoga, healing arts, food consciousness, health, meditation and the science of mantra.

Guilty Plea Brings One Year In Jail

Kenneth Wayne Weber, 26, of San Rafael, will spend one year in jail and two on probation as a result of his guilty plea to two commercial burglaries.

He was sentenced by Judge David R. Baty on the two misdemeanors involving burglaries at Jimbo's restaurant and A and W root beer, both in San Rafael.

ty corner's office, young Mooseau was found dead in their living room by his mother Saturday about 1 p.m. The coroner said there was no sign of foul play and an autopsy was to be performed.

Mooseau was born in Port Hueneme, Ventura County, but had lived in Marin the past seven years. He attended local schools, including San Rafael High School.

Mooseau joined M Company of the Marine Corps Reserve in San Rafael in 1973 and then enlisted for active duty last January. He was a member of a 13-man squad which last month was named "super squad" of all Marine Corps squads in rifle proficiency competition.

The youth is survived by his mother, Ruth Mooseau of the family home at 40 Curtis Street, and his father, Paul Mooseau of Richmond.

Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael. Burial will be 10:30 a.m. Thursday at San Francisco National Cemetery, Presidio of San Francisco.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

JOSEPH R. MONGAN

Joseph R. Mongan, former executive with the Atomic Energy Commission and bank auditor, died yesterday at a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

Mongan, 56, was a 25-year resident of Marin. He lived at 90 Bayview Drive, San Rafael.

He was a native of Maryland. During World War II he served as a master sergeant in the Army.

For the last five years he had worked for Wells Fargo Bank in San Francisco. Before that, he had retired from a post as chief of the property management branch of the Atomic Energy Commission in Berkeley.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Mongan of Tiburon; a son Michael R. Mongan of San Francisco, and two sisters, Martha McLain of Baltimore, Md., and Monica Hurley of Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

Funeral will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Russell and Gooch funeral home in Mill Valley followed by burial at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. The Rosary will be said tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the funeral home.

CHARLOTTE L. SLAUSON

Private funeral has been held for Charlotte L. Slauson, mother of Winifred Slauson of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Slauson, 74, died Friday at a local hospital after a brief illness.

She had been in Mill Valley for four years and resided with her daughter at 249 Corte Madera Avenue.

A native of New York, she lived much of her life in Darien, Conn. She was a linotype operator for 35 years and had held her last job with a firm in New Canaan, Conn.

She was the widow of Howard A. Slauson, a carpenter, who died in 1968.

Survivors include two daughters, Miss Slauson of Mill Valley and Mrs. John M. Sisco of Daytona Beach, Fla.; a son, Warren Slauson of Seattle, and two sisters, Mrs. Maurice Weaver of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Chester F. Wood of New Canaan, Conn.

LLEWELLYN E. POWELL

Llewellyn E. Powell, a 28-year resident of San Anselmo, died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 78.

A native of San Francisco, Powell moved to 1329 San Anselmo Avenue in 1946 and lived there until his death.

He worked 30 years for the Golden Gate Bridge District, retiring as a superintendent in 1966.

He is survived by his wife, Edna Powell; a daughter, Mrs. Lamar McLain of San Anselmo; a granddaughter, a great-grandson, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends are invited to memorial services Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo. The family prefers gifts to the Marin County Heart Association.

RICHARD P. LYNCH

Mass of Christian Burial for Richard P. Lynch of Mill Valley, president of a San Francisco trucking firm, will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Mill Valley.

Lynch, 51, of 85 Bay Vista Drive, died Saturday while sitting in his car parked in San Francisco. According to family members, he had been under doctor's care for heart disease.

A native of Michigan, Lynch, president of Imperial Drayage Co., was a resident of Mill Valley two years. He was a Navy veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his wife, Marjorie; four sons, James and Thomas Lynch of Mill Valley, Richard Lynch of Los Altos and Michael Lynch of San Jose, and two daughters, Paula Conlon of Redwood City and Peggy Lynch of Mountain View.

Rosary will be at 8 o'clock tonight at Russell and Gooch mortuary in Mill Valley. Burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael. The family requests memorial contributions to Our Lady of Mount Carmel School Fund.

SAUSALITO YESTERDAY — Even in the early 1950s, when this photo was taken, Sausalito's Bridgeway had its share of cars. But most of them were driven by residents of the town, not tourists, points out George Hoffman, a former Sausalito city councilman who now lives in Mill Valley. Hoffman fears the same takeover by tourist attractions that changed the hometown flavor of Sausalito could change Mill Valley as well.

CHANGING TIMES — George Hoffman smiles modestly as he recalls the good times of pre-tourist Sausalito. Hoffman, now a resident of Alto, will speak at 7:30 p.m. today at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club on a topic that many Mill Valleyans are directing increasing attention — the emergence of the community as a tourist town.

THE VANISHED HOBBY HORSE

Mill Valley Becoming Like Sausalito?

By PAUL LIBERATORE

Every morning, George Hoffman remembers, Henry Malcheski would carry a hobbyhorse outside his Toyon Hobby Mart on Bridgeway and place it on the sidewalk for children to ride.

This was Sausalito in the 40's and early 50's. There were dry goods stores, a butcher shop, Art Boates garage, a hardware, neighborhood markets and a Rexall drugstore at the corner of Bridgeway and El Portal with a lunch counter where the locals would meet over coffee and rolls.

Nobody could imagine doing without the lumber yard. And Ray, the Shoemaker, "was considered a saviour of sorts," Hoffman says, "although he only dealt in half soles."

Then a curious thing happened. Newcomers began elbowing out the old storekeepers by offering building owners twice as much for rent.

Ray's shoe repair became Afro-Asian Artifacts, the hardware turned into Saga of Finland, the drugstore lunch counter into a men's clothier and the lumber yard was replaced by a singles bar and restaurant with broiled hamburgers and turtle races.

The crush of seasonal visitors, lured by the fancy new shops and Sausalito's reputation as a quaint fishing village, chased Henry Malcheski's hobbyhorse off the sidewalk. Several years later, George Hoffman and his wife, Mary, left.

Hoffman, who came to Sausalito in 1947, had been a planning commissioner and city councilman before moving in 1968 to Alto, a small residential area near Mill Valley.

He sees many of the same things that changed Sausalito from a hometown to a tourist town beginning to occur in Mill Valley and wants residents there to have the opportunity to "go to school on Sausalito's experience."

He will speak at 7:30 p.m. today at the outdoor art club, One West Blithedale Avenue , in a program sponsored by the Save Mill Valley Association.

Modest and soft-spoken, Hoffman, 57, is a former builder who now runs a home inspection service for prospective buyers. He has written a book on the subject, "Don't Go Buy Appearances," published by Ballantine, and sometimes appears on TV's "A.M." show with household repair tips.

He believes that Sausalito really went tourist in 1958, when the city approved a use permit for the village fair, a four-story Bridgeway complex containing 40 shops.

Mill Valley, he said, made its biggest mistake when it approved the conversion of Brown's furniture store on Miller Avenue to Old Brown's Store, housing fewer but the same kinds of gift and specialty shops as the village fair.

Mill Valley, Hoffman points out, has averaged 100 new business licenses for each of the last three years. "This clearly shows the direction the town is going. These are primarily licenses for shops. There aren't any big resident-serving stores going in."

Then there is live amplified music, an issue the city currently is wrestling with and something Hoffman is reluctant to attack since he is the rare middle-aged man who likes rock and roll.

"But it's not the music," he says. "The question is, will it change Mill Valley? There's no question that the residents don't want it. They weren't attracted here by loud music played in bars. They knew Mill Valley didn't have that when they came."

The only bright side of tourism for residents, according to him, is the possibility that increased revenues from parking and sales taxes will result in lower property taxes.

But that isn't guaranteed, he says, and even if it was, it is doubtful that Mill Valley citizens would consciously exchange their peaceful home setting and forest air for crowds, the smell of takeout fish and chips mixed with gasoline fumes and slightly lower taxes.

"Many Sausalito residents responded to the changes in their city by moving away," Hoffman recalls. "They felt guilty. They had served on boards and commissions and had an investment there in talent and devotion. But they took their kids out of school and left. They knew it wasn't the town they moved to or the town they wanted to live in. The spirit had gone. It was no longer a town for a hobbyhorse."

Saxbe Declares Fight On False IDs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe announced last night he is creating a new advisory committee to tackle the problem of false identifications increasingly used by criminals to escape detection.

Saxbe said the Advisory Committee on False Identification — first of its kind — will bring federal, state and local resources together to defeat the growing use of phony backgrounds by swindlers, narcotics dealers and terrorists.

Saxbe announced in a Columbus Day speech prepared for an annual American-Italian Golf Association dinner that the committee will hold its first meeting, open to the public, on Nov. 14.

Someone can obtain a dead person's birth certificate with comparative ease, sometimes even by mail, Saxbe said. "And with it he can then acquire a false social security number, driver's license, credit cards and other papers.

"One individual I know of is alleged to have followed the scheme ... and obtained an expensive sports car, and then a house, and then, yes, an airplane of his very own," Saxbe said.

The false proofs of identity are used in narcotics peddling, bank swindles, welfare frauds, car thefts, credit card frauds, check forging, and concealment of illegal aliens in this country.

The committee is already considering possible ways to make it more difficult to obtain a dead person's birth certificate for fraudulent use, Saxbe said.

If vital statistics bureaus cross-filed death certificates with birth certificates officials would be immediately alerted to something being wrong.

"Another possible area of exploration will be new methods of interstate cooperation — and there have been suggestions of computerizing resources of all vital statistics bureaus," Saxbe said.

Wornum Hits Warm Springs View

Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, Democratic nominee in the Ninth Assembly District, has attacked his Republican opponent, A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, for favoring the Warm Springs Dam in Sonoma County.

Wornum, an opponent of the controversial dam, said Hill supported the dam project in several joint appearances by the two candidates in Sonoma. Wornum, however, added that Hill "has not come out for the dam in Marin County." The Assembly district includes Marin and Southern Sonoam.

Wornum said he supports the position of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, which he chairs, calling for a halt to work on the dam pending an Army Corps of Engineers study of the Russian River basin.

Aside from the question of the dam's safety in event of an earthquake, Wornum said, "I am alarmed by the large amount of water which will become available with construction of the dam and the inducement that water provides for excessive growth." The new aqueduct being built to use water available from Coyote Dam will take care of growth needs to 1993, Wornum said.

Wornum has been endorsed by: California Medical Association's political action committee; California Organization of Police and Sheriffs; California State Legislative Board of Brotherhood of Railway, Airline Clerks; Northern California Chapter, Americans for Democratic Action; United Auto Workers, Region 6, Community Action Program Council; California State Legislative Board, United Transportation Union, and California State Council of Service Employees.

A champagne reception for Wornum will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Wednesday at the No Name Bar, Sausalito. Admission is $5.

HILL — A. Alan Hill of San Rafael, Republican nominee for in the Ninth Assembly District, has accused his Democratic rival, Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, of "placing political expediency ahead of the good of the people." Hill's attack was aimed at Wornum's plan, if elected, to take office in January instead of December so a new governor could appoint his successor on the board of supervisors.

Hill said such a delay "will do great damage to the district in that the people here would not be represented in the selection of a new Assembly speaker and would result in delay in introduction of needed district legislation." The new Legislature will open Dec. 2 for organizational purposes only, then recess until Jan. 6.

A no-host cocktail party for Hill will be held by the Novato Federated Republican Women at 5:30 p.m. Oct. 23 at Nave Lanes, Ignacio.

Hill has been endorsed by the Peace Officers Research Association of California.

BOYLAN — A gathering for Richard J. Boylan of Woodacre, Division 1 candidate for Marin Municipal Water District's board, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the San Rafael home of Louise A. Gulick, 810 Idylberry Road. A fund-raising party for Boylan will be held at 8 p.m. Fridy at the Dollar mansion, 1408 Mission Street, San Rafael. Admission is $5.

BURTON — Rep. John L. Burton of San Francisco, Democratic nominee in the Fifth Congressional District, will speak before the San Rafael Jaycees at 8 p.m. Oct. 23 at the Dollar mansion, 1408 Mission Street. The event is open to the public.

CAYLOR — Thomas O. Caylor of San Francisco, Republican nominee in the Fifth Congressional District, has proposed a new federal corporation to insure bank loans to churches to build housing for senior citizens. Banks often refuse to finance such church-built housing because the churches are not wealthy, Caylor said.

BANKER — A reception for Ernest F. Banker of Ukiah, Democratic nominee in the Second Senatorial District, and Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood, will be held from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Thursday at the Kent Woodlands home of Ruth L. Lederman, 16 Tree Top Way. Reservations are being handled by Mrs. Lederman. The event is sponsored by the Democratic Women of Marin.

TERRA LINDA — The Terra Linda Senior Citizens will hold a forum for congressional, Assembly and county clerk candidates tomorrow at 12:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Terra Linda Recreation Center, 670 Del Ganado Road. The event is limited to senior citizens.

'ELECTION EXTRAS' — The League of Women Voters has issued pamphlets on statewide candidates and state propositions on the Nov. 5 general election ballot. The free publications are available at all county and city libraries and branches, high schools, College of Marin library, Indian Valley Colleges student center, Whistlestop in San Rafael, Tamalpais Residence, Marin Jewish Community Center, hospital waiting rooms and jury room at the Hall of Justice. Copies also are available by telephoning the league in central or Southern Marin.

IRATE — The Irate Taxpayers of Marin have endorsed: Sen. H. L. Richardson of Arcadia, Republican nominee for U. S. Senate; State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, GOP nominee for governor; Lt. Gov. John L. Harmer, GOP nominee for lieutenant governor; Brian Van Camp, GOP nominee for secretary of state; Kenneth Cory of Garden Grove, Democratic nominee for state controller; John Kehoe, GOP nominee for state treasurer; Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, GOP nominee for reelection; Thomas O. Caylor, GOP nominee in the Fifth Congressional Dsitrict; Ernest F. Banker, Democratic nominee in the Second Senatorial District; A. Alan Hill, GOP nominee in the Ninth Assembly District; Tally Mastrangelo, GOP nominee for the state Board of Equalization's Third District; John F. Musser Jr. for Marin County clerk, and Betty Forry for Marin Municipal Water District's Division 1 seat.

"I wish I could do something; but I'm just one person."
Do you really think God will accept that?

Perhaps you can't do things all by yourself. But that's no reason not to do things. Join with others at your local synagogue or church. There's plenty you can do together. SPEAKS — Rev. Robert C. Lamar, moderator of the 186th general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, will speak on ecumenicalism at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Alexander Hall at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. He is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Albany, New York.

Mrs. Hearst Says Patty Is Innocent

CHICAGO (UPI) — The mother of kidnaped newspaper heiress Patty Hearst says her daughter is innocent of any criminal activity because she was coerced into cooperating with her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers, according to the Chicago Tribune.

The Tribune said in its editions yesterday that Mrs. Catherine Hearst belives threatened legal action against her daughter has kept Miss Hearst fearful of surrendering to authorities.

"Nobody in his right mind could accept the belief that a young woman of her intelligence and attitudes could instantly be converted voluntarily to such a contradiction of personality," Mrs. Hearst said.

Patty Hearst was kidnaped from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4 and last seen May 17 in Los Angeles, where several members of the SLA were killed in a shootout with police.

Mrs. Hearst said she fears that Patricia "will not be allowed to tell her story," but still believes her daughter was the victim of the SLA.

"What Patty has heard on the radio and read in the newspapers is that she is a wanted and dangerous fugitive with more than $1 million bail hanging over her head," Mrs. Hearst said.

"I am sure she visualizes and believes that if she is found, she will either be killed by police or, if captured, will spend the rest of her life in prison.

"What I want her to know is that the opinions expressed by a few law enforcement representatives are not the facts."

She said she felt that those who have made the charges against Miss Hearst owe Miss Hearst a clarification of her legal position and that the charges of kidnaping, armed robbery and other offenses against Miss Hearst are based on the belief that she could have avoided involvement in the alleged crimes.

Today is Monday, Oct. 14, the 287th day of 1974 with 78 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, and Jupiter.

The 34th president of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower, was born Oct. 14, 1890.

On this date in history:

In 1912, former President Theodore Roosevelt was shot in Milwaukee, but refused to have the wound treated until he had finished his third-term campaign speech.

In 1933, Germany announced it would withdraw from the League of Nations as war clouds darkened over Europe.

In 1944, British and Greek troops liberated Athens, ending three years of occupation by German troops.

In 1949, an East German puppet state was set up in Berlin by Soviet occupation authorities.

A thought for the day: Allied Supreme Commander Dwight D. Eisenhower said after victory in World War II, "Humility must always be the portion of any man who receives acclaim earned in the blood of his followers and the sacrifices of his friends."

WEST OPENS

West opened the nine of clubs, and dummy's king held. South drew two rounds of trumps and led a club to force out the ace. East returned a diamond to force out dummy's ace, and when declarer then resumed the clubs, West ruffed with the queen of spades.

West promptly led the four of hearts through dummy's king, and South had to guess whether to play high or low from the dummy. Was West leading from the ace or the queen?

IMPORTANT CLUE

The important clue was that West had not opened a heart. His actual lead of a doubleton in a suit bid and raised by the opponents could not have looked very enticing to him. The chances were that he led clubs chiefly because he didn't enjoy leading from either of the red suits.

West would have been happy to lead away from the queen of hearts, but not from the ace.

In short, West's failure to lead hearts originally indicated that he held the ace rather than the queen of hearts. For this reason South put up the king of hearts from dummy, making his contract.

Old Uncle Gaylord's Sees Mid-November Opening

Old Uncle Gaylord's, featuring old-fashioned ice cream, hopes to open its San Rafael outlet by mid-November in a remodeled service station building at 1700 Fourth Street, corner of G Street.

Old Uncle Gaylord's major emphasis will be on landscaping the premises to create a park-like atmosphere, with benches and a bicycle rack, with car parking to the rear.

The company specializes in the old fashioned, hand-cranked type of ice cream made with milk, cream, fresh and frozen fruits, cane sugar and natural extracts. The interior of the shop will be remodeled for serving ice cream, sundaes, milkshakes and cones for eating on premises and for take-out.

The new ice cream shop will be open seven days a week from 12 noon to midnight.

Managing the new San Rafael store will be David Rand and Shirley Meerson, who also manage Old Uncle Gaylord's at 1 El Paseo in Mill Valley.

Old Uncle Gaylord's was founded in 1971 in San Francisco by Gaylord W. Willis.

Brodnansky Kane

STEPHEN BRODNANSKY has been promoted to Pacific Gas & Electric Company's Marin district marketing supervisor, Marin District Manager Don L. Johnson announced today. Brodnansky's previous assignment was commercial representative in the company's Santa Rosa district.

A native of Sonoma County, Brodnansky joined PG&E in 1962 and rose through the ranks. An active conservationist, he has served as vice president and a director of the Izaak Walton League's Santa Rosa chapter.

KATHY KANE of Kentfield has been appointed a field director in San Rafael by General Business Services Inc., headquartered in Washington, D.C. She works in cooperation with James F. Olive, San Rafael area director for GBS.

General Business Services is a national counseling firm specializing in business and financial management systems and tax services for small businesses. Prior to her new appointment, Ms. Kane was managing a wholesale tennis court equipment distributing company.

LIVINGSTON'S at Northgate Mall in Terra Linda will hold its annual fashion show at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Manager Enge Rosenthall said the show will feature the just-arrived fall collection of ensembles, afternoon dresses, long dresses, party pajamas, pant suits and separates in custom sizes 12½ to 22½.

CLOTHES FREAK, the women's clothing store launched three years ago in Ignacio by Norman Kramer of Terra Linda, will expand to four outlets by Nov. 1.

A new Clothes Freak opened last Saturday at Union City, and another will open in Montclair in the East Bay on Nov. 1.

Clothes Freak is headquartered at 19 Hamilton Drive in Hamilton Industrial Park, just beyond the Marin County Humane Society building on the road to Bel Marin Keys. Its second shop was opened last year in Berkeley.

Managing the shops is Lauren Lund of Novato, who operates out of the Ignacio store, which is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The Clothes Freak specializes in women's clothing with the young look — long dresses, sweaters, skirts, pants and tops, some handbags and hats. "We are retail stores and also sell wholesale to many boutiques," said Mrs. Lund.

MARIN PAINT STORE at 639 San Anselmo Avenue in San Anselmo is still under the old ownership of Bertram A. Bowes, who has operated the shop for 16 years.

Bowes, a specialist in matching colors, offers Morwear paint, a variety of wallpapers and decorating supplies seven days a week. He himself is back managing the store since the first of this month because his manager, Lou Bouteiller, became ill.

"Despite rumors to the contrary, I'm still the owner and manager of Marin Paint Store," Bowes announced. He said some of his customers thought the store had changed hands because he negotiated for its sale last February, but that deal never went through.

ROBERT L. GRIMES, president of Frank Howard Allen & Co. Realtors, announced two staff promotions:

Donald L. Bambauer, who has been with Allen Co. since 1971 and managed the firm's Novato office for the past year, was named general manager, a newly created position in the 64-year-old real estate firm.

Gary Gustafson, with Allen Co. since September of 1972, succeeds Bambauer as manager of the Novato office.

BELLA VISTA INTERIORS at 812 Francisco Boulevard West in San Rafael announced the association of Theodore A. Gietzen, a graduate of the Kendall School of Design in Grand Rapids, Mich. He has had several years of experience in the housing industry as craftsman and in sales for a national housing manufacturer.

Joyce B. Hayes, president of Bella Vista Interiors, announced that the addition of Gietzen means the interior design firm can give better service to its commercial design clients.

THE FILM COMPANY and the PARTY PALACE are two new stores that have opened in the Strawberry Town & Country Village, Mill Valley.

The Film Company, owned by John and Sally Coye of Tiburon, took over space formerly occupied by Marin Tennis Shop, which moved to larger quarters on Reed Boulevard.

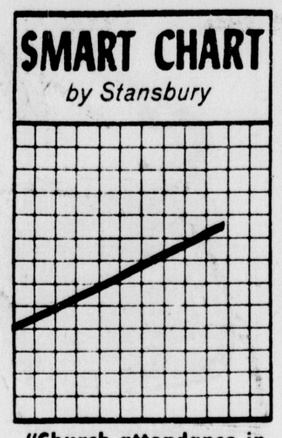
The Film Company offers photographic equipment including dark room supplies, cameras and accessories, films and processing. Managed by Tom Borello of Fairfax, it is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Fridays until 9 p.m. It is located to the rear of the Ancient Mariner restaurant.

The Party Palace, operated by Joanne Thomason of Woodacre, moved from Fairfax where it had operated for the past two years. A mother of six, Mrs. Thomason is the wife of Earl Thomason, teacher in the Dixie School District.

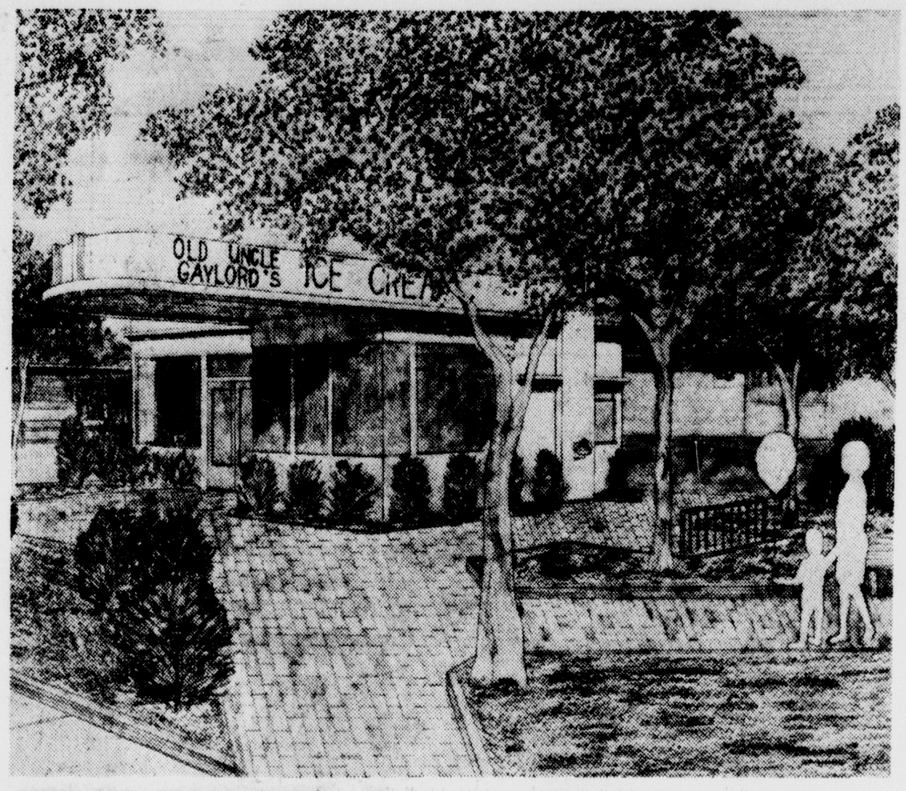
The Party Palace is a home arts store carrying such items as cards, party goods, cake decorating supplies, helium-filled balloons, and pinatas. It is open Monday through Saturday and Fridays until 9 p.m. The Party Palace took over the former site of Rojeans Card and Party Shop, whose owner retired.

SMART CHART

by Stansbury



"Church attendance in the financial district is up."



NEW ICE CREAM SHOP — This is how Old Uncle Gaylord's ice cream shop will look like when it opens in mid-November in San Rafael at 1700 Fourth Street, corner of G Street. An existing service station building will be repainted and remodeled, with exterior landscaping and benches to create a mini-park where customers can eat their ice cream choices at leisure.

Braniff Discloses A Traffic Increase

DALLAS (BW) — Braniff International has reported that passenger traffic for the first nine months of the year was up 13.1 per cent over the like period in 1973.

The airline said the record traffic for the year to date included a 14.3 per cent gain on Braniff's domestic routes and a 9.4 per cent increase internationally.

Wall Street Continues Its Uptrend

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, continuing a sparkling rally begun last week, closed sharply and broadly higher today in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Advances led declines by a ratio of about 11-to-3 among the 1,823 issues crossing the tape, demonstrating the strength of the gain.

Prices also were higher in fairly active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

The momentum the market generated last week carried into this session, assisted by indications more and more banks throughout the country were lowering their prime lending rate to top-rated corporate customers a quarter point to 11 ½ per cent. There was speculation the rate — a depressant to Wall Street for months — would decline to 11 per cent in the near future.

The speculation was generated by reports the Federal Reserve Board's open market committee, which meets tomorrow would foster a loosening of credit policy.

Airlines continued higher. Some brokers said they would recommend some of the stocks at this time. Gainers included Delta, UAL, American and TWA. The Senate has cleared legislation that would benefit TWA.

Silver Prices

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is no Handy and Harman silver quotation because of Columbus Holiday. Engelhard quoted silver bullion at $4.57 down 17 cents and fabricated silver at $4.684 down 17.5 cents.

Wickes Sales Down For 5-Week Stretch

SAN DIEGO (BW) — The Wickes Corp. has reported preliminary sales of $112,348,000 for the five-week period ended Sept. 28.

This represents a decrease of approximately 5 per cent from the $118,510,000 of the like period a year ago.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Northeast Utilities Should Be Sold Off

By ROGER E. SPEAR and DAVID R. SARGENT

Q. What is your opinion of Northeast Utilities (NYSE) as an investment? I have 300 shares at $10 each. It looks as if the dividend is in jeopardy. — W.D.

A. Net income for the 12 months through July 31 was down sharply to 87 cents per share from $1.49 in the corresponding year-earlier period. As a result of the "serious decline in earnings" the company will postpone for a year two nuclear power generating units scheduled for completion in 1981 and 1983. Further construction postponements also are possible. Prior to this announcement, Northeast had anticipated deriving more than half its energy needs from nuclear plants by the early 1980s compared with 24 per cent presently. A five million common share offering scheduled for sale in September was deferred but now appears likely to be marketed soon.

Although the company's subsidiaries have received some rate relief, heavy doses are needed to boost earnings to former levels. While the deterioration in earnings may be partially counterbalanced over the remainder of the year, dividend coverage will be narrow at best. Whether the current rate of $1.02 a share is maintained is highly problematical, as the 17 per cent yield indicates. Sell.

Q. I am interested in investing in Dart Industries (NYSE) and Fort Howard Paper (NYSE). I would like to know how much would I need to start. What are all the fees I would have to pay? How do I find a broker? — D.H.

A. Most of the major retail brokerage firms have offices in the city where you work. Choose an office which is convenient for you to get to. I would start with a minimum of $500 and suggest purchasing only one of the issues if that is the maximum you wish to invest. A larger investment would allow you to buy a round lot — 100 shares — and thus avoid paying the odd lot differential of $0.125 (1/8 point) per share. Assuming you were to buy 40 shares of Dart Industries, as a starter, you would pay a $5 odd lot fee and commissions and other fees of under $20.

Two Marin Actors To Do Alaska Tour

McMULLEN

DUSKIN

John Brebner and Philip Sheridan, Marin actors, producers and specialists in educational theater, will tour several Alaskan communities this fall and winter under the auspices of the Alaska State Council on the Arts and the National Endowment for the Arts.

They will be doing in-school creative drama programs in Delta Junction, Skagway, Bethel and Cordova during the first part of their tour. In January and February they will visit the communities of Kenai, Homer, Hoomah, Petersburg and Craig.

BINFORD — Dr. Laurence C. Binford of Mill Valley has been named a fellow of the California Academy of Sciences for his achievement in science and for his interest in furthering developments in science. He is with the department of birds and mammals of the California Academy of Sciences, Golden Gate Park.

FLOYD — Pvt. Mark S. Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Floyd of Novato, has completed basic training at Fort Ord. He is now in advanced individual training at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where he is learning the duties of a medical lab technician.

McMULLEN — Melinda McMullen, San Rafael High School senior, will be listed in the 1974 edition of Who's Who Among American High School students. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. McMullen of San Rafael.

DUSKIN — Navy Fireman recruit Larry A. Duskin of San Rafael was graduated from the Naval Training Center at San Diego and will attend hull maintenance technician School in San Francisco.

ABER — Dominican College harp instructor Alice Lawson Aber's articles on the harp will be included in the 6th edition of Grove's Dictionary of Music and Musicians. Mrs. Aber has written 54 articles for the dictionary.

VENDICE — William Vendice of Corte Madera has been appointed associate conductor of the Texas Opera Theater for the 1974-75 season. The theater is a touring unit of the Houston Grand Opera, Houston, Tex.

SMITH — Air Force Capt. Duane Smith II has been assigned to duty at Luke Air Force Base, Ariz., with a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Smith of Greenbrae.

Book, Gifts May Hamper Rockefeller Confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nelson A. Rockefeller's gift-giving and accepting responsibility for a derogatory campaign book have damaged his chances for smooth confirmation as vice president, according to congressmen who are investigating him.

"There's no doubt it's a deteriorating situation," said Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., a member of the Judiciary Committee, which is holding Rockefeller's confirmation hearings in the House.

Opinions varied on how far Rockefeller's confirmation has been set back. Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said there was "clear conflict of interest and President Ford should withdraw the nomination."

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., another member of the judiciary committee, said yesterday in Brookline, Mass., "There is a serious deepening question about the likelihood of confirmation."

Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, said yesterday the new developments might delay a vote on the nomination until late December.

Edwards said the House might vote on confirmation by the first week in December.

But Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, said there is a possibility the confirmation process would be slowed so much by new hearings that no action could be taken until after a new Congress is in session next year.

"I might tell you if it goes over to the next Congress, I don't think that improves his chances," Hays said.

Cannon told UPI in a telephone interview that his committee "in all probability" would recall Rockefeller to testify about the book and about his gifts, worth more than $2 million to 21 political associates, aides and friends between 1957 and 1974.

"I would say there certainly is more concern on the part of a lot of people as a result of these developments," Cannon said. But so far, he added, there has been no evidence of legal or moral wrongdoing on Rockefeller's part.

The book for which Rockefeller accepted "full responsibility" was a derogatory biography of former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg published in 1970, when Goldberg was opposing Rockefeller for the New York governorship.

It was written by author Victor Lasky and published with a $60,000 investment by Rockefeller's brother Laurance.

The gifts included $50,000 to Henry A. Kissinger in 1969, before Kissinger joined the Nixon administration; $625,000 between 1958 and 1974 to Dr. William J. Ronan, head of the New York port authority; and $100,000 in 1960 to New York GOP chairman L. Judson Morhouse, who later was imprisoned on a bribery conviction. His sentence was commuted by Rockefeller in 1970.

A few years ago such matters might have posed few difficulties, but in the post-Watergate era of concern over political ethics and the exercise of power they raise questions Congress wants answered.

"I think this is exactly the kind of thing we've gone through the last few months in the Watergate affair and we don't want to see repeated," Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a televised interview (ABC-TV Issues and Answers).

"I think this puts the Rockefeller nomination in jeopardy."

But Rep. John J. Rhodes, D-Ariz., said in the same interview: "I think it's not in any permanent jeopardy."

While Rockefeller's nomination originally could have gone through with few problems, Hays said (on NBC-TV's Meet the Press), "now it seems to be in serious trouble."

Quintuplets All Still Doing Well

BALTIMORE (UPI) — With a critical initial period now past, the 6-day-old Rohrer quintuplets are being kept under constant watch by hospital workers who want to make sure the babies avoid any threat of possible infection.

Dr. Ronald Gutberiet, director of the nursery at University Hospital, said yesterday the four girls and one boy all were doing very well, and their 28-year-old mother may be allowed to go home this week.

The infants, born premature by caesarean section, will remain in the hospital for another month.

He said two of the girls — Sandra and Belinda — had begun taking their formula by nipple. Michelle and Jennifer and their brother, Russell, continued to receive increasing amounts of formula by oral tube.

What Do Many Doctors Use When They Suffer Pain And Itch Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues?

Exclusive formula gives prompt, temporary relief from such pain and itch in many cases. Helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues due to inflammation.

In a survey, doctors were asked what they use to relieve such painful symptoms. Many of the doctors reporting said they either use Preparation H themselves or in their office practice.

Preparation H gives prompt, temporary relief for hours in many cases from pain, itching in hemorrhoidal tissues. And it actually helps shrink painful swelling of such tissues when infected and inflamed. Try doctor-tested Preparation H.® There's no other formula like it. At drug counters everywhere. Ointment or suppositories.

THE WAY TO GO

Shirtless and shoeless is the only way to go these Indian summer days, as 5-year-old Darren McMahon of Tiburon demonstrated Saturday in San Rafael's Albert Park. The past few days of warm, sunny weather made for a perfect weekend in the Bay Area for just about everyone's favorite pastime, except, perhaps raising mushrooms. Fair weather, with temperatures perhaps again touching the 80s, is forecast for tomorrow, but expect a return of some morning and evening fog. (Photo by Jim Kean)

Ford Economy Stance Splits Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican Leader John Rhodes says Democrats are not giving President Ford's new economic proposals a chance, but Sen. William Proxmire calls Ford's plans "marshmallow type;" not tough enough.

"You know, I've never understood why Democrats think it's good policy to poormouth the economy," Rhodes told Proxmire yesterday in a television interview.

"One of the things which we have to fight in this country is a lack of confidence. I just don't like to see people trying to talk us into a depression."

Proxmire responded that 'I'm not poor-mouthing the economy at all. I'm poor-mouthing the leadership, the very weak leadership on the economy, the fact that this was a marshmallow-type program.

"We needed a tough, hardhitting program that would really cope with the issue of prices being pushed up by corporate concentration."

Rhodes said, "Don't you think it would be more fair, Bill, if you would give the President's program a chance?... It seems to me that the Democratic party has a responsibility here as the majority party in the Congress at the moment."

The two appeared on ABC's Issues and Answers show.

The only good economic omen of the weekend came in the area of oil. Energy chief John C. Sawhill said that barring another Arab oil embargo, there will be enough home heating oil this winter.

"Our forecasts indicate relatively ample supplies of all the major petroleum products," Sawhill said in an interview with U.S. News and World Report.

"This is based on normal winter weather, but we've also made some projections for a colder than normal winter and still feel supplies would be fairly adequate, thanks in large measure to continuing conservation by the American people."

U.S. government sources said Saturday that new oil sources in Mexico —the Washington Post had a figure of as much as 20 billion barrels —could further offset the Arab price demands.

"If it's true," one official said, "that changes the world oil situation completely."

Oil costs are hurting the budget. In Hot Springs Va., Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent predicted that the U.S. trade deficit would reach $5 billion by the end of this year, partly because of soaring oil costs.

Agreeing, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said yesterday in Springfield, Ill. that "high oil prices are the cause of our inflation, and the President refuses to deal with the problem."

Other news was less optimistic. Using a phrase Proxmire picked up yesterday, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon acknowledged the criticism "that instead of biting the bullet, we are only nibbling at it, or that we are biting the marshmallow."

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, emerged from seclusion —he has been embarrased since a run-in with police —to say "the country needs to recognize that we are in a serious recession."

Ford's policies were even criticized by a computer. The Wharton School of Finance at the University of Pennsylvania predicted a 9.7 inflation rate with 6.4 per cent unemployment for 1975 under the Ford program and 9.59 per cent inflation and 6.2 per cent unemployment without it.

The computer assumed Congress would pass a $4 billion public service employment program —larger than the one Ford seeks. "The Ford program is almost all offsets," said Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., who made the data public.

Two Meaningless Propositions On Ballot

In almost every election, it seems, we must have at least one ballot proposition that is meaningless and merely clutters up the ballot and adds to election costs.

Usually, it is put there by the legislature.

In the Nov. 5 election we have two such measures.

THE FIRST is Proposition 11, which would change some language in the state constitution to eliminate gender. References to "assemblymen," for instance, would be changed to "members of the Assembly."

The ballot argument against Proposition 11 was submitted by Timothy D. Weinland, a student at University of Pacific's McGeorge School of Law. It states the case so well and sensibly that we cannot hope to improve on it. As Weinland points out:

". . . This is an attempt to artifically change word usage in the English language in order to satisfy persons who believe that use of masculine terms in a general sense discriminates against women. Such an allegation is absurd. Use of masculine terms in the law came from the fact that such terms are part of the normal usage of the English language in our society and are in no way discriminatory.

"For example, the 'American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language' includes among its definitions of the word 'man' the following: 'Any human being, regardless of sex or age; a member of the human race; a person.' Thus, the law has only made use of the normal terms in the English language and there is no reason to change such language.

". . . If there is discrimination against women, then the solution is to change attitudes and substantive laws . . . Don't make artificial changes in the English language. Don't ignore the real problem involved. Vote No."

Amen!

ANOTHER meaningless ballot proposal is Proposition 6. This would increase the minimum "property tax exemption" authorized by the constitution from $750 to $1,750 of assessed valuation.

It already is $1,750 by legislative action. And whatever the figure, it is largely meaningless. Experience has proved that a "property tax exampption" simply results in an increased in assessed valuation to wipe out the saving.

We see no need for the change proposed by Proposition 6.

ALSO CLUTTERING up the ballot is Proposition 13, which aims to solve a purely local problem in San Diego.

The state constitution prohibits splitting a city between two municipal court districts. San Diego embraces a huge area from Mexico to Escondido. It is contended this is too big for a single district. So Proposition 13 would permit San Diego to have two court districts.

If San Diego needs two court districts, we have no objection — although we might point out that Marin County, with greater area, is in a single district. But San Diego voters should decide.

Our suggestion (which we're sure won't be followed) is that everyone outside San Diego refrain from voting on Proposition 13.

"Frankly, Arnold, yours is not in the best American tradition of great responses to challenging times."

ERNEST B. FURGURSON

Perhaps Vegetarians Are Group Whose Time Has Arrived

WASHINGTON — The girl who walked into the office on Francis of Assisi's feast day did not precisely fit my preconception of the wave of the near future. She was pale and gentle-looking, as if she would not hurt a flea. Or a steer, or even an oyster, for that matter.

She was here on behalf of the American Vegetarians, and only after she left her news releases did it occur that this may be an organization whose time has arrived. By its title, obviously it is for eating more vegetables and no meat, and, while most high-cholesterol American he-men have laughed at that idea in the past, any grocery shopper can tell you that now it seems more sensible every day.

Beyond its basic ascetic-ethical-nutritional objectives, the movement has been espousing its economic case for decades. Only lately have the energy, environmental and population situations inspired other heavy thinkers to lay out the same suggestions, without crediting St. Francis or his modern disciples.

OUR VISITOR did not offer the economic case, which goes back a step beyond the high price of hamburger at the supermarket. It is that raising cattle or other animals for meat yields far less food per acre than planting soybeans or squash on the same acreage — and at much higher cost.

Neither did she attempt the early religious argument that eating less flesh will make us less prone to delicious sins of the flesh. Her brief was more Assisian.

St. Francis "reverenced the life, the spark of creative soul in all life," she recalled. He refused meat because "it comes from the killing of innocent cows, sheep and pigs . . . Nor did he harm insect life of any kind."

So on his feast day, the American Vegetarians pleaded that their countrymen remember "the unspeakable suffering which continues in slaughterhouses, animal research laboratories, zoos, traps, pounds, etc." It asked, "May we not buy the perfumes that require the killing . . . May we not eat the meat of another animal, unjustly raised just to be butchered . . ."

And finally the group made its no-nonsense request of Mr. Ford: establishment of a cabinet-level Department of Abolition of Animal Suffering. It proposed a departmental slogan, "They Cannot Speak, Only Suffer."

YOU WILL DETECT my uncertainty about how to handle these earnest crusaders, whether to take them seriously or to make fun of them. I suspect there's the same uncertainty among most of my countrymen, although the scoffers surely dominate.

But that ambivalence seems forgivable, since the vegetarians themselves are making a simultaneous effort to broaden their activities — whether out of lack of faith in the future of pure vegetarianism or a tactical desire to attach it to some livelier crusade, I cannot certify.

Anyhow, along with their flier against flesh-eating, they are polling the public for its preferences in other improvement programs. "Military spending?" they ask. "Amnesty? South Vietnam's political prisoners? . . . Peace and social concerns in religious education? Draft repeal? Health services? Civil rights? Civil liberties? Tax equity? Women's rights? (Please number in order of preference or, if too difficult to select, just check.)"

REMEMBERING NOW the face of the visiting proselytizer, I cannot believe she was insincere about St. Francis and the innocent animals. Rather, she must be so sincere that she wants to form a Popular Front with potential advocates of any and every other honorable cause.

Not long ago, the boards of regents of such crusades could be reached at Berkeley or Columbia, or somewhere underground. Further evidence that this one is different is in its address, the least likely revolutionary headquarters I have ever heard: 475 West Market St., Akron, Ohio. Pick your crusade in order of preference, or just check one, mail it in and welcome to the new revolution.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND:

Watergate Trial Should Provide Answers

WASHINGTON — There is much more at stake than the guilt or innocence of John Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman in the Watergate coverup trial now before U.S. Dist. Judge John Sirica in Washington.

Verdicts will come later, and it is improper to speculate on them in advance.

But the evolving testimony, which will now be brought out forcefully by both the prosecution and the defense, will provide the public much it needs to know to assess the motives and purposes which caused people high in the Nixon administration to do what they did.

IT NOW SEEMS PROBABLE that by following fairly closely what will be said at the trial we can penetrate the clouds which have made the Watergate scandals seem so outside rational explanation.

There is so much about the whole range of Watergate offenses which just hasn't made sense at all but which could come into some rational focus under the lens of the adversary proceedings in court.

Here is what I mean:

In the days just after the break-in at the Democratic national headquarters in 1971, administration apologists dismissed it as "a foolish caper" — as if it were something kids thought up for the fun of it. But G. Gordon Liddy, E. Howard Hunt et al were not kids. So what was behind it? We still need to know.

Later, several spokesmen for the White House described the Watergate crime as "stupid, asinine and silly" — as if there could be no sensible explanation. That's not good enough.

THE REASON it isn't good enough is that the attorney general of the United States, the chief of staff and chief domestic affairs adviser to the president all had some involvement in the decisions which brought about the actions for which they now stand indicted.

Well, since Mitchell, Haldeman and Ehrlichman are not stupid people, the purposes behind Watergate could not have been perceived by them to be silly or trivial or asinine. None of them was normally engaged in minor matters; therefore, the objectives behind the Watergate activities must have been deemed significant and overriding or they wouldn't have been undertaken.

The forthcoming testimony — both prosecution and defense — should provide some illumination.

OTHER QUESTIONS on which testimony should shed light are these:

If former Attorney General Mitchell disapproved of Liddy's plans to break into Watergate — as he said he did — was he really without the resources to prevent them? The explanation should be revealing.

If the White House "plumbers" exceeded their instructions in penetrating the private offices of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, why weren't they fired forthwith? The explanation will be intriguing.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY: Letters To The I-J

Friedman's Holdings Held In Family Trust

Erik Ingram's Monday (Oct. 7) column on income disclosures of county officials didn't quite tell the whole story with respect to my disclosures. What Erik failed to report and what I noted on my forms was that all holdings I reported were in a trust created by my family, over which I have no control until age 40 (I am now 34). I am not responsible for its contents, the income does not come directly to me, and quite frankly, I am not happy with some of the stocks he mentions as those companies do not always reflect my values.

Perhaps when Erik is old and gray, and I am 40 and have the ability to change the holdings, he can decide whether or not his moral applies equally to me.

Hill Did No Talking As BCDC Member

A recent political advertisement in the I-J cited Assembly candidate A. Hill's membership on the Bay Conservation and Development Commission as evidence of his "proven record" on conservation.

However, mere membership on a commission hardly means the interests of conservation were necessarily well served. In Mr. Hill's case, his membership on the BCDC was undeniably mediocre. In the dozens of meetings I have attended, Mr. Hill never spoke except to vote.

Surprised Hayakawa Is Endorsing Caylor

I was rather surprised to learn that Dr. Hayakawa has endorsed Tom Caylor for Congress because of the latter's "integrity . . . freshness of spirit and intellect."

Such virtues would hardly seem to apply to a man whose entire campaign was based on the dubious art of ad hominem.

On the other hand, Congressman Burton quite properly addressed himself solely to the issues and, as a result, we now have a Representative in Washington who knows what he's doing, and so do we (thanks, in part, to your frequent "report cards"). He is also most exceptionally responsive to his constituents' requests. . .

Judges Find Speech Tournament Enjoyable

Oct. 7 you printed an article by Ernest Murphy titled: "High School Debating Still Popular." All of us connected with the Golden Gate Speech Association want to thank Mr. Murphy and the Independent Journal for the wonderful and informative article.

I wish to thank all of the people who came from Marin and Sonoma County to serve as judges for the GGSA held Oct. 5 at Casa Grande High School in Petaluma. without your help the tournament could not have been held. Many people arrived with a fear of judging. Once they judged a round, their fears were replaced with admiration for the skills and talent exhibited by the debaters. The most popular question of the day soon became, "When will you hold another tournament? This was fun!"

Almost every year Terra Linda High School hosts a tournament for the GGSA. I am sure the speech and debate coach, Mrs. Lenn Bragg, would enjoy hearing from those interested in being judges or making a donation to the Terra Linda team. I would be interested in those who are interested in helping the Casa Grande High School speech and debate team either as judges for future contests or as donors.

Roumiguiere In Pitch For Measures A And B

Measures A and B will appear on the November ballot. They are of vital importance to the people living in the unincorporated areas surrounding San Rafael.

Measure A will pose the question of whether or not to form a county service area that will include the unincorporated areas. Measure B will ask the question of whether or not a maximum tax rate of 71 cents shall be imposed to finance the purchase of land and construction of a new fire station on Puerto Suello Hill, equipping it with two structural fire trucks, and staffing it with three firemen at all times.

The net cost to the taxpayer will be 24 cents per $100 assessed valuation. This equals $14 per year on a $30,000 home, $20 per year on a $40,000 home, and $56 per year on a $100,000 home.

In the past and until the middle of November, fire protection in these areas consists of a single county fire truck with one fireman stationed in Santa Venetia, coupled with mutual aid from the City of San Rafael.

If Measures A and B pass, fire protection will be improved by the addition of a new fire station, an additional structural truck, and two more full-time firemen. If Measures A and B pass, the City of San Rafael has agreed to provide second-response mutual aid back-up.

If Measures A and B fail, real catastrophes can occur. San Rafael will withdraw from mutual aid. Residents will then have to rely on the one-truck station in Santa Venetia manned by one fireman. The county will, of course, send back-up help but it will have to come from Woodacre or Marin City . . .

County and City staff working together reaserched every possible alternative and developed costs for each alternative method of improved fire protection. A citizens committee, including but not limited to the presidents of all seven of the homeowners associations in the proposed county service area, analyzed each of the alternatives and their costs. They unanimously recommended the alternative now known as Measures A and B on the November ballot.

Supervisor's 'Duty' To Debate Kayfetz

Supervisor Vella of Sonoma County is shirking his duty in refusing to discuss the facts of the Warm Springs Dam swindle by hiding behind a barrage of wisecracks.

He either knows very little about this project he has been promoting, or is afraid to reveal the facts. Therefore, he has ducked out of a public debate with me that could clarify a lot of issues. (I am representing in court more than 300 Sonoma County residents who feel that the facts about this potentially disastrous project should be out in the open). . .

For more than $150 million of your taxes the Sonoma taxpayer is paying for a reservoir which will drain like a bathtub during the recreation season, leaving several square miles of mudflat around an ever-shrinking pool of water.

The water being drained from the reservoir will turn Sonoma County into wall-to-wall subdivisions with an 18-lane freeway passing through it.

For this you would vote to spend $150 million?

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Repeal Of Bonus Ripoff Victory For The People

By EARL G. WATERS

It was a last roundup. Having done little to distinguish itself, except to effect a long-overdue change in the speakership, the 1974 Legislature recessed in August. It left behind monumental stacks of unenacted proposals testifying to its failure to come to realistic grips with the problems of the state. But its greatest failure, as it turned out, was in not recognizing the mood of the voters' reaction to the disclosures of excessive benefits it had bestowed upon its members.

Newsmen had reported, spasmodically during the long two-year session and even before, on various abuses of taxpayer dollars by the lawmakers, such as the $30 a day, seven days a week, expense payments.

But AP reporter Evans Witt and the Sacramento Union's investigative reporter K. W. Lee turned the full spotlight on the excess fringe benefits.

FRESHMAN ASSEMBLYMAN Bob McLennan, R-Paramount, reacted, authoring a bill to repeal the early "pensions", and incurred the wrath of his colleagues. He became as popular as a skunk at a picnic. His bill was buried and when the legislature soon afterward adjourned, those who stood to receive the early retirement pay felt secure.

Realizing that once the pay started it would be "vested" and could not be curtailed, this columnist suggested Governor Reagan call the legislature into special session to repeal the unjustified payments. The idea was picked up editorially by the Sacramento Union and other newspapers. It provoked a deluge of mail. The heat from the aroused citizenry became too great.

Reagan summoned the lawmakers. They returned to Sacramento and amended their pension law to cut off the early benefits. Those leaving office must now wait until the normal retirement age before their pensions commence.

IT WAS IRONIC that former Speaker Bob Moretti saw fit to excoriate, in the foulest of language, AP reporter Witt for his part in bringing to light the early pensions. The irony was that Moretti had campaigned for governor on a platform of "restoring power to the people". His attack on Witt evidenced the phoniness of his campaign slogan. He really didn't want the people to have power. He didn't like it one little bit when they exercised that power.

Brown Leads Flournoy In Race For Campaign Cash

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrat Edmund Brown Jr. has amassed a campaign warchest of more than $1.1 million to outdistance Republican gubernatorial opponent Houston I. Flournoy, who lists Nelson A. Rockefeller as one of his supporters.

Campaign reports made available Saturday show that Flournoy has raised approximately $900,000 to fight Brown as hundreds of "financial angels" have shelled out more than $2 million for the general election contest.

Financial benefactors from agribusiness—farmers, packing companies and ranchers— gave Flournoy at least $77,000, including a $23,500 contribution from the Western Growers Association.

Labor union officials swelled Brown's coffers by at least $132,000 with the biggest chunks —$35,000 apiece—coming from Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union and the United Auto Workers Union.

Rockefeller, the vice presidential nominee who has been questioned about large gifts to aides, chipped in $5,000 to Flournoy's campaign. Flournoy personally visited Rockefeller aides last month during a trip to the East Coast.

Brown picked up $16,000 from Richard Oneill and Lou Cella, Orange County friends of Democratic Nominee for Controller Ken Cory. The two "financial angels," as political aides call them, have dumped several hundred thousand dollars into Cory's campaign.

Not included in the statements were contributions made to the two candidates during the primary election when Brown's campaign collected $1.6 million and Flournoy's raised $1.2 million.

Many contributors, including recluse billionaire Howard Hughes, covered bets by giving to both campaigns.

Hughes contributed $5,000 to Flournoy and $1,600 to Brown. Twentieth Century Fox gave Flournoy $2,500, while Brown was given $2,200.

Both men received $10,000 each from the California Real Estate Association, while the California Dental Association shelled out $22,500 to the Republican effort and $12,500 to the Democratic campaign.

Flournoy also received more than $10,000 from backers of Gov. Ronald Reagan and $15,000 from James Garibaldi, a lobbyist for the liquor and racetrack industries.

Brown picked up a $50,000 loan from Joan Palevsky, the former wife of Xerox millionaire Max Palevsky. He also received $60,000 in loans and gifts from Auburn Manor Holding Co., owned by Southern California builder Martin Harmon.

Flournoy received $10,000 from Southern Pacific Railroad, $2,000 from Getty Oil, $11,500 from Tenneco and the use of a plane belonging to the Fat City Cattle Co., of Monterey, worth $100.

Brown took in $7,500 from World Airways of Oakland, $1,000 from the California Retail Liquor Dealers Association, and $1,000 from the Chinese Herb and Acupuncture Co. and $1,000 from Peter O'Malley, president of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Both candidates have agreed to limit media advertising expenditures to $900,000 while general expenses have not been limited. Both raised far more than they spent during the initial campaign reporting period for the Nov. 5 election.

The next campaign reports will be due just before and then after the election.

Yorty Loses His Broadcast Job

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former Mayor Sam Yorty is out of another job.

Yorty, who has hosted a morning call-in talk show on radio station KGBS, went off the air during the weekend because the station wanted to change its programming format to general country music.

Yorty, who was mayor for 12 years, was ousted by Tom Bradley, the first black to hold the city's highest elected office, in 1973.

The former mayor was said to be scheduled to return to the air on another station.

Relief Supplies Claimed Sold On Black Market

MIAMI (UPI) — A team of American medical missionaries just returned from Honduras has charged that American relief supplies airlifted to the hurricane-ravaged Central American nation are being confiscated by government officials and later sold in the black market, the Miami Herald reported today.

The newspaper said the charges were made by a Cocoa, Fla., surgeon, his wife, a registered nurse, and two other medical missionaries who arrived in Miami this weekend after spending two weeks in Honduras.

Honduran officials have denied the allegations.

"The higher-ups are taking supplies for themselves to sell," said Dr. Edward Austin. "Our interpreters told us the officials would hold the food and when the bad times hit sell it back to the people at the price of gold, was the way they put it."

Mrs. Austin said she also saw a visiting Nicaraguan Red Cross team stealing relief clothes for their own use and also to lure girls.

The Herald said other accounts of irregularities in coordinating the relief supply efforts were reported by Richard Wise, a former army hospital administrator, and Judy Biery, a Cape Canaveral, Fla., surgical nurse, who accompanied the Austins on the medical mission sponsored by the congregation of St. Marks Episcopal Church in Cocoa.

NOTICE ANNUAL FALL DEBRIS PICKUP SERVICE TOWN OF FAIRFAX

The Fairfax Garbage Disposal Company will have a free pickup of debris in Fairfax on their regular routes during the period October 28, 1974 through November 1, 1974. This service will be provided to paid up customers only on their regular pickup day.

There will be a limit of one (1) cubic yard per customer, which is the equivalent of 7 normal refuse cans.

Clippings should be cut no longer than 5 feet in length and tied in bundles or boxed.

IMPORTANT: All debris must be in containers or tied in bundles and placed at the curb. If no curb exists, debris may be placed by the side of the road. Furniture, remodeling materials or similar items will not be collected.

Debris boxes for other types of trash will be located in the area below the ballfield on Saturday, November 2, 1974. An attendant will be on duty and proof of Fairfax residency will be required.

OUR 50th YEAR
1924-1974

For half a century we've grown with you.

We've helped meet the demand for aggregate and concrete products for important buildings and projects in Central and Northern California...

...buildings for religion, education and commerce, for government and institutions

...materials for bridges and roads, improvements of river banks, harbors and military facilities.

But more than that, we've listened when people voiced concern for our environment. We invested large sums in control equipment for our plants, we've redecorated, we've landscaped, and we're land recycling. We're firmly committed to a better quality of life for those who work for us and those around us.

Boston's Busing: Peaceful March

BOSTON (UPI) — About 1,000 blacks marched peaceably through Boston yesterday in the first pro-busing demonstration since the city's racially troubled schools opened under federal court orders to integrate.

It followed a weekend message from President Ford to the city's residents pleading for law and order.

Thomas I. Atkins, the executive director of the Boston NAACP, told the rally, "We hope the President understands that racism is as unacceptable in Boston as it is in Birmingham."

Schools are closed today for the Columbus Day holiday, and federal investigators begin probing possible civil rights violations tomorrow.

The yesterday demonstrators sang Negro spirituals and carried signs such as "Stop Racist Attacks" and "Freedom Now."

The demonstration began in the predominantly black Roxbury section, and the blacks marched three miles to Boston Common, where they were joined by several hundred whites in a rally supporting desegregation of the city's schools, as ordered by a federal court.

The marchers, many of them with young children in tow, sang and listened to speeches from black legislative and community leaders for about an hour before breaking up. Police reported no incidents or arrests.

Ford drew heavy criticism from Mayor Kevin H. White last week for disagreeing with U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity's order requiring the busing of many school children. He taped a radio message to Bostonians Saturday.

"It is up to you, every one of you, to reject hatred and the shrill voices of a violent few," said Ford, without specifically mentioning busing or White's criticism.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent termed the message "positive."

State Rep. Royal Bolling of Boston told the demonstrators that "there's nothing we can gain through retaliation" to white violence.

Specialists will begin on-the-spot investigations tomorrow of civil rights violations stemming from anti-busing activities.

A spokesman for the team, in a news conference Friday, said incidents such as the throwing of rocks at school buses could legally be interpreted as an attempt to interfere with federally protected activities.

He said the investigators already had files on 42 alleged violations and expected to develop more.

"The clearest example of such civil rights violations is rock-throwing," said federal attorney John Conroy.

"The stoning of buses in an attempt to intimidate the occupants into not going to school under the desegregation order is a violation of the Civil Rights Law, and, if an injury results, it's a felony."

Rails Firm Office Goes To Petaluma

The San Francisco district sales office of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad will open tomorrow at 200 Lakeville Street in Petaluma, site of the line's southern Sonoma freight terminal.

The office, which had been located at Northwestern Pacific's San Francisco headquarters at 1 Market Street, is being moved to provide better service to customers, according to general traffic representative George Furosich. It will be manned by district traffic representative Wayne Luck of Novato.

Northwestern Pacific, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific Railroad has as its main business lumber hauling, according to a company spokesman. Its tracks extend south from Eureka, joining the Southern Pacific's main line at Shellville.

Flournoy Claims Gain In Polls

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Houston I. Flournoy, Republican candidate for governor, said yesterday public opinion polls show he is catching up with his opponent, Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr.

Flournoy and his daughter, Jean, 12, rode in the Columbus Day parade and attended a holiday Mass at SS. Peter and Paul Church in North Beach.

The California Poll last week showed that Flournoy was 11 percentage points behind Brown.

"Jerry was 14 points ahead in the poll before and he spent all that money on TV and didn't pick up a damn thing — he lost three points," Flournoy said.

"Brown's peaked," he said. "We haven't really started our TV spots, and they're going to help."

Operating Room Staffs Feared Exposed To Cancer, Birth Risks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is an increase in cancer and other disease rates among hospital operating room personnel and a report today said regular exposure to anesthetic gases appears to be the most likely cause.

A survey of 49,585 operating room personnel indicated that female anesthetists and nurses are the most vulnerable, particularly if they are pregnant.

"The results of the survey strongly suggest that working in the operating room (and, presumably, exposure to trace concentrations of anesthetic agents) entails a variety of health hazards for operating personnel and their offspring," Dr. Ellis N. Cohen, professor of anesthesia at the Stanford University Medical School, told a meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists.

The study found that women regularly exposed to anesthetic gases during the first three months of pregnancy and the year before suffer miscarriages at a rate 1.3 to 2 times the rate of unexposed women in a comparison group.

There also was evidence that female physician anesthetists have a two-fold increase in producing children with birth defects compared to female pediatricians not exposed to anesthetic cases. Operating room nurses had 60 per cent more children with birth defects, and there was a 25 per cent increase in birth defects in children of male anesthetists.

The study conducted by a seven-man committee of doctors found that women exposed to the operating room environment on a regular basis have a risk of developing some type of cancer 1.3 to 2 times greater than those in an unexposed group. However, no greater increase in cancer was discovered in males exposed to anesthetics.

Liver disease was found to be more frequent in operating room men and women and higher rates of kidney disease were reported in the women surveyed, but not the men.

Cohen emphasized that there is no firm proof that anesthetic gases that leak into the operating room are responsible for the higher disease rates.

"However, based on all the information gathered, the committee concludes that an increase in disease rates in operating room personnel is present, and that exposure to waste anesthetic gases in the operating room provides the most reasonable explanation," Cohen said.

The committee found that such gases are widely distributed throughout the operating room. The panel called for an increased effort to reduce gas leakage and remove anesthetic gases.

Lobbying Is Revealed For Nobel Peace Medal

OSLO (UPI) — The institute that awards the Nobel Peace Prize concedes a group of Japanese industrialists campaigned to get the award for former Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, but insists he would have won it anyway.

Tim Greve, director of the Norwegian Nobel Institute, said yesterday the 14-month public relations campaign had nothing to do with the eventual choice of Sato for the prestigious prize.

"It was quite a high activity, but not abnormally high," Greve said, commenting on the Japanese campaign for Sato. He added it was normal for national groups to support candidates for the peace prize.

Sato, 74, cited for his efforts to promote nonproliferation of nuclear weapons, was picked last Tuesday as co-winner of the 1974 award with former Irish Foreign Minister Sean MacBride.

The choice of MacBride was generally applauded, but reports of former U.N. ambassador Toshikazu Kase lobbying for Sato touched off a controversy over the former Japanese leader's selection.

Greve said Kase flew to Oslo earlier this year to lobby for Sato, but he denied that the institute had been influenced by the promotion efforts.

The Washington Post said Saturday 500 copies of Sato's collected speeches were translated into English and printed in book form because the Nobel Committee likes a candidate to write at least one book.

The newspaper said Kase served as ghostwriter for the book.

Sato defended his own selection in an interview yesterday with the Copenhagen newspaper Politiken.

"I missed no opportunity to speak for the cause of peace while I was prime minister," Sato said. "Now I only lack the Lenin Prize."

It was the second consecutive year in which the Peace Prize has run into controversy.

Last year, two of the five committee members resigned to protest the choice of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and North Vietnamese peace negotiator Le Duc Tho.

Kissinger accepted the award, but Tho refused.

By PAT BALMES

Surprised that so many girls signed up for soccer this season, Tiburon Peninsula Soccer League coaches are learning that pre-teen girls can play as rough as boys of the same age.

The new parent-run 16-team league has four girls' teams this season; 240 children complete in weekly matches.

The European sport is exploding all over the United States, and the girls want to play too.

Girls' coordination develops earlier and they put on more meat than boys do at from 9 to 13, according to Seals (girls) coach Howard Lee Hunt, a Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary student who was a college soccer player.

Last Saturday it was the girls against the boys when the Trojans (girls) met the Cougars (boys) in the weekly soccer matches at Del Mar School in Tiburon.

In shin guards and outsized uniforms, the little girls looked determined and aggressive. Their attitude seemed to say, "We can so play soccer as well as the boys."

Well, almost as well. The Cougars triumphed, 3-0. But wait until next Saturday.

"In Europe, soccer is far ahead. Here, it is just beginning. It's a lot of work, but it goes," said Trojan coach Charlotte Rutter with satisfaction. The Swiss national, who is staying with the William Hambrecht family in Belvedere for a year, played on Swiss soccer teams for eight years.

Cougar coach Patricia Farley of Tiburon played in a women's soccer league in Southern California. With her husband Leen, she coached in the American Youth Soccer Organization, a statewide league.

"Soccer stresses sportsmanship. There is no best player; they win as a unit," said Mrs. Farley, the mother of four children. There are no benchwarmers in the league; the rules require every team member to play.

Interviewed on the sidelines at Saturday's soccer matches, head referee John Maillard of Tiburon, chairman of the league's organization committee, told how the girls' interest in soccer evolved.

Last year a girl and boy convinced the Tiburon Parks and Recreation commissioners to give them $250 to start a soccer league, which Maillard organized on a limited basis, he said.

Maillard was a semi-professional soccer player in both Swiss junior and major leagues. As a youth he sometimes played soccer in one European country in the mornings before flying to another to play that afternoon, he mentioned.

"The first year some girls joined the boys' teams out of defiance. The boys did not want to play with girls, but it was a requirement," Maillard said. "It developed that the girls were mostly the best players."

At a crucial game late in the first season, the goalie had not arrived by five minutes to game time. Her teammates were frantic.

"Where is she? What happened to her?" the boys asked Maillard.

"What do you care?" the coach replied. "You did not want her to play."

"But she is good," the boys cried.

This year the girls did not want to play on the boys' teams, but wanted their own. They were convinced they could compete directly with the boys without changing the rules. They convinced the coaches too.

"The insurance man was surprised. Girls playing against boys might create a different type of challenge — more risky," Maillard said. The coach was able to convince the agent that, with proper coaching, there was no reason to be alarmed about girls competing against boys.

"I think the girls are going to be tough on the boys," Maillard remarked. "At 13 they are physically superior, bigger and more aggressive."

ON THE AGENDA

Modern Art To Be Discussed In Tiburon By Ada Garfinkel

Independent-Journal art critic Ada Garfinkel will speak at a luncheon meeting at 11:30 a.m. of the St. Hilary's Women's Club at Lydon Hall of St. Hilary's Catholic Church in Tiburon on Friday.

The luncheon will benefit the church's fund to build a parish library.

Art by members of the National League of Pen Women will be on sale at the luncheon. Among works to be sold inexpensively, said luncheon chairman Anna Allsman, are five by seven inch oil paintings on easels which will constitute table decorations.

Mrs. Allsman is also president of the Golden Gate Branch of the pen women's organization. She said the group gives a scholarship each year to a young woman in the music, art or writing fields. Proceeds of the art sale will go to the scholarship fund.

Mrs. Garfinkel's talk will be on modern art — what it is, and what makes it art.

MARIN COUNTY Retired Officers Wives' Club will have a luncheon Wednesday at noon at the Old Viking restaurant in Lagunitas.

Hostesses will be Marjorie Lupton of Olema and Vera Lawler of San Rafael. Jean Cerwin of Mill Valley and Helen Sheehy of San Rafael are reservations chairman.

MARIN CHAPTER, National Organization for Women, will have a party Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Marin Women's Center at the Young Women's Christian Association in San Rafael.

The party will be for chapter members and members of national NOW, who are not affiliated with a chapter.

Slides depicting sexism in cartoons, which have appeared in newspapers and magazines, will be shown.

JERRY EDINGER, host of the "Nightwatch" program on radio station KEAR, will speak to members of the Santa Rosa Christian Women's Club Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Los Robles Lodge in Santa Rosa.

Pemberton's Advice Available To Public

By BETH ASHLEY

Richard Nixon, who "could have used it," didn't accept help when offered from Dr. William Pemberton of Mill Valley, a psychologist who believes he has a workable system for bettering human relationships.

Look what happened to Richard Nixon.

Pemberton is now offering help to married couples who want to stop damaging their relationships by over-reaction and learn how to achieve a home life of caring and respect.

He is donating his services in a series of talks on three Thursdays this month, Oct. 17, 24, and 31, at the College of Marin Theater as a fund-raiser sponsored by the Founders Auxiliary of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers.

He calls the human effort to maintain equilibrium "homeostasis," the attempt to protect one's self by attacking another. He compares it to the action taken by body mechanisms to protect themselves.

What is fatal to human bodies is over-reaction. When the body receives a burn, for example, fluids rush to the burned area to heal and protect it. When too many fluids are produced, the body dies.

Pemberton tries to prevent this kind of over-reaction in human relationships, and offers a number of formulae to combat it.

A burn is an assault on an individual's physical homeostasis. A word attack by another person is an assault on the homeostasis of a person's emotional being.

How does a person react?

The "lowest form" of reaction is to "clam up," says Dr. Pemberton. A higher order of response is counterattack. Still more sophisticated is to laugh, or avoid the attack by some other evasion.

But none of these responses is satisfactory, says Dr. Pemberton.

Better, he says, to acknowledge the attack ("You seem to think I've been a stinker"), to state your own feelings about it ("I don't really think I have been") and then to decide what to do about it (either "But if you feel that way, I'll try to stop," or, "I'm going to continue behaving this way because it's important to me.")

Conflicts are inevitable, says Dr. Pemberton, but with skill, one can keep them from escalating.

"We try to get people aware

Breast Cancer Tape Message

A tape-recorded message on breast cancer and how to recognize it is being offered by telephone by the Sonoma County Medical Association in cooperation with the American Cancer Society of Sonoma County.

The message on breast cancer is one of four which callers may request. The other three deal with cancer of the colon and rectum, cancer's seven warning signals, and "Cancer — The Curable Disease."

Callers in the Petaluma area may dial 795-9091 to hear the messages. The service is a free service of the medical association and cancer society of Sonoma County.

Before you were born, your Mother loved you. She rose at night, weary and in need of rest, to feed and comfort you long before you knew who she was. The years tick by. And, in her way, in all her many ways, she loves you—and needs you—more today than ever. A Spanish Lladro porcelain called "Mother and Child" expresses mother love with gentle understanding. Do you know a lady who would enjoy receiving it from your hands? $60.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Broken Marriage Better Than Broken Life For This Woman

DEAR HELEN:

My husband gets his kicks from belittling me. The minute anyone walks through our door, he starts in on his "stupid wife" — how badly I cook, look, eat, talk, etc. It's his way of making an impression.

He's like that about all women, calling them floozies or fools behind their backs. But he sure butters them up to their faces. He "undresses" them with his stares. I've heard women call him weird.

He shows no affection for me, his idea being that "dames" are only good for bed. A kiss or a hug is wasted effort.

He's completely selfish, throws temper fits that frighten me, never compliments, expects me to jump to his commands, and never, but never must I bother him with small talk. At the dinner table, he's deep in his newspaper, and then he flops on the davenport and watches TV all evening, even if we have company (his friends).

When we were married four years ago, my friends wondered if I was crazy. I'm beginning to see they were right. I'm outgoing and considered attractive, but I'm fast losing my confidence. Love has turned to hate.

You'll suggest a marriage counselor, but he screams and swears he doesn't need any nut examining him, and all psychologists are nuts. To be honest, he's probably as unhappy as I am.

I don't believe in divorce (though my religion doens't forbid it). So what shall I do? — END OF MY ROPE

DEAR END:

I think you'd better revise your ideas about divorce! There are many fates worse than a broken marriage —for example, a broken life.

Apparently you bring out the worst in each other, and you'd both be happier apart. Why prolong the suffering? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

It's my unbelievable luck to find the perfect woman — and find that she loves me too.

That's the good news. The bad news is that she was formerly married to an All-American who became a professional football star and is now a wealthy businessman. They divorced five years ago, when she was in her 30s. She seldom mentions him, but I'm still competing.

Does a college professor have a chance against a brawny, brainy ghost? — T.J.M.

P.S. I'm not in the habit of writing to columnists for advice, but you come across more as a colleague and friend who could offer encouragement. Thanks!

DEAR T.J.M.

You're looking at this brawny All-American with man's eyes. A woman who has lived with him knows the flaws behind the macho. In her eyes, it's apparent you are the real man. Believe her when she tells you this and you'll soon outgrow your fears of ghosts. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

My friend is one of those guys who brags, "At home, I'm married. On the road, I'm not." After one of his swinging weeks in San Francisco, he came back to a wife who announced she was going to Baja California with "a friend" during his next out-of-town trip. Since she doesn't question him, he can't come right out and ask her who the friend is. It's driving him nuts. Should he just let her go, or put his foot down? — FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND:

This couple needs a showdown! When a meandering gander meets his match in a (finally) saucy goose, something's got to give — and it just might be his swingin' weeks away from home! — H.

P.S. It's half-past communication time —so why don't you talk to your wife, "Friend"?

Got a problem? An adult subject for discussion? A fun idea? You can talk it over in her column if you write to Helen Bottel, c/o the Independent-Journal, PO Box 330, 1040 B St., San Rafael, Ca. 94902.

A. M. Series Opens Friday

Lori March and Alexander Scourby will be open the 1974-75 A. M. series Friday with a program, "It Started with Adam and Eve." The program, at 10:30 a.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building, will be preceded by a coffee hour.

They will draw from the prose and poetry of Mark Twain, Lord Byron, Anton Chekhov, Dorothy Parker, Robert Frost and others, also using medieval ballads, to build a program about love.

Tickets for the five part series are abailable at the Marin Box Office.

MR. AND MRS. TOM DAY
Wedding trip to Mexico
(Photo by Jack Fulton)

Newlyweds On Trip To Puerto Vallarta

Newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Tom Day are on a wedding trip to Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, following their marriage Saturday at Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

The bride is the former Susan Newberry, daughter of Hazel B. Newberry of Larkspur and the late John B. Newberry.

Diane Fulton of San Rafael was her sister's matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Dorothy Gregorowicz of Fairfax and Stephanie Fulton of San Rafael.

Michael Gomez of Mill Valley was best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brothers, Dick and Jack Newberry of Larkspur.

A reception in the church social hall followed the ceremony.

Susan was graduated from Redwood High School and attended College of Marin. She is employed by Southern Pacific Railroad.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benton A. Day of Mill Valley. A graduate of Tamalpais High School he is employed by the Golden Gate Bridge District. Deanna Jones of San Rafael is his sister, and he is the grandson of Maude Miller of Goleta and Benton A. Day of Priest River, Idaho.

Lee Battat Wins Second Term As P-TA President

Lee Battat of San Rafael has been elected to a second term as president of the Santa Venetia Middle School Parent-Teacher Association.

The P-TA sponsored a family-teacher picnic at McNear's Park on Sept. 23 and on Oct. 19 will have a flea market at the school. Plans for the spring include a parent-son night, and throughout the school year the P-TA sponsors hot dog days, ice cream days and dances for seventh and eighth grade students.

Other officers are Lorry Lazarini, vice president; Herb Witt, second vice president; Barbara Skubic, corresponding secretary; Faye Blatt, recording secretary; Margaret Wolters, treasurer; Betty Albertini, historian; and Ellie Zengler, parliamentarian.

Help Sought By Symphony

Volunteers are being sought by the Marin Symphony Association to help with various projects during the coming season.

Help is needed in the association's office typing and filing; to sell business and personal memberships serve on committees for special events, distribute posters and brochures, do art work, and take photographs.

Those wishing to volunteer should contact Thelma Schultz at the Marin Symphony Association, Box 127 in San Rafael.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale to benefit San Rafael Assembly 195 of the Rainbow Girls is planned Friday and Saturday at the First Methodist Church on Miracle Mile in San Rafael.

Hours will be Friday from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Chairman of the event is Judy Brichetto.

Stephanie Johnstad Is Married

Stephanie Elizabeth Johnstad of Fairfax and Mark A. Barone of San Anselmo were wed Saturday at Holy Innocents Episcopal Parish in Corte Madera. A reception followed the ceremony at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Stephanie, the daughter of Jack Johnstad of Fairfax, chose her sister, Roberta Johnstad of Fairfax, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids at the wedding were Michelle Pretes, of San Anselmo the bridegroom's sister; Debbie Nawrath of San Rafael; and Janet Stickney of San Anselmo.

Aaron Friesen of Fairfax was best man, and ushering guests to their seats were Jason Marden of Lagunitas, Karl Peek of San Rafael and Remson Benedict of Mill Valley.

The newlyweds plan to live in San Anselmo after a trip touring California ghost towns.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and the College of Marin. She is the granddaughter of Melina Brooks and the great granddaughter of Stefanja Seroczynska, both of Alameda.

Mark, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pretes of San Anselmo, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended the College of Marin. He is employed with Romulus Restaurant in San Rafael.

Mark is the grandson of Doris Wattie of El Sobrante and Addie Drowne of Vermont.

He is also the brother of Reina Barone of San Francisco and Kelly Pretes of San Anselmo.

Speech Set On Violence, Children, TV

Sally Williams will speak on "Violence: Children and Television" tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Her talk is the second in the four part series, "SOS—Stress in Our Society," sponsored by the Marin Association for Mental Health.

The speaker is the executive director of the Committee on Children's Television. She will discuss studies regarding the effects of program content on children and offer positive recommendations for parents.

A 15-minute film, "But First This Message," will precede the talk.

San Mateo Coastline Tour Set Oct. 27

The Young Women's Christian Association will sponsor a tour along the San Mateo County coastline Oct. 27.

Reservations can be made with the Marin YWCA, 1618 Mission Avenue in San Rafael.

Those going on the tour from Marin will be picked up at the Marin YWCA at 8:15 a.m.

Included on the tour will be stops at beaches and state parks, Pillar Point, Princeton Harbor, Half Moon Bay and a new crafts center, Spanishtown.

Jennifer Johnsen Heads P-TA

Jennifer Johnsen of Fort Baker in Sausalito is the new president of Bayside-King Parent-Teacher Association.

The wife of Dennis O. Johnsen, a veterinarian in the U.S. Army, and mother of Gregory, 10, Stanley, 8, and Cynthia, 7, Mrs. Johnsen believes the P-TA should "bring the home and school closer together so that parents and teachers can cooperate intelligently in the education of children."

Objectives of her presidency are to enlarge the volunteer program in the classroom, continue landscaping of Martin Luther King School, continue and broaden the P-TA subsidized cultural arts field trip program, she said.

Mrs. Johnsen is a member of the Presidio Yacht Club and Letterman Wives Club. Her hobbies are sailing, music, reading, arts and crafts.

She was born in Oakland, attended Smith College, was graduated from the University of California at Davis and did graduate work at Ohio State University.

Catholic Daughters Day Set Sunday

At the request of Court St. Raphael 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, Mayor C. Paul Bettini has designated next Sunday as National Catholic Daughters of America Day in San Rafael.

For the occasion members of the court will attend mass at 10:30 a.m. at St. Raphael's Church. A breakfast at Le Chalet Basque restaurant will follow.

Scottish Dancers Schedule Party

Mill Valley's Scottish Country Dancers, the largest such group in the Bay Area, will don kilts and tartan sashes Saturday night for their fourth annual dinner dance at the Corinthian Yacht Club in Tiburon.

Hilda Gotcher of Mill Valley is coordinator of the event.

Most of the group's 60 members are expected to attend, according to Bill (Scotty) MacAulay of San Rafael, one of its founders.

The group began in 1968, meeting first in Hammond Hall at the Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley. Still attending among the 27 charter members are MacAulay and his wife Peg, Elsie Robertson of Burlingame, Patrick Jordan of San Francisco, Warren and Norah Lee of Corte Madera and Dick and Hilda Gotcher, residents of Mill Valley.

Meetings — which are devoted to instruction and dancing — are now held every Friday evening at Almonte Hall.

The group is a branch of the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Unlike the folk dances of many European countries, Scotland's national dances were never confined to any one class of society and therefore are not properly called folk dances.

They are performed in groups of eight.

"Because we wear soft slippers for the dancing," MacAulay said, "we must have a wooden floor" such as is found at Corinthian.

Pemberton's Advice Available To Public

of their own involvement in an attack, to acknowledge that there's something they have done that has prompted the attack, no matter how blameless they feel. We must see that we are the partial authors of every insult."

(The husband comes home in high spirits from a triumphant day at the office. The wife is dog-tired and depressed after a hard day of malfunctioning household appliances and misbehaving kids. The husband starts to say something cheerful — and he has "insulted" his wife. His very cheerfulness is insulting to her. He is "partial author of the insult.")

"The chief antidote to human anger is information," says Pemberton. "If we reach out to try to get information, we can't stay angry."

If cheerful husband and tired wife try to inform themselves about the other's mood, acknowledge it, express their own feelings about it, and consider whether or not to postpone expression of their own cheerfulness or tiredness, they have the tools to avoid conflict.

It was Richard Nixon's refusla to acknowledge his feelings and to share them with others that made his relationship with the public so abysmal, Pemberton said.

He cited the time when a newsman said during a televised press conference, "Mr. Nixon, you look angry," and the former president's response was something like, "I'm not angry, I only get angry at people I respect."

"Perfect example of the counter-attack," says Dr. Pemberton. "He should have said, 'You're darn right I'm angry, I'm really pissed at all of you,' and 200,000 people would have relaxed."

Information, he said, is "the highest priority of the American people." Nixon outraged the people by refusing to acknowledge it, resorting instead to claims of executive privilege.

"When I was in Washington, I sent him a note offering my help," Pemberton reports. "I never heard from him."

His help is available to the public (enrollment limited to 200 persons) at the Thursday series; tickets may be obtained at the College of Marin Theater box office or through the Volunteer Office at Marin General Hospital.

Dr. Pemberton received his bachelor of arts at the University of Washington, did graduate work in sociology at the University of Bucharest in Rumania and in psychology at Columbia University before receiving his PHD in psychology and education from University of California in Berkeley. He was a member of the faculty of the College of Marin for 20 years until 1970.

He conducts management training programs for federal, state and private agencies and for business and industry in addition to his lectures on semantics, communication and human relations.

Third Of Blacks Said To Be Hypertensive

An estimated one-third of the black population in the U.S. is "either hypertensive or potentially hypertensive," Dr. Michael Williams of New York City's Harlem Hospital Medical Center has reported. Hypertension is the medical term for high blood pressure.

The severity of high blood pressure in blacks cannot be overemphasized, added Dr. Richard A. Williams, assistant medical director, Martin Luther King Jr. General Hospital, Los Angeles, at a program for physicians last November.

"Strokes occur in black hypertensives at an earlier age and are more often fatal on the first occurrence," he said. "Likewise, congestive heart failure, secondary to hypertension, is much more severe in the black patient as compared to the white patient."

MIGRATING MAMMAL — This opaque, leaded-glass sculpture of a full-scale sperm-whale calf was created by Oakland artist Larry Foster. It is included in his show of graphite drawings, sculptures, and reliefs of whales and other mammals at the Marin Museum of Science in San Rafael.

ART REVIEW

Artist's Deep Understanding Of Whales Gives Visual Delight

By ADA GARFINKEL

A newspaper photo or first-hand observation of a beached whale is not a pretty sight. What one sees is a massive, flaccid, inert mountain of dull flesh; quite different from the graceful, gliding forms in the sensitively rendered graphite drawings and sculptures of Oakland artist, Larry Foster, at the Marin Museum of Scince in San Rafael.

Whales and other migrating creatures have always fascinated mankind as a harbinger of seasons, for their intuitive intelligence, and in the case of whales, for their evolved, functional streamlining of form.

Foster, who majored in art at the University of California and at the College of Arts and Crafts, found his interest in zoology a stimulating factor in his decision to concentrate on cetaceans — whales, dolphins, and porpoises, recording many of them in their natural movement and winter migrations along the Southern California coastline, and others from working photographs.

Working to scale — one gets an idea of their enormous size by comparing a single vertebra of a deer with that of a whale — Foster leaves much to the imagination, focusing on the dynamic interplay of the voluminous, contoured form levitating against a dominant portion of white, open space surrounding it, and emphasizing its span with a horizontal format almost exclusively.

Foster's largest body of works are the drawings which document various species by their individual and intricate markings, stressing also the natural design qualities found in their anatomical structures — the pleats, for example, found on the underside of all whales. Or the sieve-like mesh construction of the feeding arrangement which grows downward from the upper jaws of baleen whales in lieu of teeth.

The delicate gradations of shading, the control of volumes, the iridescent sheen, the dynamic activity of porpoises and dolphins flying through space, or the 45-degree turn — the breaching phenomenon — as the whale thrusts upward, sometimes supported by a slender water-line and a burst of frothy bubbles — add up to a visual delight.

Foster's clean, uncluttered look takes an innovative turn in a full-scale leaded opaque glass sculpture of a sperm-whale calf, and in two wall-hanging reliefs. The latter in naugahyde, closely resembling the skin of the whale, in monotonal gray and slightly scumbled mat-green, are abstracted versions of the "vent" — the whale's breathing device — centered to divide the understated green format, and in the other the "pleats" rhythmically articulate the vertical formal in channeled segments.

This exhibit which inaugurates the museum's program of art exhibits will continue through Oct. 26. Viewing hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. The Marin Museum of Science is located at 76 Albert Park Lane.

Novato Women To Hear Candidate

Tally Masterangelo, republican candidate for the third district seat on the state board of equalization, will address a public meeting of the Novato Republican Women's Club Federated at noon tomorrow at Nero's Restaurant in Novato.

Masterangelo is a resident of Sausalito. He is former vice chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee and at present time is a member of the Republican State Committee.

Photography Workshop Set

Photographers Ruth-Marion Baruch and Pirkle Jones will conduct a three-day photography workshop at their home in Mill Valley Nov. 1 to 3.

The husband and wife photographers will concentrate on the photographic essay for the workshop sponsored by Lamkin Camerawork Gallery of Fairfax. Limited enrollment will be available until Oct. 29.

Motorists Dislike Car Belt Locks

DETROIT (UPI) — At least 29 per cent of drivers of 1974-model cars consider the soon-to-disappear ignition interlock system one of the least liked features of their cars, according to a survey by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety.

A Senate-House conference committee has already agreed to legislation which will allow automakers to stop installing the ignition interlock which made its debut on 1974 models. It also will allow dealers, distributors and repair shops to disconnnect already installed systems.

Although most of the interviewed drivers of 1974 model cars gave high ratings to the value and effectiveness of safety belts, more than 40 per cent of the drivers observed on the road were not using the belts in their interlock-equipped cars.

Dr. Leon Robertson, senior behavioral scientist for the Washington-based safety group, interviewed almost 400 drivers in the interlock study. Dissatisfaction with the interlock was reflected by "at least 29 per cent of the drivers who mentioned it as one of the three things they liked least about their new cars," Robertson said.

"Belt use was significantly related to type and frequency of use of the car, but in an opposite way to what might be expected," he said.

Of employed drivers, those who used a car on the job were more often observed using belts than those who did not use a car on the job. Among all drivers interviewed, those who said they were in and out of a car frequently during the day were seen using belts more often than those who said they were not, the study said.

National Free Seed Plan Gains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., says more Americans should have gardens and the government should give them free seeds.

Since he started trying to help home gardeners, Burke has found that 80 fellow members of Congress have green thumbs.

"I've been getting free bags of vegetables from members of Congress over the past several weeks," Burke said. "They've been coming in regularly showing me the fruits of their labors."

Burke is sponsoring a bill to give individuals three free packets of seeds a year. The House Agriculture Committee approved the bill 15-9 last week.

Burke estimates the free seed program would cost the government $6 million a year over the next three years, but it would generate the production of between $380 and $400 million worth of vegetables a year.

Venezuelan Sees End To World Oil Crisis

CARACAS (UPI) — Venezuelan Mines Minister Valentin Hernandez said today the world energy crisis has been overcome because of reductions in world consumption of oil.

Venezuela is the world's third largest oil exporter after Saudi Arabia and Iran, shipping about half of its 3 million barrels per day to U.S. markets.

"There is no doubt that the peak period of the so-called energy crisis, typified by a serious shortage of oil in the main centers of consumption, has been overcome," Hernandez said. "The restrictive measures undertaken by the main consumer nations caused a considerable drop in world oil demand.

"Specifically in the months of July and August this year, there was an excess of supply of over 3 million barrels per day," the minister said.

Hernandez also said the world's main oil-producing nations have not sought a confrontation with consuming countries.

"The member countries of OPEC (the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countires) have not sought nor do they consider inevitable a confrontation with consuming countries," he said in an interview with the Caracas daily El Universal.

The 13-member OPEC, which controls 85 per cent of all world oil exports, is "conscious of its position in a world marked by interdependence and would be the last to try to lead to a collapse of the economy of the large industrialized societies and much less the countries of the third world."

Hernandez defended OPEC member states that have reduced their output to dry up excess supply on world markets. Venezuela has cut back its production by over 10 per cent so far this year and has announced it will reduce by another 10 per cent in 1975.

"In an unjustified manner, the conservation measures adopted by some producing countries, among them Venezuela, have been called by high officials of some industrialized countries, unfriendly acts and blackmail of consumer and taken with the deliberate aim of creating an artificial oil shortage," he said.

"However, facts have shown that the drop in supply has not put in danger the normal level of supply of oil for consumers."

The Venezuela spokesman also rejected charges that the high prices for oil set by producing nations are a major factor in world inflation growth.

Dominican Plans Music Classes For Children

Dominican College has announced that it is accepting children and teen-agers for music classes.

A piano class will be offered for 7 and 8-year-old boys and girls by Anne DeCook. Folk guitar will be taught by Susan Black on a class and private basis, and Paul Smith will teach piano accompaniment for vocalists and instrumentalists.

A violin class for 4 to 6-year-olds will be given by Ann Nelson. Other violin classes will be taught by Elizabeth Gibson of the Oakland Symphony and Mark Jordan of the Santa Rosa Symphony. Richard Anastasio will teach cello, and Gay Clark will instruct viola students.

Enrollment information is available from Jean Murphy, pre-college division coordinator.

QUARTERBACKS SIDELINED

Novato's Shutout Win Over Tam Very Costly

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Novato High School got its seventh straight Marin County Athletic League football shutout Saturday, 13-0 over Tamalpais. But what a price was paid, both to get it and to try and prevent it!

On the very first series of plays, Tam lost its fine junior quarterback Dan Lucia for the season when he suffered a broken left arm just above the wrist. He had gained 15 yards on a run when he went down near the Novato bench.

The league-leading Hornets (2-0), also lost their quarterback, albeit only for the game. On the third play of the second quarter, Mike Moroski threw an interception. Quarterbacks as a rule make lousy defensive plays, and Moroski, a brilliant quarterback, proved no exception. He helped tackle Tam's Roger Nelson, and sustained a broken nose in the process.

The loss of Lucia could have crumpled Tam; immediately after he went out, Moroski led Novato on a precise touchdown drive that included 12 and 11-yard passes to Steve Hoog.

But the Indians came to play, and after Moroski's departure they did just that. in the last seconds of the first half, they came as close as anyone has to closing the shutout string.

With a fourth down on the Novato 36-yard line, Tam's Kevin Murphy threw from punt formation, and tight end Mike Lamb made a leaping catch in traffic at the eight.

Unfortunately for the Indians,

A's, Dodgers Are Evenly Matched

Hunter, Downing On Mound In Third Game

By GARY HUGHES

LOS ANGELES — The first two games of this year's World Series are over and one thing has been definitely settled. The 1974 editions of the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Oakland Athletics are as evenly matched as any two teams can be.

Game one saw Oakland take a page from an old Dodger play-book. Outhit by a large (11 to five margin, the A's nonetheless were able to put one more run on the board than their neighbors to the south, 3-2. The runs came in ways that the Dodgers invented years ago. After Reggie Jackson hit a home run, a run scored on a squeeze bunt. The eventual winning run came in on an error. The A's made the most out of their opportunities. They left only four men on base. The Dodgers stranded 12.

Yesterday's second game found both teams matching hit totals (six). The key hit was a two-run home run by Joe Ferguson. The big defensive play was turned in by Dodger first baseman, Steve Garvey. He made a great catch of a poor throw by shortstop, Bill Russell to complete an inning-ending double play in the eighth. At the time, Oakland had the bases loaded with one out and their big guns coming up. Had the throw gone through Garvey, two runs would have scored, and we might have seen Oakland win.

Baseball's Octoberfest now moves into Oakland for the third straight year. Off the first two games, it is impossible to pick an eventual winner. Tomorrow night at 5:30, the edge should be with the A's. In Catfish Hunter, they are sending their number one against Al Downing who, at best, ranks as the Dodgers third pitcher. The problem with this type of reasoning is that it neglects to take into consideration that the game has to be played on the field. The edge on paper is just that —an edge on paper.

A key factor in the games in Oakland is the starting time. The worst possible time to play baseball is at dusk. I hope that a game isn't decided on a misplay caused by the conditions in light or lack of it. It would not be right.

SOUTHLAND NOTES: Dodger Stadium has to be seen to be believed. Gene Tenace told me that he'd love to play there all the time. The place is beautifully landscaped and colorfully laid out. The two largest crowds in Dodger Stadium history were in attendnace (55,989 yesterday and 55,974 Saturday).

The L.A. media is making out this series to be the good guys against the bad guys; you can guess who the bad guys are. . .

Alvin Dark did a great managing job in the first two games. Baseball is a much different game when you eliminate the designated hitter and Dark handled the situation very well. . .

You can get a 16-ounce soft drink for only 30 cents, and along with at least one trip to Hawaii, you have to taste a Dodger Dog before you pass to your final reward. . .

The Giants were very busy talking to various teams over the weekend. Bobby Bonds to Cincinnati is a possibility, and a Pirate may be on the way to San Francisco — possibly Al Oliver. . .

Billy North summed up the A's: "We just seem to do whatever's necessary to win. We have been very complacent and someday it's going to catch up to us. I just hope it's not this year." So do I, Bill, so do I.

GOT HIM — Oakland A's pinch runner Herb Washington was picked off first base in the ninth inning of yesterday's second World Series game in Los Angeles. Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey made the tag.

Dodgers' Ferguson Likes To Swing Bat

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Joe Ferguson claims he doesn't care if he catches or plays the outfield. All he wants to do is swing his big brown bat.

Thanks to that bat, the Los Angeles Dodgers are even up with the Oakland A's in the World Series — at 1-1 — today withthe Series switching to Oakland tomorrow night. (Game time is 5:30 p.m. and it will be televised on channel 4.)

"This was an important win for us," said Ferguson, "because it means we're not in a must win situation on Tuesday."

Ferguson, who lost his Dodger catching job to Steve Yeager this season, knocked a Vida Blue fastball over the centerfield fence with one out in the sixth inning to give Don Sutton a 3-0 lead.

"As long as I get to swing the bat four times," said the moustachioed Dodger rightfielder, "I'm happy anywhere."

Ferguson wasn't the only Dodger star in Los Angeles' 3-2 victory, though:

Sutton won his 12th game in a row with five-hit pitching through eight plus innings. He now has won 16 of his last 17 decisions since July 25 and is 3-0 in postseason starts against the Pittsburgh Pirates and A's.

Steve Garvey backhanded a Bill Russell bouncer in the dirt to complete an inning-ending, bases-loaded double play in the eighth.

Mike Marshall, the screwball specialist noted for his durability, picked former indoor sprint king Herb Washington off first base when he represented the tying run with one out in the ninth.

Tomorrow night, the A's will send 25-game winner Jim (Catfish) Hunter, a righthander, against veteran southpaw Al Downing, who pitched in the 1963 and 1964 World Series for the New York Yankees.

In the first two games of the Series, Dodger pitching has checked the A's on a dozen hits.

Andy Messersmith, a 20-game winner this year and the first-game Los Angeles starter, will go Wednesday night against lefthander Ken Holtzman. The A's won the Series inaugural 3-2 although the Dodgers outhit them 11-6.

"We're not hitting but we're playing baseball," said an unsmiling Charles O. Finley, the A's owner who vehemently denied before the game that he was moving his franchise.

"We win one, they win one," shrugged Reggie Jackson, the A's slugger who had one-third of his team's offense — double and a single — yesterday.

"We go home to play three. I hope we'll win a couple there and then let's see."

"I think we'll start to hit the way we can," predicted Sal Bando, who is hitless in seven trips in the Series.

Perhaps, unnoticed, was the Dodgers' first run. Ron Cey, who aboard on a walk, went to third on Bill Russell's fly ball that dropped in front of Jackson in rightfield.

The ball appeared likely to be caught. Cey scored on Steve Yeager's single that Bert Campaneris barely missed getting to.

"I had looked at Tommy LaSorda (the Dodger third base coach) and he told me to keep coming," said Cey. "It was a steal play. If the ball had been caught, I would have been a dead duck."

In the Dodgers' 3-2 loss Saturday, Ferguson made the play of the game when he gunned down Bando at the plate in the eighth inning after cutting in front of centerfielder Jimmy Wynn to catch a Jackson fly ball.

"The throw didn't win the game," yesterday's hero told reporters. "The home run turned out to win the game. I didn't feel very good yesterday even though I made that throw."

Dodger manager Walter Alston removed Sutton with A's at second and third and none out

'Born' To Be Wristwrestler

By DIANE FISHER

Jim Dolcini of Petaluma was "born" to be a wristwrestler.

Dolcini won his third heavyweight title Saturday night at the 13th World Wristwrestling championship in Petaluma.

The 235-pound favorite pinned Virgil Arciero in the final match amidst the shouts of a capacity crowd exceeding 1,200 in Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building. Calling this year's competition the "roughest I've ever had," Jim said the semi-final match against John Woolsey took a lot out of him.

Woolsey, the 1973 middleweight champion, wrestled in the heavyweight division for the first time this year giving Dolcini his strongest challenge of the evening. Dolcini said he felt very dizzy after that match and was still feeling the effects when he went into the final round. The match with Arciero of El Cerrito lasted two and one-half minutes.

A commercial fertilizer spreader, Dolcini does not train for the wristwrestling tournament or even practice. According to Dolcini, the last time he wristwrestled was in May.

"I think it's just something that runs in the family. We're born with strong leverage in our wrists."

Dolcini entered the Wristwrestling Hall of Fame Saturday night, with his win tying the record set by Duane Benedix in 1969.

The women's title was taken by Donna Meyers of Placentia, Orange County, who won the women's national championship earlier this year. The 117-pounder, in contrast to Dolcini, trains every day with her husband Chris who is also a wrist wrestler.

"He's stronger than any woman, so how can I lose?"

Chris Meyer almost made it a two-title marriage as he went all the way to the lightweight final match before falling to Ted Pollock. It was Pollock's third consecutive lightweight victory.

Pollock says that technique, speed, and mental attitude are the keys to the championship.

"I constantly picture my opponent's arm going down in defeat," said Pollock.

The darling of the audience, however, was the master of ceremony and former Mr. America, Jimmy Payne. Payne, 48, was winner in the featherweight division.

Relinquishing his announcer's microphone, he would shrug off his red coat and saunter to the table to meet his opponents. He beat them all including the 1973 featherweight champion George Boucher. The crowd gave Jimmy a standing ovation as he was handed the trophy.

Bob Howell of Reno, Nev., won the middleweight title.

THE STRUGGLE — Jim Dolcini (center) grimaced while pinning burly Virgil Arciero to win the heavyweight title Saturday night in the World Wristwrestling Championship at Petaluma. Stripe-shirted referees watched intently.

Calistoga's Homecoming Successful

CALISTOGA — It was a happy homecoming for Calistoga High School Friday night when the Wildcats whipped Tomales in their North Central League II football opener, 20-0.

Calistoga's first touchdown came on a three-yard run by Jeff Bounsall with Dennis Fechter kicking the extra point. A few minutes later, Wildcat Frank Giammona ran 69 yards for a touchdown to put Calistoga ahead in the first quarter, 13-0.

Tomales (2-2-1) could not generate the needed offense, as the tenacious Wildcats held the Braves to 151 yards rushing compared to Calistoga's 231.

FOR SAN MARIN

Defense Keys Grid Victory

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Ignited by one big defensive play, the San Marin High School Mustangs exploded in the second half to defeat Redwood, 20-0, in Marin County Athletic League football Saturday at Novato High School.

On the third play of the second half, defensive back John Weston snatched a fumble in mid-air and went 69 yards with it untouched to break a scoreless tie. The aroused Mustangs thereafter dominated with their crushing ground game, while holding the disheartened Giants to a single first down after the intermission.

Just six plays after Weston's romp, junior fullback Bob Bennett added insurance with a 71-yard touchdown dash in which he showed remarkable speed for a 210-pounder. On the strength of that run, Bennett led all rushers with 99 yards.

Wayne Roche, the 1973 all-leaguer, had a miserable first half and a fine second half for 57 yards on the day. On San Marin's final drive, he carried seven times for 36 yards, including a final yard for the touchdown.

For Redwood, the afternoon was another exercise in frustration. Week after week this season the young Giants have played strong early and collapsed late, and Saturday's shutout was the fourth against them in five games.

Redwood came close to scoring once in the first quarter and again in the second. But San Marin stopped a fourth down run by Diebel at the seven yard line, and blocked a field goal attempt by Mark Chapman at the 16.

Wildcats Tip Drake In Football

By DAVID DEL GRANDE

It was Drake High School's week off from the Marin County Athletic League football competition last week, but somebody forgot to tell the resurgent Marin Catholic Wildcats.

The Wildcats, capitalizing on a Pirate fumble late in the first half, scored and went on to upset Drake for the second straight year, 7-2, before 600 sun drenched fans at the College of Marin Saturday.

The game was completely dominated by the Wildcats. Thirteen Marin Catholic penalties netting 105 yards kept the score close. An example of this was when the 'Cats (2-3) had driven 59 yards to the Pirate six in the third quarter, then, four consecutive penalties moved them back 40 yards and killed any scoring threat.

The Pirates' points came on a safety when Wildcat punter Jeff Knotts alertly dove on a fumbled low snap in his own end zone. Turnovers and lack of consistency hurt Drake. Two Drake passes were intercepted and Drake fumbled the football away three times, twice inside the Wildcat five-yard line.

In contrast to the two Pirate fumbles that prevented scores, Drake's other fumble resulted in the game's only touchdown. After recovering a Terry Fahey fumble at the Pirate 40 with 33 seconds left in the half, the Wildcats passed three times.

Following two incompletions, 'Cat quarterback Bob Yetter pin-pointed a bomb between two Drake defenders to senior end Rich Speidel who coasted in for the score. Chris Morrison added the extra point.

Drake has one win in five games this year.

Powerful Marin Tar Booters Win

SANTA ROSA — College of Marin's high-powered soccer team scored 10 goals for the second straight day and walloped Santa Rosa Junior College, 10-0 Saturday in a non-league game.

Tars' center halfback, All-American Misak Pirinjian, and center forward Mike Linder contained their personal scoring duel with two goals apiece, and Mark Schlobohm also had two.

Pirinjian had six goals on Friday in a 10-1 victory over Los Medanos in Pittsburgh. He has 13 goals for the season to 12 for Linder. The Tars have won six games, lost four and tied one.

NOVATO

they had used all their time outs, and the clock simply ran out after three more plays. They ended on the one-yard line.

The difference in the game was depth. Tam brought just 24 players, none able to replace Lucia. Novato, on the other hand, trotted out Scott DeRecat and it was as if Moroski was still in there with a new number.

DeRecat hit on six of 10 passes for 62 yards, and the Hornets rallied around him. He marched 54 yards to score following the second half kickoff, with Hoog again providing the big gainers, a 24-yard end around and a 17-yard pass reception.

Raiders' Coach Madden Glad To Leave With Win

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — "I'm damn glad to get it over and get outa town," was coach John Madden's comment after his Oakland Raiders squeaked past the San Diego Chargers 14-10 yesterday.

"We said all week that San Diego was improved and they showed it."

The Raiders entered the game 15-point favorites but had to stop two fourth-quarter drives to score their fourth straight win. San Diego suffered its fourth loss of the season, all by seven points or less.

The combination of Kenny Stabler to Cliff Branch made the difference. They connected on a 46-yard scoring pass play in the second quarter for a 7-3 Oakland lead.

Then they combined on crucial 15 and 22 yard passes to set up the winning four-yard scoring aerial to Bob Moore in the fourth period.

San Diego did not play dead. They moved from their 13 to Oakland's 24 with 2:24 left only to fail when Dan Fouts overthrew a wide open Harrison Davis in the end zone.

Then, after Ray Guy punted out of bounds on San Diego's one, the Chargers drove to Oakland's 39 only to have Jack Tantum make the Raiders' first interception of the day with 10 seconds left.

"Cliff has been playing well the last few weeks and coming up with big plays and touchdowns each game," Madden said of Branch, who snared seven passes for 124 yards.

Marv Hubbard and Clarence Davis gave Oakland balance running for 94 and 83 yards, respectively.

Stabler was almost the goat of the game. He marched his club 75 yards to San Diego's one in the first quarter but on a fourth down play he chose to pass on a rollout instead of waltz in for what appeared a cinch score.

San Diego's Sam Williams jarred the pass from Dave Casper's grasp and the Chargers got the ball on the 20. Madden declined comment saying, "When a play is over, what good is it to second guess?"

Cardinals Top Casa Grande In Football

Cardinal Newman High School answered the football question, 'who's number one?' Saturday night on Durst Field when it defeated Casa Grande, 14-10, in a Sonoma County League game.

The Cardinald scored all 14 points in the first quarter. First touchdown was when Skip Withers dashed nine yards. Following a successful onside kick, Cardinal Newman scored again when after a drive Joe Domenichelli plunged from the one. Tony Cuculich kicked both conversions.

Casa Grande bounced back in the second quarter when John Lutz ran for the touchdown (28 yards) and the extra points. The score at halftime was 14-8.

In the fourth quarter, Gaucho Dale Holmes nailed Steve Foy in the Cardinal end zone for a safety.

New Backfield Helpful In First Tars' Victory

By BRIAN SOBEL

FREMONT — A new-look backfield sparked College of Marin to its first 1974 football victory. The Tars (1-3) downed Ohlone, 27-10, Saturday night in a non-league game before 150 fans.

Ohlone grabbed a 3-0 first-quarter lead on a 34-yard field goal by Rick DeRoque. But from the second quarter on, the Tars dominated. Tim Nowell, starting at quarterback for Hoza Wright, passed to speedy end Jackie Robinson for two second-quarter touchdowns.

Joining Nowell in the backfield were Mark Magers and Gino Pomilia who were replacing Jim Filippi and Steve D'Ambra. Magers produced 101 yards on 15 rushes, Pomilia 71 on 10. Meanwhile, Nowell completed eight out of 11 passes for 169 yards.

The first Marin touchdown was set up after the Tars had driven some 74 yards in 13 plays only to be stopped on the two-yard line. Ohlone gained possession and were forced to punt by a fired-up Marin defense. The Tars then took over on the Renegades' 39 yard line and drove to the 17 where Nowell passed to Robinson in the end zone for the score.

Ohlone found a brief offensive spark when Larry Voster, a 6-foot, freshman quarterback marched his team for a score, Eric Deibert ran it in from three yards out. Deibert finished with 137 yards on 33 carries.

With just under four minutes remaining in the half, Nowell passed 27 yards to Robinson for a first down. Seconds later, Nowell connected with Ron Dick for an 11-yard gain and then threw a perfect 26-yard touchdown pass to Robinson. At half, the Tars led 13-10.

The Tars defensive line blocked a 27-yard field goal attempt and Curt Campbell alertly picked up the ball and raced 83 yards for the score early in the third quarter.

The Tars added one more touchdown when Nowell scored on a seven-yard keeper in the final period. Lowly Ohlone suffered its 24th straight defeat.

Marin Runners Dominate

DANVILLE — Runners from San Rafael, Tamalpais and Redwood high schools did a fair share of dominating the annual San Ramon Invitational cross country meet Saturday.

Some 947 runners, representing 53 schools from northern California, took part.

In the medium school class, San Rafael won the varsity event, and finished second in the junior varsity and frosh-soph races. Ray Green finished third to lead the Bulldog varsity victory of 73 points to 86 for second-place San Ramon, the defending North Coast champions.

Tam, also running in the medium class, got course-record performances from Linda Broderick in girls' varsity and Aran Collier in frosh-soph to win those events plus the girls' junior varsity. Steve Locey and Kim Baez finished fourth and sixth for the Indians in the boys' varsity race.

Redwood, the Marin County Athlecti League's best team so far this season, competed in the large school division and took third in the varsity, and second in the frosh-soph. Redwood's Rod Berry set a course record for freshmen, and Hal Schulz finished fifth to lead the Giant varsity.

Enter Marshall, who — counting the National League playoffs and World Series — made his 110th appearance of 1974.

Marshall gave up a single to Joe Rudi to make the score 3-2. After Gene Tenace struck out, A's manager Alvin Dark put in Washington to run for Rudi.

He then picked off Washington and struck out Angel Manguel to end the game.

Tire Problem Proves Costly

Combined AP & UPI

MONTEREY — Britain's Brian Redman won the Monterey Grand Prix for Formula 5000 cars yesterday after Mario Andretti shredded a right front tire. Andretti had to settle for third behind England's James Hunt.

"I guess I've had some of the worst breaks in this sport," Andretti said. "No matter how hard I try, something keeps happening."

Redman won the race with an average speed of 112.41 miles per hour before a crowd of 47,000, a track record.

Tennis

PEBBLE BEACH — Frank Sedgman of Australia yesterday beat Pancho Gonzales of Las Vegas, Nev., 6-3, 6-2, to win the Almaden Pebble Beach Seniors Tennis Tournament.

NASSAU, Bahamas — The United States clinched the first round of the 1975 Davis Cup tennis competition when Erik van Dillen and Charles Pasarell soundly defeated a Commonwealth Caribbean doubles team 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

MADRID — Fourth-seeded Ilie Nastase of Romania yesterday upset Bjorn Borg, the No. 2 seed from Sweden, in five sets, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-4, to win the men's singles title in the Melia International Open Tennis Tournament.

PHOENIX — Virginia Wade of England yesterday scored an easy 6-1, 6-2 victory over Australian Helen Gourlay to win the $50,000 Phoenix Professional Women's Tennis Tournament.

Golf

INZAI, Japan — Gene Littler fired a two-under-par 69 yesterday and won the $300,000 Pacific Master Golf Tournament with a 279 total, five strokes ahead of runner-up Bert Yancey.

Baseball

LOS ANGELES — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced yesterday he will hold a hearing on the contract dispute between Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley and star pitcher Jim Hunter. In dispute is payment of $50,000 on Hunter's $100,000 contract.

MOVE, PLEASE — Seals' goalie Gilles Meloche shoved Guy Charron of the Red Wings aside while Mickey Redmond lined up a shot last night in Detroit. Jim Neilson (15) helped Meloche defend on the play.

Honeymoon Over For Seals

DETROIT (AP) — The honeymoon finally ended for the California Golden Seals, who lost their first game of the young National Hockey League season.

The Seals early successes were halted last night by the Detroit Red Wings, 7-3, in the opener of a five-game road trip. The Seals, now 1-1-1, will play the Rangers in New York on Wednesday.

"We're primed to be defensive," said California coach Marshall Johnston after the game. "When we fell behind 3-0, we had to open up. That just isn't our game. Then the penalties threw us out of kilter."

There were 21 penalties, including a handful which stemmed from a broken stick.

California goalie Gilles Meloche cracked his weapon during a Detroit barrage, and Johnston threw him another from the bench.

"I thought the officials weren't looking, but it turned out they were," explained Johnston.

Referee John McCauley assessed a two-minute penalty against Melloche for illegal receipt of equipment, topped it with a 10-minute misconduct when Meloche complained and called a bench minor when other Seals also voiced their displeasure.

The Wings took a 3-0 lead on goals by rookie Bill Lochead and two by Nick Libett. Lochead, who celebrated his 20th birthday Sunday, collected a second goal later and Mickey Redmond also scored twice. Wings Captain Marcel Dionne added five assists.

California closed the gap with two consecutive goals, but Detroit took charge again to pull the game out of reach.

Danny Grant scored Detroit's other goal, while rookie Larry Patey scored his first two NHL goals for the Seals. One was on a power play and the other came while California was short-handed.

Joey Johnston also tallied for the Seals, who were outshot 34-22.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE

New-Name Defense For Miami Dolphins: 'Idiots'

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

That "no-name defense" that helped carry the Miami Dolphins to two consecutive Super Bowl championships is coming in for some name-calling.

"We're disorganized, we're running around like a bunch of idiots," claimed the Dolphins' All-Pro safety Jake Scott after Miami failed to hold a four point lead with less than two minutes left to play yesterday and dropped a 20-17 decision to the Washington Redskins.

The defeat was the second in five games for the defending Super Bowl champions and left them in third place in the American Football Conference's East Division, two games behind the unbeaten New England Patriots who ran their record to 5-0 with a 24-0 whipping of the New York Jets.

Also, still sporting perfect records in the National Football League are St. Louis and Minnesota. The Cardinals edged the Dallas Cowboys 31-28 and the Vikings trounced the Houston Oilers 51-10.

"This has to be one of the toughest losses we've ever suffered, said Dolphins' head coach Don Shula after 40-year-old quarterback Sonny Jurgensen riddled the Miami secondary for six completions in the last two minutes, culminating in his six-yard touchdown toss to Larry Smith with 16 seconds left to give the Redskins their victory.

Jurgensen, an 18-year National Football League veteran, had all the maturity the Redskins needed, passing for 303 yards on 26 completions in 39 attempts. In addition to his TD pitch to Smith, Jurgensen also hooked up with Roy Jefferson for a 37-yard touchdown pass while Mike Moseley added field goals of 40 and 41 yards to complete the Redskins' scoring and enable Washington to remain two games behind St. Louis in the National Conference East Division.

In other games, Green Bay upset Los Angeles 17-6, Pittsburgh beat Kansas City 34-24, Philadelphia routed the New York Giants 35-7, Oakland downed San Diego 14-10, Buffalo tripped Baltimore 27-14, Cincinnati clipped Cleveland 34-24, Atlanta got by Chicago 13-10 and Denver whipped New Orleans 33-17.

New England's victory over the Jets marked the best start the Patriots have had in their 15-year history and tied a club record for consecutive victories. Sam Cunningham blasted for touchdowns of five and one yard and Bob Geddes returned an interception 29 yards for another TD. The shutout was the first at home for the Jets in their history and dropped them to 1-4.

St. Louis, thanks to Jim Bakken's 31-yard field goal with 62 seconds left to play, overcame Dallas as the Cardinals ran their record to 5-0 for the team's best start since 1966.

Fran Tarkenton's three TD passes led Minnesota over Houston as the unbeaten Vikings kept their two game lead over second place Green Bay in the NFC's Central Division. The Packers kept pace by beating two-touchdown favorite Los Angeles on the strength of Jon Staggers' 68-yard punt return for a touchdown and three interceptions by linebacker Ted Hendricks.

Safety Glen Edwards returned an intercepted pass 49-yards for a touchdown to lead Pittsburgh over Kansas City; Roman Gabriel's first two touchdown passes of the season enabled Philadelphia to improve its record to 4-1 at the expense of the Giants; and Neal Craig returned an intercepted pass 55 yards to help Buffalo hand Baltimore its fifth straight loss.

Ken Anderson threw for three touchdowns and ran for another in Cincinnati's win over Cleveland; Nick Mike-Mayer's 31-yard field goal with only six seconds left to play gave Atlanta its win over Chicago and quarterback Steve Ramsey, making his first start in two years, tossed two touchdown passes in leading Denver over New Orleans.

GEO. H. GNOSS, Clerk
No. 1572 Oct. 14, 1974

Freitas, Allen, McCarthy, Bettini & MacMahon, Attys.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE
NO. 19135

Superior Court of the State of California, County of Marin.

Conservatorship of the Person and Estate of MARIE LINKE, Conservatee.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, subject to confirmation by the above entitled Superior Court, on Monday, November 4, 1974, at 10:00 a.m., or thereafter within the time allowed by law, the undersigned, as Co-Conservators of the person and estate of MARIE LINKE, will sell at private sale on Wednesday, October 23, 1974, at the offices of FREITAS, ALLEN, McCARTHY, BETTINI & MacMAHON, 960 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California 94901, to the highest and best net bidder on the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned, all right, title and interest of MARIE LINKE, in the following described unimproved real property located in the County of Marin, State of California:

I. DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY:

That certain unimproved parcel of real property situate in the County of Marin, State of California, described as follows:

LOT 4 in Block 4 as shown on the map entitled "Map of Subdivision 'A' of the Golf Links Tract, near San Rafael, Marin Co., Cal." filed February 14, 1908 in Map Book 2 at page 107, Marin County Records.

2. SUBMISSION OF BIDS: Bids or offers are invited for this property and must be in writing and will be received at the offices of FREITAS, ALLEN, McCARTHY, BETTINI & MacMAHON, attorneys for said Co-Conservators, at 960 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California, or may be filed with the Clerk of said Superior Court or delivered personally to J. R. MacMAHON, attorney for said Co-Conservators, at any time after first publication of this Notice and before making said sale.

3. TERMS OF SALE: The sale is subject to current taxes, convenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way, and easements of record.

The property will be sold on the following terms: all cash, ten (10%) per cent of the amount bid to accompany the offer by certified check, and the balance to be paid on confirmation of sale by the Superior Court. SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)
CASE NUMBER 70090

Superior Court of California, County of Marin

In re the marriage of Petitioner: PATRICIA MARIE DE WITT
and
Respondent: JAMES KINGSLEY DE WITT

To the Respondent: The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within 30 days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorney's fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

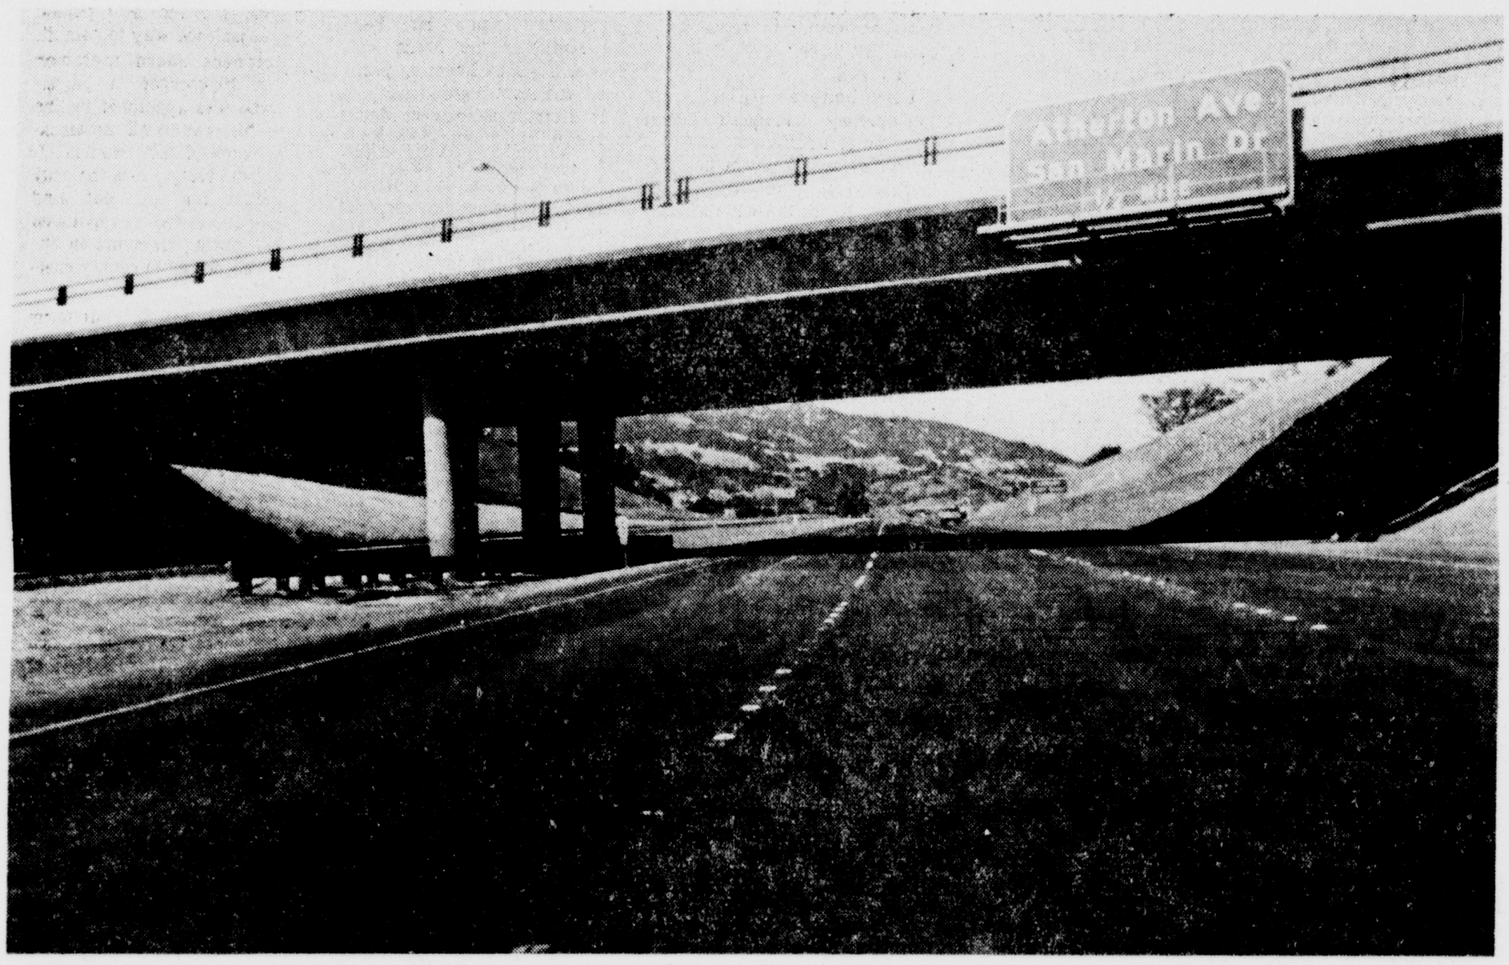
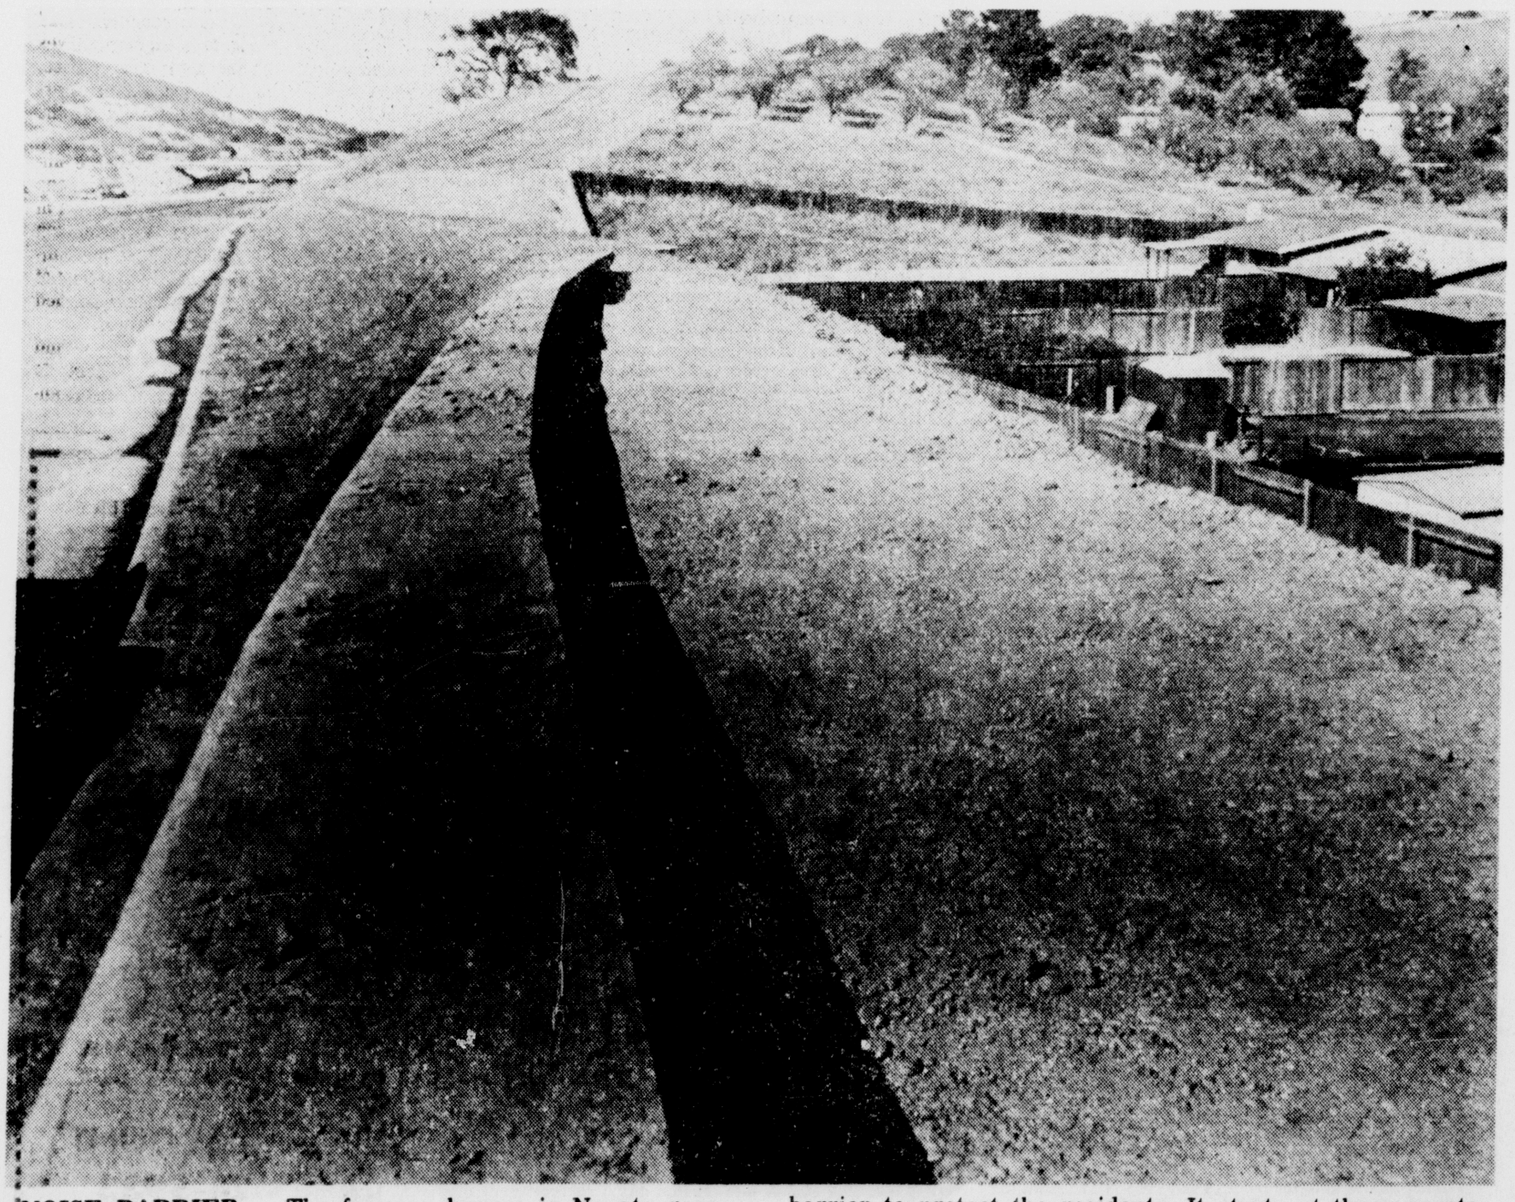
READY FOR BUSINESS — The rearview mirror in Independent-Journal photographer Bob Hax's car shows as deserted a stretch of freeway behind as ahead. The occasion was a preview drive on the northbound lines Highway 101's new bypass of Novato. The northbound lanes open tomorrow, marking near-completion of the $15,000,000 project. Southbound lanes will open in about six weeks, depending on weather. Here, the car approaches the Rowland Avenue interchange with its overpass just ahead.

CONVENIENCES AHEAD — With an assist from Donald Baker, an employee of J. F. Shea Co. of Dublin, a handy guide for hungry and tired goes up on thb new Novato bypass. Before the bypass came into being, the driver on Highway 101 passed right through town within sight of what he wanted.

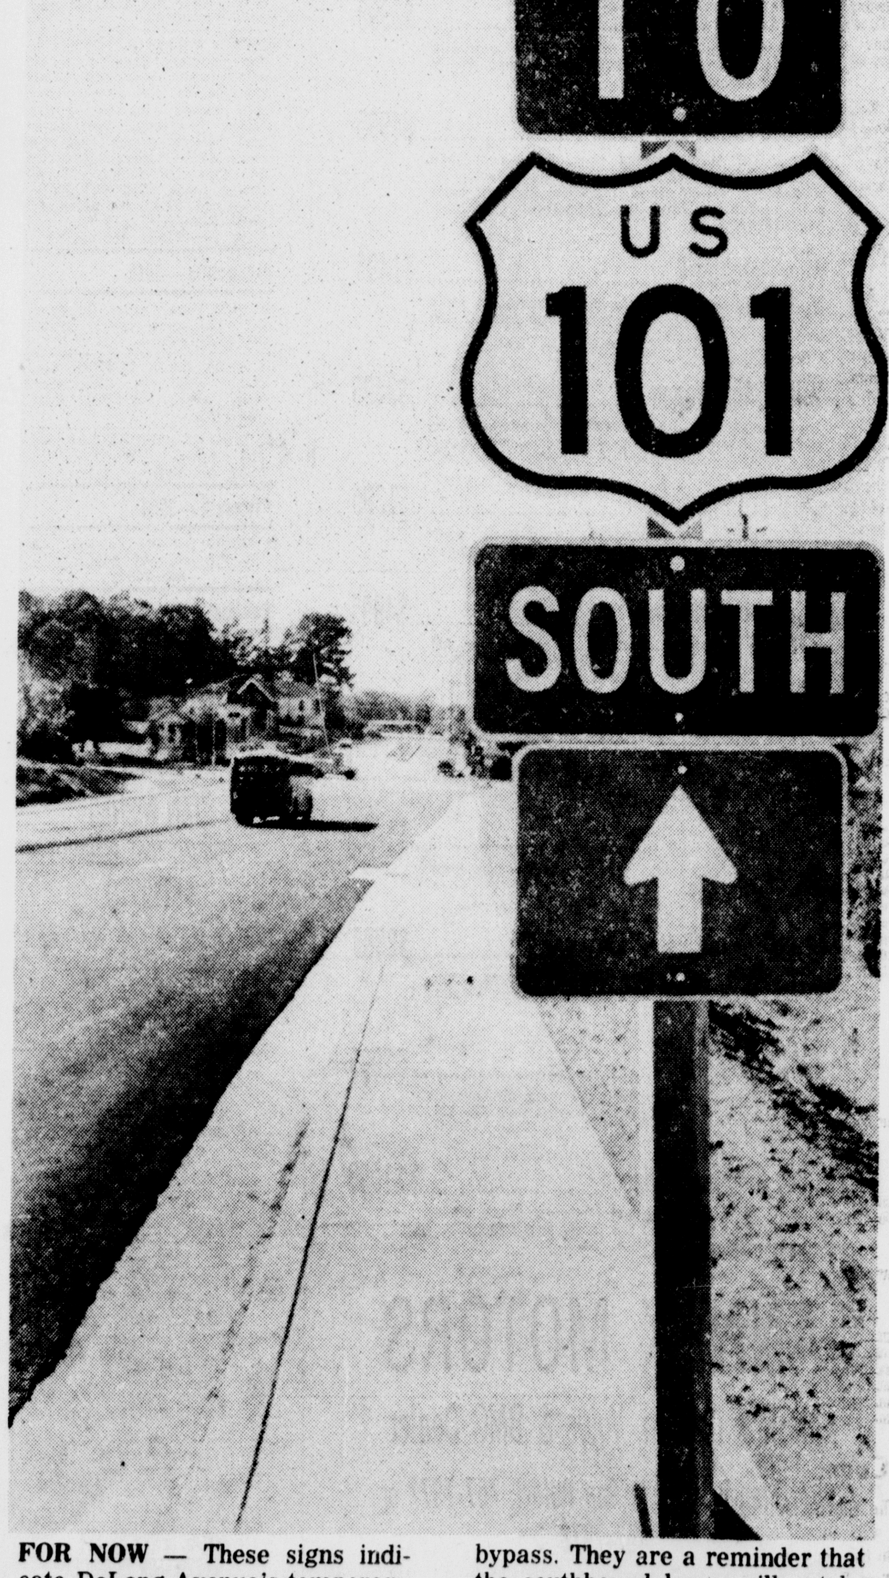
Part Of Novato Bypass To Open



OVERPASS — As the sign on this overpass suggests, Atherton Avenue east of the freeway and San Marin Drive west of the freeway now have something in common. That something is the overpass, itself, which connects the two, a result achieved by engineers bending Atherton a bit north and San Marin a bit south.



NOISE BARRIER — The freeway bypass in Novato goes over Olive Avenue and during construction, residents complained of the noise of the construction equipment and the trucks. So the highway department devised a dirt noise barrier to protect the residents. It starts at the concrete walls of the overpass and runs four feet high until it comes to a hill which automatically protects the residents from the noise.



FOR NOW — These signs indicate DeLong Avenue's temporary duty as part of the new Novato bypass. They are a reminder that the southbound lanes will not be open for about six weeks.

3:30—Flea Market

Council To Meet

The San Anselmo City Council will meet in joint session with the city planning commission at 8 p.m. tomorrow in city hall to consider a county proposal for a growth control ordinance, a city spokesman said.

TONIGHT'S TELEVISION

Unusual on television tonight:

KCRA (3), KRON (4), 9 p.m. — Henry Fonda and Lucille Ball star in "Yours, Mine and Ours," a comedy drama to be shown on the "Monday Night at the Movies." The film is loosely based on the experience of the Beardsley family of Northern California, whose story has been told in newspapers and in book form.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 9 p.m. — ABC News investigates the risks to high-school age athletes, focusing on football, the uniquely American contact sport, on the documentary special "ABC News Close-Up on Danger in Sports: Paying the Price."

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 10 p.m. — Country music star Johnny Cash, will host, for the second consecutive year, the eighth annual Country Music Association Awards presentations honoring outstanding achievement in the country music field. The special, originating from the new Grande Ole Opry House in Nashville, Tenn., will feature a host of top names in the country music world.

Tax Refund Deadline Near

Homeowners aged 62 or over have until Wednesday to file for senior citizen property tax refunds, according to the State Board of Equalization.

Forms are available from field offices of the board of equalization or the Franchise Tax Board.

Citizens 62 or older last Jan. 1 may qualify if they were state residents on or before last Jan. 1, owned and accupied a home between July 1, 1973, and last June 30, paid current property taxes assessed on the home and had a total income of less than $10,000 in 1973.

A change in the law will allow those receiving old age security, aid to families with dependent children, aid to the totally disabled and aid to the blind to qualify for tax relief if they meet the other requirements.

Refunds will be a percentage of property taxes paid for the 1973-74 fiscal year, the amount depending on income.

Fairfax Minister Will Be Speaker

Rev. Muriel H. Alstrom of Fairfax will speak on "Today's Predicament, Tomorrow's Answer" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Marin Center of Parapsychology and Metaphysics, 1029 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

The author and lecturer will discuss inflation, depression and fear and how the individual can deal with them.

New Hospital Is The Issue For Southern Sonoma

When Southern Sonoma voters on Nov. 5 elect a member of the Petaluma Hospital District Board, they will influence a decision expected soon on whether to expand Hillcrest Hospital or build an entirely new facility.

Hillcrest, a 57-bed hospital on Petaluma's hilly west side, is now the only general care institution in Southern Sonoma, and the area's rampant population growth of the last five years has strained its capacity to the limit.

Incumbent board chairman Frederick A. Groverman of Petaluma, a Cotati veterinarian, faces challenges from five Petalumans, who represent a wide range of views on what will likely be the main election issue, the south county's health care shortage.

They are Charles L. Berg of 909 Alderwood Court, an urban planner and counselor for the federal government; Constance A. Venti, 30, of 929 B Street, medical technologist; Carole S. Barlas, of 40 Sunnyhill Drive, health educator; William E. Gilardi of 444 Purrington Road, construction worker, and J. Scott Waterman, 39, of 1212 Kathleen Way, law enforcement officer.

Also appearing on the ballot as a challenger to Groverman will be J. Scott Waterman of 1212 Kathleen Way, who filed as a candidate and later withdrew after ballots were printed.

Groverman believes further expansion on the Hillcrest site would be "the most expensive method possible of gaining additional bed space."

Instead, he favors construction of a new facility "with adquate accessability from all areas." His position, he says, is that of most of the present board members.

Groverman's main criticism of the past performance of the board is "that we didn't accomplish a lot of the things I wish we could have done—I'm impatient." He said he is generally satisfied with the board's record and on most major questions he would, in retrospect, favor the same courses which were taken.

Berg believes Hillcrest is "completely inadequate" both because of insufficient size and its remoteness from the heavily populated parts of the hospital district, Rohnert Park and east Petaluma.

He favors construction of a new hospital in the Denman Flats area between Petaluma and Cotati.

"There's an interchange there already (on Highway 101) and it is served by Golden Gate Transit," Berg said. There is no public transportation to Hillcrest, he said.

The proposed location also would better serve older residents because of bus access, he said.

Berg believes the hospital board has dragged its feet in dealing with southern Sonoma's rapid population growth by not creating more hospital space.

"There's a group of people who have a lot of influence with the board and they have a vested interest in keeping the hospital where it is," Berg said. The reference was to physicians whose offices and clinics are near Hillcrest.

Berg, the most vehement of all the candidates said the board's delay in beginning work on a new hospital is costing the district "$20,000 to $25,000 a month."

Meanwhile, he argued, Rohnert Park and Cotati residents are forced to seek care in Santa Rosa even though their taxes support the Petaluma district.

"The board's favorite motion has been to defer action until the next meeting," Berg said.

Mrs. Venti though, said she favors expansion of Hillcrest, provided it is done slowly.

"Perhaps people are being too overwrought — I think we'll make it through this winter with Hillcrest. People may not be happy because they'll have to go to Santa Rosa for tonsilectomies.

"But if we get through the winter, right there will be proof that we can do without a 100-bed hospital a little longer."

Mrs. Venti believes the board is "using scare tactics" to gain popular support for a new and unneeded hospital.

She also charges board members with placing too much emphasis on what she calls "special interest medicine" and not enough on meeting the day-to-day$ health care needs of the district.

"The board has placed itself a little too far above the pulse of the community," she said. "I don't think the district as a whole has been allowed enough voice in the affairs of Hillcrest. I would try to stay in better contact with my constituents and not forget my position — which would be that of an elected member."

Mrs. Barlas said that, after examining cost estimates, "I'd have to say I'd be in favor of relocating the hospital into a more centralized areas."

The Hillcrest building, she suggested, could be used as a convalescent home or clinic.

"Hillcrest was built with only $20,000 from local citizens," Mrs. Barlas said, "and in my opinion that's been amortized. It's been an efficiently-used hospital, considering the load. Now it's incredibly crowded."

She is, on the whole, satisfied with the hospital board. "Their motivation has been in the best interest of the district, although possibly they've dragged their feet a little bit," she said.

Two or three years ago would have been the best time to begin a new hospital, Mrs. Barlas said, but the board was slowed down by licensing problems and state regulations.

If district taxpayers don't agree to build a new hospital, Mrs. Barlas said, they may have to "fall back" on a private hospital construction corporation, which might come into Southern Sonoma and not offer all the services which are needed.

Gilardi said he doesn't favor expansion of Hillcrest because it would be uneconomical and in the wrong location.

"Right now it doesn't serve all the people in the district," he said. "Cotati and Rohnert Park are getting shafted — most of them go to Santa Rosa where there are four hospitals. It's closer than Hillcrest."

Gilardi believes Denman Flats would be the best location for a new facility.

In general, he said, he believes the board is "doing a good job" although he would have preferred they continued using the old general hospital building "in some capacity" rather than abandoning it. (The board closed the hospital this year because it no longer met state liscensing regulations.)

Gilardo criticized the board for raising room rates "just so they would match other hospitals in the area — they need a better reason."

Curtis said he is "totally dedicated to improving Hillcrest on its present site."

He charged the district board with interfering with the effort of private hospital corporations to come into Southern Sonoma, and he said he would welcome the competition they would give the district. He believes that would cause imroved medical are in both facilities.

Curtis derided the current board majority for "sneering" at member Brand T. Johnson for his continued belief in the expansion of Hillcrest.

As a candidate who helped build Hillcrest, Curtis said, he knows it was designed to accomodate future growth. He said the hospital is now worth about $3 million, and that abandonment would only add cost to the estimated $11 million to $12 million cost of building a new facility.

While more space is needed, he said, a brand new public hospital isn't the way to gain it.

Incumbent board member Herbert Newberger, a physicain who was appointed to the board this year to fill the unexpired term of Dr. Hamza I. Munib who resigned, is the only candidate for his seat and therefore will be reappointed without having his name on the ballot, according to county election oficials.

He will serve a two-year term while the contested race is for a four-year term. Hospital directors serve without pay.

Odd Occurrence In Photography Store When A Dead Man Called

On Saturday, Jan. 3, 1891, something occurred in a photography store in London which has fascinated and puzzled researchers ever since.

The facts of the case are as firmly beyond dispute as facts can be. They were meticulously verified at the time by a team of investigators from the venerable Society for Psychical Research. The case stands as one of the most uncanny in the annals of the uncanny.

On the above date, James Dickinson, a London photographer, arrived at his studio about 8 a.m. Shortly after, a man called to inquire if his photograph was finished. Thompson was the name, he said.

Dickinson checked and said he was sorry but his picture wasn't ready. He asked Thompson to drop by later in the day.

"But I've been traveling all night," the man replied wearily. "And I can't call again."

With that, he turned abruptly and left the shop.

"Shall I put them in the mail?" the photographer called after him, but there was no reply. Dickinson jotted on a piece of paper: "No. 7976, Thompson. . .post."

The photographer then went upstairs to his studio and asked his assistant, a young woman, to look up the Thompson negative and he would print it right away.

She returned after a few minutes saying: "this is Thompson's negative." Looking at it with his practiced eye, the photographer remarked: "Yes, that's it. That's the chap who called this morning."

When Dickinson went to print the negative, which in the old-fashioned style was on a photographic plate, he dropped it and the plate broke. He then wrote to Thompson apologizing for the accident and asking him to come in for another photographic sitting at no charge.

Six days later a man who identified himself as Thompson appeared in Dickinson's shop. He said he had come because a letter he had received had made no sense to him. He hadn't sat for any photograph.

"But you're not the man," agreed Dickinson. "He was much younger than you."

"Yes, that must have been my son who lived at the same address. But he died suddenly."

"Died? Well, it must have been very sudden. He was only in here last Saturday.

"You are mistaken. It must have been before that."

"I certainly am not mistaken," the photographer insisted. "I told my assistant here about it at the time.

The elderly man looked at them both for a long moment. Then he said quietly: "But my son died very early Saturday morning. At the time you say he was here, he had been dead for several hours. . ."

Streetcars Run In Yakima Again

YAKIMA, Wash. (UPI) — A brightly refurbished 1904 vintage streetcar rolled over the tracks through this central Washington community Saturday, the first streetcar here since 1947.

The streetcars, brought here from Portugal, are the start of a revival of an interurban rail system as part of the nation's bi-centennial celebration.

The cars run along tracks owned by the Union Pacific railroad, which serves orchards, fruit processing plants, lumber mills and factories on the line in several suburban towns.

Farmers Plan Nationwide Rallies On Price Boosts

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Farmers angered by steeply increasing feed costs and sagging cattle, hog and dairy prices have decided to band together to try to get more money for their products.

Representatives from across the country planned to gather tonight at 160 meetings sponsored by the National Farmers Organization to plot stratety to boost prices.

"I've never seen farmers so mad," said Oren Lee Staley, president of the Des Moines, Iowa-headquatered farm cooperative.

"All you have to do is talk to bankers or auctioneers and they will tell how farmers are on the verge of having to sell out. Zou can't lose that kind of money for very long, you know," Staley said.

Staley said hog producers are losing about $25 a head on their stock while cattle feeders are losing $50 to $100 a head on their stock.

In Chicago, a meat industry spokesman said yesterday that the increased feed costs could send pork prices soaring though beef prices may stay down during coming months.

Farmers and ranchers have mentioned a number of possibilities for raising prices for their livestock.

Some Texas ranchers had threatened to slaughter calves to publicize high meat prices, then to bury the calves' carcasses to keep the meat off the market.

That threat triggered the anger of the national Humane Society. The society, meeting in Chicago, passed a resolution yesterday condemning the killing of calves and the wasting of "protein so desperately needed in today's starving world."

The Society said it would have investigators present to start prosecution if such slaughters do occur.

Missile Tested At Vandenberg

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI) — An experimental reentry vehicle was launched in the western test range by the Space and Missile Test Center yesterday via an Atlas F booster rocket.

Spokesmen at the Air Force Systems Commands Space and Missile Systems Organization said the 8:46 p.m. launch was successful.

The advanced ballistic reentry system is aimed at developing more effective vehicles for the nation's missile forces.

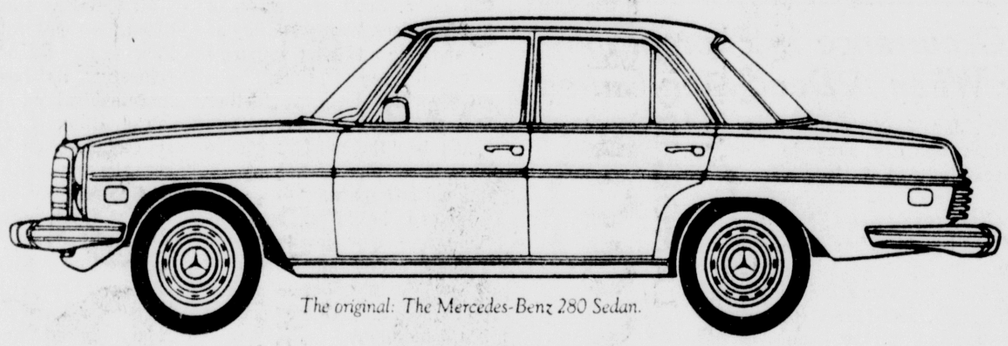
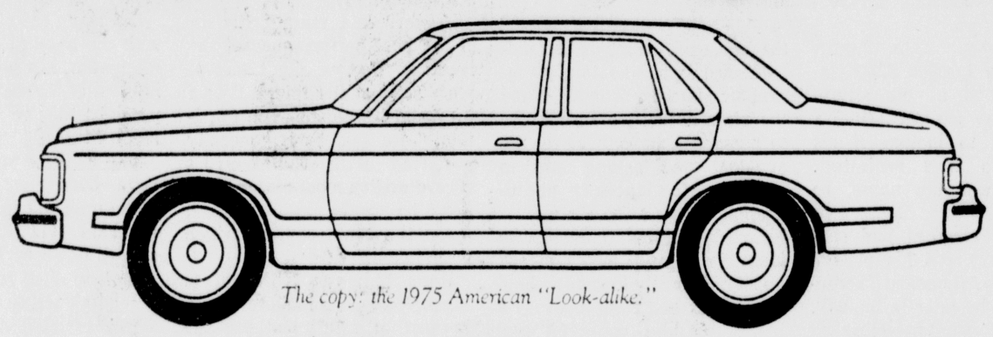
The Mercedes-Benz 280. This year, some new American cars will look surprisingly like it. On the outside.



The original: The Mercedes-Benz 280 Sedan.

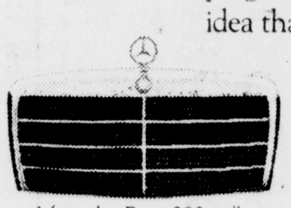


The copy: the 1975 American "Look-alike."

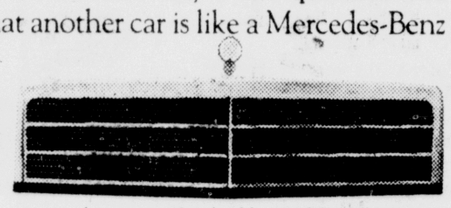
The "Look-alikes" are coming...sedans whose shapes and sizes are remarkably close to that of the Mercedes-Benz 280. It was bound to happen. We expected it. The silhouette may look the same, but that is where the similarity ends.

You simply can't make a car into a Mercedes-Benz by imitating its appearance. Or its interior. Or any other single element. You, the driver, can prove this to yourself. Test drive a 280 Sedan. Then put any of the newcomers through the same demanding test. The difference will be driven home. The engineering difference.

We don't fault others for trying to follow the lead of the 280. In fact, we applaud the move toward sensibly sized sedans. That's progress. But we really must question the idea that another car is like a Mercedes-Benz



Mercedes-Benz 280 grille.



American "Look-alike" sedan grille.

because it has a grille like one. Or a silhouette like one. An automobile either is a Mercedes-Benz, or it isn't.

The Emperor's new clothes

Look beyond the new suits of clothes that the imitators are sporting. It's the same old story.

Take the engine. You'll find little that's new. These cars may still offer you engines designed long ago. That may be hard to believe, but it's an engineering fact.

It's a different story with Mercedes-Benz. The contemporary engine in the 280 Sedan was designed specifically for the 280 Series; designed as an integral part of the automobile.

This modern, twin overhead camshaft engine directly meets demands of today's driving. It gives you fuel economy without sacrificing performance. No "Look-alike" domestic sedan has anything like the engine in a Mercedes-Benz 280. You'll instantly feel the difference on your first test drive.

No place to compromise

Look closely at the rear suspension on any of these "all-new" domestic sedans. They still feature simple wagon axles. The axles are one-piece and suspended by groups of leaf springs. When one rear wheel hits a bump, the other is jolted too.

Now look at the Mercedes-Benz 280. Its rear suspension is completely different. Each wheel has its own independent suspension system. That way, each wheel reacts to the road surface independently. This design — fully independent suspension — is also a safety feature. It gives you the security of control because it helps the standard radial tires stay on the road, where they belong.

Although 4-wheel independent suspension is far more expensive to engineer into an automobile, it is the no-compromise way. And at Mercedes-Benz, we don't feel suspension and handling are places to cut corners.

The only way

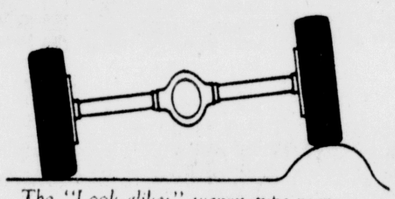
The same can be said for brakes. Certainly no area to compromise. Here is one area where American sedans have made great strides. The "Mercedes-style" new cars you will see in 1975 will probably have disc brakes. But where? On the front wheels. Why are disc brakes confined to their front wheels?

We have no answer to that question. At Mercedes-Benz, we have designed 4-wheel disc brakes into all of our automobiles for years. Every wheel on every Mercedes-Benz has a disc brake to stop it — 4-wheel disc brakes. We wouldn't engineer an automobile without them. At Mercedes-Benz, it's the only way.

You get what you pay for

To be sure, a Mercedes-Benz 280 is more expensive than the domestic newcomers that will try to challenge it. Consider the basic differences already mentioned. Add some others like safety engineering, resale value and the Mercedes-Benz commitment to quality. These are fundamentals you can't just "add on." In a Mercedes-Benz you get what you pay for.

The 280: independent rear suspension so a bump on the right can't jounce the wheel on the left.



The "Look-alike:" wagon-type rear suspension so a bump on the right must jounce the wheel on the left.

More and more you hear about cars that have this or that "just like a Mercedes-Benz." But you don't make a Mercedes-Benz by just trying to copy it. The Mercedes-Benz 280 Sedan. Test drive one. See why a Mercedes-Benz has become the standard other manufacturers measure by.
